WASHINGTON, 28. — La pubblicazione del rapporto Warren, avvenuta ieri sera, ha concluso che fu Harwei Oswald, da solo, ad uccidere nel novembre scorso il Presidente Kennedy.

I principali punti che emergono dalla lettura del rapporto sono:

1) I colpi d'arma da fuoco che hanno ucciso il Presidente Kennedy e ferito il governatore del Texas, Connally, furono sparati dal sesto piano dell'edificio della «Texas School Book Depository». Questa affermazione è basata: a) sulle deposizioni di testimoni oculari; b) sul fatto che i frammenti dei tre proiettili trovati nell'automobile presidenziale provenivano da quelli sparati dalla carabina calibro mm. 6,5 ritrovata al sesto piano dell'edificio; c) che i tre bossoli trovati vuoti al sesto piano dell'edificio provenivano dalla stessa carabina; d) che il parabrezza dell'automobile presidenziale fu toccato nella parte interna da un colpo che non lo perforò; e) che le ferite riportate da Kennedy e Connally indicarono chiaramente che i colpi furono sparati dall'alto in basso e da dietro; il Presidente fu colpito con due proiettili, un primo che, penetrato dalla nuca, uscì dalla gola e non era mortale, e un secondo che penetrò nella parte posteriore del cranio e fu fatale. Il governatore fu colpito da un proiettile che gli penetrò nella schiena e uscì dal petto, sotto la mammella destra; f) non esiste alcuna prova che i colpi siano stati sparati dal cavalcavia ferroviario sotto il quale stava per passare l'automobile.

2) Furono sparati soltanto tre colpi, uno dei quali probabilmente andò a vuoto.

3) Due proiettili probabilmente provocarono tutte le ferite riportate dal Presidente Kennedy e dal governatore Connally. Il primo proiettile che colpì Kennedy, ferì anche il governatore.

4) I colpi che uccisero il Presidente e ferirono il governatore furono sparati da Lee Harvey Oswald. L'arma del delitto apparteneva a lui. Egli l'aveva portata quella mattina nell'edificio. Egli si trovava alla finestra del sesto piano da dove furono sparati i colpi. La carabina fu trovata in quel punto. Oswald era perfettamente in grado di sparare tre colpi successivi nello spazio di tempo in cui furono tirati: l'arma adoperata permetteva di sparare i tre colpi in questo spazio di tem-

5) Oswald uccise l'agente di polizia Tippit 45 minuti dopo l'assassinio del Presidente Kennedy. Questa affermazione è basata: a) su testimonianze oculari; b) sulla scoperta di bossoli vuoti sparati con la rivoltella che egli aveva con sè. Quella rivoltella gli apparteneva. Inoltre, lungo il percorso che Oswald seguì dopo l'uccisione di Tippit, fu trovata la giacca di Oswald.

6) Un'ora e venti minuti dopo l'assassinio di Kennedy e trentacinque minuti dopo quello di Tippit, Oswald tentò di uccidere un altro agente di polizia che cercava di arrestarlo.

7) Azione della polizia di Dallas: a) Oswald maltrattato e fu lasciato di scegliersi un to; b) la libertà di a to lasciata ai giorna locali della polizia s situazione caotica s permise un interroga dinato e la protezion ritti dell'arrestato; c) tepidi dichiarazioni sbagliate, fatte alla dalla polizia locale a costituito un ostaco processo equo. parte di Jack Ruby: nulla permette di pensare che Ruby sia stato aiutato dalla polizia di Dallas per sopprimere Oswald La decisione della polizia di Dallas di trasferire pubblicamente Oswald da una prigione ad un'altra non era saggia e, nonostante le minacce di morte profferite contro di lui, la polizia di Dallas non prese le precauzioni necessarie per proteggerlo.

1) non vi sono prove di qualsiasi complotto interno o straniero, da sinistra o da destra, nella tragedia di Dallas del 22 novembre 1963 in cui Kennedy perse la vita;

2) non vi sono alcune prove di un complotto o di un rapporto qualsiasi tra Oswald e l'uomo che lo uccise due giorni dopo: Jack Ruby. Ciascuno, indipendentemente l'uno dall'altro, ha ucciso per proprie ragioni emotive;

3) le misure adottate dal servizio segreto per la protezione del Presidente furono inadeguate, non comprendendo neppure, come avviene usualmente, il controllo degli edifici lungo il percorso che avrebbe dovuto seguire il corteo presidenziale. Così la Commissione ha assolto il suo compito dopo quasi dieci mesi di indagini ed avere raccolto la testimonianza di 552 persone, da oscuri testimoni oculari a quelle della vedova del Presidente Signora Jacqueline Kennedy e del Presidente Johnson.

Sulla base di tali testimonianze e su quella delle prove disponibili, la Commissione ha riconfermato in particolare che i colpi che uccisero il Presidente Kennedy e ferirono il Governatore Connaly vennero sparati dal sesto piano del Texas School Book Depository a Dallas. A conforto di tale conclusione sono stati posti in coincidenza i seguenti elementi:

a) testimoni oculari hanno veduto sparare il fucile dalla finestra al sesto piano; b) la pallottola rinvenuta sulla barella del Governatore Connally e i frammenti di pallottola ritrovati sul sedile anteriore della Limousine presidenziale furono sparati da un fucile Mannlicher-Carcano, cal. 6,5 ritrovato al sesto piano del deposito; c) i tre bossoli ritrovati nei pressi della finestra provenivano dallo stesso fucile sopra descritto; d) il parabrezza della macchina presidenziale è stato incrinato dall'interno; e) la natura delle ferite e la posizione dell'auto presidenziale dimostrano che i colpi furono sparati dall'alto e dietro l'auto; f) non vi è nessun elemento concreto per accreditare l'ipotesi che siano stati sparati colpi da altre direzioni.

La Commissione di inchiesta che, come accennato è stata istituita dal Presidente Johnson era composta da sette persone, prendendo il nome dal suo presidente, il Giudice Earl Warren, presidente dell'Alta Corte di Giustizia federale degli Stati Uniti.

Oltre a Warren, il quale ha 73 anni, hanno fatto parte della Commissione, Allen W. Dulles, fratello del defunto segretario di Stato, ed ex Capo dei Servizi di controspionaggio americano; John J. Mccloy, banchiere, studioso e diplomatico, considerato uno dei massimi e migliori consiglieri della Casa Bianca sui problemi del disarmo; Senatore Richard B. Le conclusioni della Commissione Warren sull'inchiesta per l'uccisione di Kennedy

I principali punti affermati — Gli elementi considerati — Le dichiarazioni di Robert Kennedy — I dubbi della madre di Harvey Oswald — Commenti sovietici

WASHINGTON, 28.

La Commissione nominata dal Presidente Johnson per indagare sull'assassinio di John F. Kennedy, trentunesimo Presidente degli Stati Uniti, ha reso noto il rapporto conclusivo della sua inchiesta. Sostanzialmente questa ha raggiunto la convinzione che l'atto delittuoso è stato compiuto da Lee Harvey Oswald, il quale ha agito da solo.

Oltre a questo punto, il rapporto pone in luce le altre seguenti conclusioni:

1) non vi sono prove di qualsiasi complotto, interno o straniero, da sinistra o da destra, nella tragedia di Dallas del 22 novembre 1963 in cui Kennedy perse la vita;

2) non vi sono alcune prove di un complotto o di un rapporto qualsiasi tra Oswald e l'uomo che lo uccise due giorni dopo: Jack Ruby. Ciascuno, indipendentemente l'uno dall'altro, ha ucciso per proprie ragioni emotive; Per rimanere su questo piano, fa riscontro a tale dichiarazione quella della madre di Lee Harvey Oswald, la quale, invece, da parte sua ha sostenuto che il rapporto della Commissione Warren è riuscito a convincerla che suo figlio abbia assassinato il Presidente Kennedy. Secondo la signora Oswald il rapporto «è solo un riassunto delle risultanze e, pertanto, dovremmo credere alla parola della Commissione circa il fatto che Lee Harvey Oswald è l'assassino. ciotto chilometri) e il bersaglio in movimento si presentava favorevolmente in quanto la vettura si allontanava dal tiratore in linea retta.

La minuziosa ricostruzione del fatto, resa possibile dalle fotografie e dai fotogrammi dei film girati in modo particolare quello di Abraham Zapruder, ha stabilito che l'intervallo tra la pallottola che colpì Kennedy al collo e quella che penetrò nel cranio oscilla tra i 4,8 ed i 5,6 secondi. Il rapporto afferma pertanto che il colpo andato a vuoto ratore può sparare tre colpi con il modello 91 entro cinque secondi e mezzo; va rilevato, inoltre, che una pallottola era già nell'otturatore e che Oswald, pertanto, doveva solo premere il grilletto per sparare il primo colpo e poi azionare due volte il manubrio dell'otturatore per sparare il secondo e il terzo colpo. Lee Harvey Oswald era stato classificato « tiratore scelto » dal corpo dei « marines » e la moglie Marina ha testimoniato che Oswald si era esercitato più volte con l'arma durante il suo soggiorno a New Orleans.

I periti sono stati unanimi nel definire il moschetto 91 « un'arma precisa ». Uno di essi, Ronald Simmons del laboratorio di ricerche balistiche dell'esercito americano, ha paragonato l'arma, per precisione, a quelle attualmente in dotazione. Un esperto dell'FBI, Ronert Frazier, ha sottolineato il fatto che l'arma di produzione italiana ha meno rinculo di un moschetto medio e che non è necessario essere tiratori provetti per colpire il bersaglio nelle condizioni in cui Oswald sparò contro Kennedy. Il rapporto Warren informa, inoltre, che dalle competenti autorità militari italiane è stato comunicato alla commissione che il moschetto « C-2766 » è l'unico esistente con tale matricola: esso venne prodotto nelle officine di Terni nel 1940, ed è in effetti un modello « 91/38 », ma con un calibro 6,5 anziché 7,35 come per il « modello 38 ».

Il rapporto Warren è suddiviso in otto capitoli ed è integrato da diciotto appendici, tra cui una dedicata alla biografia di fuga da Dallas. La commissione Warren è giunta a queste conclusioni, in relazione al possibile movente dell'omicidio: « Molti fattori erano, indubbiamente, coinvolti nella spinta al delitto, e la commissione ritiene che sia possibile attribuire a Oswald un particolare movente ovvero una serie di motivi. E' evidente, tuttavia, che Oswald era animato da una prepotente ostilità verso l'ambiente. Egli era perennemente scontento del mondo che lo circondava. Molto tempo prima dell'assassinio, aveva espresso il suo odio per la società americana ed agiva in segno di protesta contro di essa. Egli cercava, per sè, un posto nella storia, un ruolo di "grande uomo". La sua dedizione al marxismo e al comunismo sembra aver rappresentato un altro importante fattore. Egli aveva dimostrato, anche, la capacità di agire in modo decisivo e senza riguardo alcuno per le conseguenze, quando la sua azione fosse servita a farlo avanzare verso gli obiettivi del momento ».

La conclusione, raggiunta dalla commissione Warren in relazione alla possibilità che Oswald facesse parte di un complotto per l'uccisione di Kennedy, è che nessuna prova « credibile » può essere addotta a sostegno di tale congettura. « L'analisi della vita e delle attività di Oswald, dal 1959, non ha fornito le prove dell'esistenza di una cospirazione », afferma il rapporto Warren. « La commissione non ha raccolto alcun elemento, che comprovi alcuna responsabilità dell'Unione Sovietica ovvero di Cuba nell'assassinio del presi-sparo e alcuni anche dopo la esplosione dei colpi; b) la pallottola, quasi intera, trovata nella barella del governatore Connally all'ospedale Parkland e i due frammenti di proiettile trovati sul sedile anteriore della vettura presidenziale, partirono dal moschetto 91 «Mannlicher Carcano» di calibro 6,5 abbandonato sul pavimento del sesto piano del «Texas school book depository».

Ricostruzione

c) I tre bossoli, trovati vicino alla finestra, furono espulsi dalla stessa arma; d) il parabrezza della vettura presidenziale fu intaccato da un frammento di proiettile dalla parte interna, ma non venne perforato; e) la disposizione delle ferite del presidente Kennedy e del governatore Connally, nonchè la posizione della vettura al momento degli spari, dimostrano che le pallottole provenivano da un punto al di sopra e alle spalle dei due uomini; f) non può essere provato in alcun modo che i colpi fossero stati sparati dal «triple underpass», il triplice sottovia, verso cui si dirigeva l'automobile, nè da alcun altro punto.

La ricostruzione della sparatoria — basata sulle numerose testimonianze, sulla posizione delle vittime e sulle caratteristiche delle ferite, nonchè su tre riprese cinematografiche — ha permesso alla commissione di stabilire che «con tutta probabilità», due proiettili causarono le ferite del presidente Kennedy e del governatore Connally». In base all'opinione preponderante che i colpi furono tre, la commissione è giunta alla conclusione che «un colpo ha probabilmente mancato la vettura presidenziale e i suoi passeggeri, e che i tre colpi furono sparati in un intervallo di tempo variante da circa 4,8 secondi a più di sette secondi».

Il rapporto Warren è categorico circa la possibilità di colpire bersagli umani con il moschetto 91 dalla finestra del sesto piano in un lasso di tempo assai breve. Lee Harvey Oswald aveva una visuale favorevole, era un tiratore provetto e, per di più, pratico dell'arma. La vettura presidenziale — d'altra parte — procedeva a una velocità ridotta (11,2 miglia all'ora, pari a diciotto chilometri) e il bersaglio in movimento si presentava favorevolmente in quanto la vettura si allontanava dal tiratore in linea retta.

La minuziosa ricostruzione del fatto, resa possibile dalle fotografie e dai fotogrammi dei film girati (in modo particolare quello di Abraham Zapruder) ha stabilito che l'intervallo tra la pallottola che colpì Kennedy al collo e quella che penetrò nel cranio oscilla tra i 4,8 ed i 5,6 secondi. Il rapporto afferma pertanto: «Se il colpo andato a vuoto fosse il secondo, l'intervallo totale tra i colpi sarebbe oscillante tra i 4,8 e i 5,6 secondi. Ma se il colpo andato a vuoto fosse il primo, ovvero il terzo, bisogna allora aggiungere almeno 2,3 secondi (necessari per caricare il moschetto) all'intervallo totale tra i colpi andati a segno, con il risultato che lo spazio di tempo minimo per i tre colpi oscillerebbe tra 7,1 e 7,9 secondi».

Il colpo mortale ferì la testa del presidente Kennedy, allorchè questi si trovava a 265,3 piedi (meno di novanta metri) dal tiratore, ad un angolo, approssimativo, di quindici gradi e ventuno primi.

Secondo gli esperti convocati dalla commissione, un buon tiratore può sparare tre colpi con il modello 91 entro cinque secondi e mezzo; va rilevato, inoltre, che una pallottola era già nell'otturatore e che Oswald, pertanto, doveva solo premere il grilletto per sparare il primo colpo e poi azionare due volte il manubrio dell'otturatore per sparare il secondo e il terzo colpo. Lee Harvey Oswald era stato classificato «tiratore scelto» dal corpo dei «marines» e la moglie Marina ha testimoniato che Oswald si era esercitato più volte con l'arma durante il suo soggiorno a New Orleans.

I periti sono stati unanimi nel definire il moschetto 91 «un'arma precisa». Uno di essi, Ronald Simmons del laboratorio di ricerche balistiche dell'esercito americano, ha paragonato l'arma, per precisione, a quelle attualmente in dotazione. Un esperto dell'FBI, Ronert Frazier, ha sottolineato il fatto che l'arma di produzione italiana ha meno rinculo di un moschetto medio e che non è necessario essere tiratori provetti per colpire il bersaglio nelle condizioni in cui Oswald sparò contro Kennedy. Il rapporto Warren informa, inoltre, che dalle competenti autorità militari italiane è stato comunicato alla commissione che il moschetto «C-2766» è l'unico esistente con tale matricola: esso venne prodotto nel[illegible]

Lee Harvey Oswald e una a quella del suo «giustiziere» Jack Ruby. Le due biografie sono di un interesse eccezionale e contribuiranno forse, in modo considerevole, a fare del rapporto un «best seller» ovvero uno dei libri più venduti nel 1964. Una «corsa allo spasimo» è in atto, infatti, tra varie case editrici, per pubblicare il volume nel più breve volgere di tempo, dal momento della consegna anticipata alla stampa.

Un'altra appendice è dedicata a una minuziosa analisi della situazione finanziaria di Oswald, dal 13 giugno 1962 al 22 novembre 1963, al fine di dimostrare che l'assassino di John F. Kennedy non ricevette denaro da alcun presunto mandante, ma agì da solo, senza neppure preoccuparsi di preparare la sua fuga da Dallas. La commissione Warren è giunta a queste conclusioni, in relazione al possibile movente dell'omicidio: «Molti fattori erano, indubbiamente, coinvolti nella spinta al delitto, e la commissione ritiene che sia possibile attribuire a Oswald un particolare movente ovvero una serie di motivi. E' evidente, tuttavia, che Oswald era animato da una prepotente ostilità verso l'ambiente. Egli era perennemente scontento del mondo che lo circondava. La conclusione, raggiunta dalla commissione Warren in relazione alla possibilità che Oswald facesse parte di un complotto per l'uccisione di Kennedy, è che nessuna prova «credibile» può essere addotta a sostegno di tale congettura. «L'analisi della vita e delle attività di Oswald, dal 1959 non ha fornito le prove

Tre colpi

A distanza di dieci mesi dalla tragica catena di avvenimenti di Dallas, la commissione presidenziale, incaricata di far luce sulle circostanze e le responsabilità di quei fatti, ha pubblicato un rapporto di 888 pagine reso noto questa sera.

L'inchiesta della commissione Warren — così chiamata perché presieduta dal giudice capo della Corte suprema — è durata dieci mesi. Ha ascoltato 552 testimoni, ha esaminato 3.154 documenti, ha interrogato 395 persone. Le conclusioni a cui è giunta la commissione sono le seguenti: 1) Lee Harvey Oswald, l'assassino del presidente Kennedy, è stato anche l'uccisore del poliziotto Tippit; 2) Oswald è stato arrestato dalla polizia di Dallas circa 70 minuti dopo l'assassinio di Kennedy e 35 minuti dopo l'uccisione di Tippit; 3) Oswald non fu trattato con durezza eccessiva durante gli interrogatori; 4) Oswald non fu vittima di violenza da parte della polizia; 5) Oswald non fu ucciso da Jack Ruby per vendicare il presidente Kennedy, ma per altri motivi personali; 6) Jack Ruby non ebbe complici nell'uccisione di Oswald; 7) Jack Ruby non ebbe contatti con persone che avrebbero potuto avere interesse a che Oswald fosse messo a tacere; 8) Jack Ruby non ebbe contatti con persone che avrebbero potuto avere interesse a che Oswald fosse messo a tacere; 9) Nessuna prova, ovvero indizio, suffraga la tesi secondo cui Oswald, oppure Ruby, facessero parte di un complotto, interno od esterno, per assassinare il presidente Kennedy.

10) Nel corso dell'inchiesta, nessuna prova è emersa circa un presunto complotto, oppure circa atti di sovversione e slealtà verso il governo degli Stati Uniti da parte di alcun funzionario federale, statale o locale; 11) Oswald agì da solo, sospinto da un complesso di sentimenti che lo rendevano capace «di rischiare tutto in gesti crudeli e irresponsabili»; 12) I criteri e le procedure seguiti dal servizio segreto, al fine di proteggere il capo dello Stato, furono «inadeguati» mentre l'FBI è responsabile di non aver segnalato al servizio segreto la presenza di Oswald a Dallas.

A sostegno della conclusione relativa alla provenienza dei proiettili, la commissione ha raccolto una schiacciante serie di prove e testimonianze, corroborate da una rigorosa ricostruzione dell'episodio. Ecco, in sintesi le prove addotte dal rapporto Warren: a) vari testimoni scorsero il moschetto nel riquadro della finestra, al momento dello sparo e alcuni anche dopo la esplosione dei colpi; b) la pallottola, quasi intera, trovata nella barella del governatore Connally all'ospedale Parkland e i due frammenti di proiettile trovati sul sedile anteriore della vettura presidenziale, partirono dal moschetto 91 «Mannlicher Carcano» di calibro 6,5 abbandonato sul pavimento del sesto piano del «Texas school book depository».

Ricostruzione

c) I tre bossoli, trovati vicino alla finestra, furono espulsi dalla stessa arma; d) il parabrezza della vettura presidenziale fu incrinato da un frammento di proiettile dalla parte interna, ma non venne perforato; e) la dislocazione delle ferite del presidente Kennedy e del governatore Connally, nonché la posizione della vettura al momento degli spari, dimostrano che le pallottole, «due proiettili causarono le ferite del presidente Kennedy e del governatore Connally». In base all'opinione preponderante che i colpi furono tre, la commissione è giunta alla conclusione che «un colpo ha probabilmente mancato la vettura presidenziale e i suoi passeggeri, e che i tre colpi furono sparati in un intervallo di tempo variante da circa 4,8 secondi a più di sette secondi».

Il rapporto Warren è categorico circa la possibilità di colpire bersagli umani con il moschetto 91 dalla finestra del sesto piano in un lasso di tempo assai breve. «Lee Harvey Oswald aveva una visuale favorevole, era un tiratore provetto e, per di più, pratico dell'arma. La vettura presidenziale — d'altra parte — procedeva a una velocità ridotta (11,2 miglia all'ora, pari a diciotto chilometri) e i bersagli erano relativamente fissi. Se il primo colpo andato a segno fosse il secondo, l'intervallo totale tra i colpi sarebbe oscillante tra i 4,8 e i 5,6 secondi. Ma se il colpo andato a vuoto fosse il primo, ovvero il terzo, bisogna allora aggiungere almeno 2,3 secondi (necessari per caricare il moschetto) all'intervallo totale tra i colpi andati a segno, con il risultato che lo spazio di tempo minimo per i tre colpi oscillerebbe tra 7,1 e 7,9 secondi».

Il colpo mortale ferì la testa del presidente Kennedy, allorché questi si trovava a 265,3 piedi (meno di novanta metri) dal tiratore, ad un angolo, approssimativo, di quindici gradi e ventuno primi.

Secondo gli esperti convocati dalla commissione, un buon tiratore, come Lee Harvey Oswald e quella del suo «giustiziere» Ruby. Le due biografie so... un interesse eccezionale ... tribuiranno forse, in mo... siderevole, a fare del rapporto un «best seller» ovvero uno dei libri più venduti nel 1964. chiesta della commissio- arren — così chiamata per- presieduta dal giudice ca- po della Corte suprema — ha raggiunto queste conclusioni: 1) i colpi di moschetto, che uccisero il presidente Kennedy e ferirono il governatore del Texas Connally, furono sparati da una finestra del sesto piano all'angolo sud-orientale del «Texas school book depository»; 2) La grande maggioranza delle prove raccolte indica che furono sparati solo tre colpi; 3) Gli esperti sono convinti che la stessa pallottola che attraversò la gola di Kennedy causò anche le ferite del governatore Connally; 4) I colpi furono sparati da Lee Harvey Oswald; 5) Quarantacinque minuti più tardi, lo stesso Oswald uccise, a colpi di pistola, l'agente di polizia J. D. Tippit; 6) Ottanta minuti dopo l'assassinio di Kennedy e trentacinque minuti dopo l'uccisione di Tippit, Oswald oppose resistenza mentre veniva arrestato in un cinema, tentando di sparare contro un altro agente di polizia.

L'elenco delle conclusioni a cui la commissione Warren è pervenuta così prosegue: 7) Oswald non fu trattato con durezza dalla polizia, però non potè essere interrogato e protetto nel modo voluto, a causa delle «condizioni caotiche» esistenti nel comando della polizia di Dallas, dovute alla presenza di rappresentanti della stampa, radio e televisione; 8) Jack Ruby entrò nel sotterraneo dell'edificio del comando alle 11,17 di domenica 24 e, quattro minuti più tardi, sparò un colpo di rivoltella contro Oswald, ferendolo mortalmente, senza alcuna assistenza da parte di alcun esponente della polizia di Dallas, ma favorito dall'«imprudente decisione» del comando di trasferire Oswald al carcere della contea in modo pubblico; 9) Nessuna prova, ovvero indizio, suffraga la tesi secondo cui Oswald, oppure Ruby, facessero parte di un complotto, interno od esterno, per assassinare il presidente Kennedy.

10) Nel corso dell'inchiesta, nessuna prova è emersa circa un presunto complotto, oppure circa atti di sovversione e slealtà verso il governo degli Stati Uniti da parte di alcun funzionario federale, statale o locale; 11) Oswald agì da solo, sospinto da un complesso di la polizia ha arrestato tre ragazze che erano salite su un terrazzo, in contravvenzione alle disposizioni delle autorità locali, per veder passare il Presidente. Questi avvenimenti, che in altre circostanze avrebbero provocato scarsa sensazione, hanno invece avuto oggi l'effetto di una clamorosa conferma della necessità di adottare maggiori cautele per la sicurezza del Presidente degli Stati Uniti, sostenuta dal rapporto Warren sull'assassinio di John Kennedy che in queste ore è al centro dell'attenzione, delle discussioni e dei commenti in tutto il Paese.

Il corteo presidenziale è stato per la prima volta bloccato dalla folla a Hartford, nel Connecticut. Un paio d'ore dopo una folla ancora più strabocchevole si è serrata intorno alla macchina aperta di Johnson a Providence, capitale del Rhode Island, una città di popolazione prevalentemente italiana. «Sembrava una parete umana — ha commentato uno degli accompagnatori di Johnson. Non avevamo mai incontrato finora una folla simile». Johnson, in piedi a stringere mani a centinaia di persone, ogni tanto rivolgeva la parola alla folla attraverso un megafono, poi attraverso un microfono. A un certo punto ha dato addirittura disposizioni a voce per sbloccare il traffico. E' stato in uno dei momenti in cui il corteo ha dovuto quasi arrestarsi, che una delle macchine ha preso fuoco. Era la terza auto della fila, dopo quella del Presidente e quella, chiusa, di sua moglie lady Bird. Le fiamme sono partite spontaneamente dal motore. Quelli che si trovavano a bordo — l'assistente del Presidente Jack Valenti, il medico personale, dott. George Buckley, e un gruppo di fotografi — sono saltati fuori, mentre le due prime macchine si allontanavano immediatamente nel passaggio fatto sgombrare dalla polizia. Non si sono avuti danni alle persone. Venti minuti prima la polizia aveva arrestato le tre ragazze, che sono state rilasciate poco dopo.

Proprio stamane era stato annunciato che il Presidente aveva deciso di dar corso alle raccomandazioni del rapporto Warren in materia di sicurezza, che verranno studiate a fondo da un comitato di quattro eminenti membri dell'Amministrazione. Il Presidente riceverà tra breve il comitato per impartire le sue disposizioni sulle proposte del rapporto, che, in sintesi, chiede la formazione di alcuni nuovi organi di sicurezza, una riorganizzazione completa dei mezzi a disposizione del Presidente, l'elaborazione di norme di condotta per la stampa e per le autorità giudiziarie e di polizia locale, l'approvazione di una legge che dia carattere di «reato federale» agli attentati contro il Presidente e il vice Presidente ed altre varie disposizioni. Rappresentanti di ambedue i partiti al Congresso hanno assicurato la loro piena collaborazione per il rapido passaggio delle nuove misure legislative.

La pubblicazione del rapporto Warren sui giornali di questa mattina ha avuto una vastissima eco. Il giudizio della stragrande maggioranza del pubblico, rispecchiato dalla totalità dei commenti di stampa, è di approvazione incondizionata dell'operato della La signora Marguerite Oswald ha detto che il rapporto «non prova assolutamente nulla». «Esso si limita ad elencare gli accertamenti fatti, e quanto alla colpevolezza di Lee, nessuna prova viene fornita. I membri della commissione chiedono di essere creduti sulla parola». L'avvocato Lane ha fatto un'affermazione analoga. Lane, che capeggia un «comitato di cittadini» che ha già speso 25.000 dollari in indagini private e conta oltre duecento membri in America e all'estero, ha annunciato che un giorno pubblicherà un «controrapporto» contenente «la verità vera». per i suoi atteggiamenti pubblici di ultraconservatore, ha definito il Rapporto Warren «un paravento» per coprire il «complotto ideologico» di cui sia Oswald che Ruby sarebbero stati parte.

A parte la sostanza delle conclusioni, raggiunte con quel massimo di certezza possibile in ogni sforzo umano, l'inchiesta ha lasciato aperti diversi quesiti e qualche divergenza. La Commissione stessa lo ha riconosciuto, pur avvertendo che, a suo giudizio, si trattava di una incompletezza inevitabile e che nessun ulteriore sforzo riuscirebbe ad eliminare. Tra i punti che restano oscuri è, per esempio, la discordante versione di alcuni fatti fornita nuovamente ieri sera dal Governatore del Texas, Connally, il quale cadde ferito accanto al Presidente Kennedy. Parlando alla televisione, questo personaggio principale del dramma ha ripetuto d'esser convinto che fu la seconda pallottola, e non la prima, a colpirlo. Secondo il rapporto Warren, il primo proiettile colpì Connally dopo aver trapassato il collo di Kennedy. «Nessuno al mondo riuscirà a convincermi di questo — ha detto il governatore — Io r benissimo di aver udito il colpo e di essermi voltato, a vedere se Kennedy fosse Solo qualche istante dopo d'essere colpito anch'io; tu non udii lo sparo».

New York, 28 settembre

L'automobile scoperta del Presidente Johnson è stata più volte circondata da una folla acclamante questo pomeriggio, durante un giro di comizi nella nuova Inghilterra. A Providence, nel Rhode Island, la terza macchina del corteo presidenziale ha preso fuoco per combustione spontanea del motore. Pochi minuti prima la polizia ha arrestato tre ragazze che erano salite su un terrazzo, in contravvenzione alle disposizioni delle autorità locali, per veder passare il Presidente. Le reazioni più significative sono certamente quelle dei due fratelli del Presidente assassinato, il senatore Edward e l'ex guardasigilli Robert. Il primo, che è tuttora immobilizzato a letto per le ferite riportate in un incidente aereo, ha dichiarato di essere pienamente convinto della ricostruzione dei fatti compiuti dalla commissione. La pubblicazione del rapporto Warren ha incontrato nell'opinione pubblica mondiale e su tutta la stampa internazionale apprezzamenti che variano in funzione diretta dell'orientamento politico dei vari Paesi e dei vari giornali. Così, mentre apprezzamenti positivi, unanimi e senza riserve verso l'opera della Commissione e verso la completa attendibilità delle sue conclusioni, vengono manifestati dalla maggioranza, alcune voci insoddisfatte si levano dalle sinistre e da tutti gli ambienti che, sin dall'inizio, tentarono di sfruttare la tragica vicenda di Dallas a fini speculativi. L'interesse suscitato dal rapporto Warren è stato comunque senza precedenti: basta ricordare che una casa editrice specializzata in edizioni economiche ha rovesciato sul mercato, sin da stamani, qualcosa come ottocentomila copie del testo delle decisioni della Commissione, copie che insieme a quelle distribuite dalla tipografia statale e alle edizioni imminenti di altri editori, faranno ascendere in settimana a parecchi m[ilioni] gli esemplari in circola[zione]. D... sto, pure il fratello di ...ald, Robert, si è trovato d'accordo con l'affermazione del rapporto Warren circa la colpevolezza di Lee Harvey. Intervistato alla televisione egli ha dichiarato che il rapporto ha interamente dissipato i dubbi da lui nutriti in passato sulla colpevolezza di Oswald. A differenza del fratello Robert, la madre dell'assassino di Kennedy ha invece continuato a respingere le risultanze delle inchieste ufficiali esprimendo dissenso rispetto ai giudizi di colpevolezza espressi dalla Commissione nei confronti dell'ex marine e all'assenza di complotti o complicità. Quanto a Jack Rubinstein, il «giustiziere» di Oswald, egli non ha voluto fare alcun commento. Visitato in carcere dalla sorella, signora Era Grant, «Ruby» ha mostrato anzi di non capire quando gli è stato consegnato il testo del rapporto Warren.

REAZIONI MOSCOVITE — Ma le reazioni più attese negli Stati Uniti erano quelle sovietiche. Una copia del rapporto Warren è stata consegnata ieri sera dall'ambasciatore Kholer al Primo Ministro Kruscev, ma mentre il Capo del Cremlino non si è, almeno fino a questo momento, voluto pronunciare lati per varie generazioni». Né la radio, né i giornali russi, nel riferire il testo del rapporto Warren, hanno fatto riferimento al soggiorno di Lee H. Oswald nell'Unione Sovietica e si sono soltanto limitati ad identificare l'assassino del Capo della Casa Bianca con un ex marine, accusando nel frattempo la stampa americana di «cercare di rappresentare Oswald come un marxista».

APPROVAZIONE A LONDRA — Di tutt'altro tenore la stampa britannica. Il Times approva in pieno l'operato della Commissione Warren affermando che i sette membri che ne facevano parte hanno svolto in modo esauriente il loro lavoro, reso difficile dall'atmosfera di estremismo e di odio che crebbe a Dallas, come altrove nel Sud e nel Sud-Ovest degli Stati Uniti, intorno al defunto Presidente. E il conservatore Daily Mail pur criticando la negligenza dei responsabili della sicurezza del Presidente americano che ebbe a verificarsi a Dallas, esprime piena fiducia su ciò che il rapporto afferma. Anche il liberale Guardian sotto il titolo: «Kennedy, un rapporto decisivo», scrive: «Il rapporto Warren è un documento impressionante; le conclusioni più importanti sono corroborate da ampi particolari e da prove schiaccianti. Solo i più scettici continueranno a nutrire dubbi in presenza di questo documento, ma facendo ciò sbagliano».

INCREDULITA' FRANCESE — Altrettanto attese di quelle russe erano in America le reazioni della Francia di De Gaulle e nessuno si meraviglia se esse sono improntate all'incredulità. Le Figaro, ad esempio, afferma di non credere ciecamente a quanto contenuto nel rapporto Warren ed anzi sostiene che sotto certi aspetti, il rapporto stesso accrescerà lo scetticismo nei riguardi dell'inchiesta di Dallas. Lo stesso Aurore, pur elogiando il lavoro dei sette membri della Commissione, si dichiara insoddisfatto delle conclusioni raggiunte. Senza parlare della stampa comunista o paracomunista che, come era logico prevedere, si scaglia contro il rapporto.

LA STAMPA TEDESCA — Dopo quella americana la stampa della Germania Federale è la più unanime nel commentare positivamente lo operato di Warren e dei suoi collaboratori. Die Welt afferma che «per chi ragiona» non vi è bisogno di altro per riconoscere in Oswald l'autore solitario del delitto, un essere socialmente e politicamente deviato. Un altro giornale sottolinea l'integrità morale di coloro i quali hanno partecipato all'inchiesta su incarico di Johnson. Ed il B.Z. di Berlino Ovest conclude il suo editoriale odierno affermando che il rapporto Warren ha demolito la leggenda della «cattiva America» e le congetture circa «una presunta cospirazione di vecchi miliardari, di razzisti fanatici e di fcpnisti bianchi».

Più scettici appaiono, infine, i commenti dei quotidiani danesi e belgi, ma tutti non mettono in dubbio che la Commissione Warren ha cercato con tutti i mezzi di scoprire la verità.

Times scrive invece: «Il rapporto è un resoconto ampio e convincente sulle circostanze dell'assassinio del Presidente Kennedy. I fatti, esaurientemente raccolti, controllati con imparzialità e presentati in modo persuasivo, distruggono le basi delle teorie della cospirazione sviluppatesi come erbaccia in questo Paese e altrove. Quanti leggeranno il documento nella sua interezza non troveranno basi per contrastare la conclusione della Commissione, secondo cui Kennedy fu ucciso dal solo Lee Harvey Oswald. La lettura del rapporto assume una particolare importanza nell'esaminare le teorie contrarie che hanno riscosso tanto credito nel mondo».

TUTTA LA VERITA' — Altra voce autorevole e positiva è quella del Washington Post nel cui articolo di fondo si afferma che la Commissione Warren ha dato al popolo americano e al mondo un rapporto che merita di essere accettato «come tutta la verità e niente altro che la verità sull'uccisione del Presidente Kennedy». Affermazioni che hanno incontrato l'approvazione dei due fratelli del defunto Presidente americano. Bob Kennedy, ha dichiarato infatti ai giornalisti di essere soddisfatto e pienamente convinto di quanto i sette membri nominati da Johnson per far luce sulla tragedia di Dallas hanno fatto in dieci mesi di estenuanti e difficili inchieste; e dello stesso avviso si è detto il giovane senatore Edward Kennedy, tuttora ricoverato in una clinica di Boston in seguito all'incidente aviatorio del 19 giugno. Del resto, pure il fratello di Oswald, Robert, si è trovato d'accordo con l'affermazione del rapporto Warren circa la colpevolezza di Lee Harvey. Intervistato alla televisione egli ha dichiarato che il rapporto ha interamente dissipato i dubbi da lui nutriti in passato sulla colpevolezza di Oswald. Una copia del rapporto Warren è stata consegnata ieri sera dall'ambasciatore Kholer al Primo Ministro personalmente la Pravda afferma oggi che il rapporto non dissipa tutti i dubbi e i sospetti attorno all'assassinio di Dallas; e la Tass, da parte sua, così commenta: «Probabilmente non tutto quello che era segreto è diventato chiaro. Fin dall'inizio del lavoro della Commissione, il presidente Warren aveva dichiarato che alcuni fatti connessi con l'assassinio del Presidente Kennedy probabilmente non saranno rivelati per varie generazioni». Né la radio, né i giornali russi, nel riferire il testo del rapporto Warren, hanno fatto riferimento al soggiorno di Lee H. Oswald nell'Unione Sovietica e si sono soltanto limitati ad identificare l'assassino del Capo della Casa Bianca con un ex marine, accusando nel frattempo la stampa americana di «cercare di rappresentare Oswald come un marxista».

Il «rapporto Warren» è negli Stati Uniti l'argomento del giorno. Accanto ai commenti dedicatigli dalla stampa americana, una casa editrice popolare si accinge a rovesciare sul mercato una prima edizione di 700 mila copie, che insieme a quelle distribuite dalla tipografia statale e alle edizioni imminenti di altre case editrici, popolari o meno, faranno ascendere a vari milioni le copie in circolazione. Tutto sembra confermare che il «rapporto Warren» diverrà un «best seller». Da questa mattina c'è una fila di persone in attesa dinanzi all'ingresso della tipografia nazionale di Washington, dove il volume è in vendita. Gli acquirenti si procurano numerose copie, non di rado fino a 25. Alla tipografia sono pervenute numerose ordinazioni anche per corrispondenza e la prima tiratura prevista in 50 mila copie è già portata a 110 mila copie.

natore Edward Kennedy, fratello del defunto presidente, ha dichiarato che il senatore stesso ha avuto parole di lode per il rapporto Warren. Edward Kennedy è tuttora ricoverato in una clinica di Boston in seguito all'incidente aviatorio del 19 giugno.

A Dallas la signora Eva Grant, sorella di Jack Ruby, ha detto di avere visitato ieri il fratello, condannato a morte nello scorso marzo per l'assassinio di Lee Harwey Oswald. La signora Grant ha parlato al fratello del rapporto Warren, ma Ruby ha mostrato di non capire. Egli appare «inibito da allucinazioni circa persecuzioni antiebraiche e le parole rivoltegli non si imprimono nella sua mente».

A Wichita Falls, nel Texas, Robert Oswald, fratello di Lee Harwey Oswald, ha dichiarato ad un giornalista di accettare le risultanze dell'inchiesta Warren, inchiesta che egli considera condotta nel migliore dei modi. Ha tuttavia aggiunto: «Non posso fare a meno di pensare che qualcuno, in qualche modo, fece sorgere l'idea, direttamente o indirettamente nella mente di Lee».

Critiche ai risultati dell'inchiesta sui fatti di Dallas sono state formulate da Thomas Buchanan, autore del libro «Chi ha ucciso Kennedy», tradotto e pubblicato in diciotto lingue. Buchanan afferma che la commissione Warren «era sottoposta a pressioni» e osserva che essa ha svolto più un'opera da agente di relazioni pubbliche che da vero e proprio inquirente. Il rapporto, afferma Buchanan, conferma la sua tesi «secondo cui Oswald non è nè completamente innocente, nè completamente colpevole». Lo scrittore rimprovera alla commissione di aver accettato troppo rapidamente «quelle testimonianze che confermavano l'ipotesi secondo cui un solo uomo è responsabile della uccisione di Kennedy».

La madre di Oswlad, dal canto suo, ha detto a Fort Worth, dove abita, che gli inquirenti «si sono limitati a esporre ed elencare i loro accertamenti, ma per quanto riguarda la colpevolezza di Lee dobbiamo crederli sulla parola. Non hanno prove. Non ci hanno dato nessuna prova».

Il generale della riserva Edwin Walker, esponente dell'estrema destra americana, il che nello aprile del 1963 subì un attentato che la commissione ha addebitato ad Oswald, ha definito invece il rapporto «un paravento», diretto a coprire la «cospirazione ideologica» che l'ufficiale insiste nell'attribuire a Oswald e a Ruby.

Dissensi e consensi giungono con le reazioni dall'estero. Particolarmente interessante l'atteggiamento sovietico: in una corrispondenza da Washington della agenzia «Tass» si giunge alla conclusione che il rapporto presenta contraddizioni, non fa piena luce sugli avvenimenti e dà adito a dubbi e sospetti.

Le «Izvestia», il giornale del governo che esce nel pomeriggio, riprendono a loro volta la corrispondenza della «Tass» sul rapporto della commissione Warren. Essi riferiscono però anche il commento alla pubblicazione del documento da parte della madre di Oswald.

Per il noto filosofo e pacifista britannico Bertrand Russel, il rapporto della commissione Warren è, invece, un documento «spiacevolmente incompetente e copre di vergogna i suoi autori». E' chiaro, ha affermato, che «molto è ancora tenuto nascosto al pubblico». Russel ha assicurato che il comitato «Chi uccise Kennedy» da lui formato rinnoverà gli sforzi per scoprire «i veri assassini» del presidente americano.

Secondo la maggior parte dei giornali scandinavi, il rapporto è convincente e imparziale. In particolare, il «Morgenbladet» di Oslo scrive: «Il grande lavoro svolto dalla commissione e l'alto livello delle sue considerazioni e dei criteri di giudizio seguiti nella scelta del materiale a disposizione garantiscono che le conclusioni della commissione sono corrette». «A cagione del suo contenuto critico — scrive il quotidiano — il rapporto avrà naturalmente conseguenze per le competenti autorità americane, anche se non si osa attendersene per quelle di Dallas».

A quest'ultimo proposito, il presidente Johnson ha formato ieri una commissione che lo consiglierà in merito alla «esecuzione delle raccomandazioni della commissione Warren» circa la protezione dei presidenti. La commissione è formata dal ministro del tesoro Dillon, dal vice ministro della giustizia Katzenbach, dal capo della CIA MacCone, e da Bundy, assistente speciale di Johnson per gli affari della sicurezza nazionale.

Molto interessante, infine, una dichiarazione del governatore del Texas, Connally, in una delle interviste trasmesse dalla CBS nel programma di illustrazione del rapporto Warren. Egli ha ripetuto ciò che ha sempre detto fin dall'inizio: e cioè di essere convinto che la pallottola che lo colpì fu la seconda. Secondo la ricostruzione dell'inchiesta, la prima pallottola, dopo aver attraversato la gola di Kennedy, colpì Connally in varie parti del corpo; la seconda colpì Kennedy al cranio; la terza andò a vuoto. Connally ritiene invece che Kennedy sia stato colpito dalla prima e terza pallottola; il secondo proiettile avrebbe colpito soltanto lui stesso. «Nulla al mondo — ha detto Connally — potrà convincermi che le cose non siano andate così. Dopo aver udito il primo sparo, mi girai per vedere se il presidente era stato colpito. Allora fui ferito dal secondo proiettile, senza tuttavia aver udito la detonazione».

VICTOR RIESEL: INSIDE LABOR

What Price 'Presidential Safety'?

WASHINGTON—In some regions of this land the FBI estimates there are at least 5,000 men and women who are threats to the life of a visiting President because they are of all shades of subversion, emotionally unstable or irrational in behavior.

This is an awesome number since this land of ours is of many regions. How, then, can a swiftly moving President be made secure? Shall these tens of thousands be rounded up in concentration camps the moment a President's itinerary is released? Shall they be kept under some vast network of surveillance? Or shall they be put under house arrest?

In Chicago the other day agents of the Federal Alcohol and Tobacco Unit set aside rooms in a motel for the detention of some men during a visit by President Johnson. They walked in on the home of a gun dealer without a search warrant and demanded that he move to the motel for the night. They had no subpenas nor reason to suspect the man they kept under house detention.

During a previous visit of President Johnson to that city, the police moved in on left wingers associated with groups such as the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. Two were told to stay at home while the President was in Chicago. They were warned they'd be shadowed if they went out.

They were watched because the police there believed that members of such committees were "suspicious" characters.

Apparently this is what the Warren Commission believes in favor preventive action. There can be no other conclusion it seems to me, after reading the report in which the Commission group criticizes the FBI by charging that J. Edgar Hoover's famed Bureau "took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination (of President Kennedy). A more carefully coordinated treatment of the Oswald case by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's activities to the attention of the Secret Service."

The implication here is that the FBI was remiss in its duty in not naming Lee Harvey Oswald as a potential assassin because he was a Marxist and had lived in Russia. How should Oswald then have been picked up? What say the civil liberties organizations to that?

If the Commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, is right in its criticism, what should the FBI do when, for example, the President visits New York City? There are scores of men in the big city who have lived in or visited Russia and even Communist China.

Should they be rounded up or put under house arrest? What of the hard core members of the Communist Party, which now numbers some 10,000 by its own count?

What of the thousands of members of some 250 organizations on what is known as the Attorney General's subversive list? This is a compilation of the full spectrum running from Communists to Ku Klux Klansmen. It is officially a list of those organizations which are "totalitarian, Fascist, Communist or subversive or which have adopted or shown a policy of advocating the commission of acts of force or violence to deny other persons their rights under the Constitution of the U.S., or which seek to alter the form of government of the U.S. by unconstitutional means."

What of the neo-radical, pro-Chinese Communist splinter groups which call for world revolution and which jumped into the rioting in U.S. cities this summer by calling for the killing of judges and police?

Does the Warren Commission, through its criticism of the FBI, insinuate that it wants Mr. Hoover to take a less "restrictive view" of civil liberties and name all members or all leaders and activities, of all "suspicious" organizations as potential dangers to the president? If so, whom will the Commission name as the arbiter of what constitutes men and organizations as potential threats to our Chief Executive?

If this becomes national security policy, would there not be needed an immense national police of the kind which J. Edgar Hoover has always disdained?

Just as poignant as all these questions is the unknown reason for the Warren Commission's apparent antagonism toward the FBI. The Commission, for example, indicates a lack of cooperation between the Bureau and the Secret Service. This is not so. Secret Service chief James J. Rowley is a former special FBI agent and a close personal friend of Mr. Hoover. Furthermore Mr. Rowley lectures at the FBI National Academy.

Any implication that lack of cooperation between the two agencies had any bearing on the tragedy at Dallas is not only without basis when the record is examined but is cruel in its grim insinuation.

Many observers believe that the chairman and members of the Warren Commission owe the public an explanation especially of the use of their word "restrictive." Hindsight is formidable. The use of it in such a way that it could shake the confidence of the public in the FBI appears inexcusable.

By letter dated 10/15/64 the Criminal Division forwarded for our attention and appropriate action a copy of a 10/13/64 letter to the Acting Attorney General from Joachim Joesten, the left-wing writer who authored the book called "Oswald, Assassin or Fall Guy?" In his letter Joesten repeats charges in his book that Chief Curry and Captain Fritz of the Dallas Police, SAC Shanklin, SA James P. Hosty, Jr., and Forrest V. Sorrels, Secret Service Chief in Dallas, conspired to shield the persons responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy and that they manufactured false evidence against Oswald and suppressed evidence that might have been in Oswald's favor and intimidated witnesses.

Joesten is a German born (1907) naturalized United States citizen (1943) who since 1944 has been self-employed as a free lance writer. At his naturalization hearing he described himself as a "left-wing liberal." The publishers of his book are the well-known communists (Security Index subjects), Carl Aldo Marzani and Alexander Munsell. Joesten's scurrilous book, which was principally an attack on the Director and the Bureau, and his preposterous letter to the Acting Attorney General are typical of the support given communist causes by Marzani and Munsell. There isn't a scintilla of truth in either Joesten's book or letter and the latter appears to be basically a pitch for some publicity for the book. In his letter Joesten asks that an investigation be initiated into his charges and that he be called upon to testify. He claims that he can support his charges by reference to the Warren Report.

Joesten and his writings regarding the assassination are well known to the Commission, which body chose to ignore Joesten in its summary report. Considerable details concerning Josten's writings and the results of a detailed interview of him in March were furnished to the Commission, to the Department, and to the Secret Service in June, 1964.

Of the copies of Ruby's testimony submitted, it was concluded that the following were not used to reproduce the facsimile of page 103 appearing in the August 18, 1964, issue of the New York Journal-American.

Because of the effects of retouching on the newspaper facsimile and the effects of the process of newspaper reproduction, it was not possible to make a definite determination in any of the following instances:

Copies numbered one through four of the "Ward and Paul" copies

Copy obtained from Mr. Tonahill

However, some characteristics in the Journal-American facsimile appear also in the above five copies.

The impressions of the word "CONFIDENTIAL" in red on the pages of the "Ward and Paul" copies were not printed in the manner of the impressions of the word "CONFIDENTIAL" in red on the sample pages obtained from the Ward and Paul firm.

The impressions of the word "CONFIDENTIAL" in red on the pages of the "Ward and Paul" copies of Ruby's testimony were printed by an offset printing process, whereas the impressions of the word "CONFIDENTIAL" in red on the sample pages furnished by the Ward and Paul firm were printed by a letterpress printing method.

The word "CONFIDENTIAL" in red on the covers of the five "Ward and Paul" copies of Ruby's testimony contains characteristics of rubber stamp impressions. It was found, however, that these were not made from the type used to print the word "CONFIDENTIAL" on the sample pages furnished by the Ward and Paul firm or from the two rubber stamps furnished by the President's Commission.

The impression of the word "CONFIDENTIAL" at the bottom of the facsimile reproduction of page 103 appearing in the Journal-American contains some characteristics in common with the impressions in red of the word "CONFIDENTIAL" at the bottom of page 103 of each of the "Ward and Paul" copies and the word "CONFIDENTIAL" appearing in black on page 103 of the transcript furnished by Mr. Tonahill.

Honorable J. Lee Rankin

Examination of the knots of the ribbons binding the pages of each of the five "Ward and Paul" copies of Ruby's testimony revealed no conclusive evidence that any had been untied and retied. The ribbon of copy number four shows more fraying of the ends than do the others. The pages of copy number three reveal that they have been subjected to much more handling than do the pages of any of the other copies.

The evidence examined will be returned separately.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: In view of the fact that the Washington Field Office and Houston Office furnished the evidence examined and in view of the fact that the evidence was obtained from specific individuals who requested that their respective items be returned to them, the evidence examined and treated in the above report will be returned to the Washington Field and Houston Offices for return to the respective individuals.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

After reading the Warren Report concerning the Oswald case, I wanted to advise you that I feel that it completely misses the point when it by "hindsight" says that the FBI failed to fulfill its reponsibilities in the field of preventive intelligence. It would seem to me that the Commission was straining to make this point because the impracticality of what they seem to have in mind in dissemination of subversive type information to other governmental agencies should be evident to anyone who gives the matter any thought.

I am certain that the Leftists will try to use statements which could be considered critical of the FBI, to your detriment and to the detriment of the reputation of the Bureau, in spite of the fact that in the past they have been extremely critical of dissemination of subversive type information by the Bureau. I want to assure you that myself and all of the former Special Agents of the Bureau in this company will take every opportunity to set straight persons who may suffer from a misconception based on the Warren Report, although I am certain that the American people will not be duped and that they will continue to recognize the magnificent work done by you.

Very truly yours,

SUBJECT: KENNEDY ASSASSINATION FILM

Mrs. Jane Roman, CIA, asked the Liaison Agent on 10/9/64, if we could make available to CIA a copy of a film which portrayed the assassination of former President Kennedy. CIA is referring to the film which was taken by Adrian Zapruder, who sold the film to Life Magazine. The Bureau was furnished a copy by Zapruder prior to his negotiations with Life. We have an understanding with Life that the copy being retained by the Bureau can be used only for official purposes.

Mrs. Roman stated that CIA desires to use the film strictly for training purposes and it is understood that it would be furnished on a loan basis.

ACTION:

This matter is being referred to the attention of the Laboratory. If approved, a copy of the film will be made available to CIA on a loan basis with the understanding that the Agency use it internally and only for training purposes.

Dissent to Warren

By William F. Buckley Jr.

I HAVE news that is interesting, healthy, and infuriating.

Three members of the Warren Commission apparently raged, behind closed doors, against the projected criticisms of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. But Earl Warren was adamant, and the criticisms were therefore registered.

The official Commission report said that the FBI "took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination. A more carefully co-ordinated treatment of the Oswald case by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's activities to the attention of the Secret Service."

The three gentlemen who were healthy enough to dissent were Representatives Gerald Ford and Hale Boggs, and Sen. Russell. They made the point that it was unfair to criticize the FBI without suggesting what, of a concrete nature, the agency could have done, and without weighing the meaning the kind of preventive activity Justice Earl Warren seemed to be recommending on the rights of the individual citizen.

It is all very well grandly to suggest that the FBI should pick up more suspects, or turn the names of those suspects over to the Secret Service to be picked up.

Any implementation of such a program would, however, end the FBI up defending its behavior before — guess who? Earl Warren himself, who — and this is what is infuriating about Mr. Warren's criticism of the FBI — during the past years has done everything within his power to undermine anti-subversive legislation (for instance, of the kind that might have put the spotlight on Oswald), and criminal-apprehension techniques (there was the famous Mallory case, for instance, where a rapist-murderer was released because he hadn't been arraigned soon enough: who went on to rape again).

The task of sequestering anyone who might conceivably assassinate a President of the United States is overwhelming, and it must dismay J. Edgar Hoover to be castigated for failing to do a possible job largely by the same group of people who make it difficult for him to do a possible job — and who are always on the alert against any enhancement of the FBI's powers.

ENCLOSURE

It is especially curious that the testimony of Mr. Hoover to the Warren Commission was not published. Why, one wonders? Because it would have defanged Mr. Warren's criticisms?

What, actually, is the Chief Justice recommending? The FBI has estimated that in some areas of the country there are as many as five thousand persons who are as likely to assassinate a President as Lee Harvey Oswald was, judging only from his previous record. They are communists, subversives, ultras of every variety, neo-fascists, men and women who are emotionally unstable or demonstrably irrational in their behavior.

It is seriously proposed that, let us say, every time the President comes to New York, five thousand people be picked up and tucked away somewhere until the President is so gracious as to leave town? The proposal is preposterous.

Clearly the principal responsibility rests on the President himself. It is not fair for him to impose upon the Secret Service or the FBI an undischargeable burden.

It is in the great tradition of political leadership to wave away the bodyguards and mingle with the people, and one's republican blood stirs at the sight of it. Charles de Gaulle entered Notre Dame Cathedral on the day that Paris was liberated and walked majestically up the great aisle even as snipers fired bullets all around him from the choirloft.

He got away with it, but the whole point about personal heroism is that sometimes you don't get away with it. Otherwise, it wouldn't be called heroism. When you don't get away with it, it is hardly fair to blame the FBI.

One would like to think that a President could mingle among his own people with impunity. But we are a free society, free even to the point that men and women who think disorderly and abusive thoughts nevertheless are unmolested until and unless they act overtly, or are known to be afraid to act.

Mr. and Mrs Sitz informed the Dallas Office, immediately after the assassination, that they thought Oswald may have registered in their motel on 11/20/63 under another name. They made available the original registration card involved and it was afforded handwriting examination by the FBI Laboratory. The Laboratory concluded the handwriting on the card was not Oswald's. The Sitzes requested on 9/29/64 the card be returned to them. We took this up with the Commission and Commission advised such card is of no further interest to Commission. Dallas suggested Bureau may desire to inform the Sitzes that the writing on the card was not that of Oswald. This action not desirable since our handwriting comparison was furnished to the Commission and we have not divulged results of FBI Laboratory examinations to public.

RE: MARK LANE

Re New York airtel 10/1/64.

On 10/9/64, a debate between San Francisco attorney MELVIN BELLI and New York attorney MARK LANE captioned "Is Oswald The Lone Assassin of the President?" was held at the Masonic Memorial Auditorium, California Street, San Francisco. Prominent San Francisco attorney JAKE EHRLICH was the moderator. The meeting was attended by an estimated 1500 persons. SA JAMES G. CARLISLE and Panel Source Mrs. HELEN JANET MEYER attended this meeting.

An opening statement was made by BELLI. He began his statement by praising the Warren Commission Report, stating that it was a tribute to such a great democracy as the United States and he believed that no other country could have produced such a complete report. He derided LANE for speaking in foreign countries and harming the image of the United States by implying that there had been a conspiracy in this country to kill President KENNEDY and implying that OSWALD was not the only person involved in the assassination. BELLI then asked if this is so, who are these conspirators and where are they now. BELLI stated there was no one else besides OSWALD and he said he would show this beyond a reasonable doubt. He said OSWALD was a psychotic person and always had been, and even as a youth under the New York Youth Authority, OSWALD had exhibited psychotic and schizophrenic tendencies.

BELLI then discussed the events the day KENNEDY was killed. He discussed OSWALD's travel to get the "curtain rods;" the events at the time of the shooting; how OSWALD left the building; took a bus; the finding of the bus transfer on OSWALD; his travel by cab; the shooting of TIPPIT, and OSWALD's subsequent arrest. He discussed the palmprint found on the gun; the rifle purchased by OSWALD under an assumed name; the fingerprints on the bag in which OSWALD carried the gun; the fibers of OSWALD's jacket on the gun; the witness who saw OSWALD at the window of the book depository building; the witnesses who saw the shooting of TIPPIT; HOWARD BRENNAN's identifying OSWALD from the police line-up; the cartridges which were found to have come from OSWALD's hand gun, and the hole on the inside of the windshield of the President's car.

BELLI insisted that all these things showed beyond a reasonable doubt that OSWALD was guilty.

MARK LANE then made an opening statement. He said he had never said anywhere that there had been a conspiracy in this country to kill the President. He said that in this country there still exists the presumption of innocence until proven guilty. He commented on the voluminous heavy Warren Report and stated that historians may some day record the most precise description of the Report and that would be President JOHNSON's remark, "It is very heavy" when he received his copy from Chief Justice WARREN.

LANE stated that OSWALD was never represented by counsel before the Warren Commission. He then discussed what he believed to be discrepancies in the Report. He talked about the Dallas Police officers at first reporting the finding of a Mauser rifle which later turned out to be an Italian gun. He discussed witness HOWARD BRENNAN who had been standing outside the book depository building and his description of OSWALD as being entirely too accurate from that distance. He stated that BRENNAN had said OSWALD was shooting while standing by the window, but the Warren Report said OSWALD was sitting down. If OSWALD was sitting down, how could BRENNAN tell how tall he was?

He discussed the Dallas Police line-up where BRENNAN identified OSWALD as the man most closely resembling the person he had seen. LANE stated there were five teenagers in the line-up handcuffed together and also OSWALD who kept saying, "This is not a fair line-up." He stated that there were no notes made by the FBI, the Dallas Police, Secret Service, nor was there any tape or steno record for the twelve hours that OSWALD was interrogated, and he said if you believe that you might as well believe the rest of the Warren Commission Report. What OSWALD is supposed to have said during the interrogation is reported from police memory only.

AAPC

He talked about the photographs of OSWALD holding the gun which he said had been doctored or superimposed and which had been printed in various magazines. He stated that no rifle expert in the world, using the gun OSWALD had, could hit a moving target at that distance with the accuracy that OSWALD had exhibited. He stated that three leading rifle experts using the Italian gun, fired eighteen shots at a still--not a moving--target and missed five times. He said that authorities have stated that OSWALD ordered the rifle from a Chicago sporting firm from an article in the February, 1963, "Rifleman" magazine. He said that is a lie because the length and weight of the gun advertised in that article is different than the length and weight of the gun actually found.

He discussed the witnesses testimony who saw OSWALD bring the gun into the building. One witness did not see any package. The other two said the package was carried under OSWALD's armpit cupped in his right hand, and that is impossible because the gun broken down was too long for that.

He discussed eleven witnesses who saw Officer TIPPIT shot. He said the Warren Commission never called many of these witnesses; one gave a completely different description, and one woman was told by the Dallas Police not to testify. He said the Warren Commission relied on the FBI, Dallas Police, and Secret Service, [illegible] never got all the facts.

EMILI in his rebuttal stated that the Dallas Police, the FBI, and Secret Service had carried out their duty and had done everything possible to protect the President. He said the Commission had been composed of elite Congressional members and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and insisted that the facts had been ferreted out and that the Warren Commission Report was complete.

He then discussed nailing down the various rumors and discussed some of these, such as the erroneous name GLICK for the taxi driver, OSWALD's description, and possible shots coming from the overpass.

LANE in his rebuttal stated he did not believe that elite Congressmen were on the Commission. He said he felt that honor would return to the United States when American people look at the facts in the case. He said he is not concerned about the image of the United States, but is concerned with the substance of the case. He then said that the four reporters who heard the sound of shots coming from the area of the overpass were never called by the Warren Commission. He stated that the Warren Commission believed only what it wanted to believe.

After this, there was a short question and answer period.

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages 22930-22931. Congressman Johansen, (R) Michigan, spoke concerning the August 28th directive issued by the State Department directing destruction by burning of certain files. After contact by Mr. Johansen and Congressman Utt, (R) California, the Department issued another directive (October 1st) supposedly amending the first directive. G. Marvin Gentile, Director, Office of Security, met with Johansen and Utt. Mr. Johansen makes reference to instructions in the directive regarding the handling of investigative reports by resident agents. Mr. Johansen stated "The October 1 directive states that the resident agent is to dictate this investigative report 'into a dictating machine' and send 'his report, together with his notes, to the appropriate field office.' It further states that this procedure is 'similar if not exactly comparable to the way investigative reports are processed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Civil Service Commission.' - - - Mr. Gentile categorically stated that the transcript of the dictaphone record is not returned to the resident agent for reading, editing, correction, and initialing. He stated that this was identical to the FBI procedure. We are informed on the contrary that local FBI agents are supplied with the transcribed report for such reading, editing, correction, and initialing before it is forwarded to Washington or placed in the district or regional office file." He also commented on the Warren Commission investigation of the Oswald case and stated "The timing of the State Department directives regarding file burning, in the light of the knowledge which State Department officials must have had of the Warren Commission's lines of inquiry, could hardly be more incredible."

The method of reporting in unclassified summary was slightly changed to protect the Legat's operations (we do not attribute to confidential sources abroad observations which were made by members of the Embassy staff i.e. checking of phone book, etc.). The 4/6 letter is serial 3007 which summarized pertinent developments regarding Mexican investigation which were reported to Bureau at the time by cable. The letter stated that the inquiry summarized therein would be furnished to Commission in detail at a later date. This has been done in our 5/18 and 4/20 unclassified memoranda. It is inadvisable to declassify 4/6 letter for in it we spoke openly of our investigative efforts in Mexico. The unclassified documents clearly protect all sources.

Reference is made to your letter dated September 30, 1964, requesting us to declassify certain documents previously furnished by this Bureau to the President's Commission. In this connection, you may regard as unclassified our letter to Honorable J. Lee Rankin dated September 10, 1964, and the two enclosures thereto, namely a memorandum of two pages dated August 25, 1964, at Washington, D. C., and a memorandum of three pages dated August 28, 1964, at Washington, D. C.

In connection with our letters (two) to Honorable J. Lee Rankin dated September 4, 1964, dealing with interview of Rolando Barnes and transmitting two copies of page twenty of Exhibit D-238, we request that you continue to regard them as bearing a "Confidential" classification. There are enclosed in this regard two copies each of memoranda dated September 4, 1964, which may be regarded as unclassified and in which are set forth portions of our September 4, 1964, letters.

Our review of the documents referred to in the enclosure to your letter of reference is continuing and the results thereof will be promptly furnished to you.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Honorable J. Lee Rankin

NOTE:

The 9/10 letter is serial 4806 and served only as letter of transmittal and becomes declassified when detached from its enclosures. The 8/25 memorandum is serial 4785 and the 8/28 memorandum is serial 4793. These are letterheads prepared by Legat, Mexico City, which can now be declassified as all sources therein are properly protected. Our 9/4 letter dealing with interview of Rolando Barrios, an employee of a travel agency in Mexico City through whom Oswald purchased his bus ticket on his return to U. S. in October, 1963, explained in response to specific Commission inquiry that Barrios was interviewed on only one occasion (4/2/64) by SA Rolf Larson of Legat's staff. This letter goes further by way of explaining how the information obtained from Barrios was elicited. It is the latter portion in which the Commission is undoubtedly interested. We do not want to declassify 9/4/ letter as SA Larson is identified therein. The enclosed letterhead attributes information in 9/4/64 letter to a confidential source abroad and, hence, does not need declassification at this time. Our other 9/4 letter which transmitted a portion of Exhibit D-238 summarized our findings concerning inquiry at various points in Mexico City, the locations of which were marked on a street map of Oswald's which was belatedly turned over to us by Marina Oswald in late August. This letter indicates that we were conducting inquiry at other areas in Mexico City, locations of which were also marked on the map. This shows our investigative activity in Mexico. The portions in this letter summarizing results including Laboratory findings are set forth in second enclosed letterhead which need not be classified.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Concerning the markings on the large and small maps depicted in Exhibit D-240, a confidential source abroad has advised that the central markings in the J-7 and the K-3 areas of these maps define Lee Harvey Oswald's place of residence at the Hotel del Comercio at Bernardin de Sahagun Street, Number 19, Mexico, D.F., Mexico.

Examination by the FBI Laboratory of Exhibit D-237, the portion of the Transportes del Norte bus ticket obtained from Mrs. Oswald, established that D-237 was originally connected to the two ticket stubs depicted in Exhibit D-202. The examination further established that the D-202 ticket stubs were originally connected.

According to a confidential source abroad, Mr. Ricardo Medina, Mexico City manager of the Transportes del Norte line, explained that tickets issued by his company for travel from Mexico City, Mexico, to Laredo, Texas, consist of three sections which are delivered to the purchaser. Each of these sections bears the same number. According to Mr. Medina, one section is for travel from Mexico City to Monterrey and the second is for the travel between Monterrey and Laredo, Texas. The third section, recording the total travel from Mexico City to Laredo Texas, is retained by the passenger. This section (Exhibit D-237) records the price of the ticket to be ninety-three pesos and seventy-five centavos. The tickets of the Del Norte line are pink in color and are torn from a bound, numbered book of tickets in which a stub remains to record the sale thereof.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

The following was received from a confidential source abroad:

Mr. Roland Barrios, former employee of the Chihuahuenses Travel Agency, Mexico, D.F., Mexico, when shown Photostats of the exchange order (Exhibit D-202) issued in connection with the travel of H. O. Lee from Mexico, D.F., Mexico, to Laredo, Texas, via the Transportes del Norte bus line on October 2-3, 1963, stated that the handprinting and signature on this document were his and that undoubtedly he handled the transaction represented by the document. A photograph of the tourist card (Exhibit J-3) of Lee Harvey Oswald was also displayed to Mr. Barrios. He stated that he would interpret the comma following the name "Lee" on the tourist card to indicate surname of the traveler to be "Lee" and, in order to avoid unnecessary writing on the exchange order, he would have used the initials of the first and middle names appearing on the tourist card which he considered to be "Harvey Oswald."

Mr. Barrios stated he could not recall Lee Harvey Oswald or his dealings with him. On viewing the above-described documents, he affirmed that he would have written the name of the traveler as "H. O. Lee" had he copied this name from Oswald's tourist card.

Mr. Barrios stated that he would attempt to reconstruct the events following issuance of the exchange order in question. However, he subsequently advised that he was unable to recall his contact with the traveler for whom he issued the exchange order in the name "H. O. Lee."

By letter dated September 30, 1964, the President's Commission requested that the Bureau authorize the Commission to declassify approximately 100 documents which had been furnished to the Commission in connection with our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald and the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. In furnishing the identity of the documents it desired declassified, the Commission was not specific enough to identify the majority of the documents. Accordingly, a conference was held on October 7, 1964, with Dr. Alfred Goldberg and Miss Helen Tarko, of the Commission, and Inspector James R. Malley and Supervisor Robert E. Lenihan, to clarify the identity of the documents the Commission desired we declassify. Each of the documents involved was personally examined by Supervisor Lenihan in the Commission's offices and brief identifying data was set out on work papers by Supervisor Lenihan in order that each document could be positively identified in Bufiles. These work papers are attached.

Warren Commission and J. Edgar Hoover

We can imagine nothing more inconsistent than the Warren Commission's criticism of FBI head Hoover in its report of President John Kennedy's murder.

The commission says Hoover's FBI should have tipped off the Secret Service, which guards the president, to Lee Harvey Oswald's stay in Russia and his attempt to become a Russian citizen.

Then, the inference is, Oswald could have been forcibly kept at home while President Kennedy was in Dallas. The commission admits its criticism is "tinged with hindsight." Worse than that, it suggests a course that is practiced only in despotic nations.

For by the same token the FBI should also wise up the Secret Service to probably thousands of eccentric, loose-mouthed characters it knows. They could be put under house detention in any city the president visits, and his talk of freedom and its blessings would be embroidered with a Gestapo tactic from Russia.

Warren should have dissented from that criticism on his record as Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. For the court, in decision after decision, has made it harder to squelch the Reds in this country, more difficult to convict for crime.

If anybody is to blame in this matter, it appears to be the State Department. Hoover, in his testimony to the Warren Commission, cited a State Department document, based on an interview with Oswald at our embassy in Moscow. This indicated that Oswald had changed his views and could safely be permitted to return to the United States.

The FBI kept watch of him afterward, but found nothing justifying his restraint.

Hoover stands at the forefront of communism's dedicated foes. He has repeatedly warned of its peril to the nation. His FBI has brought a flock of spies to trial, with many convicted.

Hoover wants to keep our free America. We aren't so sure about the Warren Court.

Unfair Cartoon

To the Editor:

Ordinarily I appreciate Mr. Herblock's cartoons and I would be glad to see more of them, but the one you published today (Oct. 6) was very objectionable, in that it presented an unfair picture of J. The cartoon went far out of its way to caricature Mr. Hoover as an egomaniac who resents anything which does not trumpet him as "Public Hero No. One." Considering the monumental service Mr. Hoover has rendered his country across many years, he surely deserves better treatment than this ill-mannered slap. Mr. Herblock is in error this time.

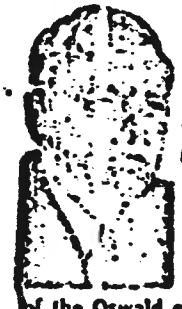
Dissent to Warren

By William F. Buckley Jr.



I HAVE news that is interesting, but not . . . alarming.

Three members of the Warren Commission apparently raged, behind closed doors, against the projected criticisms of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. But Earl Warren was adamant, and the criticisms were therefore registered.

The official Commission report said that the FBI "took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination. A more carefully coordinated treatment of the Oswald case by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's activities to the attention of the Secret Service."

The three gentlemen who were healthy enough to dissent were Representatives Gerald Ford and Hale Boggs, and Sen. Russell. They made the point that it was unfair to criticize the FBI without suggesting what, of a concrete nature, the agency could have done. And without weighing the meaning the kind of preventive activity Justice Earl Warren seemed to be recommending on the rights of the individual citizen.

It is all very well grandly to suggest that the FBI should pick up more suspects, or turn the names of those suspects over to the Secret Service to be picked up.

Any implementation of such a program would, however, end the FBI up defending its behavior before — guess who? Earl Warren himself, who — and this is what is infuriating about Mr. Warren's criticism of the FBI — during the past years has done everything within his power to undermine anti-subversive legislation (for instance, of the kind that might have put the spotlight on Oswald), and criminal-apprehension techniques (there was the famous Mallory case, for instance, where a rapist-murderer was released because he hadn't been arraigned soon enough, which was on to rape again).

The task of second-guessing anyone who might conceivably assassinate a President of the United States is overdemanding, and it need dismay Mr. Edgar Hoover to be castigated for failing to do an impossible job — and who are always on the alert against any enhancement of the FBI's powers.

It is especially curious that the testimony of Mr. Hoover to the Warren Commission was not published. Why, one wonders? Because it would have defanged Mr. Warren's criticisms?

What, actually, is the Chief Justice recommending? The FBI has estimated that in some parts of the country there are as many as five thousand persons who are as likely to assassinate a President as was Harvey Oswald was, prior, only from his previous record. They are known to be unbalanced, afraid of every variety, neo-fascists, neo-Nazis and others who are fantastically unstable or unpredictably irrational in their behavior.

It is seriously proposed that, let us say, every time the President comes to New York, five thousand people be picked up and locked away somewhere until the President is so gracious as to leave town? The proposal is preposterous.

Clearly the principal responsibility rests on the President himself. It is not fair for him to impose upon the Secret Service or the FBI an undischargeable burden.

It is in the great tradition of political courage for a man to wave away the bodyguards and mingle with the people. Any man's republican blood stirs at the sight of it. Charles de Gaulle rides up Notre Dame Cathedral on the day that Paris was liberated and walked majestically up the great aisle even as snipers fired bullets all around him from the clerestory.

He got away with it, but the whole point about personal heroism is that sometimes you don't get away with it. Otherwise it wouldn't be called heroism. When you don't get away with it, it is hardly fair to blame the FBI.

One would like to think that a President could mingle among his own people with impunity. But we are a free society, free even to the point that a few sick and unstable but dangerous and abusive thoughts nevertheless are unmolested until and unless they find events, or are known to be afoot to act.

During the late hours of October 6, I sent to the Bureau the mounted clipping of editorial which appeared October 6 in the Cincinnati Enquirer. It was captioned, "The Warren Report." This editorial was personally prepared by SAC Contact ROGER FERGER, President, and in concert with BRADY BLACK, Vice President and Editor, and THOM GEPHARDT, Editor, Editorial Page.

Mr. FERGER read me the editorial prior to printing. He stated that he wanted to prepare it because he believes that the FBI needs support and should always have the support and accolades of the Cincinnati Enquirer because of Director HOOVER's vigorous and continuous fight to keep the FBI unfettered and effectively dedicated to its primary purpose.

There is attached hereto editorial from the Athens Messenger prepared by GORDON K. ABUSH, Publisher, and entitled, "The Security Lapse." 10-2-64

Also attached is another editorial by BUSH entitled, "Aimless and Lawless," relating to the Director's recent release on the summer riots and lootings.

Also attached is an editorial entitled, "Mr. HOOVER's Testimony," which appeared in the Citizen Journal of Columbus, Ohio.

Another editorial entitled, "Mr. HOOVER's Testimony," is attached and it appeared in the Cincinnati Post and Times-Star.

The Security Lapse

The Warren Commission which investigated the assassination of President Kennedy found a reprehensible lack of liasion between the Federal agencies concerned with the security of the President on his travels.

In particular, the commission deplored the failure of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to notify the Secret Service that Lee Harvey Oswald was a potential assassin, and that he worked in a building on the parade route where he could commit the crime.

It would have been an ordinary precaution for the Dallas police, armed with this information, to have taken Oswald into protective custody during President Kennedy's visit to Dallas.

Kennedy himself saw the danger the morning he was slain. He told his wife, Jacqueline, and his aid, Kenneth O'Donnell, "If anybody really wanted to shoot the President of the United States it was not a very difficult job — all one had to do was to get into a high building some way with a telescope rifle and there is nothing anybody could do about it."

What must be done, if for all Federal agencies to work together, as they now are.

Secret Service and FBI Protection Is Criticized

By Edward T. Pollard
Staff Reporter

Both the Secret Service and the FBI viewed "too narrowly" their responsibilities as Presidential bodyguards when President Kennedy was assassinated, the Warren Commission report concluded.

The report blamed neither agency, but saw a "need for a more imaginative and less narrow interpretation of their responsibilities" for Presidential protection.

To this end, it recommended a $3 million budget increase for the Secret Service, which would enable it to employ more than 200 additional agents. It also recommended that the Secret Service be empowered to call as needed on the FBI and other Federal agencies for investigative and protective help.

And it said that the Secret Service should improve the protective measures used in presidential motorcades and increase the precautionary attention given to buildings around parade routes.

Legislation Sought

The Commission also called on Congress for legislation making the murder or kidnaping of a President or Vice President—or any official in the Presidential line of succession—a Federal crime, and suggested that a Special Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury supervise the Secret Service.

The report pointed out that since the assassination "many changes have already been made and others are contemplated" in the standard provisions for Presidential protection.

The Commission tempered its recommendations for procedural improvements with the observation that it could "recommend no procedures for the future protection of our Presidents which will guarantee security."

The demands on the person who holds the office are so complex and varied, and "the traditions of the office in a democracy such as ours are so deepseated as to preclude absolute security," the report said.

Shared Responsibility

The Secret Service has the primary responsibility for the protection of the President. However, the Warren Commission points out that the FBI also has some duties in this area. Since 1910, the FBI appropriation has included an item for the "protection of the person of the President of the United States."

The Secret Service has what is called a Protective Research Section. Its job is to collect and evaluate information about individuals and groups who might be a danger to the President. It depends on other agencies, Federal and local, for part of its information, but it had none on Oswald.

Said the report:

"The Commission has concluded that at the time of the assassination the arrangements relied upon by the Secret Service to perform this function were not adequate."

But the Commission acknowledges that at the time, the Protective Research Section was very small: 12 specialists and three clerks. The PRS would be much enlarged if the recommended money were authorized by Congress.

A Finding of "Arrogance"

The FBI began a file on Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President Kennedy, in October, 1959, after reports that he had defected to the Soviet Union. FBI agents first interviewed him in June, 1962, at Fort Worth and found him "arrogant."

The report says that FBI agent James P. Hosty Jr. knew that Oswald was in Dallas in November and knew that he was working in the Texas School Book Depository Building, from which Mr. Kennedy was ambushed, but did not—and was not required to—pass on this information to the Secret Service.

the Warren Commission, saying: "There was nothing up to the time of the assassination that gave any indication that this man (Oswald) was a dangerous character who might do harm to the President or the Vice President."

Hoover said that the first indication of Oswald's capacity for violence was his attempt on the life of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, the right-wing leader. That was in April, 1963, but Hoover said the FBI did not learn that Oswald was the sniper until after the Kennedy assassination.

Should the FBI have told the Secret Service about Oswald's presence in Dallas before the arrival of President Kennedy on Nov. 22?

Criteria for Trouble

Robert I. Bouck, in charge of the Protective Research Section of the Secret Service, gave his testimony to the Warren Commission:

"I would think his (Oswald's) continued association with the Russian Embassy after his return, his association with the Castro groups, would have been of concern to us; a knowledge that he had, I believe, been courtmartialed for illegal possession of a gun, of a hand gun in the Marines; that he had owned a weapon and did a good deal of hunting or use of it, perhaps in Russia, plus a number of items about his disposition and unreliability of character. I think all of those, if we had them altogether, would have added up pointing out a pretty bad individual; and I think that, together, had we known that he had a vantage point would have seemed somewhat serious to us, even though I must admit that none of these in themselves would be—would meet our specific criteria, none of them alone.

"But it is when you begin adding them up to some degree that you begin to get criteria that are meaningful."

The report went on to say that Bouck acknowledged that he had no reason to believe that any one Federal agency had access to all this information, including the significant fact that Oswald worked in a building which overlooked the motorcade route.

After agreeing with the FBI contention that Oswald had not shown any potential for violence (except the attempt on the life of Gen. Walker, which the FBI knew nothing about until after Nov. 22), the report said:

"The Commission believes, however, that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its responsibilities in preventive intelligence work, prior to the assassination.

"The Commission appreciates the large volume of cases handled by the FBI (636,371 investigative matters during fiscal year 1963). There were no Secret Service criteria which specifically required the referral of Oswald's case to the Secret Service; nor was there any requirement to report the names of defectors.

"However, there was much material in the hands of the FBI about Oswald: the knowledge of his defection, his arrogance and hostility to the United States, his pro-Castro tendencies, his lies when interrogated by the FBI, his trip to Mexico where he was in contact with Soviet authorities, his presence in the School Book Depository job and its location along the route of the motorcade.

"All this does seem to amount to enough to have induced an alert agency such as the FBI, possessed of this information, to list Oswald as a potential threat to the safety of the President."

The report noted that the FBI Director testified he did not believe his agency, under an operating directive, was required to give the Secret Service what information it has about Oswald. And it recalled the testimony of Secret Service Special Agent Bouck that the accumulation of facts known to the FBI should have constituted a sufficient basis to warn the Secret Service of the Oswald risk. The Commission then said:

"The Commission believes that both the FBI and the Secret Service have too narrowly construed their respective responsibilities. The Commission has the impression that too much emphasis is placed by both on the investigation of specific threats by individuals and not enough on danger from other sources. . . ."

Cooperation Needed

The Commission recommended that the Secret Service "completely overhaul" its advance detection facilities and develop "more useful and precise criteria" for defining potential threats to the President. It added that other agencies of government should tell the Secret Service about "all returned defectors."

In addition, the Commission said the Secret Service should enter into agreements with other agencies to insure that it gets all the information it needs and that it should expedite plans to use data-processing techniques.

The Commission noted also that both the FBI and Secret Service had conducted investigations of the assassination on their own immediately following the tragedy and had turned over to the Commission the results of those inquiries.

Commenting on the liaison (and lack of it) between the two agencies just prior to the crime, the Commission observed:

"Most important, notwithstanding that both agencies have professed to the Commission that the liaison between them was close and fully sufficient, the Commission does not believe that the liaison between the FBI and the Secret Service . . . was as effective as it should have been."

The Commission also looked into reports that some Secret Service agents travelling with President Kennedy did some drinking at the Fort Worth Press Club and remained up late in the Cellar Coffee House on the night of Nov. 21.

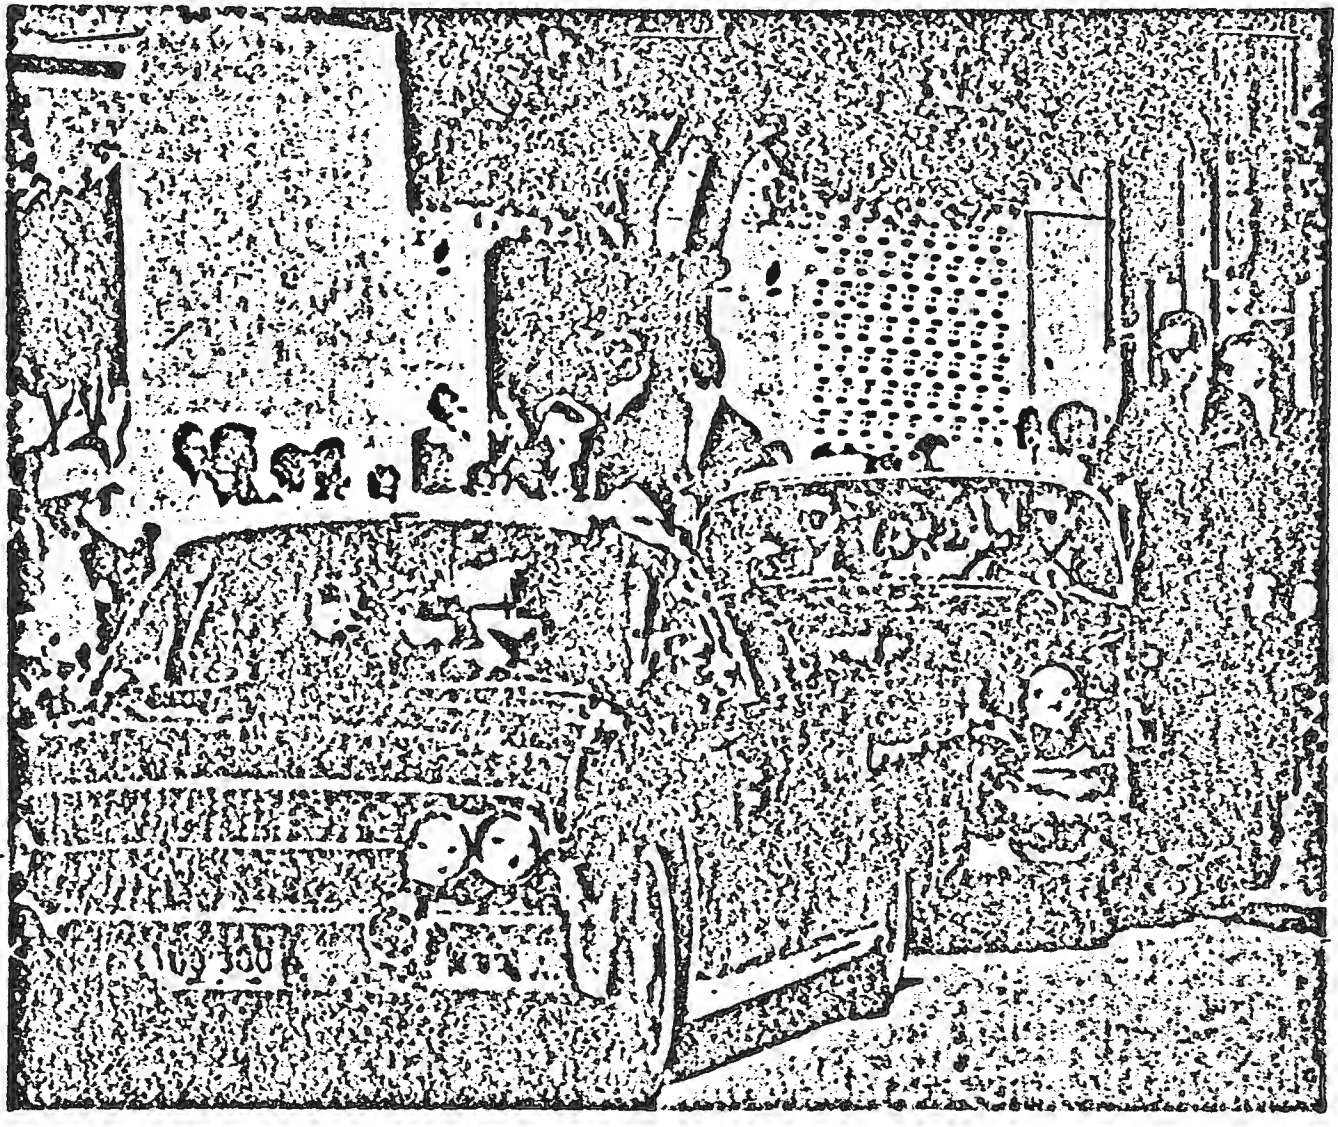
The report said that Secret Service Chief James J. Rowley did not condone this behavior, but was satisfied that all the agents carried out their duties satisfactorily. Indeed, the report said that the conduct of the agents at the time of the assassination was "in the finest tradition of Government service."

Presidential Risks Discussed by JFK

In Fort Worth on the morning of the day he was to die in Dallas, President Kennedy was talking to P. Kenneth O'Donnell, a White House assistant, about the risks inherent in the office of Chief Executive.

O'Donnell, testifying before the Warren Commission, recalling what Mr. Kennedy had told him, said "if anybody really wanted to shoot the President of the United States, it was not a very difficult job—all one had to do was get a high building some day with a telescopic rifle, and there was nothing anybody could do to defend against such an attempt."

The Warren Commission, in Appendix VII of its report, includes "A Brief History of Presidential Protection," and it is sober reading. In less than a century, four Presidents have been assassinated. Attempts were made to kill two other Presidents, one former President.



James W. Altgens, the Associated Press photographer who took this picture, believes it was snapped just about the time the first of two shots hit the President. Secondly men look toward shot's source.

Warren Report

Dear Editor:

The report on the assassination of President Kennedy, turned over to the President, contained some remarks, so we are told, which tend to discredit that great organization, the Federal Bureau of Investigation for not co-ordinating their information with the Secret Service, whose job it is to secure the safety of our Presidents.

What all people should understand is that the FBI reports only to the Attorney General of the United States. It is up to the attorney general's office to co-ordinate with other interested agencies. Congress gets its FBI information from the attorney general.

TO : Mr. DeLoach

DATE: 10-16-64

FROM : D. C. Morrell

SUBJECT: JIMMY TERRENCE LONG
IRON MOUNTAIN, MICHIGAN

By letter postmarked October 12th captioned individual wrote an incoherent, disjointed letter which indicated he had corresponded with "Caroline & John & family," and that the President believes in him because he has been "in his corner with Kennedy from the start." He stated it is imperative that he speak with the Director on "said rifle 4 power scope Italian rifle sling & all. I have read the Dallas report & Warren report. I even know 'Aidell.'" He states in addition that he has also written to "Mr. Johnson."

OBSERVATIONS:

Captioned individual appears to be a victim of mental deficiency or disorder and it is not felt his communication warrants a reply. In view of the fact, however, his letter indicates an interest in the Kennedy family and the presidency a copy of it is being referred to the Secret Service.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) That captioned individual's letter not be acknowledged.

(2) That a copy of it be referred to the Secret Service in view of his interest in the Kennedy family and President Johnson.

DATE: October 22, 1964

FROM : C. A. EVANS

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, secretary to former President Kennedy, telephoned and made reference to her earlier call last August. At that time Mrs. Lincoln at the request of Mrs. John Kennedy sought information as to the location and availability of the clothing worn by President Kennedy at the time of his assassination. It was explained to Mrs. Lincoln at that time that this was a matter within the jurisdiction of the President's Commission.

Today, Mrs. Lincoln said that following our earlier conversation she had gotten in touch with Warren Commission counsel, Lee Rankin, who had assured that the President's clothing would be returned following the submission of the Warren Commission's report. Mrs. Lincoln has heard nothing further from Mr. Rankin and asked what else she could do.

After checking, Mrs. Lincoln was informed that the President's Commission still has an office and it was suggested she endeavor to contact Mr. Rankin through the Commission office here in Washington. She was furnished the telephone number and the name of Mr. Rankin's secretary there.

Mrs. Lincoln was most appreciative and said she was going to pursue this matter further in view of the interest of the President's widow.

and because of its contents it was rewritten in the form of the 12/23 letterhead from which we deleted the information received from CIA's sources and in which we referred the Commission to CIA. When the Commission's representatives were in Mexico they learned that Legat had given some papers concerning his investigation to the American Ambassador which resulted in Commission asking us to furnish them with the "dossier" furnished to the Ambassador. Included among four documents furnished to the Ambassador by Legat was a copy of his 12/11 letterhead and, accordingly, in response to the Commission specific request we, on 4/7/64, furnished them with copies of 12/11 letterhead. All of the material in the two letterheads in question except that information obtained from CIA from its sensitive sources is set forth in our 5/13/64 unclassified summary letterhead dealing with investigation in Mexico and in our 4/7/64 unclassified letter and these documents should satisfy the Commission's needs for backup material to support its summary report.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I do appreciate your thoughtfulness in writing concerning my recent surgery. You are most kind to think of me at this time when your burden is so heavy in defending the F.B.I. against the attacks of the "wolf packs."

I was in New York Hospital when the Warren Report was published. Many of the staff of that hospital commented that the criticism of the FBI was unfair. The publicity in the Washington Star of your testimony before the Warren Commission, which appeared in the New York City newspapers, was most helpful in informing people that there was no reasonable basis for the F.B.I. to refer Oswald to the Secret Service as a potential assassin.

Again, thank you,

Dear [redacted]

Pilot is serial 4702 which was classified only because the enclosures thereto were "Confidential." Mr Todd's report is serial 12 in Pilot 102. It was classified "Confidential" to protect current security informants who reported information concerning Pollak's association with the Communist Party and interest in that organization by CP members. The Commission's report on the Pollak incident pointed out how his reputation was endangered by statements made to the press by the Dallas Police Department concerning Pollak shortly after the assassination. Pollak has reviewed this report and by 11/13 teletype advised that it could be declassified by deleting three short paragraphs on pages five and seven. The informant information deleted does not materially affect the report and the contents of the unclassified enclosure which has been requested by Hunter should cover all aspects in which the Commission is interested to serve by way of backup material for their report of this Pollak incident in the summary. We do not wish to declassify our letterhead memo of 4/5/63 which dealt with CP efforts to infiltrate the Party in Dallas in 1961 and 1962, because information concerning this was furnished by security informants who are currently active. Our memo only did not deal with efforts of CP to infiltrate the Party.

TO : Mr. DeLoach DATE: 10-22-64

FROM : M. A. Jones

SUBJECT: NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMISSION MEETINGS
THE AMERICAN LEGION
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA
OCTOBER 19-20, 1964

SA Hanning attended captioned meetings and deliberated with the National Americanism Commission, of which he is a member. Twenty-seven resolutions deferred from the National Convention in Dallas last month were considered. The following were of interest to the Bureau.

Four resolutions dealt with The Michal Goleniewski case and called for Congressional investigation of Goleniewski's charges that all branches of the Government with the exception of the FBI have been penetrated by Soviet intelligence. On SA Hanning's confidential recommendation these four resolutions were rejected. Goleniewski is, of course, the former Polish Lieutenant Colonel who defected to the West and is handled by CIA. The Bureau has interviewed him on many occasions and found his charges baseless.

Four other resolutions dealt with the Warren Commission and demanded the full facts of President Kennedy's assassination be released to the public by the Commission. These resolutions also had come before the National Convention in Dallas and we were able to have them deferred to the current meeting. They were rejected as their purpose had already been accomplished by the release of the Warren Report.

MISCELLANEOUS:

Numerous prominent Legionnaires including two former National Commanders expressed to Hanning their indignation at the Warren Report's criticism of the Bureau. The concensus of opinion was that it was strictly "Monday morning quarterbacking." In Legion circles the Bureau has lost no prestige whatsoever because of it.

NOT RECORDED

Newly elected National Commander Donald E. Johnson of West Branch, Iowa, was most complimentary in his comments concerning the Director and the Bureau and the cooperation he has received. He was most appreciative of the Director allowing

Honorable J. Lee Rankin
General Counsel
The President's Commission
200 Maryland Avenue, Northeast
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

In connection with the conversation on October 16, 1964, between Dr. Alfred Goldberg of your staff and Mr. John C. Stokes of this Bureau, there were delivered to the Commission on October 21, 1964, two copies each of a redraft of pages 154 through and including 157 of our summary memorandum dated May 18, 1964, two copies of which were furnished to you by our letter dated October 12, 1964. It is requested that you replace the present pages 154 through 157 in our summary memorandum with the revised pages 154 through 157 which were delivered to the Commission October 21, 1964.

For your information, the revised pages 154 through and including 157 were prepared by us at the request of the Central Intelligence Agency to avoid disclosure of the identity of the complainant in this matter who is referred to in the amended pages as "T-32."

This will confirm delivery to the Commission of the revised pages 154 through and including 157 of our summary memorandum dated May 18, 1964.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

On 10/16 Dr. Goldberg, the Air Force historian who is presently engaged in working up the Commission's exhibits which are to be made public, advised SA J. C. in Mexico City and made the wild allegation that he saw Oswald receive $6,500 in the Cuban Consulate in Mexico for the purpose of killing the President. Alvarado's story was completely discredited. He was given a polygraph examination in Mexico by CIA which showed that he was lying. Our Legat assisted in the polygraph examination following which Alvarado admitted he was in error.

The Alvarado incident was recorded in detail in Legat's summary memorandum of 5/18, copies of which were furnished to both the Commission and CIA. It was not known to us at the Bureau or to Legat that CIA desired Alvarado's name not be placed in the public record. At the Commission's request, we on 10/12 furnished them a sanitized unclassified version of Legat's 5/18 summary in which Alvarado was identified as the complainant. Mexico Agent Papich on 10/16 checked with Ray Rocca of Office of Deputy Director, Plans, CIA. Rocca said that CIA would prefer that Alvarado's name not be placed in the public record. While the incident is described in some detail in the Commission's summary report, Alvarado's name was not inserted therein. Hence, in view of CIA's request, we have rewritten four pages of Legat's summary memorandum from which Alvarado's name and other data tending to identify him have been removed.

The amended pages were delivered to Mr. Douglas Prather, a member of the staff of the President's Commission on 10/21/64 at the specific request of Dr. Alfred Goldberg of the Commission. Mr. Goldberg explained that the Commission desired to get the revised pages involved to the Government Printing Office immediately for printing.

Dear Chief and Good Brother Noble.

I thought you would enjoy this, to read, so I am sending you this copy.

But in seriousness, I had been sort of going deeply into this matter for some with my many years in this game., and some fairly good knowledge of what it is all about.

As far as I am concerned, IT CAN STAND A GOOD OVERHAULING, good brother. My recommendations, and perhaps you will GET HAD WITH ME, is that the SECRET SERVICE, has out-lived IT'S REAL USEFULNESS, as the ARM, in the matter of PROTECTING THE PRESIDENT of the United States. I think that they should CONFINE THEMSELVES, to GUARDING UNCLE SAM'S MONEY, I guess you know what I mean.

My possitive feeling, that the HIGHLY TRAINED FBI system, is today, the DEPARTMENT, that should TAKE OVER the JOB, The Secret Service, as far as I am concerned, and know about their records, going back to Abraham Lincoln, and in the last 100 years, I am possitive, they made no REAL STRIDES, in the ideas, plans, etc,. of the VERY SERIOUS MATTER of PROTECTION of a President. Gimmicks, about FANCY CARS, etc,. what have you, well that is merely plain SHOW OFF. If they really want a BRAIN PLANT about the matter of cars, perhaps I can sort of give them a little BRAIN IDEA.

Perhaps not to perfect, but I seriously, have a design, in the matter of the PROTECTION of a PRESIDENT. Many dern fools have come up with some BRAIN STORM IDEAS.

So, that is that. I leave the rest to you.

With best wishes, good health, to yourSir and all your loved ones.

Washington D.C. 20530.

Dear Mr. Miller.

Thank you very much for your letter of 11th.., and the reply to my letter of Sept,. 29th.,. addressed to the Hon. Nichola Katzenbach the ACTING ATTORNEY GENERAL.

That is the very reason, I wtote to Mr. Katzenbach, because he was appointed a Member of the Commission by the President, to look into the serious matter of PROTECTION of the PRESIDENTS.

Let me plainly outline this - The matter of an ASSASSINATED PRESIDENT, is not merely just the matter of a DEAD PERSON, but a very serious matter to the Nation. When you can kill 4 Presidents, in a CIVILIZED NATION, in a span of say 100 years, it is nothing to just BRUSH OFF, with the WAVE of YOUR HAND, or the SHRUG of YOUR SHOULDER.

I am very well aware of the facts, that to PROTECT A PRESIDENT, is a very TOUCH PROBLEM. Specially when certain PRESIDENTS, violate every RULE of SAFETY. But never the less, many METHODS, IDEAS, PLANS, etc.,, can be sort of CHECKED OUT, tried, plans of any thinking person, who is sort of learned, or some one with ADAPTATION to this VITAL problem, it dont have to be an FBI, or SECRET SERVICE, or any of the INTELLIGENCE DIVISIONS, individuals.

In other words, the people, RESPONSIBLE to the SAFETY OF THE PRESIDENT of the UNITED STATES, and I mean the Higher Up People, should not CLOSE the DOOR, to any reliable information, that can do much, to prevent such SERIOUS MATTERS, as an ASSASSINATION of a President.

IT IS TO LATE, to LOCK THE BARN, AFTER THE COW IS GONE.

Since the Assassination of the late - Illustrious - Immortal, John F. Kennedy, I had planed to consult with the APPROPIATE MEMBERS of CONGRESS, and I can work it very well, thru my many contacts of some 45 years, and outline, some of the PROBLEMS, some over hauling, THAT HAS TO BE DONE.

XXX The UNTASTEFULL - remarks by the WARREN COMMISSION, sort of CONDEMING the FBI, etc., was un-warranted, needless, by some people, WHO KNOW ATOUT THIS MATTER OF SECURITY of the PRESIDENT, as much as you are FIT TO BE THE POPE. It did not do any good, and it has many LOYAL MEN of the FBI, and in the TOP BRACKET, pretty sore and a little DISTURBED. After all the COMMISSION, depended a lot on the FIB for it's entire REPORT.

XX The SAFETY of the PRESIDENTS, can be modified, re-arranged, and even APPROPIATE EQUIPMENT, is very IMPORTANT, instead of the SHOW OFF methods, as now applied. Take the case of General DeGaulle of France, a man whose LIFE HAS BEEN THREATHENED MUCH MORE, then any HEAD of any GOVERNMENT, in the History of any Nation. So what is the ANSWER, lets take a good look, and sift the situation, how it is DONE. O yes several near misses all right.

4 — ENCLOSURE

No, my interest in this does not start with the SAD SITUATION, of this fine, Noble American, the late John F. Kennedy. It goes back to many years, as far back as the Democrat Convention, at the 5th.., Reg. Armory, in Baltimore, were President Wilson was NOMINATED and in many other times, when I had the honor and privileges, to be in many other such duties, around Presidents, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman, then Kings, Queens, and Presidents of France. Many more then the Youngsters today, assigned to this very SERIOUS MATTER.

So I assume I have said enough, and I leave the rest, in the good hands of you people.

Best wishes, good health, to you and all your loved ones.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to your letter dated September 30, 1964, requesting our authorization to declassify a number of documents which were furnished to the Commission by this Bureau during the course of our investigation regarding the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy.

In accordance with your request, we have reviewed the documents in question and have declassified a number of these documents where their continuance in a classified status is not required by the interests of the national defense. In addition, we have revised certain pages in a number of these documents in order to place them in an unclassified status and at the same time meet the requirements of the Commission.

However, I again wish to call your attention to the fact that many of our reports in the assassination case, the Lee Harvey Oswald case, and related inquiries contain considerable information of a highly personal nature which was furnished to our Agents during the investigation of these cases. I particularly desire to point out those reports and memoranda dealing with Michael and Ruth Paine and George and Jeanne de Mohrenschildt and the personal lives of these people. Making the contents of such documents available to the public could cause serious repercussions to the Commission.

You will recall that I previously expressed my concern regarding this matter in my letter to you dated January 13, 1964. Such letter dealt with our reports concerning Jack Ruby which contain information which may be in the nature of gossip and rumor and which has not been substantiated. Such information did represent the views of the persons interviewed and was reported as it was received by us. I brought such matter to your attention in view of the fact that if this type of information should be misused or become a matter of public knowledge, it would reflect most unfavorably upon the Department of Justice and the President's Commission. I also informed you that I was alerting Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller, Jr., of the Department of Justice regarding these observations.

I also want to point out that on May 4, 1964, Mr. A. H. Belmont of this Bureau discussed the matter of making public our investigative reports with Mr. Howard Willens and Mr. Samuel Stern of your staff. Mr. Belmont pointed out to Mr. Stern at that time that at a previous meeting Mr. Stern had raised questions on certain items in our reports which might reflect on innocent persons if the reports are made public in their entirety. Both Mr. Stern and Mr. Willens at that time concluded that if the Commission publicized such reports in their entirety, the Commission would be criticized for making public information concerning innocent persons.

In view of the great number of documents which the Commission has requested authority to declassify at this time, I again want to specifically call this matter to your attention and point out the responsibility which must be assumed by the Commission in the event these documents are made available to the public.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Memorandum

TO: Mr. Mohr

DATE: September 25, 1964

FROM: C. D. DeLoach

SUBJECT: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

At 1:00 p.m. today, Mr. Katzenbach in the Department gave to us two copies of the report on the assassination by captioned Commission. One copy is attached hereto. Mr. Katzenbach asked that one copy be made available to Mr. Hoover.

It should be observed that on page 24 under "Conclusions" it is stated:

> "The Commission has concluded, however, that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination. A more carefully coordinated treatment of the Oswald case by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's activities to the attention of the Secret Service."

This conclusion is based on more detailed data contained in Chapter 8 on page 425. Mr. Katzenbach said the Bureau might give consideration as to how inquiries from news media concerning the content of the report might be issued. He has been told the FBI will "no comment" all inquiries. He said the Department and the FBI has the problem, however, of answering the question, "Has anything been done by the FBI to correct the fault found by the Commission in the above conclusion?" Mr. Katzenbach said we might be thinking about how the FBI would like to have the Department answer whether the FBI has complied with the Commission's recommendations.

Give immediate attention.

PERS. REC. UNIT

Mr. Katzenbach said the Director's and Mr. Belmont's testimony will be made available to the public within the next ten days to two weeks and possibly this testimony might answer a great number of the questions.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION -
USE OF AUTOMATIC DATA PROCESSING (ADP)
CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA)

Reference is made to the attached clipping from the "Evening Star" dated 10-5-64 referring to testimony of John A. McCone, Director of CIA, before the Warren Commission suggesting that Federal agencies adopt computers and data processing to improve liaison. He referred to the fact that Chief Justice Warren had seen some of CIA's installations and this was only the beginning of what really could be done, although McCone emphasized that a computer would not replace the man. The Director inquired, "What about this process? H."

The CIA briefing of Chief Justice Warren and members of his Commission covering various aspects of the collection, indexing and dissemination of information was reported in a memorandum from Brennan to Sullivan dated 4-17-64 (62-109090-136). During this briefing, it was pointed out by a CIA representative that the FBI has the most effective manually operated filing system in the world.

In the attached article, McCone is apparently referring to a project that has been going on in CIA for a number of years referred to as "Walnut." This involves the alleged automation of a small segment of their records utilizing IBM equipment and punched cards. The estimated cost of this experiment is presently in excess of six million dollars and because of technical and other practical problems that have arisen, the program will not be completely activated for another year and a half, if then. We have been closely following and on occasion have observed this system as well as other developments in the field of automatic data processing. Through membership on the Committee on Documentation, U. S. Intelligence Board, we are also in close touch with efforts along this line throughout the entire Federal intelligence community. The chairman and secretary of this Committee incidentally are both employees of CIA and, while efforts are being made through this Committee to develop more sophisticated equipment that could ultimately handle large and complex records systems such as our own, none are in existence. McCone certainly, therefore, must be aware of the limitations of automatic data processing at this time. It is observed that he qualifies his

McCone Told Warren Computers Could Help

Testimony Data Processing to Better Agencies Liaison on Potential Assassins

By JERRY O'LEARY Jr.
Star Staff Writer

John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, in testimony before the Warren Commission, urged that Federal intelligence agencies adopt computers and data processing to improve liaison in cases of potential assassins, the Star has learned.

Testifying last May 14 before the panel that investigated the assassination of President Kennedy, McCone told Chief Justice Earl Warren and the other commission members:

"There is a great deal of improvement of information that might be of importance in a matter of this kind through the use of computers and mechanical means of handling files, and, you, Mr. Chief Justice, saw some of our installations and that was only a beginning of what really can be done."

Urged Reward

"I would certainly urge that all departments of government that are involved in this adopt the most modern methods of automatic data processing with respect to the personnel files and other files relating to individuals. But I emphasize that a computer will not replace the man, and therefore, we must have at all levels a complete exchange of information and cooperation between agencies where they share this responsibility."

McCone also recommended special awards for informers who might furnish information about potential assassins. He told the commission:

"I have given a good deal of thought to the matter of some incentives to bring out informers."

He said he had in mind the old informer statutes, some of which are still on the books, in which people were rewarded for informing.

He said he believed something could be done under a clause of the Atomic Energy Act that provides rewards for information leading to the apprehension of persons attempting to import special nuclear materials or nuclear weapons into the United States.

"Some such legislation might be enacted," McCone said, "which would make it really worthwhile for a fellow who sold . . . a gun with a telescopic gunsight to a person that he might be suspicious of would have an incentive to watch him more carefully and maybe in-

Commission Counsel J. Lee Rankin asked McCone if he believed methods for the exchange of information between government intelligence agencies could be materially improved. He replied that he thought the Central Intelligence Agency's exchanges with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service "are quite adequate."

Questioned By Dulles

Former CIA Director Allen W. Dulles, a member of the Warren panel, asked McCone whether he felt the CIA received adequate information from the State Department at the time of the defection of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of Kennedy, and his later activities in the Soviet Union.

McCone replied, "Well, I am not sure we got full information, Mr. Dulles. The fact is we had very little information in our files."

Richard M. Helms, deputy CIA director, then testified that he assumed the State Department had only limited information about Oswald. He said it is hard to find people who were in the United States Embassy in Moscow who were familiar with Oswald's case.

McCone testified it was the State Department's responsibility to transmit information to the CIA about Americans such as Oswald in the Soviet Union. But he did not think there was any order requiring that information about an American citizen returning from a foreign country be sent to the CIA.

Rep. Gerald Ford, R.-Mich. asked if the CIA was informed by the State Department step by-step of Oswald's defection and successful attempt to return.

Helms replied it was the impression the CIA was not informed step-by-step but that there was no requirement that the State Department should do so.

"But an American going to the American Embassy would be handled by the embassy officials," Helms declared, "either consular or otherwise, and this would be a matter well within the purview of the State Department to keep all the way through, because we do not have responsibility in the Central Intelligence Agency for the conduct or behavior or anything else of American citizens when they are abroad."

Uniqueness of Case

Ford then told Helms:

"I think it could be argued, however, that the uniqueness of this individual case was such that the Department of State might well have contacted the Central Intelligence Agency to keep them abreast of the developments as they occurred. This is not, and when I say this, I mean the Oswald case, is not an ordinary run of the mine type of case.

"And I am only suggesting that if the regulations were not adequate at the time and are not now, maybe something ought to be done about it."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R.-Ky., asked McCone if it would have been possible to have secured more comprehensive information about the activities of Oswald in Russia. McCone replied it would not have been possible for the CIA "because we do not have resources to gain such information."

McCone said the CIA did investigate Oswald's trip to Mexico. He said the judgment was that Oswald made contact with the Cuban Embassy while there in order to obtain transit privileges and was unsuccessful.

"We could not verify that he was there for any other purpose or that his trip to Mexico was in any way related to his later action in assassinating President Kennedy," McCone replied.

FBI Keeps Silent On Agent's Case

By JAMES EWELL

The Federal Bureau of Investigation maintained official silence Tuesday on the report that Dallas-based agent James P. Hosty Jr., who investigated Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy had been suspended for 30 days and reassigned to the Kansas City office.

Hosty's supervisor here, agent-in-charge Gordon Shanklin, declared flatly:

"I'll make no comment on it at all."

An FBI spokesman in Washington withheld comment, saying that the office never discusses personnel.

The report said that Hosty, whose wife is expecting their ninth child, would not draw pay during the suspension.

The report added that the action was the direct result of the Warren Commission's criticism of the FBI in its report on the assassination.

Hosty specialized in security intelligence for the Dallas office, and had routinely checked on Oswald and Oswald's Russian wife, Marina.

The Warren Commission report said Hosty never talked with Oswald, but had sought information about him through other sources, including Mrs. Ruth Paine, who shared her home in Irving with Marian Oswald.

The agent's name was drawn into the FBI-Dallas police squabble after Police Chief Jesse E. Curry disclosed on the day after the assassination that the FBI knew, but had not informed police, that Oswald was working in Dallas in a building on the Presidential parade route. Curry based the charge on a memo from Detective Lt. Jack Revill which was sent to his office only hours after assassination. The memo quoted Hosty as telling Revill that the FBI knew Oswald was "capable" of killing the president.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover denied that the agent ever made the statement to the Dallas police lieutenant.

Curry and Revill, the department's criminal intelligence chief, both testified in Washington before the commission about the memo.

Neither would comment Tuesday on the Hosty suspension.

Sources, meanwhile, described morale as "shot" among Dallas FBI agents as a result of the action against Hosty. The sources said some of the other agents feel Hosty was being made a "fall guy," a feeling also shared by those in other branches of law enforcement here.

One police official defended Hosty's work in the FBI. He described him as "one of the better agents in the area, conscientious, worked hard and was well informed."

The official said it was obvious that Hosty was made a "scapegoat for doing exactly what he was told to do."

When Tragedy Distilled STATESMANSHIP

by A. N. SPANEL
FOUNDER-CHAIRMAN

It was inevitable that a document as complex as the Warren Report, dealing with events surcharged with emotion, should raise some questions. But fair-minded Americans must acclaim the competence, objectivity and dedication of Chief Justice Earl Warren and his associates on the Commission.

We have read with particular care the sections of the Report analyzing the roles played by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Secret Service, the State Department, CIA and the Dallas police. As a result we found the excerpts from the testimony of the veteran director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover, as published in the Washington Star on October 2nd absorbingly interesting—and reassuring for the American future.

The information on the Oswald case which he provided is pertinent and compelling. But even more significant, we believe, are Mr. Hoover's solemn warnings against restrictions on the civil liberties of the individual American in the name of Presidential security. His testimony in this connection has been reported; but its deeper implications—his deliberate emphasis on the sanctity of personal rights under our American system—have not as yet received the focused attention they deserve.

To appreciate the drama of this aspect of his testimony, it should be recalled that Mr. Hoover has been smeared and pilloried by fire-eating Left-wingers who dishonor a noble word by calling themselves "liberals." Some of these gentry in times past had the effrontery to compare him with Himmler and to equate the organization he heads with the Gestapo.

Genuine liberals and responsible conservatives alike, we submit, will understand and applaud these views and warnings. They carry exceptional weight because they come from a man who probably more than any other single American is aware in concrete terms, not as generalizations, of the threats posed by subversives, extremists and assorted crackpots.

We believe that J. Edgar Hoover by this clearheaded defense of essential civil liberties has earned the gratitude of all thinking Americans who value our democratic institutions. It is devoutly to be hoped that his detractors on the fanatic Left, at least those who have not sold their brains and conscience for a mess of ideological pottage, will reconsider their conduct in the light of Mr. Hoover's testimony. Those who vilify the FBI and its seasoned director should be helped to understand that they are doing a grave disservice to themselves and to this Country.

J. Edgar Hoover has drawn a sharp line between legitimate police powers and near-totalitarian techniques. In effect he has given the American people timely reassurance that their freedoms are safeguarded.

This is what the late President John F. Kennedy understood so well. His profound concern for the rights of the individual and basic freedoms was perhaps his greatest legacy. Fortunately his successor, Lyndon B. Johnson, wholeheartedly embraces and carries forward that legacy.

FLOODGATES OF VIOLENCE

...ously imbecilic to attempt [illegible] reputation as the man and the organization he has directed for some forty years.

For here is J. Edgar Hoover, the man who under our Federal setup comes closest to being the "police chief" of the United States, rejecting and denouncing the additional police powers implicit in what he calls "totalitarian security." Firmly and eloquently he cautions his countrymen against eroding our traditional concepts of civil liberties, no matter how great the provocation.

"I don't think you can get absolute security," he told the Commission, "without almost establishing a police state, and we don't want that."

The 100 percent security being advocated in some quarters, he pointed out, would require the authorities to round up or place under house arrest all known or suspected subversives and "extremists" in every town or city visited by the President. "Now I don't think there is any place in this Country for that kind of thing," Mr. Hoover declared. Isolation and detention of people without due process of law, he maintained, was intolerable in a free society and could constitute a long leap toward the police state.

AMERICANS WILL APPLAUD

"I am particularly concerned that we don't become hysterical," he went on, "and go too far in restricting the citizens of our Country from exercising their civil and constitutional rights.... I think that the enforcement of security and the enforcement of laws dealing with subversion ought to be handled in the American manner."

...which law and order [illegible] zealots. The peril-packed doctrine is nowadays being preached in words — and worse, practiced in action — that the law may be flouted to promote a good cause." But this is a suicidal fallacy.

Once the floodgates are opened to "justified" violence, the Country would be launched on a catastrophic course. Innumerable individuals and groups could then proclaim the justice of their own brands of violence, and the whole concept of legality — the only reliable foundation for the civil liberties Mr. Hoover champions — would begin to crumble. There simply is no room in our Country for lawlessness, whatever the alibi or the provocation.

So we salute J. Edgar Hoover for his memorable pronouncement before the Warren Commission. We salute him for holding fast to the rock-bottom principles expounded by Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln. His cautions against hysteria and totalitarian methods should have a sobering effect on our Country. Moreover, his clearheaded approach will heighten the moral authority of the FBI in carrying out its strictly limited but all-important functions.

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

We believe it is incumbent upon every newspaper, every radio and television station, every writer and speaker with access to an audience, to make Americans — especially the new generation growing up in a time of tensions and confused counsel — aware of Mr. Hoover's spirited defense of our living freedoms, his unswerving allegiance to due process, to law and order, to the foundation principles of American democracy.

Hon. John Edgar Hoover, Director
U. S. Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Honorable Sir:

As a citizen interested in the welfare and security of our great Country, I feel I must write to you tonight to tell you how my family feels, and how so many of my friends feel about the wonderful job you are doing for Freedom and Liberty, and in our great battle against communism.

You are not only a symbol, but an inspiration for all of our citizens to pitch in and fight this menace, and we wish to commend you for your untiring efforts in our behalf.

In my profound belief in God, my Country, my family and my neighbors, it is difficult how the Warren Commission could give its report and completely by-pass, and many of us feel deliberately, the fact that Oswald, the communist killed our President Kennedy. But they did manage to find fault with the Justice Department.

As a Mason, I cannot understand how Chief Justice Warren and some other Justices keep rendering decisions in favor of the communists. This man, Warren, definitely appears to be anti-God, anti-American, pro-Red and has broken every Masonic oath in the book. Besides, to millions of us he is irreligious and a non-believer. I am writing to the highest Masonic bodies with a recommendation that this man be ex-communicated because of his betrayal of all Masonic oaths. And his stand of being anti-God. It is unfortunate as I understand it, he was at one time the Grand Master of Masons for the State of California.

I have individually fought communism ever since I came out of the U.S.Army(combat infantryman) in 1945. If there is anything I can ever do to help our Country, please have someone contact me. Incidentally, remember communism does not deserve a capital 'C', because it is a disease, and all diseases are spelled with small letters.

You are a man of God, and be assured that many millions of us are with you and you are in our prayers and meditations.

Respectfully your friend,

Reginald R. Clark

Why I still Vote

Sel

It was Benjamin Franklin who declared, before the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787: " . . . God governs in the affairs of men and, if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable than an empire can rise without His aid?" So also, the survival of our American republic against the onslaughts upon it from the evil forces of communism and materialism and secular and militant atheism demands godly, religious, principled leaders who not only know the nature of the satanic enemy we face but who have also the courage of their convictions, the courage to speak and to act and to lead in accordance with their convictions. men of God for whom patriotism, love of country, is neither old fashioned nor incidental but rather a matter of pride and honor and especially in our day, a most pressing duty. Such a leader is SEN. GOLDWATER, exemplary citizen of God and country. With a sufficiency of leaders of his calibre, we can be assured that this nation, under God will emerge triumphant over all enemies, both foreign and domestic, who seek to bring about its ruin.

In World War II, I was a combat infantryman with millions of other men fighting for FREEDOM. fighting an enemy whose sole purpose was to peoples of Europe, Asia and the Pacific area. Fortu the residents of America, not a single bomb was this Country.

Today in the missile age, we have a much m enemy . . . communism. The Soviet dictator says to bury us. The communists are making progr soaping the Johnson administration with their underhanded, deceitful, two-faced, truth-twisted the present administration is lulled into a false security, believing in this state of idealistic drea the communists are not such bad guys after all, a all can live together in peaceful co-existence. No how can you live o peaceful co-existence when y is out to bury you? This is hogwash and you kno domination, subjected our Nation to the peril of an armed enemy camp 90 miles from our shores, and opened the doors of this hemisphere to communist subversion.

The present administration has sent our youth into combat in Viet Nam, refusing to call it war, and demanding of our youth the risk of their lives without providing either adequate equipment or a goal of victory. Why doesn't President Johnson do something about the "don't win" war in Viet Nam? Is it because he doesn't want to offend the communists? The Johnson administration is weak . . . and the hesitation and indecision in Viet Nam is unpardonable. THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION HAS A WISHBONE INSTEAD OF A BACKBONE.

The Johnson administration continues to sell our FREEDOM and LIBERTY down the river . . . slowly, but surely, falling into the communist master plan, whose ultimate purpose is to take over our great country from within through subversion.

IF the American people permit the Johnson administration to return to power, FREEDOM, as we have known it in this Country, is doomed and individuals will be destined to lives of regulation, control, coercion, intimidation and subservience to a power elite who shall rule from Washington.

REMEMBER THIS: Forget political party lines. YOUR FREEDOM AND LIBERTY IS AT STAKE. This is no ordinary election.

After much thought, prayer and meditation, I can only vote the way my heart and conscience tells me, which I believe to be in the best interest of our Country and the FREEDOM of our people.

Only a strong leader, a man with courage of his convictions, can make a good President. To me, SEN. GOLDWATER is that man.

The same is true concerning our [illegible]ical responsibilities. Our present governm[illegible] is far along in its first phase of our tota[illegible]armament. If this continues we will soon [illegible]t the mercy of a world government, a world church, and total enslavement to its will. What chance will our children then have to know and live the real Truth in Christ? We must use every means, every method and every ounce of wisdom in doing our part, each of us, in seeing that we remain a free people!

Do everything in your power to get copies of this message into the hands of your fellow church members, your neighbors and others. Let's use extreme means in warning our fellow Christians and our fellow citizens to rise to action while still there is time.

Send for a large supply of this bulletin. The title and message are most timely, and these pamphlets will be picked up and read wherever you leave them. Every citizen in America and Canada should have a copy! Do your part in seeing that they receive them.

Mail or distribute copies to friends, neighbors, relatives, church leaders, Sunday School teachers, ministers. Enclose them with your checks in payment of bills, etc.

The GREATEST EXTREMIST of all

Extremism is sin! That's what our enemies would have us believe. They want us to raise no voice and take no action while they go about with their final plans to bury us.

Those who work for the one-world government of the antichrist want us to quietly sit by while they take every liberty from us. We will soon be disarmed and at their mercy. We are told by the Apostle Peter to be vigilant, "because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walks about, seeking whom he may devour. Whom resist steadfast in the faith." The spiritual application is obvious here, but unless we are likewise vigilant in resisting the forces that would rob us of our national liberties we will soon not be permitted to freely propagate the message of our Savior Jesus Christ throughout the world. It is true that we should not fear to witness for our Lord even if the enemy ruled over us. However, that doesn't mean that we are to be passive and allow the enemy to take over.

There is no advantage in serving the Lord under a government where death is the price to be paid for an agressive witness for Christ. The Christians in Russia will tell you that this is true. It is from free America that the message of our Savior is today going to the ends of the earth. And unless we are willing to use extreme methods and measures to preserve our liberties we will find ourselves enslaved with the rest of the world. It need not happen here unless we continue passive in our resistance and allow it.

The need of the hour calls for vigilant action in the extreme! There is need for extreme action in prayer, in speaking to our fellow Americans in warning, in distributing the printed warning and in taking whatever other action is legitimate, Christ-like and effective.

The Greatest Extremist

The greatest extremist of all time was Jesus Christ. He had a work to do, and He knew what was necessary to accomplish it. He also knew what would be necessary in our lives to receive eternal life and to obtain the rich rewards available to us.

Just think of the extreme statement Christ made as recorded in John 14:6. He said, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." He certainly wasn't using any moderation here when He stated that He was the only way a person could get to God the Father. He was dogmatic and extreme in making such a statement. However, He was simply telling the naked truth.

Part of the reason for our national and spiritual weakness today is that many so-called ministers of the gospel are so lukewarm and compromising in their contending for the faith, that they are actually giving hope to many who are lost. Such moderation in preaching is sin! One preacher told me he couldn't understand why I took exception to his message. He stated that he was preaching the gospel almost as strongly as it was written in the Bible. I told him that was the trouble. He was preaching it almost as strongly which meant that he was compromising by not going all the way.

Passive Attitude Denounced

Consider how extreme our Lord was in His regard for lukewarmness. In the Revelation, chapter 3, beginning with verse 15 He says to the Laodicean church, "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knoweth not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked:

"I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see."

God has a holy hatred for lukewarmness both in preaching and in living the Christian life. It's very evident here that God considers one who is living a lukewarm Christian life to be one whose love is really with the world, and is therefore "wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked" spiritually. God is looking for those who are in love with Him in the extreme. Notice what He says about those who are moderate and lukewarm in their spiritual interest. He says He will spew them out. It is spiritual suicide to have an attitude of toleration toward compromise on the part of our ministers or on the part of our own selves in our living for the Lord.

Tolerance Here Means Death!

We are asked in this day of political strife to be tolerant of the Communists and the one-worlders. They ask this of us in spite of the fact that they are planning our death and destruction. There is no place for toleration when life and liberty are at stake. We are not tolerant with poison in our food or drinking water!

How tolerant does Christ ask us to be of sin? In Matthew 5:30 it is reported that Christ stated, "If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee; for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell." That's extremism! But extremism is often necessary when the issue is between life or death.

Nearsighted Failures

Our children are being taught in our schools so much about the welfare state, about their pensions for old age, etc., to the extent that this is one of their first interests when they start their first job in their early years. They are so set on making certain of security in this life that they have little or no initiative to get out and make a go at a business of their own.

Our Lord had something to say about working all your life for a pension, or to lay up a big enough pile so that you could live in comfort in your old age. Christ had an extreme statement to make concerning this. In the Gospel of Matthew, chapter 6, beginning with verse 19 He states, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." He goes into quite a discourse on this subject here and then He sums it up in verse 33 with the words, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

RECKLESS WISDOM

This is quite an extremist teaching. He is actually asking us to live recklessly for Him, giving that the gospel may go forth, giving to the poor, and living our lives in such a manner not on earth.

Notice the wise conclusion He gives to this when He says, "For where your treasure is there will your heart be also." How true that is! Where is your heart interest? Be honest with yourself now.

Which is better, may we ask, to make full and adequate plans for every contingency of life, only to find at the judgment that the Lord has listed you among those who are rich and have need of nothing, but are blind and naked—or to take the greater thought for serving the Lord and giving toward the needs of the lost both near and far—giving to the extent that at the end of life you may even find yourself going through those last years in straitened circumstances. As a result you may not be able to live as you once did, or to even have all the pleasant things that you would like to have in the sunset years of life. But at the judgment you find you have wealth and position in Christ's kingdom far above anything you had ever hoped or imagined.

You say we're being extreme. Yes, our Lord was an extremist. And He still is an extremist today. And He is looking for extremist followers.

Peace And Plowshares Can Only Follow Victory

We hear so much about peaceful coexistence these days. But we are not expected to live peacefully in coexistence with enemies whose purpose is to enslave and destroy us! Christ also had something to say about this. The modernist preacher in his smooth preaching speaks about Christ as the Prince of Peace. He surely is the Prince of Peace in one sense. But He also came to bring a sword which He has asked us to use in an offensive warfare for Him. Little is said about this by the modernists.

Called For Battle

In Matthew 10:34-37 Christ states, "Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword. For I am come to set a man at variance with his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law. And a man's foes shall be they of his own household."

These are words of an extremist. He further states following this, "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me." Christ expects us to be so extremely for Him that there will be a sharp believer. Again He is showing that He has no use for lukewarmness. He is asking that our love for Him be extreme and true no matter what the cost.

He followed this extreme position even toward His own mother. He knew there would be those in the future who would worship her and consider her to be above all other beings on earth. He stated to a large crowd that whoever did the will of God the Father was on an equal with His mother. Undoubtedly He loved Mary as much as any of us love our own mothers. But His concern to please the Father was of greater concern than His love for Mary. The truth He brought here needed to be brought out even if Mary should have resented it.

Fearless

He was likewise an extremist in His fearlessness of the modern religious leaders of His day. In Matthew chapter 23 we read that He called those modernists hypocrites, blind guides, fools, snakes, and a generation of snakes. He hated the evil of their lives and of their teaching and He didn't pull any punches.

There are a few preachers today who are fearless in their denunciation of the modernist, and of the lukewarm and fearful, weak representation of Christ on the part of those who should be bold even in the face of the richest man in the congregation. There is death in the message of the modernist preacher. His message needs to be denounced and uncovered that both young and old may take heed to the true way.

Likewise let me say to my fellow ministers who believe in the fundamentals of the faith that it is not always what you preach that is harmful but it is what you are leaving unsaid and unemphasized which is wrong. Unless we declare all the counsel of God we deny the faith. To preach to please any person or any group of persons, even if that group constitutes the whole denomination, is sin! There is only one to whom we are responsible, and that is our Lord. It is He before whom we will stand in judgment.

Extremist In Realities

Christ prophesied destruction and war for the days of the end of the age. His apostles under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit did likewise. The modernists' preaching and work toward world peace is a sad affair. The preaching of judgment and war is considered extremism. Yes, our Lord was an extremist. He was a realist. He stated that He came to this world to Him to bring. He did not come to give us a message to our liking. Therefore, we His followers are commanded to go with the message of truth and not a message of wishful thinking which has no grounds in God's Book.

Notice the fact that Christ claimed that He came from the Father. He claimed that He pre-existed before His birth on earth. He thereby verified the account that He was born of a virgin. The modernist claims that Christ was a man like any of us, with a human father. They do not believe in the virgin birth, claiming that it is a scientific impossibility. How little faith they have in the Almighty God!

Yes, Christ was an extremist, claiming things concerning Himself which the natural man cannot receive.

Of Himself He also said, "I am the Bread of Life." Also He said, "I am the Light Of The World." And also, "I am the Good Shepherd."

Maybe the most extreme statement Christ made was to the man Nicodemus who came to Him one night. In John chapter 3 we read that this man wanted to know about heaven, and Jesus told him, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Christ was the instigator of the extremist teaching that unless a person becomes a new person in Him they will not see the kingdom of God, and their end will be to be judged by God for their sinful lives.

Jesus expects His followers to follow Him in the same extreme beliefs and actions.

Inspired Extremism In Others

Notice the extremism of the apostles Peter and John. They were arrested for preaching about Christ after He had been resurrected from the dead and had ascended to heaven. They were warned not to preach that message again. However, here is the record of how they reacted. It is recorded in Acts 4:19 and 20, "But Peter and John answered and said unto them, Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard."

Yes, they were compelled to speak the things which they had seen and heard. They had been commanded by Christ to do so. They had sold out their lives and all that they were or hoped to be to their Lord and to the propagation of His life-giving message. They were extremists, not fearful of prison or death. And some of us fear lest we should not receive the smiles of all. Christ said, "Woe unto you when all men speak well of you." All men will not speak well of us if we preach the truth of Christ without com-will rebel.

Take note of another great of the faith, the Apostle Philip. He was preaching in Samaria and was in the middle of a great revival when God told him to go down into the desert. He obeyed, leaving the great successes of a great revival. There on the desert he ministered to one man, the Ethiopian eunuch. The one person here and there whom the Lord sends our way is just as important an assignment as the multitude. Philip was an extremist in doing the seemingly unprofitable thing, but doing it in obedience to the Lord.

Then there was Stephen, the first martyr of the church. Read in the Book of Acts the extremist message of truth and conviction which caused the mob to stone him.

So much could be said about the Apostle Paul. Suffice it to say that wherever Paul went there was either a revival or a riot! He was such an extremist preacher, preaching the truth without favor or fear that he is considered possibly most like his Master.

WHAT IS YOUR STAND?

Where does all this leave us today? You say you are not a preacher. You're just a Christian layman. You have just as much responsibility to make sure that the truth of the old Book is being preached as anyone else. Timothy warned of our time. He said in II Timothy 4:3-4, "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." Are you one who encourages your pastor to preach the truth in all of its fulness and severity? Or are you one who frowns and lets the pastor know in various ways that you disapprove such preaching. If you are one of the latter you are one of those spoken of here who is endeavoring to heap to yourself the kind of preacher and teaching that will satisfy you and not disturb you in the enjoyment of your selfishness and sin!

THIS YOU CAN DO!

As a layman you are responsible to make your voice heard and to make sure that you maintain in your church a minister who will preach the message God gives him, from the Word.

If we will not tolerate poison in the food we feed our children, how can we ever think to tolerate poison in the teaching they are receiving, especially with that which has to do with

Hon. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

During the past two weeks I have read a variety of excerpts of the Warren Commission Report, and although I have not had the opportunity as yet to read the full report, nevertheless the portions that I have read, brings my blood to the boiling point. I am referring to the portion of the report that is critical of the Bureau. To permit this document to go down in history in its present form would be the worst miscarriage of justice that I have ever witnessed, and it compels me to make known my views to you for whatever small consolation it may bring to you personally and the Bureau.

This report is symptomatic of our times where the Supreme Court, including its Chief Justice, as well as many other unrealistic leaders of our country strive to make law enforcement the whipping boys for all the ills of our present day society.

To imply that a lack of liason on the part of the Bureau was even remotely to blame for the lack of security surrounding the assasination of the President is almost as absurd and unrealistic as some of the decisions of Earl Warren's Supreme Court. I forone can testify to the fact that the Bureau leaned over backwards to immediately notify the Secret Service whenever any shred of evidence was received indicating a potential threat to the President. I can personally recall referring such data to the Secret Service in the middle of the night, rather than waiting until the next business day to disseminate this information. This was done, of course, at your insistence, and rightly so, that any such information affecting the safety of the President be disseminated to the Secret Service by the fastest possible means.

If there was any breakdown in liason between the Bureau and Secret Service, it most assuredly was on the part of Secret Service, who had the prime responsibility and not on the part of the Bureau. During my career with the Bureau, our various Presidents over the span of years frequently visited the areas to which I was assigned. In this span of time of over twenty-six years, I cannot recall one instance where Secret Service contacted the F. B. I. to notify or consult with us regarding the visit of the President. Let me recite a recent incident, in confidence, which leads me to believe the lethargy on the part of Secret Service still exists. This week I noticed in the local press that President Johnson was due to visit Baltimore County on October 22nd. I assumed they would contact me for assistance from my Department, since the President's visit was only two weeks distant. After several days of waiting and no word from Secret Service, I took it upon myself to initiate liason with Secret Service and called their Agent in Charge to offer our assistance. While I was glad to offer our help, I do think it was their responsibility to initiate liason rather than mine.

October 9, 1964

Hon. J. Edgar Hoover, Director

Last week I attended the Convention in New York City of the Society of Former Special Agents of the F. B. I. Everyone in attendance were incensed at the Warren Commission's criticism of the Bureau, and were especially upset over the article in Life Magazine and other news media. I am sure you would be impressed with all of the expressions of loyalty to you and the Bureau that were made in an effort to combat this unjustified and undeserved criticism.

Later this month, I am scheduled to attend the IACP Convention in Louisville. At this convention, I intend to support and encourage an official resolution to counteract this gross miscarriage of justice.

I also make many public appearances before organizations throughout Baltimore County with a population of over a half million people. You can rest assured that at each of these talks I will welcome the opportunity to defend the Bureau on this issue.

You certainly must be deeply hurt over this turn of events, but please believe me when I say that I personally, along with hundreds of other former agents of the Bureau, will do everything in our power to guarantee that the annals of history will record that your forty years of selfless and dedicated service to our country were not in vain.

Hoping to see you at the National Academy graduation this month.

With warm personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to the request of Mr. Wesley J. Liebeler of your [illegible] on May 28, 1964, that he be furnished a copy of the enclosed photograph which was displayed to Mrs. Marguerite C[illegible] Lee Harvey Oswald on November 23, 1963, by Special Agent Bardwell D. Odum.

Enclosed are two copies of the exact photograph, same size and same [illegible] which was displayed to Mrs. Marguerite Oswald by Special Agent Odum on November 23, 1963. The original of this photograph, maintained in the files of this Bureau, contains on the back side the initials of Special Agent Bardwell D. Odum and is the only photograph that was exhibited to Mrs. Marguerite Oswald by Special Agent Odum.

Also enclosed for the Commission are two copies of an enlargement of the aforementioned photograph.

Dear Sir:

The testimony of Mr. Hoover before the Warren Commission as printed in The New York Times of October 3, 1964, is an important supplement to the Commission's report.

The excellent work performed by the Commission has highlighted the need to expend greater energy and resources to the protection of the President. Many steps can, and will be taken to improve the security which properly should surround the physical presence of the President and other high officials. This is all to the good.

But, as Mr. Hoover has correctly pointed out, in a free society the physical protection of the Chief of State is not the sole or necessarily the most important value. If the prospect of a President's visit to a community is the signal for several thousand house arrests, it would be a disasterous blow to civil liberties. It would be a supreme irony if the protection of President Johnson, who has done so much to enhance civil liberties in this country during his presidency, should be the occasion for an unprecedented loss of civil liberties by large numbers of citizens.

It is especially encouraging that this problem has been highlighted by Mr. Hoover. As the nation's chief constable he might be forgiven if, in his zeal to carry out the functions of police protection, he had been silent on the conflict between physical security provided by the state and the restraints which the constitution places on state action against the individual. That he should be the first to speak out in the defense of individual libertion says much to his credit and to the credit of the system he is charged with administering.

Hoover Cartoon Said Insulting

Editor: Your choice of the cartoon insulting and degrading a man such as J. Edgar Hoover who has spent more than half his life protecting the national security of this country and its laws is to be deplored.

All Americans owe Mr. Hoover a debt of thanks for inspiring an organization free from political pressures, bribery, scandal, and infiltration by enemy agents, to which many of our federal agencies have been subjected in the past.

The letters F. B. I. also stand for its motto—"Fidelity, Bravery, Integrity" — and thanks to Mr. Hoover's inspiring leadership, it has never failed to live up to it.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Like millions of other Americans, I have been seething over the dishonest and unjust accusations of inefficiency directed at our magnificent FBI, in connection with the Kennedy assassination and now the current Jenkins matter.

You probably feel, with your unassailably perfect record, that it is beneath your dignity to take public notice of these petty, cheap liars who are trying desperately to cover up their own inefficiencies and corruption.

It is an outrage that they should dare to try to make you The Whipping Boy and in consideration for the millions of your fellow Americans who revere and literally adore you, won't you do something to put a stop to this???

If you decide to make a public statement of facts, they wouldn't dare to do a thing. It might make a great deal of difference in the future of our country.

Someone - sometime - has to stop this brazen attempt at lying and misleading the American public and no one is in a stronger position to do it than you.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

FBI Criticism Unwarranted

I have news that is interesting, healthy, and infuriating. Three members of the Warren Commission apparently raged, behind closed doors, against the projected criticisms of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. But Earl Warren was adamant, and the criticisms were therefore registered.

WARREN

The official Commission report said that the FBI "took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination. A more carefully coordinated treatment of the Oswald case by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's activities to the attention of the Secret Service."

The three gentlemen who were healthy enough to dissent were Reps. Gerald Ford and Hale Boggs, and Sen. Richard Russell. They made the point that it was unfair to criticize the FBI without suggesting what, of a concrete nature, the agency could have done, and without weighing the meaning the kind of preventive activity Justice Warren seemed to be recommending on the rights of the individual citizen.

It is all very well grandly to suggest that the FBI should pick up more suspects, or turn the names of those suspects over to the Secret Service to be picked up. Any implementation of such a program would, however, end the FBI up defending its behavior before — guess who? Earl Warren himself, who — and this is what is infuriating about Warren's criticism of the FBI — has during the past years done everything within his power to undermine (a) anti-subversive legislation (for instance, of the kind that might have put the spotlight on Oswald), and (b) criminal-apprehension techniques (there was the famous Mallory case, for instance, where a rapist-murderer was released because he hadn't been arraigned soon enough, who went on to rape again).

The task of sequestering anyone who might conceivably assassinate a president of the United States is overwhelming, and it must dismay J. Edgar Hoover to be castigated for failing to do an impossible job largely by the same group of people who make it difficult for him to do a possible job — and who are always on the alert against any enhancement of the FBI's powers.

It is especially curious that the testimony of Hoover to the Warren Commission was not published. Why, one wonders? Because it would have defanged Warren's criticisms?

What, actually, is the Chief Justice recommending? The FBI has estimated that in some areas of the country there are as many as 5,000 persons who are as likely to assassinate a president as Lee Harvey Oswald was, judging only from his previous record. They are Communists, subversives, ultras of every variety, neo-fascists, men and women who are emotionally unstable or demonstrably irrational in their behavior.

Is it seriously proposed that, let us say every time the President comes to New York, 5,000 people be picked up and tucked away somewhere until the President is so gracious as to leave town? The proposal is preposterous and, one would think, utterly unenforceable for so long as we decline to repeal the Bill of Rights.

Clearly the principal responsibility rests on the President himself. It is not fair for him to impose upon the Secret Service or the FBI an undischargeable burden.

It is in the great tradition of leadership to wave away the bodyguards and mingle with the people, and one's republican blood stirs at the sight of it. Charles de Gaulle entered Notre Dame Cathedral on the day that Paris was liberated and walked majestically up the great aisle even as snipers fired bullets all around him from the choirloft.

He got away with it, but the whole point about personal heroism is that sometimes you DON'T get away with it (otherwise it wouldn't be called heroism), and when you don't get away with it, it is hardly fair to blame the FBI. It was John Kennedy himself who rejected the protective bubble on Nov. 22, and the Secret Service had no power to overrule him.

One would like to think that a President could mingle among his own people with impunity. But we are a free society, free even to the point that men and women who think disorderly and abusive thoughts are nevertheless unmolested until and unless they act overtly, or are known to be afraid to act.

A committee of eminent people should solicit from all presidential candidates the pledge that they will, if elected, submit to elementary precautions against stray wildmen with 20-dollar rifles and telescopic sights. It is better to ask one man to restrain his impulse to mingle with the crowds, than to ask the FBI to deprive of their freedom every man and woman whose unorthodoxy conceivably explode into an act of regicide.

Warren Commission

Honorable Mr. Hoover:

You may recall my letter to you a few days after the assassination of President Kennedy in which I pleaded with you to leave no stone unturned in getting at the bottom of such an act, and to spare no one involved even in high positions.

There were two reasons why only the FBI should have made the investigation. First, because it is the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and secondly, because the assassination was a Federal matter of the highest magnitude.

Who told the public at the beginning that the real truth of President Kennedy's assassination would not be revealed in this generation because of security measures? How could the truth of a President's assassination threaten our security when we were not officially at war? Who was hiding what? That statement was undoubtedly Johnson's, hoping it would satisfy the public and curb their doubts and suspicions. But, as more and more people voiced dissatisfaction Mr. Johnson thought a dishonest report by Warren would solve his problem. Was that Warren Report 100 percent honest?

Lyndon B Johnson D.C. Texas

Mr. Hoover, I've read articles that insinuate that Earl Warren is a Communist. Records have proven he favors the Communists in trials. Is it the truth since he never bothers to deny the accusations? I've also read articles for his impeachment. Why then, would President Johnson pick a man disliked and mistrusted by many to head the investigation, if it was not a means to a needed end? Earl Warren is a judge, and NOT an investigator!

D.C. Calif.

The Warren Report did nothing to eliminate my suspicions. It only convinces me more than ever that it was one more effort to try to fool the people, and another attempt to cover the guilt of overly-ambitious men in high offices. Not only is this my opinion. It is the opinion of thousands of Americans, and people of othe countries. The voting public MUST know the truth before the elections, don't you think?

I felt this way even before I read that President Johnson appointed Justice Earl Warren to head the investigation only three days after the Communists had suggested Warren in their newspaper The Daily Worker.

At present I am reading "A Texan Looks at Lyndon." If it was written by a man of integrity, then Lyndon Johnson is not a fit man to be the President of our United States of America, now or in the future.

The book "None Dare Call It Treason" reveals that many government positions are held, or have been held, by Communists. Why is this permitted when we spend billions yearly supposedly to eliminate Communism from the world? Can't the FBI throw known Communists out of our government?

Mr. Hoover, I am really concerned. We are slowly, but surely being handed to the Communists by greedy, vote-getting politicians that will blackmail, kill, or stop at nothing to get where they want to go, or to make a fast million.

Today on the TV news a high official, of a state offering Goldwater support, did not appear or make comment because he doesn't know how the election will go and he is afraid of the consequences if he openly supports Goldwater and Johnson wins. Isn't that fear a type of blackmail? Isn't it curtailing freedom and freedom of speach? Haven't many people already paid with their lives, or money when they crossed Johnson and his Wheeler-Dealer cronies? I understand many businesses feel they have to support Johnson publically or their companys will suffer through Johnson's revenge. That too, is blackmail. But, thank God those business men DO NOT have to vote for him at the poles.

What, Mr. Hoover, can we citizens as individual do, I mean the citizens that care enough about their country and its future?

No derogatory information was contained in the files concerning this individual. An in-absence is being sent in this instance due to the fact that many of her statements concerning Earl Warren are extremely inflammatory. She obviously distrusts the President of the U.S., openly accusing him of blackmail and any statement made to this individual would compromise our consistent policy of nonpartisanship. In spite of the fact that she concludes her letter by asking what can citizens do, the rest of the letter contains so many questions concerning the Johnson Administration that even a files confidential and no evaluation statement would be insufficient to this correspondent.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Last night I was shocked to hear on a late night radio program from an Oakland, California, station that among the many expressions of sympathy received by Walter Jenkins and his family was one from you. This is hard to credit.

As I understand it, President Johnson has asked you to make a full and complete investigation of the dark and shady chapters in the life of Mr. Johnson's close political and business associate. Can you make an investigation with complete objectivity if you are among those who sympathize with Jenkins and his family to the extent that you write a consoling letter?

The public at large expects you to reveal every aspect of this sordid mess. It will not be content with a mere private report to the President, himself. Having a man of Jenkins character privy to the top secrets of this nation is not a trivial matter.

If you will consult your files you will find therein friendly and commendatory letters from me. I have been a staunch supporter over the years of J. Edgar Hoover. I have defended you from public platforms and in hundreds of private conversations. I must confess my zeal on your behalf has been dampened somewhat of late. Several things have brought about this feeling on my part.

1. No amount of verbiage in the Warren Report can conceal the fact that the F.B.I., which is supposed to keep a close watch on the movements of all dangerous communists in this country, did not have Oswald under close surveillance while President Kennedy was in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. A man of the Oswald background well-known to your Bureau, should not have permitted him to be at large during

I wont go into the so-called lack of ~~connection~~ communication between your official body and the Secret Service. Secret Service is not chargeable, as I understand it, with tracking down and keeping a wary eye on dangerous communists. That has been your job.

2. The F.B.I. seems to be becoming increasingly arrogant in its contacts with good Americans. Witness the intrusion of two of your men on Barry Goldwater at 6:00 a.m. recently. Witness further that some of your men awakened American newspaper men for questioning in the middle of the night. Over the years your organization has been our chief bulwark in thwarting the communist conspiracy within our borders. I know your Department has many duties and the public most appreciates the work it has done in the field of tracking down and exposing communist conspirators. When your agents undertake to heckle and annoy private American citizens of unimpeachable standing, it is trespassing the bounds of good judgment.

It is hoped that you and the F.B.I. come back on the right track. As before stated, the public at large expects a complete report on the Jenkins mess. The public justifiably feels you should work for it and not as a private agent for Lyndon B. Johnson or any other single Federal official.

In this connection one wonders why an F.B.I. report on Jenkins' 1959 offense was not placed before President Johnson.

If you should want the name of the radio station that carried the report that you had written a letter of sympathy to Jenkins or his family, I will be glad to dig it up for you.

SUBJECT: WARREN COMMISSION REPORT
CRITICISM OF FBI

Last evening SAs John W. O'Beirne and James R. Healy of this Division attended a testimonial dinner at the Mayflower Hotel for Reverend James A. Martin, S. J., who built and directed for the past six years Loyola Retreat House at Faulkner, Maryland. This is the retreat house attended annually by many FBI employees. Father Martin has been reassigned to the Jesuit Retreat House at Manresa on the Severn.

When greeting the Agents and knowing of their FBI affiliation, Father Martin stated he has been "burning mad for two days" over the unfair criticism of the FBI in the Warren Report and was going to write the Director a letter of support. Father Martin, who is acquainted with many FBI employees, has been a strong booster of the Bureau and has frequently during the retreats praised the Director's leadership.

During a later conversation, Monsignor John K. Cartwright of St. Matthew's Cathedral, who represented Washington Archbishop O'Boyle at the dinner, commented to O'Beirne and Healy that Mr. Warren had given a clean bill of health to Khruschev and had taken several knocks at the FBI.

It was obvious that these knowledgeable churchmen, both in responsible positions of influence, felt strongly about the underhanded attack on the Bureau and are not reluctant to speak out in our defense.

While hostile elements, ill-informed quarters and fair-weather friends will undoubtedly continue to hurl criticism at the Bureau's good name, it is encouraging to see this clear indication that the Bureau's real friends are not going to be fooled by the faulty conclusions set out in the report.

The Commission by letter dated 10-14-64, furnished a copy of an article which might "be of interest" to us entitled "The Other Witnesses" which appeared in the 10-12-64, issue of "The Newleader" a liberal anticommunist magazine. The authors of this article, George and Patricia Nash, are a husband and wife research team at Columbia University in New York and allegedly wrote the article attached after an "intensive two weeks' study" in Dallas. The Bureau initiated inquiries on this article prior to receipt of the Commission's letter. No pertinent information identifiable with the Nashes could be located in Bureau files.

The theme of the article is the Commission's report is "less than complete" and they endeavor to show with particular reference to the Officer J. D. Tippit murder that some witnesses having "pertinent" information were not called by the Commission to testify. It is pointed out we had no jurisdiction to investigate the Tippit murder which was strictly a local Dallas matter. We only entered the case to handle specific requests of the Commission.

The alleged witnesses highlighted in the article are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright who reside near where Tippit was killed and a female (allegedly interviewed by us) Acquilla Clemmons whom Dallas has been unable to discreetly identify.

The Wrights allegedly furnished information to the Nashes which was different from data developed by the Commission The article relates that the Wrights did not look on the scene of the murder until after the shots that killed Tippit had been fired. Therefore, their observations are not contemporaneous with the crime itself. The Nashes in referring to Acquilla Clemmons admittedly state "her version of the slaying was rather vague, and she may have based her story on second-hand accounts of others at the scene."

RE: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

The Nashes either intentionally or by oversight failed to make any reference to the numerous items of evidenc and witnesses who made it possible for the Commission to positively conclude that Oswald killed Tippit.

OBSERVATIONS

Over thirteen witnesses testified before the Commiss concerning the Tippit murder. The evidence developed while circumstantial would still make it possible for any prudent jury to return a guilty verdict against Oswald, regardless of the alleged statements of the Wrights and Clemmons. The Wright and Clemmons have yet to come forth to volunteer any informatio concerning this matter, and it is not felt we should interview them or inject ourselves into a strictly local murder case wherein our participation was limited to specific requests by the Commission. Further, the information furnished by the Wrights is not subject to verification and would only lend undue credence to the Nashes' article which when compared with the over-all findings of the Commission concerning the Tippit murder is filled with inaccurate information.

RECOMMENDATION

That no further action be taken in this matter.

The Other Witnesses

By George and Patricia Nash

THE WARREN Commission Report already has won the respect of almost all who have read it, and deservedly so. It is a clearly written, remarkably comprehensive document that is cautious in reaching conclusions. It dispels rumors, wrecks theories, dismisses items of "evidence" used to convict Lee Harvey Oswald in the public mind, and draws some order from the confusion surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy over these past 10 months.

In the process, it also takes the trouble to dispense justice where injustices have been done. The Dallas police, for example, had issued an extremely damaging story about Joe Molina, for 17 years credit manager at the Texas School Book Depository, as a "possible Number 2 man" in the murder. Their suspicions had been aroused by the fact that Molina belonged to a veterans' organization called the American GI Forum, which the Dallas police alone considered subversive, and the publicity cost him his job. The Commission delves into the details of Molina's case and clears him.

But what of the future historians or political scientists attempting to reconstruct the events of last November 22? Will they find all the pertinent facts in the voluminous Report? In the light of an intensive two-week investigation that we conducted ourselves in Dallas, we would have to answer: No. Particularly where the slaying of Patrolman J. D. Tippit and the events at the Depository are concerned, the Report is less than complete.

The most convincing aspect of the case against Oswald involves the testimony of three witnesses to the Tippit shooting at 10th Street and Patton Avenue, in Oak Cliff. Here the evidence is not merely circumstantial, as with the assassination. The Commission quotes extensively the accounts given by three persons who were near the scene of the crime: William Scoggins, Domingo Benavides and Mrs. Helen Louise Markham.

Taxi-driver Scoggins—eating lunch in his parked taxi—noticed a man and the approaching police car, heard shots, saw Tippit fall, then saw the man run south on Patton. At the moment of the actual shooting his view was partially obstructed by shrubbery, and he did not emerge from the cab until he heard the firing. The next day he picked Oswald out of a lineup, not as the killer but simply as the man he had seen running past him.

Domingo Benavides was driving a pickup truck west on 10th Street. As he crossed the intersection a block east of 10th and Patton, he saw a policeman standing by the left door of the patrol car and a man standing on the car's right side. He then heard three shots, saw the policeman fall. He waited in the truck until the gunman ran to the corner, and saw him empty the shells into some bushes. "It was Benavides, using Tippit's car radio, who first reported the killing of Patrolman Tippit at about 1:16 P.M.," the Report declares, although the ambulance records show a different source of the shooting report. The Report goes on to note that Benavides told police "he did not think that he could identify the man who fired the shots."

Mrs. Markham gave the only detailed account of what occurred between the gunman and Tippit from the moment the patrolman stopped on 10th Street. According to the Report: "Her description and that of other eyewitnesses led to the police broadcast at 1:22 P.M. describing [Tippit's] slayer as 'about 30, 5'8", black hair, slender.'" But Mrs. Markham also told attorney Mark Lane that the gunman was "short, a little on the heavy side," with "somewhat bushy" hair. In testifying before the Commission, she first denied that she had ever said this and changed her story only when confronted with a tape recording of the conversation. The Commission observes that "in her various statements and in her testimony, Mrs. Markham was uncertain and inconsistent in her recollection of the exact time of the slaying." Nevertheless, the Report declares: "Addressing itself solely to the probative value of Mrs. Markham's contemporaneous description of the gunman and her positive identification of Oswald at a police lineup, the Commission considers her testimony reliable."

Contrary to what some have maintained, we did not find Mrs. Markham inaccessible. Our interview with her, though, did lead us to feel that any testimony she might give was of dubious value. Since she is a critical witness, we think part of the interview worth quoting verbatim:

"Q. Has the assassination of the President and what happened afterwards affected you personally?

"A. It sure has. I lost my job . . . having to go to Washington. I've had a nervous breakdown. I'm the witness. I'm the one he was talking to when he died. I know what it's like when someone dies. I was with my father when he died. He [my father] said 'Well, I don't know.' And then he was dead. I couldn't understand what Tippit said. I guess he wanted me to call on the car radio and get some help. I was there with Tippit when they put him on the stretcher. He was dying.

"Q. Was it long until the ambulance came?

"A. No.

"Q. About how long?

"A. I was there hollering and screaming, trying to get help. Wouldn't nobody come help me. I would guess that it was about 20 minutes before the ambulance came—20, 25 minutes I was there alone until the ambulance came and then another five minutes until the police came . . . The police treated me like a queen. Me and the cab driver, I guess we're the only witnesses. When the police got there, I fainted. I fainted three or four times."

Thus Mrs. Markham stated that Tippit talked to her after being shot (although the Commission says he was killed instantly), and that she was alone on the scene for 20 minutes (although the ambulance arrived within minutes of the shooting). And nowhere does she mention Benavides, who used the car radio to call the police.

WE WERE able to locate at least two witnesses at the Tippit murder scene who were not questioned or even contacted by the Commission. We had little difficulty in tracking them down and could find no reason to doubt their veracity. Because their statements are important in relation to Mrs. Markham's testimony, and because they have not appeared elsewhere, we shall also quote them verbatim. First, Frank Wright, who lived in a ground floor apartment on 10th Street, about half a block east of the murder site:

"I was sitting watching television with my wife. I was sitting in a chair next to the door. I wasn't but two steps from the door. I heard shots. I knew it wasn't backfire. I knew it was shots. As soon as I heard them, I went out the door. I could see a police car in the next block. It was toward the end of the next block. I could see it clearly. The police car was headed toward me. It was parked on the south side of the street. In other words, it was parked across the street from our apartment house. I saw a person right by the car. He had fallen down. It seems as if he had just fallen down. Maybe I saw him as he had just finished falling. He was on the ground, and then he turned over face down. Part of him was under the left front fender of the car. It seems to me that I saw him just as he hit the ground. I saw him turn over and he didn't move any more.

"I looked around to see what had happened. I knew there had been a shooting. I saw a man standing right in front of the car. He was looking toward the man on the ground. He stood there for a while and looked at the man. I couldn't tell who the man was on the ground. The man who was standing in front of him was about medium height. He had on a long coat. It ended just above his hands. I didn't see any gun. He ran around on the passenger side of the police car. He ran as fast as he could go and he got into his car. His car was a grey, little old coupe. It was about a 1950-1951, maybe a Plymouth. It was a grey car, parked on the same side of the street as the police car but beyond it from me. It was [illegible] away from me. He got in [illegible] and he drove away as quick as you could see. He drove down 10th Street, away from me. I don't know how far he drove. After he got into the middle of the next block between Patton and Crawford, I didn't look at him any more.

"I looked at the car where the man was. I looked to see what had happened there. About the same time as I came out, or maybe a little while after, a woman came down from her porch. She was at the house about three or four doors from the intersection of 10th and Patton. The house was on the same side of the street as the police car. Just as the man in the car pulled away she came toward the police car and then she stepped back. I heard her shout, 'Oh, he's been shot!' throwing up her hands. Then she went back up toward the house. There was no one out there except me and that woman when I got there, except for the man I described earlier. I couldn't figure out who did the shooting. I didn't see a gun on the man who was standing in front of the car. There wasn't anyone else but the man who drove away and the woman who came down from her porch. I was the first person out. I knew there wasn't anyone else there at all. It wasn't any time at all until the ambulance got there. By the time the ambulance got there, there were maybe 25 more people outside. Then after a while, the police came up. After that, a whole lot of police came up. I tried to tell two or three people what I saw. They didn't pay any attention. I've seen what came out on television and in the papers but I know that's not what happened. I knew a man drove off in a grey car. Nothing in the world's going to change my opinion. I saw that man drive off in a grey coupe just as clear as I was born. I know what I saw. They can say all they want about a fellow running away, but I can't accept this because I saw a fellow get in a car and drive away."

We have no way of knowing how the investigation could have ignored Wright, whether his memory is accurate, or whether a plausible explanation for the mysterious man in the car might be a passerby unwilling to be a witness. For our purposes here, such speculation is beside the point, which is simply: Why didn't this account come to the Commission's attention?

The question becomes all the more relevant when it is realized that it was a call from Mrs. Wright which was responsible for the ambulance being dispatched, and the police had her address:

"I was sitting in my apartment watching television with my husband. We had just learned that the President was shot. I was sitting in a chair with my back to the intersection of 10th and Denver. My husband was sitting across from me. I heard shots fired and I immediately ran to the window.

"I heard three shots. From my window I got a clear view of a man lying there on the street. He was there in the next block. I could see there was a man lying in the street. I didn't wait a minute. I ran to the telephone. I didn't look in the book or anything. I ran to the telephone, picked it up and dialed 'O.' I said, 'Call the police, a man's been shot!' After that I went outside to join my husband. It wasn't but a minute till the ambulance got there."

The operator took Mrs. Wright's address, 501 East 10th, and called the police. The police noted there was a shooting at 501 East 10th and pushed a buzzer connecting them by a direct line to the Dudley M. Hughes Funeral Home.

THE DUDLEY M. Hughes Funeral Home is the central ambulance dispatching point for southern Dallas. It either handles calls directly or calls other funeral homes in the system that cover other areas. Dudley M. Hughes Jr., the dispatcher, took the call from the police. He filled out an ambulance call slip with the code "3-19" (which means emergency shooting) and the address, "501 East 10th Street." He put the slip into the time clock and stamped it 1:18 P.M., November 22, in the space marked "Time Called." Since the location was just two short blocks away he told one of his own drivers, Clayton Butler, to respond. Butler and Eddie Kinsley ran down the steps, got into the ambulance and took off, siren screaming.

Butler radioed his arrival at the scene at 1:18 P.M., within 60 seconds of leaving the funeral home. He remembers that there were at least 10 people standing around the man lying on the ground. It was not until he and his assistant pulled back a blanket covering Tippit that they realized the victim was a policeman.

Butler ran back to his radio to inform headquarters. The radio was busy and he could not cut in. He yelled "Mayday" to no avail, and went back to Tippit. The officer lay on his side, face down with part of his body under the left front fender of the police car. Butler and Kinsley rolled him over and saw the bullet wound through Tippit's temple. Butler told us, "I thought he was dead then. It's not my position to say so. We got him into the ambulance and we got going as quick as possible. On the way to the hospital I finally let them know it was a policeman." The record shows that Butler called in to the funeral home at 1:26 P.M. to say he had reached the hospital.

Despite the fact that the ambulance was dispatched to 501 East 10th, no statement was ever taken from either of the Wrights. Mrs. Wright remembers that a man who did not identify himself came around two months after the President's assassination and talked with her for a few minutes. He took no notes, did not ask her to sign anything, did not speak to her husband and did not ask if he had seen anything unusual. Clayton Butler, the ambulance driver, says he was questioned by the Dallas police when he arrived at the hospital, but not since then.

Others never questioned included Butler's assistant, Eddie Kinsley; Dudley M. Hughes Jr., who dispatched the ambulance; and the managers of the apartment house facing the murder site. All of these potential witnesses were in agreement on the lapse of time between the shots and the arrival of the ambulance—in direct contradiction to Mrs. Markham's statement. It is worth noting, in connection with Mrs. Markham's reliability, that the lineup (which satisfied the Commission as fair in its procedure) included only three persons besides Oswald for Mrs. Markham to choose from: two 18-year-olds and a 26-year-old man of Mexican descent. Oswald (who had appeared on television before this lineup) was the only one whose face was cut and bruised. In the light of our own findings in the Tippit slaying, it appears quite possible that Mrs. Markham came on the scene only after hearing the shots; and without Mrs. Markham, there is no one to say precisely what happened between Tippit and Oswald.

THERE ARE also a number of other points which the Report leaves unresolved or untouched:

1. The Report cites as one "speculation" the rumor that "another witness to the slaying of Patrolman Tippit, an unidentified woman, was interviewed by the FBI but was never called as a witness" by the Commission. In reply, the Report declares: "The only woman among the witnesses to the slaying of Tippit known to the Commission is Helen Markham. The FBI never interviewed any other woman who claimed to have seen the shooting and never received any information concerning the existence of such a witness."

We interviewed this "other witness," whose name is Acquilla Clemmons. She claims to have seen two men near the police car, in addition to Tippit, just before the shooting. The woman said the FBI did question her briefly but decided not to take a statement because of her poor physical condition (she is a diabetic). Her version of the slaying was rather vague, and she may have based her story on second-hand accounts of others at the scene. It seems probable, however, that she is known to some investigative agency if not to the Commission itself.

2. The Report dismisses the rumor that Oswald lived near Jack Ruby, pointing out that their residences were a mile apart. But the Tippit shooting took place only two blocks from Ruby's home on Marsalis St., a fact not mentioned by the Commission.

3. The Report gives the impression that Oswald was the only Depository worker found to be absent after the assassination. But Bill Shelley, Oswald's foreman, and others who worked in the building told us that Charles Givens was missing from the sixth floor work crew. Shelley said he was sent outside in an unsuccessful attempt to locate Givens, and there was talk of sending out an "all-points bulletin" on the missing man. This proved unnecessary because Givens heard he was being sought and made his way to police headquarters.

4. The Report accepts the version of the assassination aftermath in which Roy Truly, the Depository supervisor, and Patrolman M. L. Baker are supposed to have entered the building and met Oswald on the second floor less than two minutes after the attack. But Molina, the unjustly accused worker, told us he testified that he was standing by the Depository door and saw Truly run past him into the building—alone. Further, Bill Shelley told us that Truly and Baker returned five or six minutes after the shooting.

Obviously, the question of the precise timing has important implications: If Oswald was not encountered for five or six minutes after the shooting, this would have allowed him time to reach the second floor easily from either the sixth floor or from the front of the building, as he himself claimed; if the time was just two minutes, the argument is sure to continue that Oswald could not have made it from the sixth floor to the second—despite the FBI re-enactment showing this was possible.

5. The Report mentions that "the front door" and "the rear door" of the Depository were guarded from about six minutes after the shooting. What it omits, however, is that there were four separate "rear doors," all of which were open and only one of which was guarded. There are two loading platforms, a customer's door and a rail entry. No one guarding any one of these doors could see any of the others. This conceivably might be relevant to a question of whether Oswald acted alone. As Shelley told us, "Any one of a thousand different people could have entered or left the building and nobody would have known it."

Again, our purpose in discussing the items we found untouched or unresolved by the Report has not been to determine whose version of the events is correct, or to establish any one person's guilt or innocence. Our object has simply been to demonstrate that future historians and social scientists will not be able to reconstruct what occurred last November 22 from the Commission's report alone. Moreover, as the years go by, witnesses vanish, inconsistencies are forgotten and memories fade, the questions they will undoubtedly raise will become increasingly difficult to answer with any degree of accuracy.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

During the past ten months, I have served as Assistant Counsel to the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. During this time, I had the opportunity to work closely with many persons in your Bureau and I am writing this letter to express my personal appreciation for the cooperation which they provided. In addition, I wish to express my very high regard for the caliber of the work performed by these men and by your entire Bureau in connection with the work of the President's Commission. My experience with the Bureau left me with a strong impression of the technical competence, objectivity, and scrupulous integrity of the personnel of your Bureau.

In particular, I would like to call to your attention the names of Inspector James Malley, Inspector Leo Gauthier, and Special Agents Lyndal Shaneyfelt, Courtlandt Cunningham, Robert Frazier, Sebastian Latona, James Cadigan, and John Gallagher. Finally, the men in the Exhibits Section under Inspector Gauthier deserve special commendation for the tremendous effort which they expended during the last few weeks of the Commission's work in order to supply the Commission with visual aids for use in our Report.

I have returned to my teaching assignment with a renewed respect for the work of your organization.

ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

On September 23, 1964, we directed a letter to the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy requesting information as to who the appropriate authority would be to receive results of our investigations conducted in connection with the assassination subsequent to the termination of the President's Commission.

Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission answered this by letter dated October 15, 1964, a copy of which is enclosed herewith.

Reports containing miscellaneous allegations and information relating to the assassination and reports concerning the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald by Jack L. Ruby have been and will continue to be furnished to the Department. In addition, reports containing results of our continuing investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald will also be furnished in view of the importance of this case. Where relevant, dissemination of these reports will also be made to other Governmental agencies having an interest in the data reported.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

There are enclosed two copies of a memorandum dated October 20, 1964, at San Francisco, California, entitled "Debate on October 9, 1964, Between Melvin Belli and Mark Lane on the Question 'Is Oswald the Lone Assassin of the President?'" The enclosures set forth results of our coverage of the debate between Melvin Belli and Mark Lane.

For your additional information, Mr. Lane and Mr. Belli also held a debate in New York City on October 19, 1964. This debate was entitled "Lee Harvey Oswald - Guilty or Innocent?"

According to a source of this Bureau who has furnished reliable information in the past, approximately 4000 people attended the debate between Mr. Belli and Mr. Lane and paid from $1.50 to $5.00 each for admission.

Our source indicated that Mark Lane continued his criticism of the findings of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy and was particularly critical of the fact that certain witnesses had not been called before the Commission. He also alleged that witnesses in connection with the assassination had been instructed not to talk to anyone and that the FBI, Secret Service, and the Dallas Police Department kept evidence from the public.

Our source stated that Mr. Belli expressed his opinion that the Report of the President's Commission had presented an accurate picture of the assassination and he [illegible] Commission's findings to refute a number of Lane's

NOTE:

Melvin Belli, Jack Ruby's former attorney, and Mark Lane, the New York attorney who represented Marguerite Oswald, have engaged in various debates in connection with the assassination. Lane is continuing his attacks on the Commission, FBI, and the Secret Service. Belli, on the other hand, is using the Warren Commission's report to discredit Lane. It is obvious that both Belli and Lane are having highly sucessful financial results in debating the assassination.

Mr. Alfred Goldberg of the President's Commission called concerning one Joe Bonds, Texas Department of Corrections No. 151515, stating that the Commission was desirous of setting forth information concerning an arrest for sodomy of Bonds in Dallas, Texas. He advised the Bureau had previously objected to the Commission's utilizing the information set forth in the Identification record and requested to be advised whether a statement appearing in the report of SA Manuel Clements, Dallas, Texas, dated 11-30-63, on page 486, might be used as a source for such a statement. The page in question shows that Joe Bonds, Texas Department of Corrections No. 151515, upon interview at Wynne Prison Farm, advised as follows: Bonds is serving a sentence on a sodomy charge out of Dallas, Texas.

Before advising Mr. Goldberg that this statement could be used by the Commission, a check was made with the Houston Office and SAC Rightmyer advised that the statement as appearing in the report is correct and that Bonds did volunteer to the interviewing Agent that he was serving a sentence on sodomy charge out of Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Goldberg was advised that the statement appearing in the aforementioned report could be used by the Commission as a basis for making the statement that Bonds was serving a prison term on sodomy charge mentioned.

Submitted for information.

General Director

Dear Sir,

Your statement is (not*) 100% right.

1. Swiss newspapers and people do not believe and cannot believe the (interpretation of the*) affair of the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, for the simple reason that they accuse the police force of Dallas and also (think*) that this assassination was thoroughly planned; also, people have told me not to believe that Lee Harvey Oswald fired from the Municipal Library of Dallas (sic*).

3 (sic*). The assassination of President Kennedy was openly done from the top of the railroad bridge or from its passageway, since he (Oswald*) did not wish to endanger the population of Dallas by firing from the Municipal Library; (he*) did not wish to risk the very lives of the population or of certain authorities.

4. Up there he had better protection and facility for firing from this spot on the bridge at the surrounding area and the police of the FBI did not search the vicinity where the range of the shot would have been most favorable or see the imprints of shoes at the location of the shot.

The world of today condemns television, the radio and the press for having shown and justified this assassination contrary to reality, such as it is, totally false; and your agency for finding a motive, approved 100% and satisfying the present-day world according to the investigation made among the people. But this is limited by an extenuating circumstance, as considered more or less, but the facts are what they are, according to your agency, and not the diversion, making the world believe that the location of the criminal shots was at the Dallas Library, that is, on its 5th or 6th floor.

The audacious and perverse thing is that it is believed that Lee Harvey Oswald could still have contacts among high authorities or those close to the Government of the United States.

5. The mistake was that the police or strict protection of President Kennedy became more and more weakened, and this conspiracy gave a green light to all possibilities of an assassination such as this one. (sic*)

6. It did not behoove the FBI to make an investigation of this kind; this police corps is too close to all the most sensitive information in the service of the State in Washington; it behooves the President of the United States to train 3,000 men, appointed strictly by the White House and not by the exterior or ulterior (sic*) police, for the police should be organized exclusively by the State.

7. The protection of Lee Harvey Oswald was not assured 100% but was simply for blackmail and glorifying of the television, press and radio; for anyone could kill him, even in front of policemen guarding him.

* Translator's Note.

The whole world is doubtful and more and more indignant at the flagrant and audacious injustice of our time and the times to come, and if this investigation was carried out according to the motivation, such as it could come up with, and with sincerity, reality and good sense, then it is not Jack Ruby who should have been arrested but, on the contrary, the one who proceeded to hide this affair, so sad and audacious, among the high authorities or those close to the Government. (sic*) Another thing, it should be underlined that the White House did not take care of checking and examining the individuals or doing a very thorough investigation of a man or no matter whom, to learn about his daily private activities and where and why this eventual travel abroad had outstanding importance. (sic*) Only when the White House proceeds to do this minute examination, will the day come when the assassination will be totally eliminated, for the peace of the Government and everybody else. (sic*)

The whole of Switzerland is profoundly moved by this terrible affair and prays for the security of the White House, so that this is not repeated again. Vigilance, ability and tenacity, prompt and rapid, and the most serious attention to the matters which are brought to light today are needed for this.

We are rendering an homage of sympathy again for President Kennedy and expressing a wish that the present one will develop more technical systems to bring an end to such atrocities.

Given and written in Lausanne, Switzerland, on September 28, 1964, with sincere and cordial greetings.

Finally, on the fate of Jack Ruby, of whom no one talks any more; we rather think would it not be unjust to simply kill him like an animal in a butcher shop, if you pardon the expression? (sic*)

On last Friday evening, October 23, the President called me between 5:00 and 6:00 PM and inquired as to whether I was in the office or at home as he wanted to talk to me. I told him I was at home and he said that he would then talk with me over the phone rather than have me come down to the White House to see him.

The President said he wanted me to know that he was particularly pleased with the thoroughness and manner in which the investigation of Walter Jenkins had been conducted by the FBI. He stated that this situation had, of course, been a great shock to him but he had the consolation of being able to turn to the FBI, in which he had implicit faith, to make the investigation as promptly and as thoroughly as possible and that this had been accomplished and he wanted me to know of his feelings about it and of his appreciation.

The President also mentioned that he understood that he had not made any statement about the report of the Warren Commission in which that Commission had seen fit to criticize the FBI. I told the President that I was outraged at the report of the Warren Commission insofar as it pertained to the FBI because it was not factual and was not predicated upon any testimony. I stated that they had used excerpts of testimony of witnesses to try to prove their points and I thought this was dirty tactics, particularly since the Chairman of the Commission was the Chief Justice of the United States.

By letter, October 23, 1964, J. Lee Rankin of the President's Commission referred a letter in French and requested a translation thereof.

This letter is addressed to the "Warren Commission," signed by Paul Hoefliger, postmarked Lausanne, Switzerland, and contains no return address. The letter is very incoherent. The meaning of many passages is not clear. The writer does not believe Oswald shot from the "Library"; he feels that the shots were fired from the railroad bridge; he condemns television, radio and the press and is critical of weak protection of the President.

Mr. Harper is the individual who recovered a piece of human bone on November 23, 1963, in the vicinity where the late President John Fitzgerald Kennedy was assassinated. This matter is recorded in the Dallas report of Special Agent Robert P. Gemberling dated November 30, 1963, captioned "Lee Harvey Oswald; Assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, November 22, 1963, Dallas, Texas," commencing on Page 150. Copies of Special Agent Gemberling's report have been previously furnished to you.

For your information, we are advising Mr. Harper that his communications have been referred to you. We are taking no further action in this matter.

Enclosed for Dallas are two copies each of the above letters from Harper. You should promptly contact Harper and advise him his letter to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and his letter to the Navy were referred to this Bureau and subsequently turned over to the President's Commission for appropriate action. Harper should be advised that any action in regard to his request will of necessity have to be handled by the Commission or its duly delegated authority who has sole jurisdiction over all evidence developed during this investigation. Should the question arise Harper should be advised that this Bureau does not furnish "letters of verification."

When this matter has been handled the Bureau should be appropriately notified.

NOTE:

Harper is a premedical student at Texas Christian University and while taking pictures on 11-23-63, in the vicinity of the President's assassination found a piece of skull bone which he turned over to us. The bone was examined by our Laboratory and turned over to the late President's physician Admiral George Burkley on 11-27-63. From the medical testimony it appears the skull bone found by Harper was a part of the late President's head. Harper in his letters desired "a letter of verification" for reasons unknown to us but possibly because of the historical significance of his find. Since all evidence in this investigation is in the custody of the President's Commission, it is felt this matter should be referred to the Commission for whatever action they deem appropriate. Once Harper has been advised of the disposition of his letters, no further action appears necessary and none is recommended.

Reference is made to your letter dated September 30, 1964, requesting us to declassify various documents previously furnished to the President's Commission.

Your specific attention is directed to those items on your list which you identified as follows:

1. "FBI - Report dated 12-12-63 re Lee Harvey Oswald - INTERNAL SECURITY"

2. "FBI - Report dated June 12, 1964, re Lee Harvey Oswald - INTERNAL SECURITY"

3. "FBI - Report dated March 31, 1964, re George de Mohrenschildt and Jeanne de Mohrenschildt - CONFIDENTIAL"

BY COURIER SVC. 28 OCT 2 8 COMM-FBI

For your information, our files disclose that items one and two, above, have never been classified by this Bureau. Accordingly, inasmuch as these documents are unclassified, we are taking no additional action concerning them.

We have reviewed our March 31, 1964, memorandum concerning George de Mohrenschildt and Jeanne de Mohrenschildt, identified as item three above, and it can now be declassified. Accordingly, you are authorized to declassify the two copies of this document in the possession of the Commission.

NOTE:

By letter 9/30/64 the Commission requested authority to declassify approximately 100 documents in order that such documents could be published at an early date. In connection with item number one mentioned herein, this is a copy of a letter we wrote to the State Department with copies to CIA and Secret Service relating to a hoax situation in our investigation of Oswald. This item concerned an allegation that one Pedro Charles possessed data regarding Oswald and that assassination. This letter was unclassified when sent to State Department. (Serial 105-82555-4170).

Item two concerned a letterhead memorandum prepared by the Washington Field Office, June 12, 1964, setting forth results of a survey of passports issued by the State Department in New Orleans between 6/17/63 and 7/1/63. It has never been classified. (Serial 105-82555-4141).

Item three concerns a letterhead memorandum prepared by Legat, Mexico, dated 8/31/64 which contained results of a check of immigration records. The source who made such data available is appropriately covered by a T-symbol and since the Commission has included in its summary report considerable data from Mexican records, this particular memorandum cannot now be downgraded/unclassified. SUBJECT: PRESENTATION FOR USE IN DIRECTOR'S APPEARANCE BEFORE THE PRESIDENT'S COMMITTEE ON PRESIDENTIAL PROTECTION OCTOBER 29, 1964

The Warren Commission submitted its report on the assassination of President Kennedy to the President of the United States on September 24, 1964. In its report, the Commission made twelve specific recommendations for improving Presidential protection or related matters.

There is attached a presentation for the use of the Director in his appearance before the President's Committee on Presidential Protection which sets forth a concise summary of each of the recommendations of the Warren Commission along with comments related to each of these items as they relate to FBI policy and implementation.

There is also included a brief summary of data included in our letter to the White House and the Acting Attorney General wherein we stated that we felt the report is seriously inaccurate insofar as its treatment of the FBI is concerned. We pointed out that it appeared that the Warren Commission in the preparation of its report apparently made up its mind to avoid criticism of its findings by criticism of the FBI and selected only certain portions of testimony of witnesses which would support such findings. We pointed out that the net result of the Warren Commission report is to place the FBI in the completely untenable position that if a similar tragedy or event occurs in the future and this Bureau has any information at all in its files, the gift of hindsight displayed by the Warren Commission will permit a conclusion to be reached that somehow, someway, this information should have been transmitted to Secret Service and other appropriate authorities.

16 OCT 30 1964

RECOMMENDATION:

That the enclosed presentation be forwarded to the Director.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to your letter dated September 30, 1964, requesting us to declassify certain documents previously furnished to the President's Commission.

One of the documents in which you expressed an interest was our memorandum of eleven pages dated March 31, 1964, at Washington, D. C., dealing primarily with the observations of Herbert Francis Voorhees.

We are unable to declassify our March 31, 1964, memorandum as it was originally prepared and, accordingly, we request that you regard it as still bearing a "Confidential" classification.

There are attached for your assistance two copies of a redraft of our March 31, 1964, memorandum which may be regarded as unclassified. With the exception of a minor change on the first page, the redraft duplicates our memorandum as originally prepared.

It is our understanding that you desired us to declassify the memorandum in question in connection with the preparation of Commission's Exhibit Number 2420.

DIRECTOR, FBI 10/23/64

SAC, LOS ANGELES (80-208)

JOHN LATORRACA
SHERIFF
MERCED COUNTY, CALIFORNIA

On recent occasions, Sheriff JOHN LATORRACA has made commendatory remarks regarding Director J. EDGAR HOOVER and the FBI, which have come to the attention of the Los Angeles Division.

At a recent meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Investigators' Association, former Special Agent WILLIAM SOUTH, currently Chief Special Agent, Southern California Edison Company, Los Angeles, California, commented that he was particularly pleased when JOHN LATORRACA told him in a private conversation that he was deeply concerned about the unwarranted and unjust criticism of the FBI in connection with the release of the Warren Report involving the assassination of President KENNEDY.

SOUTH also advised that Sheriff LATORRACA said he was pleased that he was able to second the resolution commending the Director that was unanimously passed by the California State Sheriffs Association at Victorville in March, 1964.

SOUTH added he considered LATORRACA to be one of the Bureau's many good friends in law enforcement. Former Special Agent JOHN CANNY, currently employed as a Special Agent for Richfield Oil Company, commented that he was in attendance at a recent law enforcement meeting and JOHN LATORRACA, Sheriff of Merced County, made favorable comments concerning the FBI and the Director.

On 10/13/64, Sheriff LATORRACA expressed concern to SA CLARENCE E. NEWTON, JR. assigned at Merced, Californin, regarding the "undue and unfair inferences" regarding the actions of the FBI as inferred by reports in national news releases as a result of the Warren Commission Report.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD
INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

By letter dated September 30, 1964, Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel, President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, requested authorization from this Bureau to declassify approximately 100 documents which we had furnished to the Commission in connection with our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald and the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy. Mr. Rankin stated that the Commission wishes to publish such documents at the earliest opportunity. In accordance with Mr. Rankin's request, we reviewed the documents in question and declassified a number of those documents where their continuance in a classified status is not required by the interests of the national defense. In addition, we revised certain pages in a number of the documents in order to place them in an unclassified status and at the same time meet the requirements of the President's Commission.

While the publishing of such unclassified documents by the President's Commission will not adversely affect the national security, it might result in considerable adverse criticism. Our reports contain a great deal of information which can be classified as rumor, gossip and character-assassination type of information. Considerable information is from persons who are mentally disturbed. If the information in such reports is misused or made a matter of public knowledge, there is a strong possibility there will be complaints, both on the part of persons who gave the information and persons against whom allegations were made.

I have been concerned over this situation and when it appeared in January, 1964, that some of our reports in the Jack Ruby investigation might become available to the public, I sent letters to Mr. Rankin and to Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller, Jr., and pointed out that certain of our reports contain information which may be in the nature of gossip and rumor and which has not been substantiated. I reported that such information represented the views of the persons interviewed and was reported as it was received by us. I informed Mr. Rankin and Mr. Miller that if this type of information should be misused or become a matter of public knowledge, it would reflect most unfavorably upon the Department of Justice and the President's Commission.

Again in May, 1964, when the President's Commission indicated a necessity for making public FBI investigative reports, Mr. A. H. Belmont of this Bureau discussed the matter of making public FBI investigative reports with Mr. Howard Willens and Mr. Samuel Stern, staff members of the Commission. Mr. Belmont pointed out to Mr. Stern at that time that at a previous meeting Mr. Stern had raised questions on certain items in our reports which might reflect on innocent persons if the reports are made public in their entirety. Both Mr. Stern and Mr. Willens at that time concluded that if the President's Commission published such reports in their entirety, the President's Commission will be criticized for making public information concerning innocent persons.

In view of the great number of documents which the President's Commission recently requested authority to declassify, I sent a letter to Mr. Rankin on October 22, 1964, again expressing my concern in such matters. I informed Mr. Rankin that I wanted to specifically call this matter to his attention and point out the responsibility which must be assumed by the Commission in the event these documents are made available to the public.

By letter 9-30-64 the President's Commission requested FBI authority to declassify approximately 100 documents which we had furnished the Commission in connection with our investigation of the assassination and Lee Harvey Oswald. We have reviewed these documents and each document involved is being declassified when such action will not affect the national security. In certain instances, we are furnishing the Commission revised pages to a document, deleting classified material when such action will meet the Commission's requirements.

While publishing such unclassified documents will not adversely affect the national security, it might result in considerable adverse criticism. Our reports contain a great deal of information that can be classified as rumor and gossip and character-assassination type of information. Considerable information is from persons who are mentally disturbed. If the information in such reports is misused or made a matter of public knowledge, there is a strong possibility there will be complaints, both on the part of persons who gave the information and persons against whom allegations were made.

We have been concerned over this situation and when it appeared in January, 1964, that some of our reports in the Jack Ruby investigation might become available to the public, we wrote letters to Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. MEMORANDUM FOR MR. SULLIVAN
RE: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Again, on 5-1-64 when the Commission indicated the necessity for making public FBI investigative reports which detailed our investigation of Oswald prior to the assassination, we prepared a memorandum, Branigan to Sullivan, dated 5-1-64 (attached) wherein we analyzed the reports and memoranda involved and stated that it is definitely not in the Bureau's interest to have these reports made public, as they are raw material and not prepared for public examination. We recalled the flood of comment, speculation and the like which followed the publication in the court records of some of our reports in the Judith Coplon case which, likewise, were not prepared for public consumption. We also pointed out that these reports tend to reveal some of our investigative techniques and will reveal information furnished to our Agents which, although not stated to be furnished in confidence, would probably not have been furnished if the person interviewed thought the information would be made public.

In our 5-1-64 memorandum it was recommended and approved that Mr. Belmont inform Mr. Rankin of the Commission that the FBI has no desire to restrict the activities of the Commission in any way and the decision as to whether these documents are introduced in the record, is the decision for the Commission to make. Further, that criticism can arise through publishing of our documents and such criticism will be directed to the Commission and the Commission should be prepared to stand up to this.

On 5-4-64 Mr. Belmont contacted Commission staff members Howard Willens and Samuel Stern and reiterated the Bureau's position that we have no desire to restrict the activities of the Commission in any way and the decision as to whether FBI documents are introduced into the record is a decision for the Commission to make. Mr. Belmont pointed out to Mr. Stern that at a previous meeting, Mr. Stern had raised questions on certain items which might reflect on innocent persons if the reports are made public in their entirety. Mr. Belmont specifically made reference to a report which dealt with Ruth Hyde Paine which contained a number of interviews relating to Mrs. Paine's marital difficulties and the like. Mr. Stern and Mr. Willens looked over this report and concluded that if the Commission publishes this report in its entirety, the Commission will be criticized for making public information concerning innocent persons. Therefore, in this instance they decided that they would introduce only certain pages of the report in question.

In view of the large number of documents which the Commission has now requested we declassify, it is felt desirable we again point out to the Commission the possibility that certain data in our reports might reflect on innocent people and that the responsibility for such action must be assumed by the Commission in the event our documents, containing such information, are made available to the public.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Some of the news releases since the publication of the Warren Commission Report of the assassination of President Kennedy, have disturbed me greatly. I am referring to the inference or innuendo of criticism of your great organization, as a result of the Warren Commission Report. I have been in law enforcement over twenty-five years, and can vouch that the FBI is the first organization to immediately notify other law enforcement agencies of matters of mutual interest, when the facts warrant such notification. I have never seen a violation of this splendid cooperation on the part of the FBI.

I want to take this opportunity to express my complete support to you, as well as your entire staff, as I consider you the unquestioned leader of honest, efficient law enforcement in our world today. I consider the unwarranted and baseless critical inferences relative to a lack of cooperation by the FBI, as completely unjustified and unfair.

You always have and will continue to represent, the epitome of integrity and courage as the strong right arm of decency, and certainly deserve my unqualified support as the leader of sound law enforcement in our country today.

Most sincerely,

MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

Enclosed for Legat, Mexico City, and Dallas is one copy each of a letter from the President's Commission dated 10-21-64, and an attachment thereto from "Jorge Barragan E.," dated 10-12-64.

A Bureau file on Barragan (64-38215) indicates he has claimed to be an attorney and general director of the weekly magazines, "Reportaje" and "Informacion." He has communicated with the Bureau on several occasions. He reportedly communicated with Fidel Castro on 9-7-59, offering his services to Castro. He also visited our Los Angeles Office in 1955 and was characterized by the local police as a "phony." He normally has furnished nonspecific information and unfounded complaints regarding security matters in the Western Hemisphere.

The magazine "Reportaje" printed an article in 1959 erroneously claiming that the FBI violated Mexican sovereignty.

It is not known if the itinerary for Barragan as set out in the enclosed communication dated 10-12-64, was actually followed. As of 10-26-64, Barragan had not contacted the Bureau.

Legat, Mexico City, through sources, attempt to locate and interview Barragan concerning the "very important information" he has relating to the assassination. Any additional investigation necessitated by the interview of Barragan should be promptly initiated. Results of investigation should be incorporated in appropriate inserts for transmittal to Dallas who will subsequently report this and other matters. Twenty-five copies of inserts are necessary.

NOTE:

The Commission forwarded us a letter from Barragan for "whatever action" we deemed necessary. In the letter, Barragan states he has important information concerning the assassination and indicated that he would be in Washington, D. C., on 10/22-23/64, at which time he hoped to speak with the Commission. It is not known if Barragan made any efforts to contact the Commission. It would appear from the background appearing in Bureau file that Barragan is an opportunist; however, in view of his allegation, it is felt we have the responsibility to check it out. When the results of investigation are completed, it will be reported by Dallas and afforded appropriate dissemination.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to your letter dated September 30, 1964, requesting us to declassify various documents previously furnished to the President's Commission.

In this connection, you indicated a desire that we declassify our memorandum of three pages dated August 4, 1964, at Washington, D. C., and our memorandum of twenty pages dated April 23, 1964, at Washington, D. C.

We are unable to declassify the aforementioned memoranda as they were originally prepared and, accordingly, we request that you continue to regard them as bearing a "Confidential" classification. For your assistance, there are enclosed two copies of a redraft of our August 4, 1964, memorandum which may be regarded as unclassified. The material recorded in our April 23, 1964, memorandum is substantially reported on pages forty-six through fifty-nine of our May 18, 1964, unclassified summary memorandum, two copies of which were furnished to you by our letter dated October 12, 1964.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

During your long tenure as Director of the FBI, Department of government has been without question the finest example of efficiency and integrity possible, with an unblemished record recognized by all grateful Americans. It is therefore a great blow to suddenly see your excellent department caught in the crossfires of political chicanery.

To begin with, your organization was chastized in the Warren Report on the assassination of President Kennedy as having somehow been derelict in duty in protecting the Chief Executive, making you the goat for an error of judgment in the State Department's Security division. Secondly, the FBI has been injected into the Walter Jenkin's case as a "defender" no less, of this latest scandalous episode surrounding the White House. The enclosed clipping from the Pittsburgh Press complete with king-sized headlines leaves the impression that Little Orphan Annie would welcome Mr. Jenkins as her advisor, and that the national security had really not been endangered at all. This kind of reporting sinks the Fourth Estate to a new low and I protested vigorously at the heading of this article, the particulars of which managed to so interpret the FBI'S findings within the release from the White House as to conceal the double indictment of immorality and intoxication, either of which were bad enough even if no top level secrets are missing. And Mr. Hoover, as much as I admire and respect the FBI, I find it rather incredible to swallow the fact that you were able to establish in the matter of three days that there was not one particle of evidence that information of a security nature had been obtained from this man. Who can say what slip of information was revealed while the subject was intoxicated and did not recall what he said. The enemy who would know this man's weaknesses would certainly not hang around to be questioned by the FBI, but could have found what he wanted and departed several years ago.

Mr. Hoover, I have the terrible sinking feeling that the Executive is planning to use your department as a political weapon and thus betray all you have stood for down through the years. Never before has your name been used as a planned rehabilitation of offenders whose records it was your duty to search out. And never before have the American voters been faced with a President so surrounded by unsavory examples of ruthless power. If we are to survive as a nation, I pray that the lord will prevent this Executive from prostituting our last bastion of governmental integrity-the FBI-by using it for his own nefarious purposes.

With all good wishes for your own personal safety,

Sincerely,

Mrs. J. Leo Sheran

Criticism Is Misplaced

While the findings of the commission which studied the assassination of President Kennedy are generally accepted by most Americans, some of its recommendations may reasonably be called into question.

The conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone and out of what a layman can only call madness seems inescapable. But the commission went further to lay blame for the success of his efforts on the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service. This seems illogical, to say the least.

The commission dealt only in generalities in assessing blame. It criticized both the FBI and the Secret Service for the lack of inter - agency communications, saying that if the FBI had told the Secret Service what it knew about Oswald some unspecified steps might have been taken to prevent his acting on the fatal day of November 22.

The lack of specifics is probably not an oversight on the part of the commission. In truth, it probably did not know what might have been done.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover made it quite clear in testifying before the commission that any effective steps might have been harsh and objectionable in a free nation. He pointed out that simply reporting Oswald's background to the Secret Service, and his presence in Dallas, would not have been an end in itself but only a beginning. After that, the real problem would only have begun.

Was Oswald to have been arrested? For what? His defection to the Soviet Union, while reprehensible to an overwhelming majority of Americans, is no crime under our laws and, in any event, was mitigated by his subsequent return. His attempted murder of Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker was known to only one person, his wife Marina Oswald. He had no public record of violence.

Since the assassination of President Kennedy, Mr. Hoover has tried to do just what the commission has recommended that he do. He is not happy with the assignment and he spelled out the details which the commission omitted.

"Just recently, in the city of Chicago," the FBI Director said, "when the President was there, the local authorities were asked to give assistance as they usually do to the Service and they went to the homes of some of these people, and it resulted really almost in house arrest.

"Now, I don't think there is any place in this country for that kind of thing, but these people who belonged to extreme subversive organizations . . . we told that they couldn't leave their house or if they did they would be accompanied by a police officer."

That is what the commission's simple-seeming and innocuous-sounding recommendation that the FBI "report" the names of subversives to the Secret Service means when it is spelled out in detail.

These people who have done nothing that the present Supreme Court, at least, would hold them accountable for under the law, are to be told to remain inside their homes or be accompanied by policemen wherever they go. To the commission this is "preventive intelligence work." Others would describe it differently.

Ironically, one of those most certain to do so, we are sure, is the head of the commission, Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Memorandum

TO : Mr. Gale

DATE: October 15, 1964

FROM : H. L. Edwards

SUBJECT: NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF ATTORNEYS GENERAL
EASTERN REGIONAL CONFERENCE: NEW HAMPSHIRE
OCTOBER 8 - 11, 1964

COVER MEMO--DETAILS ATTACHED

This summarizes pertinent information re captioned conference which was attended by approximately 100 individuals, including most Attorneys General (AGs) and some staff members from 9 Northeast States and Virgin Islands; Supreme Court Chief Justices from Maine and New Hampshire; U. S. Attorney Louis M. Janelle and Assistant U. S. Attorney Paul L. Normandin of New Hampshire; Department represented by Deputy Assistant Attorney General William A. Geoghegan. Conference very successful and valuable from emphasis placed on law enforcement and current criminal law problems. No adverse references to FBI or Director but numerous public and private references to excellent cooperation furnished by Director to local law enforcement through Seat of Government, cooperative services FBI liaison with AGs and daily contact with field investigative staff. SAC Handley of Boston attended Saturday night banquet and seems to be held in favorable regard by lawyers and judges from his territory. Congressman Louis C. Wyman, former AG of New Hampshire, was banquet speaker and in conversation before and after banquet, he expressed continued highest regard for Director. No open mention at conference re Warren Commission Report but several AGs privately told me they regretted Commission's "hindsight" criticism and were confident public would evaluate problem realistically. AGs from Vermont and New Hampshire added they agree with Director complete security of President is hopeless task, especially after observing how President Johnston disregarded security and mingled with crowds on recent New England tour.

ENCLOSURE

Major portion of conference discussion concerned numerous timely law enforcement and criminal law problems, including seriously rising crime rate, continued undesirable trend of U. S. Supreme Court decisions creating further imbalance between rights of society and individual rights; problems involving indigent persons accused of crime, such as current trend to release as many indigents on own recognizance or at greatly reduced bail rather than holding them in jail. Geoghegan of Department summarized efforts of present administration under former Attorney General Kennedy to push programs benefiting indigent persons. He mentioned that all 93 U. S. Attorneys had been urged to be liberal as possible in releasing prisoners on reasonable bail or on own recognizance and said over-all average of 18% now released and there has been no increase in bail jumping. Following National Conference on Bail sponsored by White

PURPOSE:

To recommend the attached letter be sent to Assistant Attorney General Miller advising the data concerning the assassination and the Lee Harvey Oswald investigation developed subsequent to the termination of the President's Commission will be disseminated to the Department.

DETAILS:

By letter 9/23/64 we asked the Commission to whom we should send our investigative results in connection with the above matters.

By letter 10/15/64 J. Lee Rankin advised in part "I have been instructed to advise you that these matters should be handled," insofar as the Commission is concerned, the same as any other investigation involving law enforcement." Rankin's letter continued the Commission's responsibilities, "except as to closing out its operations and the publication of its hearings and exhibits, were terminated" on 9/24/64 when its report was delivered to the President.

In connection with the Lee Harvey Oswald investigation, the approved memorandum Branigan to Sullivan dated 12/19/63 captioned "Lee Harvey Oswald, Internal Security - Russia" recommended that since we furnished the Department the summary which was sent to the Commission and since investigative reports are being furnished to the Commission, we would not send these reports to the Department or any other agency. Inasmuch as our reports on Oswald have been furnished to the Commission for its evaluation and use in the preparation of its report on the assassination, it is not deemed necessary to furnish these hundreds of reports to the Department.

RE: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

With reference to the investigation captioned "Assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, November 22, 1963, Dallas, Texas, Miscellaneous - Information Concerning," we received numerous complaints, remarks and threats made by individuals which included their feelings concerning President Kennedy, the former Attorney General, other officials and the policy of the administration. Included were allegations that persons other than Lee Harvey Oswald were involved in the assassination. Therefore, these miscellaneous type reports were furnished to the Department. The Jack L. Ruby investigation was conducted at the request of the President's Commission and the Department based on a possible violation of Oswald's civil rights. Reports have been disseminated to the Department as done in all civil rights cases.

In view of Rankin's letter it appears desirable that reports containing miscellaneous type information relating to our continuing investigation of the assassination as well as the results of our continuing investigation of Oswald be furnished to the Department.

It is proposed that in the future when miscellaneous type reports and reports entitled "Lee Harvey Oswald" are received they will be furnished to the Department following review. If deemed necessary, they will also be furnished to other appropriate agencies of the Government, such as Secret Service, Central Intelligence Agency, etc. where such agencies might have an interest in the data reported. Since the Commission did not designate any authority to whom our reports should be disseminated the following is recommended:

RECOMMENDATIONS:

Sent 11-4-64

1. The attached letter be furnished to Assistant Attorney General Miller advising we will disseminate reports to the Department.

2. Pertinent reports will be disseminated to other appropriate agencies of the Government where such agencies might have an interest in the data reported.

3. You will be kept fully advised of any pertinent developments in these investigations.

You may wonder why you are getting a newspaper clipping from "The Poteau News" Poteau, Oklahoma, from the Las Vegas Division, but thought I should explain that my mother lives over in eastern Oklahoma, and I receive this county paper. The article which I am sending is favorable to the FBI, and I have noted that from time to time this editor and publisher is alert to publishing various speeches and articles by the Director, and I have never seen anything unfavorable in the paper concerning the FBI.

Since there is not a resident agency within 75 or 80 miles of this town, I am just assuming the resident agent might not have seen this, and I do not want to middle him or Oklahoma City, but thought you would like to see it and if it has not previously been brought to the Bureau's attention, you might consider whether it is worth dropping this editor a note from the Director.

Feel free to throw this away if you care to.

Ghosts Will Still Walk

It appears the victim of the Warren Commission in its monumental report on the assassination of President Kennedy is the long-suffering Federal Bureau of Investigation, although these Monday morning quarterbacks expressed displeasure with the Secret Service as well.

The FBI was taken to task for failing to tell the Secret Service that Lee Harvey Oswald was in Dallas. This in view of the fact that the substance of the Commission findings is that the President's assassin had no association with either Communists nor rightist, was "profoundly alienated from the world in which he lived," with "few if any close relationships with other people," seems a little odd.

Why, if Oswald was just another irrational nut without subversive connections or associations, would the FBI be expected to keep him under surveillance and to advise the Secret Service of his presence in a city the President planned to visit?

Are we to believe that all of our homicidal maniacs ~~are~~ charges of the FBI?

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT

Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission, was contacted telephonically at his New York office today on other matters and during the conversation and in accordance with instructions received, he was advised that the Bureau feels he did the Bureau a great disservice and had out-McCarthied McCarthy.

There was a notable silence on Mr. Rankin's part and he then asked just what was meant by the remark. Mr. Rankin was told by Malley that he had no further comment concerning this statement other than the fact that he had been requested to pass this remark on to Mr. Rankin.

Mr. Rankin then advised that the members of the Commission were very strongly set in their views and the information which had been placed in the report concerning the FBI had been a unanimous decision by the members of the Commission. He advised that the original version of the Commission's report concerning the Bureau's activities in the Oswald case was much more critical than the version which was published. He stated he was sorry the report came out the way it did but the members of the Commission felt very strongly.

As an afterthought Mr. Rankin stated the Commission's criticism was actually aimed at an individual Agent rather than the Bureau as such.

Oswald, Kennedy, Ruby, and the FBI

The Warren Investigative Commission (sic*), headed by Earl Warren, President (sic*) of the Supreme Court of Justice, submitted to President Lyndon B. Johnson the voluminous report on the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, which occurred on November 22, 1963, in the city of Dallas, Texas.

The most substantial portions of this report are already known from extracts published in the Yankee press, and, therefore, nobody was surprised when the Warren Commission declared that Kennedy's assassination was committed by Lee Harvey Oswald, who worked alone, firing three bullets from one of the windows of the School Book Depository of Dallas, where the assassin was employed. The report also affirms that Jack Ruby (before he changed his name, his name was Jack Rubinstein) killed Oswald on his own initiative, without anyone inducing him to do so.

The report totally rejects any national or international conspiracy, from the right or from the left, in Kennedy's assassination. The report says, "Oswald, and he alone, prepared, premeditated and carried out the assassination of Mr. Kennedy." It also reveals that Oswald killed Police Officer Tippit, because he feared that he would be arrested inside of a movie theater.

NOT RECORDED

The report mentions that 193 NOV 3 1964 were taken from a good half a thousand people, including President Johnson and the wife and mother of Oswald, with the exception of Kennedy's widow and the Governor of Dallas (sic*) John Connally, who sat in Kennedy's automobile and was wounded. About the shots, fired at Kennedy, the commission stated that there were three and that one of the bullets "got lost," and that the other two caused Kennedy's death and Connally's injuries.

Finally, the report discusses the defective service of protection of the President rendered by the Secret Service and the Dallas Police, which did not even preoccupy themselves with surveillances of the houses of the streets through which Kennedy passed in an open automobile, together with his wife and the Governor of Texas.

Pointing out this lack of good protection, and recalling that the same thing happened in 1901, when an anarchist killed President McKinley, the Warren Investigative Commission (sic*) suggests that the Secret Service be reorganized and that this service be in closest contact with the Federal Bureau of Investigation; that is to say, with the all-powerful FBI.

The report notes that the Secret Service did not consider Oswald's presence in Dallas, or that he was "an individual who had been in the USSR" and "who had applied for a passport at the Embassy of Cuba in Mexico to return to the USSR with his Soviet wife and daughter."

The report has been received throughout the world with ironies and incredulity. Oswald's mother declared that it was an "enormous fake and an enormous lie." The liberal and progressive European press recorded many contradictions in the declarations of the U. S. Police (sic*) immediately after the assassination, and highlighted, as no U. S. newspaper wanted to publish it, the series of articles of the great U. S. newspaperman Thomas Buchanan (see "Politica," "March 15, 1964), in which authentic facts were published showing that Oswald alone could not have assassinated Kennedy and that shots from two different sites were fired at him: from the railing of a bridge and from a window of the Schoolbook Depository.

Marina Oswald, the wife of the presumed assassin, who had married him in the USSR, made several declarations before the Warren Commission, but systematically refused to make statements to newspapermen. Why?

Bertrand Russell speaks.

The great English philosopher Bertrand Russell said in London that the report of the Warren Commission "was a mockery of the truth and an infamy." He added: "The assassination of the U. S. President affects the peace of the world. A conspiracy to kill him could have grave consequences." For this reason, the Warren Commission had to explain the baffling anomalies which occurred at the time of the assassination and afterwards. With all the resources of The White House at its command, the FBI, the Secret Service, the Dallas Police, the CIA, and other governmental agencies, its report, evidently, has not succeeded in removing the doubts about the official account of the assassination. We have seen the alteration of the medical evidence, three contradictory official versions about the assassination, the circulation of Oswald's description as Tippit's murderer over 20 minutes before Tippit's death, a report fabricated by the Dallas authorities, ignored eye witnesses, lies about the number of bullets, and a sequence of distortions and invented evidence. These facts have been established by the investigations of Mark Lane, a New York attorney, who heads a private investigative committee.

* Translator's Note

"The Warren Commission is composed of men, so closely connected with the investigative agencies of the U. S., that its conclusions are unacceptable to any jury. Many times it has surreptitiously supplied data about the report which it now presents. The report eludes the facts given by Lane and suppresses the evidence which supports them. It is a lamentably incompetent document and covers its authors with infamy.

"Mr. Lane is justified in comparing the action of the Warren Commission with the trials of the Trotskyists in the USSR and of Dreyfus in France. The same levels of fraud are evident and the very lack of interest in the truth.

"It is evident that many things are still hidden from the public. We shall continue the campaign and the publication of facts as they arise, until the true assassins of President Kennedy have been found. The lack of integrity of the Warren Commission has been plainly manifested."

How was it possible that the FBI would be guilty of negligence with regard to the indirect protection which it gives the Presidents of the U. S.? How could the Secret Service, exclusively charged with the President's safety, not fulfill the elemental precaution of keeping the buildings of the streets under surveillance where Kennedy was to pass; a protection, which is universally adopted for the protection of the life of important persons?

The report of the Warren Commission does not answer these questions and only suggests the reorganization of the police service.

In this connection, it is important to make a brief analysis of the position of the very famous FBI in the U.S.A. J. Edgar Hoover has been its head for 40 years. He recently reached the age of 70 and wanted to retire, but President Johnson "reiterated to him his confidence" and asked him to remain at the head of the powerful police organization.

Hoover and his FBI are like a state within the state. They have at their disposal a budget, which is twice as big as that of all the federal courts. In order to spend money, Hoover does not need the Senate's approval. However, the CIA, charged with espionage, counter-espionage and pro-imperialistic subversion throughout the world, needs such approval.

Hoover does not have any authority above him, and, neither his inherent chief, the U. S. Attorney General, nor the Senate, dares to remove him nor even give orders to a man, who has enjoyed the confidence of seven Presidents. Hoover and his FBI Agents constitute a monolithic bloc, which, in addition to the investigations of criminal acts, has the duty of guarding the security of the state.

It is significant that the fascist groups admire Hoover and the FBI, and, with these groups, all the reactionary circles and rightists of the U.S.A. It is not a secret that Hoover's closest friends are members of the Southern reactionary bloc and of other fascist and rightist groups. Hoover describes the liberals as "more destructive than the communists owing to their cloak of respectability."

Many books were written about the FBI; one by Hoover himself. The most recent one is that of a former FBI Agent, Jack Levine, a graduate of the Law School of the University of New York. The book has not been put in circulation as yet, because it is a report, submitted by the author to the Department of Justice, whose chief, until recently, was Robert Kennedy, a brother of the assassinated President.

This is in synopsis what Jack Levine had to say about the FBI:

To criticize Hoover is like being declared a traitor to the country and even the Senators and Congressmen know and admit that a recrimination against Hoover would be "a political suicide". The FBI would take it upon itself "to discover many things about the person who criticizes."

The newspapermen are afraid to criticize Hoover for the same reasons as the Congressmen and Senators.

If the hostilities, which the bellicose Yankees hope to undertake against the USSR, would be realized, Hoover would imprison all communists and all people who sympathize with communism and the USSR.

The FBI utilizes illegal techniques, such as the tapping of telephone lines, the violation of correspondence, and the use of electronic devices in order to find out what is being said at a certain place.

According to the FBI, bourgeois newspapers, such as The New York Post, the Denver Post, St. Louis Post Dispatch, and Louisville Courier Journal, employ communists and sympathizers of communism.

According to the FBI, Adlai Stevenson, permanent delegate of the U. S. to the UN, is surrounded by communists, liberals and "radicals."

The National Association for the Progress of the Negro Population (sic*) and other liberal organizations belong to the "communist front."

In 90% of the cases, the personnel of the FBI refer to the Negroes in a contemptuous tone (among that personnel there is not a single Negro).

Hoover and the FBI believe that the U. S. Supreme Court has aided the "communist conspiracy."

The Nazi Party of the U. S., led by George Lincoln Rockwell, is not a subversive organization, according to the FBI, but a group of young people who talk against the Jews, which is not a subversive act.

In 1963, Hoover appeared before the Appropriation Committee of the House of Representatives and asked for "more money" in order to make a full investigation of 165 political organizations which are in favor of peace and against nuclear weapons, syndicates of workers and Negro societies, "because he thought that they were engaged in anti-U. S. activities."

*Translator's Note

No one in the U. S. receives a passport without the intervention of the FBI, and no one is given a visa in the U. S. embassies abroad without the FBI's knowledge. Every individual, suspected of being a sympathizer of the communists, is the object of surveillance by Agents of the FBI. Therefore, how could Oswald come to Mexico shortly before Kennedy's assassination and apply for a passport at the Cuban Embassy without the interference of the FBI? How could Oswald get a government job at the Schoolbook Depository in Dallas without the FBI knowing about it?

Another question arises in connection with the publication, in the U. S., of two "official" photographs of Oswald with "his rifle": one, in which the weapon has a telescopic sight, and another one, in which there is none. Who made the falsified photograph?

These and many other questions have not been answered in the report of the Warren Commission. Besides, does this report contain everything which was investigated? No one believes it. It must be noted that Earl Warren declared at various occasions that "many things, related to President Kennedy's assassination, will not become known for many generations to come."

The mystery remains: Who assassinated Kennedy?

By letter dated 4/6/64 we transmitted to the President's Commission answers to thirty specific items which the Commission desired answered by the FBI. Such questions largely dealt with our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination of President Kennedy. An original and one clear, clean xerox copy containing answers to these thirty questions were furnished to the Commission as enclosures to our 4/6/64 letter.

On 11/3/64 Miss Helen Tarko, a secretary at the President's Commission, contacted Supervisor Robert E. Lenihan and asked if the Bureau could make available to the Commission a new copy of the memorandum answering the thirty questions. She stated the Commission had mislaid the original and clean copy previously furnished the Commission by the Bureau and all she had at hand was a carbon copy that had been reproduced at the Commission from the original and it had been defaced and marked so that it could not be used for mass reproduction. She indicated the Commission desired to use this document as back-up data to its report. Supervisor Lenihan checked the file and tickler copies of the thirty questions and noted that all contain markings which would make it undesirable to reproduce such copies and furnish same to the Commission. Supervisor Lenihan contacted Miss Tarko and explained this situation to her and suggested, if deemed necessary, the Commission might desire to retype the copy of this document in possession of the Commission in order to serve the needs of the Commission. Miss Tarko stated the Commission would do this but first she planned to conduct additional research to find the previous data the Bureau had furnished since she felt someone at the Commission had mislaid such data.

Who supported this political President of the U. S. A.? I think — only Walter Lippmann, correspondent for the "Toronto Daily Star" in Washington, U. S. A. Why? I wish I had written to the first "Daily" on October 23, 1963, asking about this trouble in America. But I could not do this job and I must be quiet.

I have a small piece of evidence on this — my letter about what I can do for President F. Kennedy in the U. S. A. (sic)*.

I am a Canadian citizen and a veteran of the last war. My military serial number is 99/III/44. I was with the Second Polish Corps which fought in Italy from 1944 to May 8, 1945.

Enclosed are two small photographs of me. Because this affair is very important for the whole world, please keep it secret from my family that I did this job alone.

With reference to the re-enactment of the assassination of President Kennedy, which took place in Dallas, Texas, on May 24, 1964, the surveying firm of Robert H. West, County Surveyor, Dallas, Texas, was secured by the Dallas Office to perform certain measurements, etc., required by the President's Commission. While the Dallas Office made the arrangements with Mr. West, he was specifically told that the bill for his work should be made to the President's Commission. Subsequent to the work performed by Mr. West, he submitted his bill which he addressed to Mr. Leo Gauthier, c/o FBI, Washington, D. C. Upon receipt of this bill, Malley took the same to Mr. Rankin's Office, July 1, 1964.

Mrs. Beverly Heckman telephoned Malley November 6, 1964, and stated that the President's Commission had returned Mr. West's bill to him requesting that he prepare an itemized bill for the use of the President's Commission prior to paying him for his services. She stated this last correspondence with Mr. West was on July 30, 1964, and to date the requested itemized bill has not been submitted by Mr. West.

Mrs. Heckman stated in view of the fact that the President's Commission hoped to be completely finished with their work within the next two to three weeks, she would appreciate it if the Bureau could contact Mr. West and advise him that the President's Commission had not received the itemized bill requested and to let him know of the complete termination of the President's Commission in the near future and that if he desired his reimbursement without considerable difficulty, he should submit his bill immediately.

ASAC Clark of the Dallas Office was advised of the request of the President's Commission on November 6, 1964. Subsequently, ASAC Clark advised the Dallas Office had been in touch with Mr. West and West stated he did not understand exactly what kind of an itemized bill the Commission desired inasmuch as his company had never before furnished such a bill. Clark was told that this was no concern of the Upon receipt of this information, Mrs. Heckman was advised of our contact with Mr. West and was told that he would probably be in touch either by telephone or letter for clarification of what the President's Commission desired in order to receive reimbursement.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation
Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

In view of your continuing investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy, it might be desirable and useful to develop information that was not available at the time of the preparation of the Commission's Report. In particular, it might be desirable to have specific information concerning the precise sources of the description of the suspected assassin broadcast over the Dallas Police Department radio network at 12:45 p.m. It is likely that this information came chiefly, if not entirely, from Howard Brennan, but the establishment of a complete chain of information from Brennan to the Police dispatcher could be most helpful in rounding out an account of this event. It would also be valuable to know whether the police and other law enforcement officers searching within the building, especially on the sixth floor, were ever notified that the shots had come from the window identified by Brennan. This might help explain why it was not until 40 minutes after the shooting that the shells and cartons were discovered at the window from which the shots came.

In the event that you do secure information on these matters, we should like very much to have copies of the reports for inclusion in the files of the Commission.

Sincerely,

J. Lee Rankin
General Counsel

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to your letter dated November 2, 1964, suggesting additional investigation concerning the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

With regard to your suggestion that to determine the precise sources of the description of the suspected assassin broadcast by the Dallas Police Department, it is pointed out by letter dated January 14, 1964, we responded to substantially the same matter. At this time you were informed the Dallas Police Department advised the inquiry was initiated on the basis of a description furnished by an unidentified citizen who had observed an individual approximating Oswald's description running from the Texas School Book Depository Building immediately after the assassination. It is not felt recontact with the Dallas Police Department on the same matter would be justified at this late date.

With regard to your other suggestion, we do not have any specific information as to the time it took local authorities to locate pertinent evidence on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository Building; however, our investigation suggests local authorities were initially searching the building to locate a gunman in the assassination. Traffic congestion from the Presidential motorcade and the subsequent assassination could have

Dear Mr. Hoover:

We appreciate the cooperation of your Bureau in furnishing to the Commission a number of documents which aided us in the preparation of our summary report.

The Commission wishes to publish at the earliest opportunity the attached list of classified documents which were cited in the summary report, and requests your authorization to declassify these documents.

Also, many other FBI documents were cited in our report which do not bear a security classification; however, the following printed statement appears on each document: "This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency." Therefore, we are requesting your authority to publish these documents, also.

SUBJECT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

The Warren Commission Report charged that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its responsibilities in preventive intelligence work prior to assassination and placed emphasis upon the fact that Oswald had a vantage point to commit assassination. Bureau did not know President Kennedy's motorcade would pass the Texas School Book Depository Building where Oswald was employed nor had Secret Service requested FBI to check our files regarding identities of questionable individuals who, because of residence or employment, held a vantage point along route.

The foregoing raises certain questions as to FBI responsibility in connection with motorcade routes of Presidential parties:

1. Is it FBI responsibility to obtain a motorcade route from Secret Service regarding Presidential parties, check our files, and advise Secret Service of identities of individuals on whom we have security cases who have vantage point on such motorcade route?

2. Will it be FBI responsibility to inform Secret Service whenever any of the individuals whose names we have already furnished Secret Service as representing possible threats (approximately 13,600 to date) have a vantage point on a Presidential motorcade route?

3. Once we have furnished an individual's name to Secret Service, do we have responsibility of determining if such individual has a vantage point and also have responsibility of covering his activities to verify certain he makes no attempt upon the life of the President or his party?

RE: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

4. Should we disseminate to Secret Service names of all persons arrested in United States for violent crimes as indicated by receipt of an arrest record in Identification Division?

ANALYSIS:

Presidential protection is the responsibility of the Secret Service. To have taken the position that once we furnish information on an individual to Secret Service, it becomes the responsibility of Secret Service from the standpoint of the protection of the President. In our letter to the White House and the Acting Attorney General on September 30, 1964, stating we felt Warren Report generally incorrect as far as its treatment of the FBI is concerned, we pointed out that Warren Commission did not make it clear FBI did not have responsibility of checking route of Presidential party to ascertain identities of persons who were en route and thus determine one of the persons had a record in our files.

In our criminal investigations, we have followed practice of disseminating to Secret Service information concerning any individuals or groups who have made a threat, either direct or implied, against any prominent individual or local, state, or Federal official. There appears to be no need to advise Secret Service of identities of criminals who have been arrested for violent, heinous crimes unless there is evidence that the ex-criminal has a disdain for or has made a threat against a prominent individual or official.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

That we not obtain copies of Presidential motorcade routes from Secret Service for purpose of checking our files to determine if we have subjects residing or employed on such motorcade routes; that we not afford coverage to individuals whose names we have given to Secret Service whenever a Presidential party visits the locality where such individuals reside; that we not disseminate identities of all persons who are arrested for violent crimes but, instead, dissemination be made on individual basis utilizing careful judgment when it appears an individual might present a threat to the President or other Federal, state, or local officials. A detailed memorandum setting forth our analysis and views in this matter is attached.

SUBJECT: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

The Warren Commission Report charged that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its responsibilities in preventive intelligence work prior to assassination and placed emphasis upon the fact that Oswald had a vantage point to commit assassination. Bureau did not know President Kennedy's motorcade would pass the Texas School Book Depository Building where Oswald was employed nor had Secret Service requested FBI to check our files regarding identities of questionable individuals who, because of residence or employment, held a vantage point along route.

The foregoing raises certain questions as to FBI responsibility in connection with motorcade routes of Presidential parties:

1. Is it FBI responsibility to obtain a motorcade route from Secret Service regarding Presidential parties, check our files, and advise Secret Service of identities of individuals on whom we have security cases who have vantage point on such motorcade route?

2. Will it be FBI responsibility to inform Secret Service whenever any of the individuals whose names we have already furnished Secret Service as representing possible threats (approximately 18,500 to date) have a vantage point on a Presidential motorcade route?

3. Once we have furnished an individual's name to Secret Service, do we have responsibility of determining if such individual has ~~a~~ vantage point and also have responsibility of covering his activities to make certain he makes no attempt upon the life of the President or his party?

RE: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

4. Should we disseminate to Secret Service names of all persons arrested in United States for violent crimes as indicated by receipt of an arrest record in Identification Division?

ANALYSIS:

Presidential protection is the responsibility of the Secret Service. We have taken the position that once we furnish information on an individual to Secret Service, he becomes the responsibility of Secret Service from the standpoint of the protection of the President. In our letter to the White House and the Acting Attorney General on September 30, 1964, stating we felt Warren Report seriously inaccurate as far as its treatment of the FBI is concerned, we pointed out that Warren Commission did not make it clear FBI did not have responsibility of checking route of Presidential party to ascertain identities of persons who were on route and thus determine one of the persons had a record in our files.

In our criminal investigations, we have followed practice of disseminating to Secret Service information concerning any individuals or groups who have made a threat, either direct or implied, against any prominent individual or local, state, or Federal official. There appears to be no need to advise Secret Service of identities of criminals who have been arrested for violent, heinous crimes unless there is evidence that the criminal has a dislike for or has made a threat against a prominent individual or official.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

That we not obtain copies of Presidential motorcade routes from Secret Service for purpose of checking our files to determine if we have subjects residing or employed on such motorcade routes; that we not afford coverage to individuals whose names we have given to Secret Service whenever a Presidential party visits the locality where such individuals reside; that we not disseminate identities of all persons who are arrested for violent crimes but, instead, dissemination be made on an individual basis utilizing careful judgement when it appears an individual might present a threat to the President or other Federal, state, or local officials. SUBJECT: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

The Report on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy by the Warren Commission, wherein the Commission charged that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its responsibiliti in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination, placed considerable emphasis upon the fact that Lee Harvey Oswald had a vantage point to commit the assassination, that is, Oswald was employed in the Texas School Book Depository Building which overlooked the motorcade route of the Presidential party.

The facts of the situation are that the FBI did not know that the Presidential motorcade was going to pass the Texas School Book Depository Building. Special Agent James P. Hosty of the Dallas Office testified to this effect before the Commission, pointing out that he was not aware such motorcade would go past the Texas School Book Depository Building.

The Secret Service had not furnished the Dallas FBI Office the motorcade route of President Kennedy, nor had it requested the Bureau or the Dallas Office to check its files regarding identities of questionable individuals who, because of residence or employment, held a vantage point along the motorcade route.

The foregoing raises the following questions as to where FBI responsibility lies as to motorcade routes of Presidential parties and necessitates a decision as to FBI policy in such matters.

1. Is it FBI responsibility to obtain a motorcade route from the Secret Service regarding a Presidential party; then check our files to determine if we have cases on individuals who have a vantage point on such motorcade route and who pose a threat to a member of the Presidential party; and then notify the Secret Service of the identities of such individuals?

2. Will it be FBI responsibility to inform Secret Service whenever any of the individuals whose names we have already furnished Secret Service as representing possible threats to the safety of the President (approximately 18,500 to date) have a vantage point on a motorcade route of a Presidential party due to their employment or residence along the route? In this connection, with the hindsight displayed by the Warren Commission and numerous representatives of the press, it appears that should one of these over 18,500 individuals make an attempt on the life of the President or the Vice President, we may be criticized because we did not follow through and inform Secret Service such individual had a vantage point on the motorcade route.

3. Once we have furnished an individual's name to Secret Service, do we have responsibility for then determining if such an individual has a vantage point on a Presidential motorcade route and the added responsibility of affording such an individual appropriate coverage to make certain he makes no attempt upon the life of the President or his party? Here, again, it appears that if we do not take steps to neutralize the threat presented by such an individual, we will be subjected to criticism because we failed to afford proper coverage to an individual who we knew had a vantage point and who we considered so dangerous to the safety of the President that we had even given his name to the Secret Service.

4. Should we disseminate to Secret Service names of all persons arrested in the United States for violent crimes as indicated by the receipt of an arrest record and fingerprint card in the Identification Division? It appears there is a possibility the FBI might be criticized should one of these individuals, on whom we have an identification record, as having a propensity towards violence, attempt to assassinate the President or a member of his party during a motorcade or elsewhere and it be subsequently determined we had not given his name to Secret Service.

ANALYSIS:

Presidential protection is the responsibility of Secret Service. We have leaned over backwards to furnish Secret Service with identities of individuals who we feel might pose a threat to the President, the Vice President, or individuals in line to succeed the President. We do not have the time nor the manpower to check our files each time the President or a Presidential party makes a motorcade in the United States to determine if we have cases on individuals residing or employed on a Presidential motorcade route. It is the responsibility of Secret Service to neutralize the threat presented by such individuals and the utilization of local law enforcement officials to assist in such action.

Since the assassination of President Kennedy, we have taken a number of steps to broaden the criteria we use for disseminating information to Secret Service. This was done voluntarily, without request, in an effort to provide additional information that might be helpful. Under these broadened criteria, we began dissemination of information concerning subversives, ultrarightists, racists, and facists possessing one or more of the following characteristics:

a. emotional instability or irrational behavior.
b. who have made threats of bodily harm against officials or employees of Federal, state or local government or officials of a foreign government.
c. who express or have expressed strong or violent anti-United States sentiments and who have been involved in bombing or bomb making or whose past conduct indicates tendencies toward violence.
d. whose prior acts or statements depict propensity for violence or hatred against organized government.

In addition, we included in our dissemination to Secret Service information on any defector to the Sino-Soviet bloc.

It is noted that since we broadened our criteria for dissemination to Secret Service in December, 1963, we have furnished Secret Service with the names of approximately 18,500 individuals coming within our criteria and we estimate that henceforth the referrals to Secret Service from the Bureau will number approximately 15,300 each fiscal year, including changes of residence and employment of subjects. In this connection, it is noted that both the Director and Mr. Belmont expressed great concern when testifying before the Warren Commission that referrals to Secret Service under the new criteria could well result in interference with the personal liberty of those involved if the information was not carefully handled.

In connection with our dissemination to Secret Service, we have taken the position that once we furnish information on an individual to Secret Service, he becomes the responsibility of Secret Service from the standpoint of protection of the President. Under our current procedures, we advise Secret Service of any change of address on the part of an individual whom we list on our Security Index on a six-month basis. We advise Secret Service of change of address for defectors based on our 30-day checks. In addition, our policy is to check our files upon a request from Secret Service, regarding names of individuals Secret Service furnishes as having a vantage point along a motorcade route.

In our letter to the White House and Acting Attorney General Katzenbach dated 9/30/64 wherein we stated we felt the Warren Report is seriously inaccurate as far as its treatment of the FBI is concerned, we pointed out that the Commission placed stress on the point that knowledge that Oswald had a vantage point covering the procession was highly significant and yet it is not made clear that the FBI did not have the responsibility of checking the route of the Presidential party to ascertain the identity of persons who were on the route and thus determine that one of the persons had a record in our files. We stated that in the event a check had been made by Secret Service of our files regarding persons employed along the route, we would have, of course, tied Oswald in with the route of the President.

In connection with question number 4, as set out on page two of this memorandum, it is noted that for some time we have followed the practice of disseminating to Secret Service information concerning any individuals or groups who have made a threat, either direct or implied, against any prominent individual or local, state or Federal official. Such information is also furnished to interested local and state police agencies if applicable.

With regard to subjects of criminal investigations, there would appear to be no basis to furnish their identities to Secret Service unless information had been developed on these individuals indicating that they possess potential for violence against prominent individuals or elected officials. Even in cases concerning individuals known to have been involved in violent heinous crimes, there would not appear to be any reason to furnish the identities of such individuals to Secret Service unless there was some other factor present relating to a dislike of or a threat to a prominent individual or elected official.

In this regard it is noted that the volume of criminal matters presently under investigation would require a tremendous amount of correspondence to be furnished to Secret Service. As an illustration, in the Criminal Section of the General Investigative Division we have an average of 25,000 cases pending monthly throughout the field. It is estimated that the monthly turnover for these cases would be approximately 12,500 and of these anywhere from 5,000 to 8,000 would be known subject cases which would require our furnishing Secret Service the identities of the subjects involved. This would result in the Bureau's furnishing an estimated minimum of 60,000 communications to Secret Service each year.

Consequently, it would appear that where information is developed or received indicating potential threat to the safety of the President or any other Federal, state, or local official, appropriate dissemination should be made on a current basis. It is believed that our dissemination responsibilities will achieve the objectives in mind with the exercise of careful judgement on individual matters rather than on referral of all subjects under investigation. As indicated, the sheer magnitude of the dissemination would diminish the effectiveness of the dissemination concerning real threats.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That we not obtain copies of Presidential motorcade routes from Secret Service for purpose of checking our files to determine if we have subversives residing or employed on such motorcade routes. If Secret Service requests we make such checks, it is recommended that we refer Secret Service to the data we have furnished to them regarding individuals possibly posing a threat to the safety of a Presidential party and inform Secret Service that it should make its desired checks.

2. That we not afford coverage to individuals whose names we have given to Secret Service whenever a Presidential party visits the locality where such individuals reside except where such coverage is desired in matters of primary interest to us; for example, a surveillance to detect a possible espionage contact on the part of a security subject.

3. In connection with the question regarding dissemination to Secret Service of all persons who are arrested for violent crimes, it is recommended that we not disseminate identities of all persons who are arrested for violent crimes upon receipt of an arrest record and fingerprints in the Identification Division. Instead, dissemination will be made on an individual basis utilizing the exercise of careful judgement when it appears an individual might present a threat to the President or other Federal, state, or local officials.

BACKGROUND:

The November 7, 1964, issue of captioned magazine contains an article entitled "Cops, Reporters and the Warren Commission" by K. T. Dewey. (Bufiles are negative on Dewey and the magazine states this is the pseudonym of a man who was associated with law enforcement for many years and holds nine journalism awards.) The article was apparently prompted by a meeting in Washington, D. C., referred to in the lead paragraph of the story. The meeting is to discuss "establishment of ethical standards for news coverage of criminal investigations and court proceedings." The meetings are allegedly the result of the Warren Commission report on the murders of John F. Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald, which criticized both the press and police.

The article is very well written and is based upon the writer's observations from having covered many news events in the past as a reporter as well as his association with the law enforcement field. He tries to outline the problems from both sides--the police and the press--the failings on both sides and where the public interest fits into the total picture. From his previous experience, he is able to make several worthwhile suggestions dealing with the matter of police and public relations. He cites several examples where some cities have an enlightened public relations approach by the police department in that city in its dealings with the press.

The writer of the article refers to the FBI on two occasions. In discussing how some agencies deal with the press in public relations matters, he states the FBI and some other branches of Federal service do an effective job in dealing with the press. "They make no statement until their work is completed. Then, only one man is authorized to issue a statement. It will contain only the essential information and no additional comments are allowed. This makes for dull newspaper stories sometimes, but there is rarely a question of violating 'the right to know.'" In discussing courtesies by police officials toward the press, he stated, "More than once I've seen an FBI man turn down flatly a request for information in such gentlemanly fashion that the reporter thought someone had just given him a big break."

COPS, REPORTERS

seen an FBI man turn down flatly a request for information in such gentlemanly fashion that the reporter thought someone had just given him a big break.

To reporters about all I can say is this: Granting all of the demands of your job and all of your legitimate ambitions and all of the unfairness you have met at the hands of police . . . when you are on a real breaking story, try asking yourself these questions:

"Will the world come to an end if the readers of the next edition don't know the middle initial of the deceased?"

"Is it worth disturbing an agonized witness to clear up one detail in my story?"

"Is it possible that if I disturb a detective right now I may delay the capture of the criminal?"

"Is any story worth letting a dangerous man get away or letting a man get killed?"

And the final question: "Am I reporting the important elements of this story as quickly and accurately as conditions will permit?" If you can answer "yes" to that one, the "right to know" is in no danger.

If police and press can come closer together, the basis would seem to be a good balance of reason and courtesy. The public deserves good police work and ethical reporting, but has no right to ask more.

I hope this attempt to explain both the police and press sides of problems like the ones covered in the Warren Commission report will make it a little easier for everyone to understand the difficulties involved, the legitimate concerns and rights of various parties and of the general public. I don't think the final answer lies in any frozen ethical code, although such a code could provide some good guidelines.

Both police work and journalism present frequent situations where there are few if any rules or precedents to go by and a need for immediate decision and action. I think harmony between police and press, protection of citizens' rights and of the right to know can be served better by continuing dialogue between police and press, and by constant effort to understand better and carry out better the work they do which is so important to the people they serve.

K. T. Dewey is the pseudonym of a man who was associated with law enforcement for many years and holds nine journalism awards, too.

Police and prosecutors have known to protect prominent people when they were in trouble. I know of a case where all due process of law was thrown to the winds, a policeman disciplined severely and a reporter thrown out of a courtroom by a district attorney and a justice of the peace. They were protecting a pretty socialite who was very drunk and probably would have been killed if it weren't for the policeman's action.

"Pooling" news is often suggested as a safeguard against things like the Oswald murder. It can work, but in most cases the stronger the medium, the more it resists pooling. I know of one case where the radio and television stations agreed to a pool of all routine police news, but the newspapers balked, thereby killing the plan. Also, it's hard to set up a pool on a fast-breaking story, such as the one in Dallas.

Police public-relations offices, if they are conducted properly, can do a lot to ease the problems, but too often these offices become sources of publicity handouts rather than news. New York City took a major step when it made veteran reporter Walter Arm deputy commissioner of police. Chicago has developed a fine PR bureau since Orlando Wilson took charge of the department. Detroit's commissioner is ex-reporter Ray Giardin.

One city had a setup where a public-relations officer went to the scene of every major accident, felony crime, greater-alarm fire or disaster. Because of his training in police work and knowledge of the needs of the newsmen, he was usually able to telephone a preliminary report to an operator minutes after the event. She would then call each radio and television station, as well as the newspapers, if they did not have a man on the scene. If they did, their men could concentrate on human-interest and feature angles, knowing that they could get the hard details from the public-relations man.

He would call in more detailed reports until the story was completed. Also, he could be nearby during interrogations and drawn-out investigations to act as liaison between investigators and newsmen.

I think most big departments need this kind of service around the clock to protect everyone's interests. It need never stifle a reporter's initiative. The only thing is that the public-relations man must be well grounded in both police work and journalism, and few departments have many such men around. I think it would take about 10 years to train one on the job.

Of course federal agencies operate differently, but the FBI and some other branches of federal service do a pretty good job of dealing with the press. They make no statement until their work is completed. Then, only one man is authorized to issue a statement. It will contain only the essential information and no additional comments are allowed. This makes for dull newspaper stories sometimes, but there is rarely a question of violating "the right to know."

Most state police departments handle things pretty well, but their men will tell you the telephone calls from the press drive them crazy. There are some excellent sheriffs' departments, but many are purely political and do little real police work. However, politicians need friends, so deputies sometimes tip off reporters to developments in cases being handled by other agencies.

It's this kind of thing that can lead to real heartbreak. I remember working with three other men, mostly undercover, for about seven months on a murder case. It meant trips out of town on our own time (and money). It meant unbelievable labor as we tried to thread the maze of the pornographic-picture business, the sale of marijuana to teen-agers, operations of a gang of young rapist-extortionists and the activities of a psychopath, trying to find a link to a particular case.

We thought we were getting close, when we picked up the morning paper one day and read all about what we were doing. Years later we learned we were on the wrong track when a man, arrested for another murder, confessed to the one we had worked on. That didn't make up for the years of thinking we had let the real killer get away.

As I said at the beginning, I don't think anyone is going to be able to draw up a code of ethics that would cover every situation mentioned here and all of the other possible police-press conflicts. Both police and press are interested in legitimate goals, but the goals just have to clash sometimes.

In addition to the partial solutions I have already indicated, I can suggest a couple of other ideas. One seems obvious, but is often neglected. Police and press representatives should sit down together more often to iron out difficulties as they occur. That could lead to a kind of relationship that would at least minimize confusion and danger when something of really major proportions breaks.

Police and press leaders could meet, preferably under sponsorship of a crime commission or human-relations committee, where these exist, and talk over calmly the day-to-day problems and irritations. They could foresee certain difficulties, and plan to handle them to everyone's satisfaction. They could review real complaints, find the causes and work for solutions. If representatives of the hospitals, fire departments, public utilities, bar and medical associations were involved, or at least consulted from time to time, a great deal of trouble could be avoided. I think this kind of procedure would benefit everyone, and that the public would get better news coverage.

I think all policemen should keep in mind that often the public knows them only as they are reported by the press. If they want to have the press tell people how really rough the work is, how badly the pay increases are needed, how public cooperation can help, they must have good press relations. Making a little extra effort to please, being a little extra careful not to be annoyed by the phone calls and the foolish questions and all the rest, trying to provide good, reliable information whenever possible . . . all these things can help. Above all, I think, comes courtesy. More than once I've on federal, state, courthouse, city hall beats, they frequently on the protective coloration of the civil servants whose work they report. They need the good will of these men to function, so they play ball. Even reporters from rival papers co-operate with each other to an amazing extent at times. This is not an ideal situation, but it is far from the worst one possible.

All other things being equal, one of these old "headquarters dogs" can usually do a better job on a police story than anyone else. He will be reasonably fast, generally accurate and provide enough color and quotes so re-write men can put a little life in the stories that the "beat" man would miss. Above all, he has a major advantage in having been around a long time. He's seen just about everything and doesn't get excited very often. Such men would have covered Dallas much differently than it was covered a year ago, although it's likely that a few were mashed in with that noisy horde.

THE big problem with the "beat" men is that they are in an ethical bind which either causes them trouble because it bothers them or causes them trouble because it doesn't bother them. They rarely tell their own employers all they know, and, strictly speaking, employers have a right to this information if it is gained in the course of covering the beat. These men, not consciously in most cases, are reporters who can have major police scandals go on under their noses. But their cynicism, boredom, dislike of friction and acquisition of much of the cold, hard pragmatism and situation ethics of the cop on the street, keep them from the truth very many times. All in all, though, if you were a city editor, you'd probably be best off with this kind of men in headquarters. As in most things, it's the day-to-day, routine work that needs covering and no one can beat them on that. Matter of fact, few can beat them on big stories when they break.

On the other side of the coin are the "Nervous Nellies" the radio and television newsmen. They have deadlines newspapermen could never live with. They don't need as much detail, but their competition is fierce. As a result, they often drive everybody crazy on the phone and at the scene, and are not always too accurate. I've known of more than one who made up details until facts were available.

A third group would be the general-assignment reporters from the newspapers. They may be sent out to "leg" a story because the "beat" man is busy, or to back him up on a really big story. Or, they may be youngsters sent out from the office to get experience. A few are very shrewd veteran reporters, sent out occasionally to shake up the status quo or to sniff up a scandal.

With the exception of the last group, the newsmen, be they radio, TV or newspaper representatives, vary tremendously. Few have any serious interest in police matters; some don't have any serious interest in journalism. They may be young men who want to become broadcast commentators or bright young fellows who want to be editorial writers or columnists and simply put up with having to cover a story on the street. The resulting mixture of motives, personalities and degrees of competence has a lot to do with the fact that an awful lot of cops get a little edgy when the "working press" arrives on the scene.

Let's balance things briefly by admitting that there are publicity-happy policemen who would do almost anything to get in the paper in one of those pictures with a cutline like: "Officer Mortimer Petulak points to the bullet hole in the bathtub." Some are so eager to have their pictures on television that they will arrange arrests and prisoner transfers to suit the convenience of photographers. It isn't limited to cops, either. I remember one time when four firemen claimed to have rescued the same man.

Day after day there is tension and annoyance. An accident is reported, for instance. The desk man in the precinct responsible for handling the case may get a call from a radio station, asking for a report before a squad car could get to the scene. He's bound to get calls from the headquarters press room, six or eight radio and television newsmen and, perhaps, a city desk, before the report is completed at the station. In the meantime he goes crazy trying to get his own work done. This never stops. Burglaries, accidents, assaults, anything routine but vaguely newsworthy is good for at least a dozen calls.

The same problem causes strain in hospitals. Small-town police departments are called as often as every hour by radio and television stations. All in all, it doesn't make for good relations.

Now, take the scene of a major crime or disaster. Everybody rushes in. The policeman has his areas of concern as listed earlier. The reporter has his. There almost has to be a clash of interests, and there's no arbitrator. Tempers get raw at times. Some cops get so they won't talk to reporters unless ordered to do so. Some papers hold grudges against policemen for years for "not co-operating."

Usually the problem is wanting to know too much too soon. For instance, a cop isn't going to stop to identify a man who is certainly dead until he makes sure there isn't someone alive who needs help. He's not going to add up the loot from a holdup until he calls in a description of the bandit. Reporters don't always seem to understand.

Here are a few fast examples. I lived every one of them:

Item: Detectives arrive at scene of crime. Victim is on telephone. Keeps them waiting five minutes. She's been giving the details to a radio station that called her before police arrived.

Item: Detective is questioning cashier of cafeteria that was robbed. Reporter rushes in. Interrupts to ask cashier how many people were eating in the place when the bandit struck.

Item: Battalion Chief comes from burning building, almost overcome by smoke and heat. Reporter asks him how many hose lines are in use, then insists on a damage estimate. The chief had come out to call for a second alarm. Later an arson investigator comes out of building in bad shape.

Reporter: "Where did the fire start?"

Investigator: "In the restaurant, east wall, low."

Reporter: "What caused it?"

Investigator: "Midgets playing with blowtorches! &*)$%$)&?(!"

Item: Man shoots wife. Homicide Squad arrives to find TV reporter posing with the murder weapon.

Item: Reporter demanding picture of victim. Family refusing. Argument.

Reporter: "You know we can always go down and take a picture of her in the morgue."

Time for more balance. I have seen reporters kept waiting unreasonable lengths of time for basic information on a major crime. Many police departments still "bury" crimes, that is, keep them from appearing in reports where they should be carried. Police have hidden witnesses and prisoners to keep them away from the press. Police called a certain death a "natural" [due to natural causes] until a reporter pointed out a bullet hole in the man's head.

SPECIFIC AREAS OF PRESS INTEREST

1. To report breaking news as fast and as accurately as possible.
2. To get as much on-the-spot coverage as possible . . . pictures, films, live television or radio broadcasts, readable quotes, etc.
3. To keep major stories "alive" until the crimes are solved or investigations closed.
4. To get maximum human-interest value from every story.
5. In addition, the press is usually interested in reporting any indications of police corruption or inefficiency.

It won't take too much thought to see that these specific areas of interest, quite proper in themselves, lead to automatic conflicts when a big story is breaking. The press concerns mentioned here are made more intense by increasing competition among the media.

Use of mobile units by radio and television stations has complicated conditions on the scene while providing faster on-the-spot coverage.

. . . who decides?

Competition among newspapers isn't as sharp as it once was, but the newspaper versus radio-TV competition is very determined in most places, even when newspapers own the radio and television stations.

Before getting to the problems themselves, let's spell out the public's share in the situation. We hear a great deal about the "right to know" which, so far as I can determine, is nothing more than a way of saying that people are entitled to know what is going on in their communities and nation. No one would deny that. The arguments are more often concerned with how fast the public has a right to know, how much detail it has a right to know at any given stage of a breaking story, and how much it has a right to see and hear as opposed to the rights of privacy of victims and witnesses, and the constitutional rights of prisoners.

For example, there is no doubt that the public was entitled, in due time, to a complete report on the President's assassination. However, it is very doubtful that anyone's "right to know" made necessary the pushing and shoving and yelling among press representatives that went on all during Oswald's detention and questioning. Certainly, the "right to know" did not demand presence of announcers and photographers in the police garage as Oswald was being led out. There is little doubt that the confusion which resulted made his murder possible.

The sad part of it is that the Dallas police got all the blame, at least in the beginning. A lot of cops, both city and federal, erred at various stages of the case, but I'll say this much for the Dallas department. I'll bet anything that the exact reason for the confusion in the garage was a genuine desire to co-operate with the press on the part of police who knew the press could kick their brains out if they didn't co-operate. As it turned out, they lost anyway.

It wasn't fully considered by anyone, police or press, that Oswald, whoever he was and whatever he did, had a right to safety and to a fair trial. The guarding of the prisoner and the assuring of his safety were the only things that mattered at the time. No one had any right to widen chances of his escape or provide opportunity for his murder under the heading of "the public's right to know."

Too many people talked too much to the press during the whole Kennedy-Oswald-Ruby affair. All kinds of rights were violated because of haste, stupidity, a desire for publicity and heaven knows what else.

In other words, the public certainly has a right to know what is going on, but that right has never been very well spelled out. Certainly, there is a hierarchy of values where rights are concerned, and the right to know may occasionally have to yield to the general good of the community or even the rights of one person.

Who decides? There you have the problem. Leaving it all up to police presents some clear dangers. The people could be deprived of information to which they have a right, or at least which no one has a right to withhold. The best detective chiefs and district attorneys are often the worst censors.

Certainly, though, you couldn't leave it up to reporters to decide where to draw the line. They'd never draw it. You can often work out agreements of this kind on stories that don't involve "here-and-now" action. Court procedures assure a certain amount of balanced protection for the rights of all in most places, but on a breaking story, it's every man for himself. I'd better give some examples of the problems from firsthand experience.

Let's start off on a minor level, day-to-day coverage of police news in a metropolitan area. There will be variations, but the following is a pretty accurate picture. Each paper will have men assigned to police headquarters. Some papers cover around the clock, others for only 12 or 16 hours. In most places, these reporters will be neither callow youths nor "flash" types. They will be seasoned newsmen, bored, a little cynical, often doing work that is only a step above a clerical job . . . gathering the facts of minor accidents, fires, thefts and other routine matters, getting names and addresses straight, and turning in short stories that are little more than reports.

There are exceptions, but most of these "beat" men have been on their assignments for many years. They know the history of the department, all the rumors and all the gossip. They have a good many friends on the force. They have access to just about anything they want in the way of information, but they obtain a lot of it under an elaborate system of unwritten laws by which they tell so much and withhold so much, depending on the situation.

Very few of these men are corrupt. Very few win Pulitzer Prizes. Their main fault is that like men

COPS, REPORTERS and the WARREN COMMISSION

BY K. T. DEWEY

Top men from the major news media have been meeting in Washington to discuss "establishment of ethical standards for news coverage of criminal investigations and court proceedings." The meetings were one result of the Warren Commission report on the murders of John F. Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald, which criticized all police agencies involved as well as the press.

The trouble with such reports and their recommendations often is that they are made by neutral parties, not familiar with the special human problems involved. Another weakness can be an attempt to pass judgment or recommend action on the basis of scattered testimony from persons who of necessity have a highly specialized point of view.

For instance, few newspaper editors have any real idea of the ins and outs of police work. Few policemen know much about the demands of a reporter's job, much less the particular needs of a given communications medium. This leaves the public open to possible false impressions as to the nature of a given problem or the means of solving it. The public has a pretty high stake in this case, and I think a more detailed exploration of the situation is in order.

The whole subject of police-press relations is extremely involved and rarely discussed in public. I've been on both sides of the fence, and in the middle, too. For that reason I'm not too optimistic as to what the editors will come up with in their efforts to set down a code. However, they certainly deserve maximum encouragement and support. At the same time, police agencies might do well to review their policies regarding crime and court coverage.

The reason I am not optimistic is simply that police and press representatives, while they have many common goals, have many areas of conflict in which the rights of both sides must be protected in the public interest. There are no simple solutions available, and the problem will continue to grow more complex as new media and new techniques within existing media are developed and put into use. I'll try to spell out the areas of both agreement and conflict, give some examples of specific problems and indicate some possibilities for improving things.

In doing this, we'll have to assume, that for the most part, everyone on both sides wants to be ethical and does everything possible to act in an ethical manner. That's assuming a great deal, but we'd never get started without the assumption. Secondly, it should be remembered that all the ethical codes in the world would be strained to the breaking point under the conditions that usually surround a major crime or trial, that everyone is under pressure and that the margin for error is automatically high no matter how good the intentions.

COMMON GOALS OF POLICE AND PRESS

1. To inform the public of dangers.
2. To advise the public in the interests of safety during time of danger.
3. To present accurate, factual accounts of criminal activities.
4. To report arrests of major criminals, the investigations leading to the arrests, and the trials that follow.
5. To encourage public support of good law enforcement.

SPECIFIC AREAS OF POLICE INTEREST

1. To keep order at the scene, preserve life and protect property.
2. To gather and preserve evidence which can lead to arrests and convictions.
3. To find reliable witnesses and get accurate reports of what they saw and heard.
4. To find criminals and arrest them with minimum danger to others.
5. To present the best possible case to prosecutors and co-operate with them until the trial is over.

SUBJECT: NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF ATTORNEYS GENERAL
EASTERN REGIONAL CONFERENCE; NEW HAMPSHIRE
OCTOBER 8 - 11, 1964

The captioned conference terminated Sunday, 10-11-64. Approximately 100 people attended, including the Attorneys General and several members of their staffs from most of the 9 Northeastern States and the Virgin Islands. Attorney General Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts was not personally present because he is having a difficult campaign for re-election. The Attorney General of Puerto Rico, Hiram Cancio, cancelled at the last moment. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Maine Robert B. Williamson, Chief Justice of the New Hampshire Supreme Court Frank R. Kenison, and several justices of the superior courts of New Hampshire attended. The Department was represented by Deputy Assistant Attorney General William A. Geoghegan. U. S. Attorney Louis M. Janelle and Assistant U. S. Attorney Paul L. Normandin of New Hampshire attended some of the sessions.

The conference was very successful. No controversies or problems concerning the Bureau arose. To the contrary, there were numerous references to specific assistance which the Director has made available to the various Attorneys General in the form of cooperation in criminal matters. Attorney General William Maynard of New Hampshire, the host, was profuse in his expressions of appreciation for the Director's having made available Special Agents from the Boston Division to assist them in setting up machinery for administering a gruesome sex murder investigation which occurred earlier this year. Maynard said the outstanding assistance rendered was a major factor in their early solution of the case. A defendent is now awaiting trial.

Attorney General Joseph Nugent of Rhode Island, who is having a difficult campaign for re-election, expressed thanks for the Bureau's making available to him on short notice some crime statistics from the Uniform Crime Reports which he put to good use. Attorney General Walter Alessandroni of Pennsylvania praised the help which the Bureau has given the Pennsylvania State Police in recently taking one of their members for training in the National Academy and he said the Philadelphia Division of the FBI had been very cooperative in a recent major criminal case. Without exception, the Attorneys General were highly complimentary of the Special Agents with whom they deal on a daily basis.

There was no mention in any of the sessions of the Oswald case or the Warren Commission Report. However, several of the Attorneys General privately told me they had been sorry to see any criticism of the Bureau resulting from the Warren Commission and they said they were sure the public would evaluate the Warren Commission Report in the light of its "hindsight" conclusions. Attorneys General Charles E. Gibson of Vermont and William Maynard of New Hampshire also told me that they didn't see how in the world any reasonable person could expect the President to be protected the way he insisted in getting down and mingling with the crowds on his recent tour of the New England area.

A major part of the conference was devoted to a discussion of current problems in law enforcement and the administration of criminal law. Included was a discussion of the experimental studies of the past several years into the problem of bail. Herbert Sturz, Executive Director of the Vera Foundation which has been studying this problem in Manhattan, indicated that out of 3,500 prisoners released on their own recognizance after an inquiry into their backgrounds and a finding of inability to pay, only 35 or 1% failed to show up in court. Geoghegan from the Department reviewed the background of former Attorney General Kennedy's efforts to alleviate some of the problems of poverty in the field of criminal law. He mentioned the National Conference on Bail, which was sponsored by the White House in May, 1964, and stated that as a result of Mr. Kennedy's interest in this problem, all U. S. Attorneys had been urged to be as liberal as possible in releasing prisoners on bail on their own recognizance. He cited the figure of 18% on an over-all average are now released and there has been no increase in bail jumping. He said the percentage of this varies from district to district and in some cases is much higher than 18%. A 15-man Executive Board has now been appointed by the Attorney General to follow through with the Bail Project and he cited the fact that the American Bar Association, the National District Attorneys' Association, the National Sheriffs' Association, and the National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG) have all gone on record in support of the ideas behind the Bail Project. He mentioned that legislation has been introduced into Congress by Senators Sam J. Ervin, Jr., (D - N. C.) and Roman L. Hruska, (R. - Neb.), the general tenor of which is that no one charged with a crime is to be denied bail for poverty reasons alone unless the prosecution can show that there would be an undue risk. This legislation also contains severe criminal provisions for bail jumping. Geoghegan ended by mentioning the fact that the Attorney General had set up an "Office of Criminal Justice" in the Department to study the entire spectrum of criminal justice and conduct research for the purpose of recommending improvements, so forth. He said this staff is now specifically studying the bail question.

Various state Attorneys General mentioned state legislation which has either been passed or pending in their jurisdictions to make bail jumping a criminal offense. For example, Attorney General Arthur J. Sills of New Jersey said that bail jumping carries a criminal offense equal to the substantive crime for which the defendant was originally charged and when the fugitive is brought back he can be prosecuted not only for the bail jumping offense but for the original offense. Attorney General Nugent of Rhode Island said he disagrees with releasing defendants on their own recognizance because the costs to the state are too much to extradite bail jumpers. However Sills pointed out that the theory of the present study is to benefit those indigents who don't have or can't afford bail. He also mentioned that the idea of updating the

This summarizes pertinent information re captioned conference which was attended by approximately 100 individuals, including most Attorneys General (AGs) and some staff members from 9 Northeast States and Virgin Islands; Supreme Court Chief Justices from Maine and New Hampshire; U. S. Attorney Louis M. Janelle and Assistant U. S. Attorney Paul L. Normandin of New Hampshire; Department represented by Deputy Assistant Attorney General William A. Geoghegan. Conference very successful and valuable from emphasis placed on law enforcement and current criminal law problems. No adverse references to FBI or Director but numerous public and private references to excellent cooperation furnished by Director to local law enforcement through Seat of Government, cooperative services FBI liaison with AGs and daily contact with field investigative staff. SAC Handley of Boston attended Saturday night banquet and seems to be held in favorable regard by lawyers and judges from his territory. Congressman Louis C. Wyman, former AG of New Hampshire, was banquet speaker and in conversation before and after banquet, he expressed continued highest regard for Director. No open mention at conference re Warren Commission Report but several AGs privately told me they regretted Commission's "hindsight" criticism and were confident public would evaluate problem realistically. AGs from Vermont and New Hampshire added they agreed with Director complete security of President is hopeless task, especially after observing how President Johnston disregarded security and mingled with crowds on recent New England tour.

ENCLOSURE

Major portion of conference discussion concerned numerous timely law enforcement and criminal law problems, including seriously rising crime rate, continued undesirable trend of U. S. Supreme Court decisions creating further imbalance between rights of society and individual rights; problems involving indigent persons accused of crime, such as current trend to release as many indigents on own recognizance or at greatly reduced bail rather than holding them in jail. Geoghegan of Department summarized efforts of present administration under former Attorney General Kennedy to push programs benefiting indigent persons. He mentioned that all 93 U. S. Attorneys had been urged to be liberal as possible in releasing prisoners on reasonable bail or on own recognizance and said over-all average of 18% now released and there has been no increase in bail jumping. SUBJECT "SURVIVAL"

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have a very deep interest in the survival of our Government under the constitution, along with the F.B.I and the H.C.U.A. It is needless to say you are aware of the hundreds of subversive publications and organizations working much more consiste than termites, along with interlocking untouchables such as sc TAX FREE FOUNDATIONS, those with in our GOVERNMENT and even i... our churches and our American Legion nodoubt un-knowingly, but never the less assisting the weakening the will of the people.

I failed to mention the NEWS MEDIA above but I think it shoul definately to included and this news clipping of making the Department of State look good and the F.B.I. look bad is an example. If I did not read the WORKER wrong, it recommended that the president appoint a committee to investigate with WARREN to head said committee at least three days before sa... committee was anounced, by Mr. President.

I do not like the above insinuations or accusations coming f... the State Department and published prominently to the NATIO... that down grades your department. (Where it stated OFFICIAL... of the department, I contend that the name of the officials should be named. Of course it starts from the top, in my opinio...

In to many cases the word OFFICIAL is used by the news media that is misleading to the public or even head lines that are mis-leading and mis-construed.

It appears to me even with all of the warning that have been issue... in reference to internal subversives by you and many many others t... administration along with others are closing their eyes to the dangers that confront us. Such things as the Ruther ...emorandum and the Phoenix Report are examples and are given the green light by o... government officials or the disarmament proposal and others that are damaging the foundation of our government and clouding the mind of our people.

So much for that. Ofcourse the main reason for this note to you is for self preservation of the F.B.I and YOU, since you are on the li... the same as any other patrotic person or organization.

I closing I would like to state that I regret that I can not be of greater help to the cause of constitutional government and would gladly offer my services if called upon.

My two other letters to you were in reference to the 1952 and 1953 American Legion conventions of which I was a delegate.

FROM : H. L. Edwards

SUBJECT: THE WARREN COMMISSION REPORT

The Domestic Intelligence Division submitted a suggestion for counteracting some of the criticism of the Bureau in the Warren Commission Report. The suggestion was that the Bureau endeavor to have some reputable legal group such as the American Bar Association treat the legal aspects of the Warren Commission Report. For example, Secret Service is in a legal position to act against persons who make threats against the President's life. However, would it have legal basis to act against persons unilaterally determined to possess tendencies toward violence? If persons in the latter category were detained and their cases went to the Supreme Court based on an analysis of Supreme Court decisions during the past 20 years, how would the Supreme Court hold?

It does seem to me that if some of the conclusions and recommendations of the Warren Commission are taken to their logical end, the inevitable result would be to invade many areas of privacy and even deprive American citizens of certain of their rights as individuals which the U. S. Supreme Court under Warren have held sacrosanct. For example, many of the individuals whose names were furnished to Secret Service under the expanded criteria have never indulged in any overt acts or statements even constituting a remote probable cause to justify interfering with their privacy or liberty at a time when the President might be in the area where these people are located. Yet, the obvious implication of the Warren recommendations would require Secret Service to possibly impose some sort of check or even physical restraint on these individuals, otherwise Secret Service might run the risk of having the President's life endangered. Such action by Secret Service might be justified where the individual has been known to make an actual threat against the President. But, in the majority of cases, there would be insufficient justification to stand up in court, at least under the civil libertarian yardstick of the present-day Warren Court.

There are possibly other constitutional questions raised in the Warren Commission Report.

REC-131

In the event it is felt desirable to attempt implementing this suggestion my thought would be to approach Lewis F. Powell, Jr., President of the American Bar Association, and endeavor to interest him in having a proper committee or sectio of the American Bar Association take a public position against such portions of the Warren Commission Report as would fall into the category of unreasonable restrictions on constitutional liberties. Although Powell is an excellent friend of the Bureau, I doubt whether he would be willing to take any partisan pro-Bureau stand which would subject the American Bar Association to complaint of criticizing Warren or the other members of the Commission. However, Powell might be persuaded, in the interest of objectivity and respect for constitutional liberties, to promote American Bar Association action against such portions of the Warren Commission Report as would be antagonistic to constitutional liberties. At least it would be worth trying and if Powell were amenable to such a proposal, the result could well be that the American Bar Association would take a position which we could thereafter use in defending the Bureau's decision against wholesale dissemination to Secret Service.

RECOMMENDATION:

That I be permitted to contact American Bar Association President Powell and discuss this proposal with him. If this memorandum is approved, it should be returned to me for arranging a contact with Powell.

ADDENDUM, INSPECTOR H. L. EDWARDS: (mbk, 11-4-64) I have communicated with ABA President Lewis Powell. He has been in constant travel status but advised me 11-1-64 that he will contact me on his very next trip to Washington at which time I will be able to take the subject matter of this memorandum up with him.

Mr. Patrick Burns, who introduced himself as associated with John McCloy, member of the President's Commission, telephoned today. He advised the American Legion Post at the Chase National Bank, New York City, was having as a speaker Honorable Judge Matt Troy who was to give a talk relative to the assassination of the President and information concerning Lee Harvey Oswald. Burns stated that the speaker indicated he had information relating to tapes of interviews with Oswald and Ruby at the Dallas Police Department when they were interviewed by Dallas Police Officers and FBI Agents. Burns advised that he had discussed this matter with Mr. McCloy who had in turn talked with J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission.

Mr. Rankin suggested to McCloy that he contact Malley and see if any information was available concerning this matter, it being noted that Captain Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department, when testifying before the President's Commission, had stated that no tapes were made by the Dallas Police Department relative to interviews with Ruby and Oswald.

Mr. Burns was advised by Malley that if such tapes were made it would have been handled by the Dallas Police Department and that Malley was not in a position to answer any questions as to whether or not any such tapes had been made. He was further told that if any tapes had been made they were not made with the knowledge of the FBI. Mr. Burns then inquired as to whether or not Malley could furnish him any information concerning Judge Matt Troy, particularly with regard to whether or not he had been making other talks concerning the assassination similar to those being made by Attorney Mark Lane. Burns was advised that no information was available concerning Judge Matt Troy. 62-109090-363

Other references reflect that he is now retired, he is a Justice of the Special Sessions Court, and there are a number of references indicating his anti-Communist attitude.

Enclosed for the Bureau are three copies of another editorial which appeared in "The Alma Times", a weekly newspaper published in Alma, Ga., issue of 10/29/64. The editorial is favorable to the Bureau.

There are no references in the Savannah Office indices unfavorable to JOHN GRAHAM, Editor, "The Alma Times". He maintains an excellent reputation in Alma, and there is no reason known which would preclude the advisability of the Bureau writing another letter to Mr. GRAHAM regarding this last editorial, if the Bureau so desires.

The FBI Was the "Goat"

It appears the victim of the Warren Commission in its monumental report on the assassination of President Kennedy is the long suffering Federal Bureau of Investigation, although these Monday morning quarterbacks expressed displeasure with the Secret Service as well.

The FBI was taken to task for failing to tell the Secret Service that Lee Harvey Oswald was in Dallas. This in view of the fact that the substance of the Commission findings is that the President's assassin had no association with either Communists nor rightists, was "profoundly alienated from the world in which he lived," with "few if any close relationships with other people" seems a little odd.

Why, if Oswald was just another irrational nut without subversive connections or association, would the FBI be expected to keep him under surveillance and to advise the Secret Service of his presence in a city the President planned to visit?

Are we to believe that all of our homicidal maniacs are charges of the FBI?

SUBJECT: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

There is enclosed herewith an article which appeared in the 11/2/64 edition of the "Legal Intelligencer," a publication of the Philadelphia Bar Association.

The author of the article, VINCENT J. SALANDRIA, has two addresses, 2226 Delancey Place and 1305 South 19th Street, Philadelphia.

Philadelphia indices reflect that VINCENT SALANDRIA, Esq., 1916 South 15th Street, was the addressee of a mailing of approximately 1,000 letters sent out by the Citizens Against Rearming Germany in March 1952. This was a temporary propaganda organization substantially infiltrated by the CP.

In April 1963 [redacted] turned over a list captioned "Additional List for Mailings to Meetings and Subs," which was used in connection with a fund raising affair 3/29/63 sponsored by the Independent Citizens Committee for Political Action. The name VINCENT SALANDRIA, 2226 Delancey Street, appeared on the list. The Independent Citizens Committee is a political action group comprising many innocent non-Communists but having substantial Communist direction from the top.

THE WARREN REPORT

ANALYSIS OF SHOTS, TRAJECTORIES AND WOUNDS—A LAWYER'S DISSENTING VIEW

Arlen Specter, Esq., Assistant Counsel of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, was quoted by The Evening Bulletin of October 23, 1964, page 4, as follows: "The people are going to have to rely on the conclusions (that have been drawn) and the stature of the men on the Commission."

We know that Mr. Specter did not mean by the above statement that the Warren Commission was ever meant to be construed as a "ministry of truth." Nor would the members of the Commission, as public servants in a democracy, ever consider that their "stature" insulated their interpretations and findings from public criticism. Since we are all agreed on this score, we can now proceed to disagree.

Let us then, as lawyers, address ourselves to the evidence and findings of the Commission, limiting ourselves for the present to Mr. Specter's area of particular interest relating to the shots, their number, source or sources and trajectories. We will also look briefly into the subject of the wounds inflicted. Then we will scrutinize the Commission's conclusions that their evidence supports the proposition that three shots were fired by Lee Harvey Oswald alone from a bolt action 6.5m. Carcano rifle while he was stationed at a window on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository Building. The Commission further concluded that the three shots caused all the damage at the assassination site and that the time span between the first and last shot which struck President Kennedy and Governor Connally was 4.8 to 5.6 seconds. These conclusions I commend to your scrutiny and urge that you relate them to the evidence of the Commission.

First, with reference to the source of the shots, it is not central to my thesis that the Warren Commission erred in determining that three shots came from the Book Depository Building. On the contrary, I am willing to concede for the purposes of this presentation that three shots did come from the Book Depository Building. But I will endeavor to prove that all the evidence of the Commission's Report points up that another shot or shots came from a source other than the Depository Building.

The following witnesses reported evidence indicating a source other than the Book Depository Building: Austin L. Miller on the railroad bridge thought the shots came from the Presidential limousine itself.[1] Frank E. Reilly, an electrician on the same bridge, heard three shots that seemed to come from the trees "on the north side of Elm Street at the corner up there."[2] S. M. Holland heard "four shots which sounded as though they came from the trees on the north side of Elm Street where he saw a puff of smoke."[3] Thomas J. Murphy said the two shots he heard "came from a spot just west of the Depository."[4] L. E. Bowers, Jr. said they came "either from the Depository Building or near the mouth of the Triple Underpass."[5]

Arlen Specter, Esq., stated that Senator Ralph W. Yarborough said he smelled gunpowder at the assassination site. Mr. Specter dismissed this as the function of "an overly active olfactory sense." He admitted that a Dallas police officer was reported to have smelled gunpowder 350 to 400 feet from the Depository Building immediately following the assassination shots. Mr. Specter did not comment on this.[6] If the smell of gunpowder was detectable at street level immediately after the assassination, then this would indicate a source of shots other than the sixth floor of the Book Depository Building.

So, the Commission ignored all of the above in so far as the evidence reveals auditory, visual and olfactory stimuli reception incompatible with the source of shots exclusively from the Book Depository Building. Needless to say, this aforementioned evidence does not rule out additional shots having been fired from the building in question. But it certainly supports the conclusion that one or more shots originated from the tree and fence area north of Elm Street.

Further support for the inference that at least one shot emanated from a source other than the Book Depository Building is the fact that James T. Tague was hit in the cheek by a bullet, or part of a bullet, which impact evidentially was the result of a ricochet from the "south curb of Main Street." Tague "got out of his car to watch the motorcade from a position between Commerce and Main Streets."[7] Please take careful note that Tague was not on Elm Street, not on Main Street, but between Main and Commerce Streets "near the Triple Underpass."[8] From my view of the pictures, maps and exhibits of the Commission Report (let us except my personal inspection of the situs in Dallas) I conclude that the South curb of Main Street near the Triple Underpass was not in the line of fire with the presidential limousine traveling on Elm Street. Tague was about 1½ blocks from the building in question. But he was directly across from the tree and fence area on the north side of Elm Street from which so many witnesses reported the shots came. The Commission finds "The mark on the curb could have originated from the lead core of a bullet but the absence of copper precluded the possibility that the mark on the curbing section was made by an unmutilated military full metal-jacketed bullet such as the bullet from Governor Connally's stretcher."[9] The obvious deduction that this was a bullet fired from the north side of Elm Street, and that it came from a rifle which was different from the Carcano that the Commission described as the assassination weapon, is scrupulously avoided. The bullet smear on the curbing did not reveal a trace of the metal jacket which coated the bullets allegedly fired from the Carcano. This fact cries for the inference that the bullet which hit Tague was of a different type, made of lead and antimony, and sans copper. If such was the case, then more than one gun was firing on that fateful day, and more than one man was firing. My law school professors described such activity as pointing in the direction of a conspiracy. Such a conclusion is in accordance with the basic scientific law of parsimony which requires us to select as between two equally good explanations for an occurrence of a phenomenon, the simplest thereof.

Next, let us consider the number of shots. The Commission states, "It is possible that the assassin carried an empty shell in the rifle and fired only two shots with the witnesses hearing multiple noises made by the same shot. Soon after the three empty cartridges were found, officials at the scene decided that three shots were fired . . ."[10] So, therefore the Commission concedes that since only three shells were found, no more than three shots could have been fired from the vantage point of the sixth floor of the Depository Building. It suggests that maybe less than three were fired if the assassin brought in a discharged shell. In that event he would have fired only two shots on that day from that point. The Commission speaks as if their problem is perhaps one of superfluous shots which are not required to explain the carnage of that dreadful site. Examination of the Commission's evidence, however, indicates the opposite to be true. This reader is not satisfied that only three shots could possibly have raked that lead-spewn site on November 22, 1963.

Let us presently read G. A. Bennett's testimony with reference to the number of shots fired. "Secret Service Agent Glen A. Bennett, stationed in the right rear seat of the President's followup car, who heard a sound like a firecracker as the motorcade proceeded down Elm Street. At that moment, Agent Bennett stated:

". . . I looked at the back of the President. I heard another firecracker noise and saw that shot hit the President about four inches down from the right shoulder. A second shot followed immediately and hit the right rear of the Presidents' head." [11]

The Report goes on to explain "Substantial weight may be given Bennett's observations" because "he recorded what he saw and heard at 5:30 p.m., November 22, 1963, on the airplane en route back to Washington." [12] According to Bennett, then the first shot missed.

The Commission discussed other evidence to indicate the first shot did not miss. Then the Report goes completely awry. "If the first shot did not miss, there must be an explanation for Governor Connally's recollection that he was not hit by it. There was conceivably a delayed reaction between the time the bullet struck him and the time he realized that he was hit . . ." [13] Conceivably Governor Connally had a delayed reaction to realizing he was hit, but Abraham Zapruder's motion picture frames taken at the assassination scene did not register subjective findings. These frames recorded what actually happened and not what was subjectively felt. These films show, according to Governor Connally's own viewing, that the Governor's body reacted some 6-9 frames later than that of the President at frames 231 to 234.[14] The President's body showed reaction at frame 225.[15] According to photographer, Phillip L. Willis, he "snapped a picture at a time which he also asserts was simultaneous with the first shot. Analysis of his photograph revealed that it was taken at approximately frame 210 of the Zapruder film which was the approximate time of the shot that probably hit the President . . ." [16] Therefore, according to Willis' photograph, the President was hit at frame 210 of the Zapruder film, or some 21 to 24 frames before Governor Connally's body seems to react. Some 1.04 to 1.31 seconds after the President's body reacted, Governor Connally indicates that he was hit.

If we are to assume that the Commission is correct in stating that the President's body was seen to react at Zapruder frame 225, and that he was hit at this point, then the Governor's body reacted from 6-9 frames later than when the President was hit. At 18.3 frames per second, this would be translated into the time period of 0.34-0.49 seconds. These films record that the Governor's body reacted 0.34-0.49 seconds after the President's body reacted. This interval is, as is the interval recorded by photographer Willis of 1.04 to 1.31, below the minimum firing time of 2.3 seconds necessary to operate the rifle. This 2.3 seconds was the top accomplishment of the Commission's marksmen, at stationary and not moving targets, which feat was only accomplished once and then never again approached by the Commission experts.[17] Lt. Col. A. G. Folsom Jr., head, Records Branch, Personnel Department, Headquarters U.S. Marine Corps, evaluated Oswald's marine shooting ratings as indicating a "fairly good shot" (sharpshooter qualification) and as a "rather poor shot" (low marksman rating).[18] Naturally, both 0.34-0.49 and 1.04-1.31 second intervals represent time periods far above the maximum time of the bullet in transit from the President to the Governor.

Irrespective of Governor Connally's reaction time, the Zapruder films should show the Governor's body conforming to the simple law of physics which requires that every action have an equal reaction. If Governor Connally did not have any nervous system at all, his body would have had to react immediately when pierced with a rifle bullet from back to chest which projectile exited at the speed of 1500 feet per second.[19] The Governor's body did not register any lurch when the first bullet struck the President. As a matter of fact, the Commission asks us to believe that the Governor executed a turn completely around to the right, and then partially to the left, after he had been struck with at least one bullet in the back, through the right nipple, right wrist and left thigh.

The Governor's body did not react immediately after the President's body reacted. Therefore, he was not hit by the same bullet that hit the President. The Commission would have us believe that Governor Connally was wrong,[20] his wife was wrong,[21] the F.B.I.'s initial findings were wrong; all the eye witnesses were wrong (none contradicted the Governor's recollection); the Zapruder films were wrong, and that there is no law of physics called action and reaction.[22] Governor Connally was not hit by the first bullet to hit President Kennedy. All of the above-mentioned evidence is against it.

See how weak the following testimony is in support of the Commission's proposition that the first bullet to hit the President also hit the Governor: "Dr. Frederick W. Light, Jr., the third of the wound ballistics experts . . . testified that the anatomical findings were insufficient for him to formulate a firm opinion as to whether the same bullet did or did not pass through the President's neck first before inflicting all the wounds on Governor Connally." [23] The Commission further states, "The alinement of the points of entry was only indicative and not conclusive that one bullet hit both men." [24]

If Governor Connally was not hit by the same first bullet to hit the President, then the Government's case is destroyed. The Government admits one shot missed.[25] A separate shot removed the back of the President's head.[26] This would constitute a minimum of four shots and would put the Government's theory that only three bullets were fired out of business. The explanation that the President and the Governor were first hit by different shots conforms to the "substantial majority of the witnesses (who) stated that the shots were not evenly spaced. Most witnesses recalled that the second and third shots were bunched together . . ." [27] Governor Connally said he was hit at a point corresponding to frames 231 to 234 of the Abraham Zapruder films. If, as the Commission states, the President was hit no later than at frame 225, then this would indicate two separate shots hitting close upon one another. Since they were fired within 6 to 9 frames of one another, or according to photographer Willis 21 to 24 frames of one another, this represents a time interval of from 0.34 to 1.31 seconds. This time gap is insufficient to allow firing from the same bolt-action rifle and therefore points to the existence of another marksman. Needless to say, the majority view of the spectators that the last two shots were bunched, militates against a single carbine, bolt-action weapon firing all the firing. The time period between the first hit on the President and the final hit on him is not greater than 5.6 seconds according to the Commission's own findings. "As previously indicated, the time span between the shot entering the back of the President's neck and the bullet which shattered his skull was 4.8 to 5.6 seconds." [29] Therefore, 5.6 seconds being the longest time span, if there were two hits on the President and one separate hit on Connally, there could not have been any bunching of two shots since the once-accomplished 2.3 seconds minimum firing time could not permit bunching.

The Commission tries to have Connally nailed with the same bullet that struck the President. If logical fallacies were bullets, the job would have been done cleanly. Here is the reasoning. "The bullet that hit President Kennedy in the back and exited through his throat most likely could not have missed both the automobile and its occupants. Since it did not hit the automobile, Frazier testified that it probably struck Governor Connally." [30] But that argument assumes as proven, that which the Commission had not proven, to wit, that no other marksman was firing from any vantage point other than the Book Depository Building. A shot from the tree and fence area above the grassy knoll on the north side of Elm Street would account for a shot passing through the President and not striking the car in a flatter trajectory. This simple explanation which conforms to logic, geographical facts and trajectory is never considered by the Commission.

Additional evidence to the that there were more than three shots fired can be deduced from the testimony of the following: Royce G. Skelton who was on the railroad bridge, "thought that there had been a total of four shots, either the third or fourth of which hit in the vicinity of the underpass." [31] Dallas Patrolman J. W. Foster, who was also on the Triple Underpass testified that shot hit the curb near a manhole cover in the vicinity of the underpass." [32] James T. Tague, as previously mentioned, was struck in the cheek by a missile.[33] These three witnesses could well be accurately recording separate shots missing their target. From all the above, I deduce that more than three shots were fired from more than one rifle.

In addition to the hard fact of the hitting of Tague, and the bullet strike in the curbing, we have in the Presidential limousine "the cracking of the windshield and the dent on the windshield chrome." [34] Where these hits came from is never explained satisfactorily by the Commission.

Finally, let us discourse briefly on the trajectory as revealed by the wounds. Assistant Professor of Surgery Robert N. McClelland, M.D. of Parkland Hospital stated that "cause of death (president) was due to massive head and brain injury from a gunshot wound of the left temple." [35]

You will recall that Secret Service Agent Glen A. Bennett, stationed in the right rear seat of the President's followup car saw a "shot hit the President about four inches down from the right shoulder." [36] "An examination of the suit jacket worn by the President by F.B.I. Agent Frazier revealed a roughly circular hole approximately one-fourth of an inch in diameter on the rear of the coat, 5¾ inches below the top of the collar and 1¾ inches to the right of the center back seam of the coat." [37] "The shirt worn by the President contained a hole on the back side 5¾ inches below the top of the collar and 1¼ inches to the right of the middle of the back of the shirt." [38] "The tie had a nick on the side of the knot." [39] The Commission would have us believe that a trajectory of a bullet from the sixth story downward would hit the President four inches from the right shoulder, or 5¾ inches from the top of his short collar, and ranging upward emerge from his neck tie knot without having hit any bones. This proposed trajectory of down and then up fails to comport with a sixth-floor shot, and if possible at all, must have been fired from a lower level. Further they ask that this same bullet which exited flying upward after not hitting any bone in the President [40] then changed direction in mid-air and coursed downward striking the Governor in the back, chest, right wrist and left thigh.[41]

When I suggested to Arlen Specter, Esq. on the 22nd of October, 1964 that the Commission owes it to the public to enact the alleged performance of Oswald with a rifle on moving targets, he asked whether I would have them kill a man. The joke fell upon ears which detect no humor in murder. I insisted that the moving target could convey dummies. Mr. Specter then complained that the traffic conditions were terrible around the Book Depository Building. I explained to him that the conditions could be duplicated with a tower and an open field. To this he made no reply.

Having read the Report, I conclude that the evidence offered by the Commission indicates there was more than one rifleman firing on November 22, 1963. There were more than three shots. If Oswald was one of the gunmen, then with that gun, from that vantage point, in that timespan, suggested by the Commission, he could not have been alone in the performance of the terrible work that destroyed our President and wounded two other men.

Gentlemen:

"You are aware that the 'Warren Commission' headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren has now submitted its report to the President and in turn to the American public regarding the findings involved in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on November 22, 1963.

In its report, the Warren Commission published various criticisms involving a number of Federal agencies including the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Dallas police and communications media also came in for their share of criticism. Strangely enough, however, while the Warren Commission published the testimony of representatives of a number of organizations, they did not publish the testimony of Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI. In his testimony, Mr. Hoover offered a strong rebuttal to what might be termed 'Monday morning quarterbacking' and as the Commission itself termed 'hindsight.'

You will agree that it is only fair for any criticism of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to be judged only in the light of the testimony which Mr. Hoover gave before the Warren Commission. This was based strictly on investigative fact and judgment backed up by 40 years experience as a professional law enforcement and intelligence officer.

You, of course, are the final judge in comparing these matters. Attached for your information are two articles which have appeared in hundreds of newspapers throughout the United States. It is felt that these articles are fair in their approach to this matter.

If, after reading the attached material, you deem it advisable to come to the FBI's defense, it would appear to me, certainly to be in order to bring the attached information to the attention of the people of Howard County.

PERS. REC. UNIT

As you all know, I was an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for several years and have personally experienced the unbelievable integrity and the devotion to country taught by Mr. Hoover and expressed through more than 40 years of operation of his agency.

I personally am shocked by this utterly unwarranted and one-sided presentation of the evidence by the Warren Commission which resulted in the criticism of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

For 40 years the FBI has stood, untainted by responsible criticism as to its very delicate objectives and its unbelievable responsibilities in counter-intelligence and counter-sabotage.

Heretofore all criticism of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been propagandized by irresponsible left-wing organizations who were dedicated to the destruction of the internal security of the United States.

Such an attack as we have today from an apparently responsible commission without detailing the explanation of Mr. J. Edgar Hoover is an act of irresponsibility almost beyond my recall.

In the cold war we are now fighting, the Federal Bureau of Investigation stands as the foundation of that fight and unwarranted criticism of its activities greatly lessens its power to discharge its awesome responsibilities.

It would appear to me that you gentlemen to whom this letter is addressed, who represent the news media in Howard County, have a heavy responsibility to protect this agency in the face of unwarranted criticism.

I would personally appreciate it if you would read the enclosed newspaper clippings as to the actual testimony of Mr. Hoover before the Warren commission and judge for yourselves as to the utter impropriety of the Warren Commission's purported findings in connection with the purported delinquency of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with the assassination of our late president.

In my personal opinion any unexplained delinquency of the FBI is a weakening of our entire national ability to withstand the attacks of the communist party upon our national institutions and as such warrants the most conscientious and diligent efforts on all our parts to preserve the reputation of Mr. Hoover and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

In closing may I respectfully ask you gentlemen who represent the news media of this county to give this matter your most serious consideration and to take the action you deem appropriate to maintain the integrity of the FBI in its unbelievable combat with the subversive forces of this nation.

Your cooperation in this matter will be personally appreciated by me and I would like to thank you in advance for your cooperation in this matter.

Yours truly,

EX-103

8 NOV 27 1964

October 6, 1964

Dear Friends:

COMMUNISTS HAVE WON ANOTHER HANDOUT VICTORY FROM

U. S. SUPREME COURT CHIEF JUDGE EARL WARREN

From newspapers, magazines, radio, TV commentators and conversations of different people, the Warren Commission's report on the investigation of President John F. Kennedy's assassination has failed to give a conclusive explanation with regard to the important questions: Why did Lee Oswald kill President Kennedy, and what were the factors which had caused Oswald to commit such a crime?

After ten months of hard work and much cost, the Commission merely compiled and re-edited the facts of the unfortunate crime which were known within a few days after the assassination.

But, every American wants to know what made Oswald take that devilish step to assassinate , so that effective measures shall be taken to prevent similar actions by other communists or communistically inclined persons in this country. It is a terrible disappointment that the Warren Commission omitted this very important aspect in the report.

However, if one would stop and examine what the U. S. Supreme Court has done to encourage communism and atheism, one could arrive at some conclusive opinions. They are:

1. The Supreme Court has granted the request of Mrs. Murray (an atheist), that praying be stopped in public schools.

2. The Supreme Court ruled out the request by the Justice Department that communists must be registered with the Attorney General.

The Supreme Court judges have used our 178 year old constitution as their argument of individual rights and liberty to justify these opinions as "legally" right. The Chief Judge and his colleagues did not consider that not only the United States is confronting the danger of being buried alive by the communists, but the freedom of men everywhere is also being threatened by the communists. Yet, our Supreme Court judges are talking about the individual rights and liberty of a few die-hard communists and atheists. They simply forget about the freedom of everyone else. As the Chief Judge of the Supreme Court, Honorable Earl Warren must share the major portion of the responsibility of this grave situation. Reasons behind the actions of these judges may not be known to outsiders today, but from the actions of their past, one may summarize them as follows:

1. The Chief Judge, now 74 years old, is still in 1904, not 1964, when the threat of communism was not known to the outside world. He used the 178 year old constitution to judge the unbelievable, inhuman actions of communists in 1964. Today, everybody knows that approximately 1,500,000,000 people are being enslaved under the yoke of communism and that 190,000,000 Americans are also being subjected to this threat. The Supreme Court Judges seem to be unconcerned. The U.S. is spending more than $50,000,000,000 a year on military expenditures to fight communism, but our Supreme Court judges are encouraging communists to conduct their subversive activities in our homes without fear of being arrested. The communists are actually protected by the U.S. Supreme Court!

2. It could be that because of the Chief Judge's high position or his strong personality, he does not accept advice. His actions plainly show that he does not understand communism, and yet his decisions are the laws of the land which is now a good brewing ground for communism and atheism. This can create more crimes and disturbances for the society. From news reports, Judge Charles D. Harris of the Court of Appeals of Maryland, Presidential Nominee Senator Barry M. Goldwater and many other leading citizens have the same convictions.

3. That the Chief Supreme Court Judge may have been threatened by the communists. So, he just conveniently interpreted the 178-year old constitution for self protection. Who knows?

4. Of course no one would suspect that the Chief Supreme court Judge could be an agent of communism or a communist sympathizer, but his actions certainly have given another victory to the communists. They are very happy about it. When one sees the big headlines that appeared on newspapers of March 20, 1964, which stated that 847 pro-reds and alcoholics are in the State Department, one cannot help but wonder who can be counted as 100% faithful public servants in any government agency.

Since the Warren Commission has proved that Oswald was the Killer of President Kennedy and that Oswald had been an active agent of communism, there is no excuse that the report did not clearly state that communism is responsible for the death of the President. Without mentioning this simple but obvious fact, it has given victory to communism. This can encourage further actions by communists or their sympathizers of the Oswald type.

As the case of athiest, Mrs. Murray, - after she had won the favorable judgment from the U.S. Supreme Court, she could not disguise her devilish heart any longer. She openly committed the crime of beating the law enforcement officers, and she quickly flew to Hawaii to enjoy the liberty of being a "famous" athiest under the protection of our Supreme Court. More than that, she is now requesting the Supreme Court to remove the words "IN GOD WE TRUST" from the pledge to the American flag. Many people in this country now have the great fear of what the Supreme Court might do, in view of its former actions in favor of communism and atheism. It could be possible that either communists or Mrs. Murray had sent copies of Marks-Lenin Doctrines to the Chief Judge to make it into law when he can conveniently find a loop-hole in the 178-year old constitution so that he can change the words "In God We Trust" into "In Marks-Lenin Doctrines We Trust."

From unforgettable and experience[d] my 13 years dealing with communists, I can say that all communists are atheists and that all atheists do have the qualifications of communists - the aims of both which are to destroy the government of the United States. However, the actions of atheist Mrs. Murray are more devilish and more extremely dangerous than that of the communists, for she has won our Supreme Court to her side thus far.

It is therefore strongly urged that all those who wish to keep the words "In God We Trust", which were adopted when this country was founded by our forefathers, must raise their voices without delay as follows:

1. Objecting to further irresponsible decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court to accomodate communists or atheists.

2. Objecting to the request made by the atheist Mrs. Murray to abolish the words "In God We Trust" from our pledge to our national flag.

3. Since this country was founded on the faith , "In God We Trust", any one who tries to destroy this solemn faith should be obliged to go to any country where he or she fits in more properly. Free belief is allowed in our beloved country. But, when the communists and atheists are taking advantages of the week points in our 178-year old constitution and the ignorance of our general public, while actively engaged in their well-concealed subversive activities to destroy our beloved country, they must be dealt with by positive and resolute measures if this country is to remain free for postority.

A lover of freedom.

Reds Recruiting College Students, FBI Chief Warns

By DAVID SENTNER
News-American Correspondent
and Hearst Headline Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover warned of a Communist Party recruiting drive aimed at getting college students "to help bury America."

"The academic year will undoubtedly be marked by Communist Party efforts to enter its [illegible] on the nation's campuses. It draws young blood for the violence which is inherent in communism," Hoover asserted in the latest FBI law enforcement bulletin.

He revealed that in its continuing effort to attract young Americans, the Communist Party has sponsored a new national student youth organization — the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America.

"AS AN EXAMPLE of Communist deception in action," the FBI chief added, "the DuBois clubs chose as their official insignia a half-white, half-black circle encompassing a white hand and a black hand under a dove.

"Thus the symbols of unity, brotherhood, and peace wave as a banner for an ideology that countenances discord, hate and violence."

This organization and its Communist parent, Hoover said, "would have us believe that communism has only one hand—the extended, open hand."

"BUT A LOOK over their shoulder sees the other hand clasping the Berlin Wall and suppressing freedom's breath from enslaved millions," Hoover continued.

"It is this duplicity that is difficult for young Americans to comprehend. If our young citizens turn an objective, analytical searchlight on this ideology and its organizational arms, they will understand communism for what it is—a materialistic, godless dogma dedicated to world domination."

Clergy Castigates Supreme Court's 'Immoral' Trend

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—(UPI)—The U. S. Supreme Court was under new fire today by nine Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic clergymen for "virtually promulgating degeneracy as the standard way of American life."

A statement issued by the influential clergymen of the clergy bitterly attacked the court's recent decision that failed to find obscene Henry Miller's novel "Tropic of Cancer" and the French film "The Lovers."

EARLIER charges of alleged Supreme Court immorality followed the historic school prayer ban decision.

Four archbishops were among the signers of the new charge that was issued under the sponsorship of Operation Yorkville, an anti-pornography group and the New York Board of Trade.

"These (Supreme Court) decisions cannot be accepted quietly by the American people if this nation is to survive," the statement said. "Giving free rein to the vile depiction of violence, perversion, illicit sex and, in consequence, to their performance, is an unerring sign of progressive decay and decline."

THE STATEMENT was signed by the Rev. Wilburn C. West, president of the eastern states mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, presiding bishop of the New York conference of the Methodist Church; the Most Rev. W. Scott Morton, executive director of the University Christian Foundation, New York University, Presbyterian Church.

Also, the Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley Catholic Bishop of Fort Wayne, Ind.; the Most Rev. Aloysius J. Willinger, Catholic Bishop of Monterey-Fresno, Calif.; the Most Rev. John King Russo, Catholic Bishop of Steubenville, Ohio; Rabbi James G. Neumann of Manhattan's Congregation Zichron Moshe and founder of Operation Yorkville; Rabbi Jehuda Mosher of Forest Hills Jewish Center in Queens; Rabbi Chaim Lipschutz editor of the Brooklyn Jewish Press, and Henry I. Passports Issued To 500 Commies

By DAVID SENTNER
News American Correspondent
Hearst Headline Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—Frances Knight, director of the passport bureau, testified before the Warren Commission that passports are currently being issued to Communists with even a worse black-and-white record than Harvey Lee Oswald.

Miss Knight told the commission that before the new State Department regulations were issued on the basis of the Supreme Court decision of June 16, 1958, relating to "freedom of travel," there would have been no passport issued to Oswald for his return to the U. S.

MISS KNIGHT has aroused the ire of her departmental superiors for protesting before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee against the issuance of passports to more than 500 Communists since the high court ruling.

The passport director, in unpublished testimony before the Warren Commission, made these further points:

○ On January 12, 1962, the secretary of state promulgated passport regulations provided for the confrontation and full discovery in cases involving curtailment of passport privileges.

○ The higher court bypassed the danger to the nation in permitting Communist espionage agents and functionaries to travel, unimpeded from the U. S. to and from the Iron Curtain to pursue their assignments directed at undermining the government of the U. S. and its freedoms.

It is quite evident that the regulations make it virtually impossible to deny passports to Communists. The source and record and details of their nefarious activities are not an open record and quite obviously cannot be made an open record by the government.

The departmental regulations stressed that in making a decision on granting a passport to an alleged Communist, the passport office shall not take into consideration confidential security information that is not made available to the applicant.

Miss Knight asserted that from a practical operation it is very difficult to submit evidence that an applicant was a member of the Communist Party because most of the information in the FBI reports is confidential and by bringing forward their informers inside the Red party it would destroy their security and usefulness.

Miss Knight presented the paradoxical position of State Department officials following

She pointed out that Section Six of the Internal Revenue Act specifically prohibits officials from issuing passports to individuals believed or known to be Communists.

The witness also testified that putting names of Communists in the look-out file was complicated by the Supreme Court decision insisting on confrontation of Communists with their informers.

The look-out file which contains the names of security risks with which all passport applications are checked did not contain the name of the assassin of President Kennedy.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to your letter of November 5, 1964, requesting written confirmation that certain specified reports may be declassified by the Commission.

Please be advised that the report of Special Agent John F. Fain dated May 22, 1964, at Dallas, Texas, entitled "Funds Transmitted to Residents of Russia, IS - R," has been declassified by this Bureau.

In connection with the four other reports listed in your letter of November 5, 1964, your attention is directed to our letter to the Commission dated December [illegible], transmitting two copies each of sixty-eight reports. You will note that the attachment to such letter indicated that each of the following reports concerning Lee Harvey Oswald, of current interest to the Commission, was unclassified when it was furnished to the Commission:

1. Report of Special Agent John F. Fain dated July 10, 1962, at Dallas, Texas.

2. Report of Special Agent John F. Fain dated August 30, 1962, at Dallas, Texas.

3. Report of Special Agent Milton E. [illegible] dated October 31, 1963, at New Orleans, Louisiana.

4. Report of Special Agent John F. Fain dated July 3, 1961, at Dallas, Texas.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Your letter of October 23, 1964 called to our attention that many of the reports made in connection with the investigation of President Kennedy's assassination, especially those pertaining to Michael and Ruth Paine and George and Jeanne deMohrenschildt, contained information of a highly personal nature. The Commission has been keenly aware that publication of such documents should take place only after serious consideration of all of the implications.

You are aware, of course, that a great deal of the information pertaining to individuals, some of it in the nature of gossip and rumor, was presented during the hearings before the Commission and is therefore on the record, which had to be published. The Commission has a responsibility to publish to the fullest extent possible the sources on which the Report is based. The documents being published, including reports of the investigative agencies, have been screened by the Commission staff in the course of its work and again in response to your letter of October 23, 1964. Every effort has been made to minimize the use of information of a highly personal nature consistent with the overriding requirement that the Commission make available to the public the fullest possible record of the investigation of the President's assassination.

Sincerely,

J. Lee Rankin

Dear Mr. Hoover:

In view of your continuing investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy, I wish to draw to your attention the following:

At 3:05 p.m., November 6, 1964, Dr. Alfred Goldberg of this staff received a telephone call from Mr. Louis Kleppel, Albert Hotel, 23 East 10th Street, New York City. Mr. Kleppel said he had information of vital importance concerning the assassination of President Kennedy. He stated that he has previously been in touch with the Chief Justice and with the FBI in an effort to pass on his information. He stated that he was a mental case, specifically a schizophrenic, but that he felt that the Government had nothing to lose by taking his statement.

Enclosed for New York and Dallas is one copy each of a self-explanatory letter from the President's Commission dated 11-18-64 concerning one Louis Kleppel.

No information identifiable with Kleppel could be located in Bureau files.

New York should check indices on Kleppel and furnish any pertinent results to the Bureau and Dallas so that a determination can be made as to whether further investigation in this matter is warranted.

NOTE:

Commission letter indicates that Kleppel contacted a member of the Commission staff on 11-6-64 and stated he had information of "vital importance" concerning the assassination. Kleppel alleged he had previously been in touch with the Chief Justice and the FBI. Kleppel admitted being a mental case and stated the Government "had nothing to lose" by interviewing him. The Commission furnished this for whatever action we deem appropriate. It is not felt this nebulous type of information is worthy of other than a cursory indices check. If any information of pertinence is developed from a review of New York files, consideration will be given to instituting appropriate investigation.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Your letter of November 12 responded to our suggestion that it might be desirable to investigate further the sources of the original description of the President's alleged assassin that was broadcast by the Dallas police at 12:45 p.m., November 22, 1963. We had also asked whether the police engaged in searching the Texas School Book Depository were notified of this description of the alleged assassin, and if so, when.

You state that in a letter of January 14, 1964 you notified the Commission that the Dallas Police Department advised that the broadcast was initiated on the basis of a description furnished by an unidentified citizen who had observed an individual approximating Oswald's description running from the Texas School Book Depository Building immediately after the assassination. Since there is other testimony that the description was also based on information given by Howard Brennan who stated that he saw the assassin in the southeast corner window of the building, it would seem desirable to ascertain as precisely as may be possible the sources--of which there seem to have been several--on which the description was based and how and by whom the information was transmitted to the Police Department to be put out by the radio dispatcher.

In its Report, the Commission has determined that considerable time--15 minutes or more--elapsed between the broadcast of the description and the discovery of the cartons and other material evidence in the southeast corner window of the sixth floor, 37 minutes elapsed before the discovery of the rifle. An even longer time had elapsed since Brennan first told a policeman of seeing the shots come from the southeast window. Yet the men searching in the building seem never to have been notified of Brennan's statement.

It is appreciated that the members of the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory may have been delayed by traffic in reaching the building, but there is ample evidence that search of the sixth floor had already been undertaken by other law enforcement officers. It would therefore be desirable to know when, if ever, information was transmitted to the officers engaged in searching the building that the shots had been fired from the sixth floor, or more specifically, from the southeast corner window on the sixth floor. It is appreciated that the failure to communicate this information to the officers in the building might well have been the result of the turmoil and uncertainty that prevailed, but it would still be desirable to have this information on the record and available for future reference and research.

Analysis and criticism of the Commission Report in the press (see attached article) has pointed to this significant time lag in the discovery of the carton, cartridges, and rifle. For future reference and research purposes, and to render the investigation more complete, it would be desirable to secure more precise information on these points.

Warren Report

Case for the Prosecution

by Murray Kempton

We are the only appellate court the ghost of Lee Oswald will ever know, and so it becomes our duty to cast the coldest eye we can upon a version of the life of Lee Oswald and the death of John F. Kennedy that has been produced by men who have sifted through the memories of 552 witnesses. It is no consolation under these circumstances to read, in the Warren Commission's Report, page after page of ratiocination on the source of Lee Oswald's interior quarrel, and then to look in the appendix and discover that the Commission hired for its staff two Army historians and no psychiatrists. It heard only two witnesses who were psychiatrists, one of whom saw Oswald last when he was 13 and the other of whom saw only Jack Ruby. The Commission has acted faithful to the great tradition of a nation of persons who practice psychiatry without a license; we then can go forward with less shame to practice the Commission's profession without a license.

The report destroys most of the assumptions which fed speculations about conspiracy in Mr. Kennedy's murder. Those assumptions were always irresponsible, largely because government was irresponsible. You cannot, as an instance, usefully discuss the source of the wounds of the victim of a murder unless you have an autopsy report. But speculation is unavoidable, and it was hardly responsible of government to give speculation a broader excuse than it deserved by withholding any information so routine – however dreadful to read in this special case. Now, late in the tenth month, the Warren Commission releases the autopsy the Naval Hospital at Bethesda performed on Mr. Kennedy the night of his assassination. Hereafter it will be unreasonable to doubt that the shots came from the general area of the Texas School Book Depository, where Oswald was working. We have the ballistics tests which make it hard to believe that Mr. Kennedy was not killed by shots from the rifle found by the Dallas police in that Depository. We have a history of that rifle which persuades that Oswald was its owner. We have a chronicle of Oswald's day which destroys any reasonable basis for not believing that he could have done all the things he was accused of doing in all the places the police said he had been, and with such ease as to have no need of an accomplice. It is hard to believe that Oswald did not kill John F. Kennedy, and that he did not act alone.

This report then has drastically narrowed the area of doubt. What doubts remain turn out to be less about Oswald's guilt than about the method of his judges.

Once Oswald was dead, could any established institution give him a fair trial? The Warren Commission began with certain handicaps. It was, if not an established institution, at least a composite of established persons, sharing the commitments of their institutions. Most of its members were insiders examining the claim of that most absurd of all outsiders, a young man who alive had never been able to belong for any respectable period of time to anything, and who dead lay under the heaviest evidence that he had committed the ultimate act of alienation. The Commission, like most of us, had to want Lee Oswald to be guilty and guilty alone. We can then only test the Commission, not by its findings, which were in the main the findings of law enforcement agencies before the Commission staff came to Washington, but by how it went about its business.

There was the danger that the Commission, Oswald's lone guilt accepted, might, in its concern to set all doubts to rest, tidy up its case with evidence that is not evidence at all. Failure to avoid that danger is demonstrated by a particularly conspicuous exercise in argument from evidence which it seems to have gathered on its own.

The Commission has decided that Lee Oswald must have shot Mr. Kennedy twice, once in the neck at a range of 175 or so feet and then in the head at 265 feet. Oswald fired three shots and missed one entirely. If the first hit the President's neck and the second missed and the third hit the President's head, the report says, Oswald would have had no more than 5.6 seconds to fire all three. If either the first or third had missed, Oswald would have had as many as eight seconds to complete the series.

One problem has always been whether Oswald was capable of firing that distance with that accuracy at that speed with a bolt-action rifle. Oswald was an average marksman when he left the Marines; he had fired only twice for record and never in combat. That is not a history of elaborate training; and what experience Oswald had in the service must have been entirely with semi-automatic weapons. In Russia, he does seem to have hunted with a shotgun; in Texas, he hunted occasionally with a .22. But no witness the Commission would accept testified that Oswald had practiced firing this rifle to any special extent, although Marina Oswald reported that she saw him on occasion with the rifle on his knee, opening and closing its bolt; and that could have improved his firing speed.

The Commission insists, from all this, that Oswald was an excellent rifleman by civilian standards. That is a statement without much meaning. At least 15 million adult males have been through the services in the last 20 years and most of them made the marksman's score; which was Oswald's rating the last time he fired for record.

But, in terms more concrete, the Commission accepts Marina Oswald's story that her husband fired a shot at Major-General Edwin Walker in April of 1963. That judgment strengthens assumptions about Oswald's bent for homicide, but it clearly damages assumptions about his skill with a gun. Walker was shot at while sitting at a table before an open window in his home. Oswald in that case would have fired into a lighted room at a stationary target with his rifle steady on a fence at a range less than a quarter of the distance from which he later killed Mr. Kennedy. And Oswald missed. His performance on November 22 can only be explained in terms of the one day of the golfer's life when he cuts 10 strokes off his normal score. The best argument is that such a rise over his ordinary level is implausible but by no means impossible.

The Commission, of course, cannot accept any explanation both so real and so irrational; it must offer us evidence that, on any normal day, Oswald could have shot the way he did. To fortify this proposition, the Ballistics Research Laboratory had three marksmen, using Oswald's rifle, fire at targets set at each of the three distances from which Oswald is thought to have shot Mr. Kennedy.

The Commission's three specimens were all certified by the National Rifle Association as Master Marksmen, the highest of the NRA's five gradations of skill and three rungs above Oswald's last-known rating on the ladder. That amounts to judging the probable performance of a golfer whose usual score is 85 by testing the course with men who regularly shoot near 70. Even so these Master Marksmen missed the target on five of their 18 shots, which is not much better than Oswald's average. One missed two of his three targets, a performance worse than Oswald's.

The Masters were instructed to shoot as fast as they could, which, of course, diminished their accuracy as it would have Oswald's. As the times turned out, if Oswald had had only 5.6 seconds to fire all three shots, he was faster with his rifle than these Masters were in four cases and slower only in two. If he had had eight seconds, he would still have accomplished the series in less time than one Master took.

And yet the Commission accepts without question the judgment of Ronald Simmons, its ballistics expert, that "on the basis of these results the probability of hitting the target . . . was relatively high."

If these tests indicate anything, it is that the probability of Oswald's hitting the target was rather low.

In the face of all the other evidence, I am ready to concede that Oswald might just this once have been functioning over his head. But it is hardly fair to his ghost for his judges to employ such a test standard for no better purpose than to elevate the implausible to the probable. That is the kind of thing we expect, not from judges, but from prosecutors of the better sort. In this instance we begin to see the Warren Report not as a judicial finding but as a presentation of a highly responsible prosecutor of the evidence gathered for him by a police force. It is to test such cases that we have an adversary system of criminal justice; with the best will in the world it is hard for courts to function without the minatory presence of a defense counsel.

Testimony of Eyewitnesses

Most of the speculation which has afflicted public discussion about the Kennedy assassination can be blamed on – or perhaps credited to – the refusal of many of us to accept the absurd. But the Warren Report, when it most persuades, is a recital of a series of accidents which ends by convincing us that the absurd really does explain it all, and that Mr. Kennedy really might as well have been killed by a bolt of lightning. Thinking of that, it is possible to sympathize with those who cannot accept such chaos except as the result of the work of a highly rationalized conspiracy.

There was always the danger that the Warren Commission, having accepted the only persuasive theory, would feel some duty to convince the unpersuaded by the desperate sort of carpentry which trims every piece to make it neat, even though the whole is untidy. The case against Oswald badly needs an unimpeachable direct eyewitness; and the Commission functioned in continual peril of losing its balance in the strain to find the person whose testimo[illegible] indisputable.

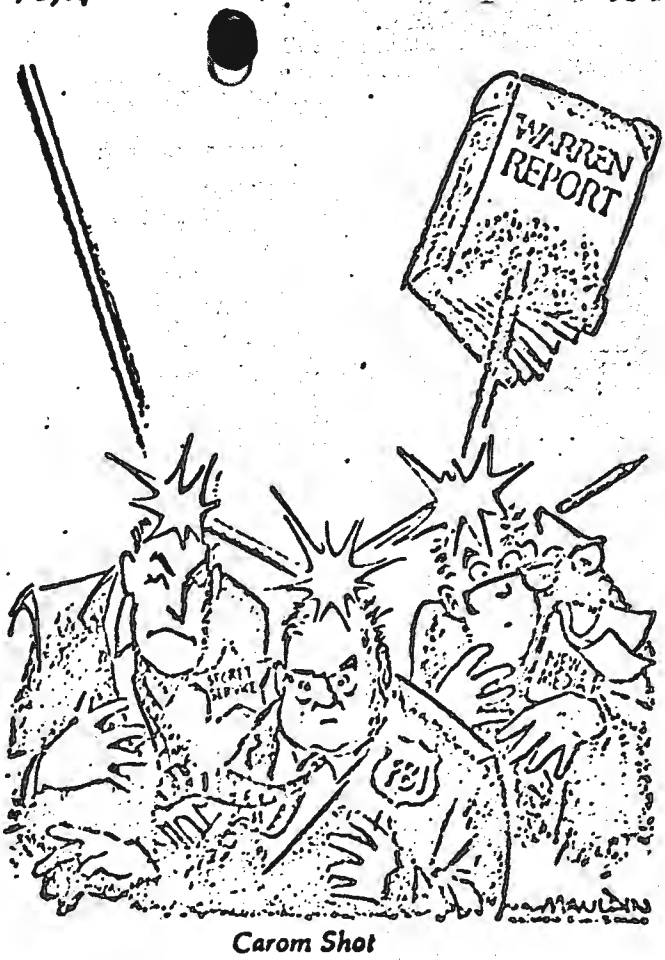
Most of the eyewitnesses have untidy memories, because all witnesses have untidy memories, and because the disorder is worse in this case because they are all persons who were living through an hysterical moment. The first reports of their testimony produced conflicts which are the strongest reason why doubts of Oswald's guilt have until now persisted. The Commission, like the rest of us, had to pick and choose whom to believe among hundreds of clouded witnesses.

It gives special confidence to three witnesses to the Kennedy murder. The most important is Howard Brennan, a steamfitter who claims he saw a man firing a rifle from a sixth-floor window of the Texas School Book Depository. His description of that man seems to have been given to a policeman a few minutes after the shooting and is assumed by the Commission to have been the basis for the first police broadcast warning all patrols to look out for a suspect who would have looked very like Lee Oswald.

After Oswald's arrest, Brennan was taken to a police line-up where he said that Oswald looked like the man he had seen in the window, but that he could not make a positive identification. Brennan explained four weeks later that he had been sure that Oswald was the man but had refused to say so outright because he was afraid the Communists might kill him too. He told the Commission finally that he was sure that he had seen Oswald in the window.

Even so and quite properly, the Commission concludes its summary of his testimony with the statement that it could not base its conclusion that Oswald was the assassin on any identification by Brennan. But then, 3 pages later, Brennan enters again with the flat reminder from the Commission that "Howard L. Brennan made a positive identification of Oswald as being the person in the window." The best of prosecutors tidy up matters that way between the day the witness testifies and the day they sum up to the jury; that is why we have defense attorneys.

The Commission is also impressed with the testimony of Ronald Fischer and Robert Edwards, who were standing in the street and also saw the man in the window. Fischer looked at him for 15 seconds – "he appeared uncomfortable . . . [he] was just there transfixed." The Dallas police do not seem to have found out about Fischer until a week after the assassination. Then they showed him a picture of Oswald, and Fischer said "that could have been the man," but he was "not sure." The Commission concedes that Fischer and Edwards did not see this suspect "clearly enough or long enough to identify him." That is an odd finding, set against Fischer's recollection that he watched the man intently for 15 seconds and saw enough of his expression to reach a judgment on the state of his nerves.



Carom Shot

But the Commission seems rather to appreciate high color when it is offered by a supporting witness. Mrs. Mary Bledsoe, Oswald's former landlady, saw him on the bus in which he began his errant progress from the Book Depository. "He looked," she said, "like a maniac . . . he looked so bad in his face, and his face was so distorted." No other witness who saw Oswald between the assassination of Mr. Kennedy and the murder of Tippit remembers him in any such state of frenzy, and only one remembers him in an unusual hurry; Mrs. Bledsoe is a precise witness, but we have to assume that high romance is her little weakness, and that the Warren Commission offers her description of Oswald with the fit upon him with the indulgence good prosecutors render to good witnesses.

William Whaley, the taxi-driver who drove Oswald after he left the bus, remembered that he was in a state so oddly calm under the circumstances that he even offered to give up the cab to a woman passenger who said she was in a hurry. The Commission is not too content with Whaley; he was an untidy witness, even though his misrecollections offered small substantial support to any case for Oswald.

Whaley picked Oswald out of the line-up with ease, although his reflections on that scene might explain why any good prosecutor would find him untrustworthy. In that line-up, Whaley said, "You could have picked him out without identifying him by just listening because he was bawling out the policemen, telling them it wasn' right to put him in line with those teenagers." Whaley said that the line-up consisted of five young teenagers, all handcuffed together, and Oswald. That is the only account of Dallas police line-up techniques to be found in the report and the Commission is careful to correct it.

"Whaley's memory of the line-up," it says, "is inaccurate. There were four men altogether, not six men, in the line-up with Oswald." Two of these men were 18 and one was 24; Whaley may have exaggerated a little, but the truth, as provided by the Dallas authorities, is hardly a model of police practice.

There are, incidentally, strange gaps in the Commission's selection of witnesses. After he saw his man fire from the sixth floor, Brennan quickly "reported his observations to police officers." While he was talking to them, three more witnesses came out from the Depository. Brennan heard them tell the police that they had been on the fifth floor, that there had been three blasts directly overhead, and that they had even heard the ejected cartridge cases fall on the floor above them. This last detail is extraordinary, when we remember it was recorded by ears still ringing with a muzzle blast overhead. However, the Commission favors us with the results of detailed tests proving that it could have happened.

Yet it neglects to follow through on a detail much more important. Brennan's description, the Commission decides, was the source for the 12:45 police alarm describing a suspect very like Oswald. Brennan told a number of policemen. One of them, if the Commission is correct, must have called headquarters and given the material for the alarm. The way to find out whether the Commission is correct would be to find out who that policeman was. But Brennan's story, which I assume is true, is nowhere supported by the printed testimony of any of the policemen with whom he talked. The three witnesses who were on the fifth floor and heard the shots on the sixth wander in the same vacuum. Instead of going to the sixth floor to investigate, they sensibly went down to the street to find a policeman. Brennan says he heard them tell their story to a group of policemen. No policeman is cited to confirm this story either.

It is possible to guess why none is. We have every reason to believe that, no later than 12:40, a group of Dallas policemen had been told that the shots came from the sixth floor. "Around 1 p.m.," the Commission tells us, "Deputy Sheriff Luke Mooney noticed a pile of cartons in front of the window in the southeast corner of the sixth floor. Searching the area he found, at approximately 1:12 p.m., three empty cartridge cases on the floor near the window." Now that, if it means anything at all, describes a man who is searching blind and who has to depend on luck and patience to find what he does not know he is looking for. Mooney happened upon the assassin's ledge 25 minutes after Brennan had told a policeman precisely where it was, and he happened upon the cartridge cases 32 minutes after three witnesses had told a policeman where they heard them fall.

The Dallas Police

We come, by way of the Commission's fixed solicitude for the Dallas police, to the worst danger the Commission faced.

On November 29, Mr. Johnson appointed the Warren Commission and instructed it "to satisfy itself that the truth is known so far as it can be discovered" and to report its conclusions to him, "to the American people and to the world." The mention of the "world" rather gives the game away; the Commission was charged from the beginning with custody not just of the truth but also of the nation's reputation. At the time of the assassination, the Dallas Police Department was custodian of the national tradition of orderly justice, and the national reputation can hardly be served by too indignant recollections and too forceful strictures upon the Department's conduct. The Commission is disturbed by the disorder which ruled the Dallas jail all that weekend; it is far harsher on the news media than it is on the police. I confess a bias for the reporter over the cop; even so, the reporter is a private man and the cop is the representative of the public order and his conduct is what must be judged. The Commission says that Police Chief Curry may have erred out of his fixed belief in the public's right to know. That is a terrible excuse; the reporters who badgered Oswald could also claim that they were serving the public's right to know. The only policemen of my acquaintance who respect the public's right to know have been publicity hounds. That is what Chief Curry and Sheriff Decker give every evidence of being; lust for public notice was their only motive. The reporters should not have baited Lee Oswald; but, much more fundamental, the police should not have brought him out to be baited. Reporters go as far as society will let them; it was the duty of those cops to throw the reporters out. And the Commission has to be harsher on private citizens who were doing their job than it can be on policemen who refused to do theirs.

The Commission, in the most moderate terms, makes one revelation at which, I should think, Chief Justice Warren would normally climb walls.

For two days, Chief Curry had been b..ing to the papers any piece of evidence he thought useful to his image. After Oswald was murdered, J. Edgar Hoover called Curry and told him to shut up. Thereafter the chief stopped talking to reporters. On Sunday night District Attorney Henry Wade came to Curry, said the world was full of rumors that Oswald died an innocent victim and that he proposed to go before the press and set the record straight with full details of the case assembled by the police.

Curry, with the wrath of Hoover still hot upon him, refused to give Wade any of the police case. Wade went doggedly ahead from what he remembered hearing around the corridors over the prior two days and appeared on television to reassure the public that Oswald was guilty beyond any possible debate.

"Unfortunately," the Commission says, "he lacked a thorough grasp of the evidence and made a number of errors . . . [which] provided much of the basis for the myths and rumors that came into being soon after the President's death." Oswald was a defendant who had been executed without trial, and Wade saw fit to pillory his yet-unburied body for no higher need than the public relations of a law enforcement office whose public relations were beyond repair. And the Warren Commission can find nothing larger for criticism in this spectacle than that it was poor public relations.

The Commission, one supposes, has to be gentle with these people because it thinks that so much of the case against Oswald depends on belief in the findings of the Dallas Police Department. And that brings us to a final danger the Warren Commission could hardly have entirely avoided.

Under Surveillance

The Commission is a creation of the President and therefore responsible to him. Only persons possessed by the notion of some great public conspiracy could demand that the Commission appoint its own investigators and pursue its inquiry as though the Dallas police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were suspect institutions.

The Department of State gave the Commission what it chose to; what it gave was useful to enlighten those of us who wondered how Marina Oswald got out of Russia and how Oswald got his passport in 24 hours, two puzzles which the Department's explanations suggest most satisfactorily were not puzzles at all. The Commission also mentions the surmise that Oswald had some connection with the Central Intelligence Agency; it might better have left the subject alone than attempt to rebut with the single piece of testimony which is here cited:

"Director McCone stated unequivocally that Oswald was not an agent, employee or informant of the CIA, and that the Agency never communicated with him in any manner or furnished him any compensation."

There is, of course, the tangential matter of the Commission's criticism of the Secret Service and of the FBI for failing to spot Oswald in advance. It seems strange that the Secret Service could report that its files did not contain the name of a single person in the whole Dallas-Fort Worth area who might shoot the President of the United States. But it is even stranger to find Earl Warren's name attached to a suggestion that police surveillance of private persons needs to be tightened in this country. The FBI seems to have underrated Oswald's potential for violence; but it kept him under surveillance rigorous enough to shock any of us at this invasion of personal privacy.

Here is a summary of Special Agent James P. Hosty's handling of the FBI's Oswald file from March, until November, 1963: Hosty had closed the Oswald file, but, in March, he went to Oswald's last-known address to see Marina for the routine check-up the FBI makes on Russian émigrés. The Oswalds had moved; their former landlady told Hosty that Oswald drank and beat his wife. That was enough to make Hosty reopen the file.

In April, New York informed him that Oswald was subscribing to the Daily Worker. Later New York informed him of the contents of a letter Oswald had written to the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. The FBI then found Oswald in New Orleans. A confidential informant told its agents that Oswald was not engaged in Communist activities. On October 10, the CIA informed the FBI that Oswald had visited the Russian Embassy. Early in November, Hosty learned that Oswald was back in Dallas and living with Mrs. Ruth Paine in Irving, Texas. Hosty conducted a limited survey of the Paines, decided that she seemed trustworthy, went to see her, was told that Oswald had gone to work at the Book Depository, made sure it was not a sensitive industry and decided to let Oswald go for awhile.

So the FBI keeps a check on subscribers to the Daily Worker, it has ways of opening letters to the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, its underground informants keep an eye on Oswald, and the CIA reports to it when Americans visit the Russian Embassy. That seems to be surveillance quite intensive enough for a man who seems rather to have bored the FBI. For compelling reasons, I wish the FBI had gone farther with Oswald, but, in general, it would seem to me to have gone if anything too far with anyone else. I should think Mr. Justice Warren would normally find this sort of thing excessive. But for the moment he worries over whether our police methods are strong enough. In sum, he has given us an immense and almost indisputable statement for the prosecution.

ReBulet to the President's Commission dated 11-12-64 concerning additional investigation suggested by the President's Commission in its letter 11-2-64.

Enclosed for the assistance of Dallas is one copy of a self-explanatory letter from the President's Commission dated 11-18-64 and a copy of an attachment thereto entitled "Warren Report, Case for the Prosecution" by Murray Kempton. The pertinent part of the article by Kempton appears on Page 16 in the brackets.

Every effort should be made to trace the exact steps and individuals involved in the broadcasting of the suspect alert by the Dallas Police Department on 11-22-63 at 12:45 p.m. You should also endeavor to ascertain whether any of the individuals searching the Texas School Book Depository Building were advised where the shots were fired from.

In connection with the above, your attention is directed to your airtel dated 1-9-64 in the above caption (VED:mja) concerning a contact with the Assistant Chief of Police Charles E. Batchelor on 1-9-64 by SA Vincent E. Drain.

The results of investigation should be set out in a chronological manner so as to give as clear a picture possible of the events leading up to the suspect broadcast, and the findings of the shell casings and cartons. These results should be incorporated in an investigative report.

NOTE:

The Commission has been receiving articles which are somewhat critical of some of their findings. One of these concerns how a suspect broadcast originated and further why it took approximately 40 minutes to locate the shell casings used in the assassination rifle. The Commission was advised in January, 1964, that we endeavored to ascertain the origin of the suspect broadcast and were advised by the Dallas Police Department that it was furnished by an unidentified citizen. The Commission gave credit for the broadcast to an eyewitness Howard Brennan who saw the assassin in the window. In a letter to the Commission on 11-12-64, we also advised the Commission that our investigation suggested that authorities were initially checking the assassin as a possible reason for the delay in finding the casings. The Commission in its most recent letter sets out more precisely why it desires this information. While it does not appear that anything significant will be developed at this late date, it is felt an effort should be made in view of the Commission's request.

By letter dated 11-2-64, the President's Commission suggested additional investigation concerning the precise sources of the description of the assassin that was given out by the Dallas Police Department at 12:45 p.m., on 11-22-63.

Commission also suggested the Bureau endeavor to determine if the local officers searching the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository Building, on 11-22-63, were ever specifically notified that shots had come from that floor and specifically the window pointed out by one Howard Brennan, who may also be the individual who furnished the description that was given out on the police broadcast as mentioned above. The Commission commented that they desired information why it was some 40 minutes after the shooting occurred that shells and cartons were discovered at the window from which the shots came rather than during the immediate search of the area following the shooting.

By letter to the Commission dated 11-12-64, we pointed out that results of investigation the Bureau had conducted, which had been made available on 1-14-64, to the President's Commission, covered the precise sources of the description of the suspected assassin, which was broadcast by the Dallas Police Department. It was pointed out that the police department did not have data available to pinpoint the identity of the person who furnished the description that had been put out at 12:45 p.m., on 11-22-63. It was also pointed out to the Commission that at the time of the assassination the police that were on hand were performing various duties and that it appeared that a detailed search had not gotten underway immediately at the Texas School Book Depository Building and consequently the shells were not found for approximately 40 minutes after the shooting occurred.

Mr. Goldberg stated that since the release of the report of the President's Commission, there have been a number of articles written and some correspondence wherein issue was being made concerning the two points referred to and that based on this he had discussed the problem with Mr. Rankin and Mr. Rankin felt that it would be to the advantage of the Commission, even though it was too late for the report, and to the Bureau's advantage to show that an additional check was made concerning these items. He was interested in whether or not we were able to develop any positive information. He advised that for this reason he would like to send another letter to the Bureau again requesting this investigation and would furnish additional information showing what the request was based on in order that the Bureau would have full facts and would see the justification for additional effort being made in running out these two items. The new inquiry should be before any concern about the Bureau's advantage. K

PRESIDENT'S COMMITTEE ON THE WARREN REPORT

Reference is made to your letter dated October 27, 1964, seeking the identity of possible candidates for a proposed new position in the Department of the Treasury concerned with the coordination of Presidential protection.

Subsequent to your letter we attended a conference on October 29, 1964, concerning Presidential protection where I stated that if the U. S. Secret Service was properly supervised, equipped and staffed, the need for such a coordinator would appear unnecessary. I pointed out that creating such a position would encourage agencies to go over the head of the U. S. Secret Service. It is my opinion that the proper way to handle this matter would be to place full responsibility for Presidential protection on the Chief of the U. S. Secret Service and insure that he is given the necessary tools with which to work.

Public to Get Testimony on Assassination

The testimony taken by the Warren Commission during its 10-month investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy will be made public on Nov. 30, White House Press Secretary George Reedy announced today.

The 26 volumes include 15 volumes of testimony and exhibits and 11 volumes of exhibits only. Included are the testimony of such witnesses as Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Mrs. Marina Oswald as well as the revealing medical and ballistics evidence.

The special commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren made its report to President Johnson on Sept. 24, concluding that Lee Harvey Oswald, Marina's husband, was the lone and unaided assassin.

The report, which promptly became a best-seller, was based on the testimony and exhibits being released Nov. 30. Cost of the 26 volumes is $76.

Reedy said in response to questions that he understands nothing has been deleted from the testimony to be published. "The purpose here," he said, "is to present that testimony and facts upon which the Warren Commission reached its conclusions!

Reedy told questioners he did not know what Chief Justice Warren meant when he said several months ago that some things about the investigation of the Kennedy assassination might not be made public for 100 years.

He said that of course the volumes of testimony and exhibits being published did not include every piece of paper in the commissions' files, but that he understood the complete files would be turned over to the National Archives where they could be inspected under normal regulations of Archives.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Reference is made to your letter of November 10, 1964, and the enclosure thereto consisting of a copy of a letter to the President of the United States from [redacted] In his letter to the President, [redacted] stated he had been interviewed by both the FBI and the United States Secret Service but had not been called upon by the Warren Commission to give his direct and full testimony.

For your information, [redacted] was interviewed by this Bureau on November 27, 1963, concerning his knowledge of Lee Harvey Oswald. Results of our interview with [redacted] were furnished to the President's Commission in the report of Special Agent Warren C. DeBrueys dated December 2, 1963, at Dallas, Texas, in the matter entitled "Lee Harvey Oswald, IS - RUSSIA - CUBA," pages 705 and 706. [redacted] identity was not set out in the report of Special Agent DeBrueys, but instead [redacted] was referred to as Confidential Informant PD T-5. For your added information, [redacted] identity was not revealed in Special Agent DeBrueys' report because of his specific request that his identity not be revealed. He made this request because his father was at the time imprisoned in Cuba and his mother was then residing in Cuba.

NOTE:

[redacted] is an anti-Castro Cuban refugee residing in [redacted] following Oswald's arrest by the New Orleans Police Department, August 9, 1963, when he was distributing pro-Cuban material, [redacted] on August 16, 1963, contacted Oswald in an effort to [redacted] Oswald's Fair Play for Cuba Committee organization. [redacted] was unsuccessful in such mission. Results of [redacted] interview by the New Orleans Office was furnished to the Commission in the report of SA DeBrueys mentioned herein but his identity was protected by a T symbol at his specific request. By letter 11/10/64 the President's Commission forwarded to the Bureau a copy of a letter [redacted] directed to the President of the United States. In this letter [redacted] signed his name, indicated he had been interviewed by the FBI and Secret Service, and wondered why he had not been called upon by the Warren Commission to give his direct and full testimony. We do not know why [redacted] has apparently changed his mind and identified himself in his letter to the President. He probably feels affronted that he did not get publicity in the Warren Commission report. Desirable we inform the Commission that we did interview [redacted] during our investigation and set forth the reason why his name was not identified to the Commission.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Mrs. Marguerite C. Oswald, mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, contacted our Dallas Office on November 27, 1964, and advised that she intends to visit Washington, D. C., in the near future. Mrs. Oswald stated that she plans to contact this Bureau while in Washington, D. C., and request a conference with me. She stated she did not come to discuss her information with any Special Agent of the FBI. She also stated that she is still investigating the assassination of President Kennedy and still believes that her son was not guilty of the assassination. She also believes her son was an agent working for the United States Government.

Mrs. Oswald added, "I have thousands of words to give to Mr. Hoover only."

For your information, our Agents have advised that Mrs. Oswald appeared to be in a highly emotional state during our interview with her.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE:

Mrs. Marguerite Oswald has previously testified before the Commission and has made a number of unsubstantiated and ridiculous allegations concerning the assassination. She has been interviewed by our Dallas Office on several occasions and has given evidence of mental instability. In the event she appears at the Bureau at some future date, it is respectfully suggested that the Director not meet with her but that she be advised by a supervisor.

Personal and Unofficial

Dear Mr. Hoover:

When the report of the Warren Commission first was published referring to the Oswald-Ruby matter, I was incensed at the criticism of the FBI. I could not see, from any viewpoint, that criticism of your agency was justified and I cannot understand how a man like Chief Justice Earl Warren loaned himself to an act so unjustified. I was tempted at the time to write a vigorous letter to the N Y Times and to send you a copy, but "discretion is the better part of valor" and I refrained; but I was delighted this morning when I read in the Times your vigorous attack on that report. Your agency did not deserve to be so maligned. I thought possibly a letter of this kind from one who has known you and your work so long and so well might give you some satisfaction. Keep up your good work.

With cordial regards and good wishes,

Sincerely,

SUBJECT:

TESTIMONY BEFORE
WARREN COMMISSION
RE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Mr. Dwight Smith of the General Services Administration called at 2:55 p.m. on 11/23/64, referring to news reports that the 26 volumes of testimony before the Warren Commission would be released on 11/23 rather than on 11/30, as originally planned. Mr. Smith recalled that on the occasion of the previous release of the Warren Commission report there had been a mix-up in getting copies of the report to the FBI, and he wanted to be sure that the FBI had the 26 volumes of testimony before they were released to the public. He said he had instructed Mr. Wallie Burton of the Government Printing Office (Code 149, x-734) to make two sets of the testimony available to us immediately; that we might want to contact Mr. Burton for this purpose. I thanked Mr. Smith for his thoughtfulness and told him we would get the testimony at once.

I called SAC Jenkins, Washington Field Office, and requested he have agents contact Mr. Burton and get the testimony. The agents secured the testimony and delivered it to my office on the afternoon of 11/23/64. One set has been made available to the Domestic Intelligence Division and the other to the General Investigative Division.

In view of the voluminous nature of this testimony, involving over 500 witnesses, we will not attempt to go over it word for word. We will check the Director's testimony for accuracy, and will check the testimony of Bureau representatives from the field, inasmuch as we have copies of their testimony. With respect to other Bureau representatives who testified, it will be the responsibility of each representative to check his own testimony and note any discrepancies.

In accordance with prior arrangements, we will ultimately get additional copies of the testimony for both the seat of government and our field offices. Meanwhile, however, these two sets will be maintained in the offices of Supervisor Rogge, of the General Investigative Division; and Supervisor Lenihan, of the Domestic Intelligence Division.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

On behalf of the Commission and also myself, I wish to thank you for the unlimited cooperation that we have received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation regarding every request we have made for assistance in the investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Over these almost twelve months now, we never asked for help from the Bureau but what it was given to us in the most generous and competent manner. The volume of our requests and the limited time allowed to try to meet deadlines were often unreasonable, but despite that you and your agents responded immediately and in the finest tradition of an intelligence agency.

Whatever excellence both the investigation and the Report were able to achieve was in a very substantial measure due to that cooperation. Your help was such that you never turned down the requests to assist the Commission in its work even though at times you had doubts either as to the necessity or desirability of some of our inquiries.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

While I recognize that it is not the usual practice of the Bureau to single out individual agents in connection with the services performed for any governmental task, I think it only proper in this case for the Commission to thank you and the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the very special contribution made by a number of your people to the investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Al Belmont was especially helpful in his many acts of cooperation and his general supervision of the investigative work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the Commission. I wish you to know how much we appreciated the aid and assistance of James R. Malley in handling the various investigative requests that the Commission made throughout this twelve-month period. He was always generously cooperative and often of special assistance in helping us to get some investigations completed within special time limits.

On Lyndal L. Shaneyfelt, Robert A. Frazier, Leo J. Gauthier, Sebastian F. Latona, Cortlandt Cunningham, Paul M. Stombaugh, and James C. Cadigan, we depended for technical information and testimony which was furnished to the Commission with the highest skill and deserved and received the full confidence of all of those who worked with what they supplied. The exhaustive demands upon Gordon Shanklin and his staff became legend at the Commission, but the help received from all of them was without limit and a major contribution to the investigation. I would also like to commend to you the following agents who were of great assistance to us: William Hines, Richard Rogge, Robert E. Lenihan, John Stokes, and William Branigan.

In addition, there were the long reports compiled by Agents Gemberling, Clements and De Brueys to which the Commission constantly referred in its efforts to try to develop the truth regarding the entire matter.

All of these agents deserve special commendation and if there are others who made a like contribution and have been overlooked, they have not been included here only because of our failure to know of them.

Again let me say how much the Commission and all of those working with the Commission appreciate the invaluable investigatory activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with their work.

On November 18, 1964, J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission, sent a letter to the Director pointing out the tremendous service and assistance provided by a number of Agents assigned at the Seat of Government and in the field. Mr. Rankin noted that all of the Agents mentioned deserved special commendation, and stated that if there are others who have made like contributions and have been overlooked, their identities were not included only because of the Commission's failure to know of them.

In addition to the personnel mentioned in Mr. Rankin's letter it should be noted that Special Agents George H. Scatterday and Kenneth M. Raupach materially assisted the Commission and made many fine contributions to the over-all supervision of this investigation. Specifically, SA Raupach was assigned to the Assassination Desk, Criminal Section, General Investigative Division, and for several months devoted his full efforts to matters pertaining to the Commission. It is felt that his contributions made in this case also deserve special recognition.

SA Scatterday, during the absence of Inspector Malley, handled a large volume of telephonic requests fromthe Commission, thereafter following up to make sure that these matters were handled promptly and correctly. It is felt that SA Scatterday's contributions also deserve special recognition.

ACTION:

That copies of the Commission's letter be directed to personnel files of SA's Raupach and Scatterday so that their contributions to the Commission and to the over-all successful outcome of this investigation will be recognized.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

As a law abiding citizen of this country, I was incensed to read the "Newsday" Long Island account of how your agents "drank" before the assassination of President Kennedy.

I feel that fate destined this action and the attempt to find a so-called "goat" for this situation is obnoxious to me and my family.

If the President had adhered to the recommendations of his protectors, he would be alive to commend, as I do, the actions of these brave men who would give their lives to save those whom they were protecting.

I have never written a letter to any public official, but to me this attempt to condemn your men to a sentence of disgrace is more than I, personally, can take.

Hats off to all your decent men.

The Director's and Mr. Belmont's testimony on 5/14/64 and 5/6/64 respectively, before the above Commission, appears in Volume 5 of the 26 volume hearings of the President's Commission which were received by us 11/23/64.

The accuracy of the actual testimony given was compared with the testimony as set out in the Commission's hearings, and no discrepancies were found with regard to the Director's testimony which is included on pages 97 through 120.

It is noted that in the published hearings just received, on page 31, statements are incorrectly attributed to the Chief Justice and Mr. Belmont in a brief sequence of conversation concerning the sensational "National Enquirer" newspaper. The conversation as it should have been is: (From page 6202 of hearings)

"The Chairman. -- and with your knowledge there is any truth to any part of it.....

Mr. Belmont. You, of course, are acquainted with that paper.

The Chairman. No, sir; I am not. In fact, someone told me it was, it came from, the Philadelphia Inquirer, and I was shocked that something like that would be in that paper. I found it was not the Philadelphia Inquirer."

The discussion as it appears in the published hearings is: (Page 31, Volume 5)

SUBJECT: TESTIMONY BEFORE WARREN COMMISSION RE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Re memorandum Mr. Belmont to Mr. Rosen of 11-24-64 indicating testimony of FBI personnel before the President's Commission was being reviewed.

For your information, the testimony of SAs James P. Hosty of the Dallas Office and John L. Quigley of the New Orleans Office and the testimony of former SA John W. Fain was reviewed by the Domestic Intelligence Division. No changes were noted in the testimony as currently printed by the Commission from that which was made available to the Bureau for review immediately following the testimony of each of these three men before the Commission. Memoranda were prepared at that time setting forth a brief review of the testimony of each of the aforementioned individuals.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Sir --- my sincere congratulations!

It took guts to level a long-needed blast at the theory that some "institutions" or "idealistic theories" are sacred cows. Our country is badly in need of justified, honest expressions of disagreement as typified by your rebuttal of the charges and insinuations made by certain civil-rights groups and individuals.

I also applaud heartily your fortitude and forthright defense of your organization against the controversial Warren Commission report.

King's views that the FBI has not provided protection for Negroes in the South.

"We expressed our disagreement with Mr. Hoover's characterization of Dr. King," said Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins said the Negro leaders expressed themselves incidentally about King and the FBI during an hour-long meeting with Johnson in Washington. He said Johnson "simply listened and gave no comment and no opinion."

King directs the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

HOOVER'S CHARGE

Hoover, in his news conference, said King had advised Negroes not to report civil rights violations to the FBI office in Albany, Ga., because the staff members were Southerners.

The FBI chief said King also refused to make an appointment with him to receive proof that four of the five Albany agents were born in the North.

King denied this, saying his secretary had searched his mail and telephone records in vain for any such request to meet with Hoover.

"I never advised Negroes in Albany not to report to the FBI," King said. "On the contrary, we reported every incident. But we were dismayed by the fact that nothing was ever done.

'DISCOURAGED'—KING

"The fact that no arrests have been made in the brutalities at Albany, the murder of three civil rights workers in Mississippi and the bombing of a church in Birmingham, Ala., has left us all discouraged.

"This has encouraged individuals on the lunatic fringe to feel that they are aided and abetted by federal agents," King added.

King said he had never made a blanket criticism of the FBI and its agents. He said he be-

Mississippi, deplore the outrageous statement you made against Dr. Martin Luther King.

"We can testify that prior to the Kennedy administration Negroes of Mississippi and Alabama hardly knew there was an FBI. Whether your agents were from the North or South, their actions were the same."

The telegram charged Negro houses were "bombed, churches burned, we were beaten and murdered.

"As of today, there have been very few arrests by the FBI and no convictions at all. Now that you have begun to involve personalities, it would be good for all concerned and the betterment of the FBI if you stepped down and let a more capable person take over the reins of justice and equality for all people."

The message was signed by Evers, as field secretary of the Mississippi state conference of the NAACP.

In an interview Wednesday, Hoover criticized King, labeling him a liar concerning FBI activities in the South.

Klown Klub's Season Opened

The Boeing Management Association Klown Klub opened its season of performances for the underprivileged and shut-ins Wednesday night with acts at the Willow Wood Home for Jewish aged, 3700 Behrman pl., and the Touro Shakespeare Home, 2621 Gen. Meyer ave.

Sven Kalve, head jester, said the Klown Klub, composed of 20 Boeing executives working on the Saturn rocket at Michoud, has for the last three years performed comedy pantomimes in this area.

Kalve said the schedule called for shows at Chinchuba Institute for the Deaf, Hope Haven in Marrero, Charity Hospital and Lighthouse for the Blind in New Orleans.

King Charges FBI 'Path of Appeasement' in Dixie

By BEN FUNK

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said Thursday the FBI under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover is following the path of appeasement in the South.

The Negro integration leader, smarting under criticism by Hoover, also accused the FBI chief of "faltering under the heavy burden and the criticisms of his office."

His comments came in reply to Hoover's statement Wednesday in a rare news conference that King "is the most notorious liar in the country."

The FBI, King said, "is following the path of appeasement of political powers in the South. If this continues, the reign of terror in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia will increase rather than subside."

BLAMES 'PRESSURE'

King, who came to this tiny Bahamian island to write his speech accepting the Nobel Peace Prize, said he was certain Hoover "would not have made such a vicious accusation without being under extreme pressure."

"This pressure," he said, "has come on the racial front and from the Warren report raising serious questions about the effectiveness of the FBI."

In an exclusive interview with The Associated Press, King repeated some statements he had made earlier in a telegram to the FBI director.

GROUP SUPPORTS KING

King drew support from six other Negro leaders, who told President Johnson they share King's views that the FBI has not provided protection for Negroes in the South.

"We expressed our disagreement with Mr. Hoover's characterization of Dr. King," said Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins said the Negro leaders expressed themselves incidentally about King and the FBI during an hour-long meeting with Johnson in Washington. He said Johnson "simply listened and gave no comment and no opinion."

King directs the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

HOOVER'S CHARGE

Hoover, in his news conference, said King had advised Negroes not to report civil rights violations to the FBI office in Albany, Ga., because the staff believed a Southerner dedicated his job can be as effective one from the North.

"Rather than criticize t[he] FBI," King said, "I have acte[d] as a mediator, urging Negro[es] to keep faith with the FBI a[nd] to not lose hope.

'CAN'T EXPLAIN'

"But you can't explain to [a] Negro why a plane can b[e] bombed and its pieces scattere[d] for miles and the crime can b[e] solved, but they can't find ou[t] who bombed a church" in Birmingham.

King said he planned to re[-] main in Bimini about a week, working on the speech with which he will accept the Nobel Prize Dec. 10 in Oslo, Norway, and other speeches he will mak[e] in England and Sweden.

Hoover Stand on Report

F.B.I. Head's Criticism of Warren Commission Is Defended

The writer is general counsel to the New York chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

TO THE EDITOR:

In the recent press conference held by F.B.I. chief J. Edgar Hoover he voiced resentment against the Warren Commission's criticism of the F.B.I.'s work in relation to President Kennedy's assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald. Mr. Hoover's resentment is, I believe, justified. The Warren Report itself shows that there was no reason to suspect that Oswald was a danger to the President and that, as Mr. Hoover says, only in a police state would there have been surveillance of Oswald on the basis of the available information about him.

In defining Oswald's possible motivation, the Warren Commission points to only one factor of which the F.B.I. could have been aware: "his avowed commitment to Marxism and Communism, as he understood the terms. . . ." The other factors mentioned by the commission are psychological tendencies, such as Oswald's "inability to enter into meaningful relationships." It also notes his attempt to kill General Walker, but this was revealed by Oswald's wife only after the assassination.

Facts on Oswald

We all can, with the Warren Commission, appraise the F.B.I.'s conclusion that Oswald was not a danger so long as he was working in a non-sensitive industry, for the report details the items which it says should have alerted the F.B.I.:

Oswald had gone to Russia at the age of 19 and unsuccessfully attempted to renounce his American citizenship; after about a year, however, he had become disenchanted and had returned to the United States a year and a half before the assassination.

He distributed pro-Castro leaflets on the street in New Orleans and wrote to a pro-Castro organization in New York.

When he was arrested because of a scuffle with anti-Castroites while he was handing out leaflets, he asked to see an F.B.I. agent (agents had interviewed him several times on his return from Russia, and told him to inform them if he was approached by Russian intelligence agencies). After a self-serving explanation to the agent of the leaflet distribution, Oswald lied about immaterial points, such as where he was married.

The C.I.A. reported that Oswald had visited the Russian or Cuban embassies or consulates in Mexico City.

Oswald had an "aggressive" or "arrogant" attitude toward the United States in interviews in Russia and upon his return.

Secret Service Decision

The Warren Report also mentions that Oswald worked in a building on the President's motorcade route. However, since the Secret Service decided against a special check of the route, the location of Oswald's job does not enter into the issue whether the F.B.I. should have warned Secret Service that he was a danger.

The Warren Report indicates that the F.B.I. may have used improper methods of surveillance. For example, how had it known that Oswald wrote from Texas to the Fair Play for Cuba Committee in New York? But even with this surveillance, no significant or violent political activity on Oswald's part, or involvement in violence of any kind, was discovered.

The Warren Commission engages in peculiar find-some-culprit hindsight when it says the F.B.I. should have considered Oswald "a potential threat to the safety of the President." It would be repugnant and dangerous to our institutions if the F.B.I. drew such irrational and exaggerated conclusions from evidence of ideological sympathy.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

The first presidential assassination I can remember was that of President McKinley in Buffalo, New York. Insofar as the information I have been able to obtain, neither this assassination or the assassination of Abraham Lincoln in Washington involved the wide spread investigations that have been connected with the assassination of President Kennedy in Dallas one year ago. Furthermore, insofar as I can tell, neither Buffalo or Washington suffered the personal criticism which Dallas has had regarding the assassination of President Kennedy -- maybe times have changed. I am not trying to minimize or shirk any responsibility as a long time citizen of Dallas in connection with President Kennedy's assassination, but having lived here for many years and having visited practically every area of the United States, I don't believe you will find a more patriotic or law abiding group of people than those of Dallas.

The purpose of this letter is to tell you that I admire the stand you have taken during the past few days, and I strongly object to the criticism that has been made of you and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Since your connection with the organization in 1924 I have had occasion to meet different FBI men at various times, and I have never met a man who is not wholly devoted to the organization--they have been well informed on all matters; they have been courteous; and they have been men of high character and integrity. In fact, we now have one individual in our employ who is a former member of the FBI and he is doing an excellent job for us.

Warren Commission

Dear Sirs,

With this dredful slur by the Warren Court on J.Edgar Hoover's dept, I feel I must put some of my thoughts on paper.

With the Warren Court(headed by Earl Warren) having said during their investigation, to a reporter, 'Some of the findings could not be made public through our lifetime,'-gives we Americans little confidence in our Government but with J.Edgar Hoover doing such a wonderful job through the years, it helped a lot.

Bob Kennedy after being appointed Attorney General by his brother JFK, did try to usurp Mr.Hoover's Office, but Mr.Hoover threatened to resign, after which JFK left things as they were.

In your paper on page 6 of Nov.16-64-you have a story that should be given more publicity-as it shows the hypocrisy of Civil Rights law, as it is now carried out.

At Lillington N.C. two Indian couples entered a Negro night spot. Indian, a Mr. James Lunn was murdered. They were told by the woman Negro proprietor that her place was for Negroes only, when they refu to leave, a free for all broke out and this Indian was killed. This Negro spot is called Pinestate Tourist Court. Now with all the riot looting, and stealing being done by the Negroes-what type of law i this against the White race by the Negro, that still acts in revers This is all very un-American-They scream for fair american treatmen but they act like hoodlums.

The Indian has had a very bad deal-they are really the first Americans-yet they are shoved on reservations and live in poverty. The Negro on the other hand, was brought over here by the British, in holds of ships, and sold to British land owners, who at time held the south. So the Indian Acts like, and is, an enemie The Negro seemingly must lean on the white race to help them. It was the white race that fought to free them. Lincoln was assassi before he had finished his job. We did offer them one way [illegible] black country, which they refused. Even centuries old Africa- cannot rule itself. Better bring the Indians out and put the B on reservations, most of them are on relief anyway-we'll sup them. I have hired and helped them through the years, but a they have acted, I dont even like their accent.

Martin Luther King traveled the world over, he called it non-violence, but his tongue belied loved in his pulpit.

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD
INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

Reference is made to memorandum to Mr. W. C. Sullivan from Mr. W. A. Branigan dated 11/23/64 (attached) summarizing for the Director's information the letter the Bureau received from the President's Commission dated 9/30/64 requesting authority to declassify approximately 100 FBI documents and our response to such request.

In connection with referenced memorandum, the Director noted that, nevertheless, we did refuse to declassify some of our reports and the Director instructed that he be informed just what they were and how many.

For the Director's information, of the approximately 100 documents involved, there were 17 documents which we were unable to declassify because of the sensitive nature of their contents and their relationship to the national defense.

These 17 documents consisted of two reports which were classified only because they contained information from Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) which was classified; one FBI Identification Division record; nine letterhead memoranda prepared by the Legal Attache, Mexico City; and five letters to the Commission prepared at Seat of Government dealing with FBI investigation in Mexico.

ENCLOSURE

In connection with 16 of these documents, we furnished to the Commission revised pages deleting classified material or referred the Commission to an unclassified document containing the pertinent information involved. In connection with the FBI Identification Division record, we referred the Commission to the local police department which maintained the original data concerning the arrest record involved. Without exception, all results of our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald have been furnished to the Commission in an unclassified status for use by the Commission in any manner it so desired.

Memorandum to Mr. W. C. Sullivan
105-82555

In each instance where we found it necessary to furnish the Commission revised pages to a document to protect important sensitive informants [redacted], or classified information obtained from another agency, we did so by separate letter to the Commission. In the note on the file copies of such letters to the Commission we carefully explained the purpose of the revised pages and the necessity for them. For example, there are attached to this memorandum copies of two yellow file copies of letters to the Commission concerning two documents involved.

ACTION:

None. For the information of the Director. There is attached a list identifying the 17 documents that we were unable to declassify in their original form.

Honorable J. Lee Rankin
General Counsel
The President's Commission
200 Maryland Avenue, Northeast
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

You previously have been informed that this Bureau is in possession of a copy of a film portraying the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The film being referred to was taken by Abrian Zapruder who, after making a copy available to the FBI, sold the film to "Life" magazine. This Bureau has not permitted the copy of the film to be released outside of this Bureau without the concurrence of the Commission.

The Central Intelligence Agency has inquired if the film copy in possession of this Bureau can be loaned to that Agency solely for training purposes. The showing of the film would be restricted to Agency personnel. We have been informed that the Central Intelligence Agency consulted with Mr. Alfred Goldberg of the Commission who, according to that Agency, has approved the loan of the film.

Unless advised to the contrary, this Bureau will make available a copy of the film to the Central Intelligence Agency on a loan basis and under the arrangement described above.

Sincerely yours,

Memorandum to Mr. Belmont
Re: President's Commission

ALFRED GOLDBERG, Staff Member

Mr. Goldberg is a historian with the Air Force and teaches part time at the University of Maryland.

He was investigated in 1954 under the Security of Government Employees Program. Bureau files indicate that it appears that our investigation of Mr. Goldberg stems from an allegation made by one Mrs. Evans that in a conversation with Mrs. Goldberg she, Mrs. Goldberg, defended Owen Lattimore, Gunther Stein and Israel Epstein and stated that probably the communist government of China was right.

The investigation developed nothing regarding any disloyalty on the part of Mr. Goldberg, but did indicate that he has been active in local nonpartisan politics in Arlington, Virginia. (140-2429)

ARTHUR K. MARMOR, Staff Member

No investigation has been conducted and Bureau files contain no identifiable derogatory data re this person. In 1948 we conducted a Departmental Applicant investigation of Margot Marmor, believed to be his spouse, when she was applicant for translator, Office of Alien Property. No derogatory data was developed. (77-41427)

EDWARD A. CONROY,
JOHN J. O'BRIEN, Investigators

Both individuals were assigned to the Commission from the Internal Revenue Inspection Staff.

Neither have been investigated by the Bureau and our files contain no pertinent information identifiable with them.

J. LEE RANKIN, General Counsel

Mr. Rankin has been investigated twice by the Bureau. An applicant-type investigation was conducted in 1953 prior to his employment with the Department. He was again investigated in 1955 when he was being considered as the Department's representative to the President's Committee on Disarmament Problems. Both investigations were favorable and our relations with him while he was Solicitor General of the United States were cordial. Mr. Rankin is on the Special Correspondents List on a first name basis.

Re: President's Commission

Additional information in Bureau files reveals that Mr. Rankin, as general counsel of the President's Commission, was contacted in 1964 relative to his knowledge of Norman Redlich, consultant to the Commission, who has a subversive background (see write-up page 9). He stated that Redlich, who joined the President's Commission at his (Rankin's) request, was an "active civil rights libertarian." Rankin advised that Redlich had done work for the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee and was carried on its National Council. He advised that Redlich was critical of the House Committee on Un-American Activities because of their tactics and treatment of some witnesses. Rankin stated he had no doubt concerning Redlich's loyalty or devotion to the United States and recommended him for a position of trust and confidence in the Government. (77-55004; 140-29239)

FRANCIS W. H. ADAMS, Assistant to Rankin

Bureau files reveal that we had cordial relations with Adams while he was U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York in 1935. "The Tablet," a Catholic Weekly, dated 4/20/40, at Brooklyn, New York, carried an article captioned "FBI Engineered 'Plot' Asserts Star Witness." This article went on to relate that Adams, representing one of 16 defendants charged with sedition, referred to the FBI as the "Federal Bureau of Instigation" and got from one Dennis Healy an admission that the Bureau instigated all the moves made to ensnare the defendants. Regarding this, the Director commented "This statement certainly doesn't jibe with his alleged friendliness."

In September, 1949, Adams appeared on a radio program dealing with the loyalty program and was most commendable in his remarks concerning the FBI. The "Daily Worker" of 6/9/50 carried an article captioned "Ask Halt to Move to Disbar 11's Lawyers." This article indicated that a demand that disbarment proceedings against two attorneys for the eleven top communist leaders be dropped was voiced at a conference with Adams, the counsel for two bar associations.

In 1961, the Department requested an investigation be instituted concerning Adams who was then being considered as a U. S. District Judge in New York. Investigation was discontinued when his name was withdrawn during the investigation although the Attorney General's office did not elaborate on the reasons for this withdrawal. No derogatory information was developed during this limited investigation. Adams is on the Special Correspondents List. (62-100685)

JOSEPH ANTHONY BALL, Assistant to Rankin

Mr. Ball was investigated by the Bureau under the Federal Employees Security Program in 1964 at the specific request of J. Lee Rankin, general counsel, President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

Ball, a prominent California attorney, is a current member of the U. S. Judicial Conference Advisory Commission on Federal Rules of Criminal Procedures, appointed by the Supreme Court to consider changes in rules. During a Ninth Judicial Circuit Panel discussion in 1962, Ball advocated Federal court rules be liberalized to enable the defense to get a closer look at prosecution cases before trial.

The investigation disclosed that Ball is generally regarded as "civil rights libertarian" and has consistently injected himself in support of the civil rights movement. He has been active in the American Civil Liberties Union and was leader in a committee of the California Bar in 1949 which vigorously opposed legislation to require loyalty oaths for attorneys in California. He headed the legal defense of George Shibley, member of the Communist Party, who in 1953 was convicted of conspiracy in theft of Government records from a U. S. Marine Base. In 1950, Ball headed "Kenny for Senate Committee" on behalf of Robert Kenny, a Communist Party member in the 1940's and active in communist fronts as late as 1963. Ball has been affiliated with the National Executive Board of the National Lawyers Guild (cited by House Committee on Un-American Activities) and he congratulated Benjamin Dreyfus upon his election as a national president, National Lawyers Guild, in 1960. Dreyfus is a security index subject of the San Francisco Office.

Investigation further revealed that Ball has been affiliated with or sponsor of organizations cited by either the Attorney General or the House Committee on Un-American Activities. (140-29260)

WILLIAM T. COLEMAN, JR., Assistant to Rankin

Coleman was the subject of an applicant investigation in 1959 requested by the White House. He is a Negro lawyer from Philadelphia and was then being considered as an alternate member of the President's Committee on Government Employment Policy. The investigation generally developed no derogatory information. Coleman was described as a bright and astute individual. He graduated magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania in 1941 and with the same distinction from Harvard Law School in 1946, being first in a class of 75 law students. He was editor of the "Harvard Law Review" in his senior year. Coleman has been a vigorous champion of the rights of the colored people; however, he has always sought to accomplish the removal of all legal barriers with regard to racial discrimination by means of legal process. He has been active on the legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and one attorney described Coleman as very conservative in his political outlook.

The only derogatory information developed concerning Coleman was [redacted]

MELVIN A. EISENBERG, Assistant to Rankin

Bureau files contain no pertinent information identifiable with Eisenberg.

BURT WAGNER GRIFFIN, Assistant to Rankin

Griffin was the subject of a Departmental Applicant investigation in 1960 when under consideration as Assistant U. S. Attorney (AUSA), Northern District of Ohio. Investigation was generally favorable; however, from June, 1957, to September, 1957, he was employed doing research work for Alan F. Westin, who in 1953 voluntarily advised the Bureau that he had been a Communist Party member in 1948, leaving the Party in April, 1949. From August, 1959, to August, 1960, he was employed by the Administrative Office of United States Courts, of which Warren Olney is Director. He left this position to become AUSA in Cleveland Ohio, leaving that position in October, 1962, to enter private law practice. (77-83795)

DEC 14 1964

Local press in Dallas, Texas, reported that Griffin, President's Commission investigator, in the Spring of 1964, had been removed from Dallas by the Commission as the result of protests by the Dallas County District Attorney and other local officials that Griffin used improper tactics in questioning a Dallas police officer and called the officer a liar. On 4/17/64, Frank L. Ellsworth, Special Agent of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Tax Division, Treasury Department, advised a Dallas Agent that he had been interviewed several nights previously by the same Commission employee who had been involved in difficulty during interview with a Dallas police officer indicating it was Burt Griffin. The general questioning of Ellsworth by the Commission investigator concerned Cubans and gun activities with which Cubans were connected in the Dallas area, and the Commission investigator then inquired of Ellsworth what he knew concerning two FBI Agents assigned to Dallas. When Ellsworth inquired of the investigator what connection this had with the inquiry into the President's assassination, Ellsworth stated he received a most evasive answer. Thereafter, the Commission investigator asked Ellsworth about the relations with the FBI and whether there had been any instances where the FBI had withheld information which should have been disseminated. Ellsworth stated he advised the Commission investigator that the relations with the FBI in Dallas were excellent. (62-109060-3065)

- LEON D. HUBERT, JR., Assistant to Rankin

The Bureau investigated Hubert in 1937 as a Departmental applicant when he was under consideration for appointment as Assistant U. S. Attorney in New Orleans, Louisiana. This investigation was favorable. He was considered brilliant, above average in ability, excellent personal character, habits and reputation. (77-8959)

In 1955, a letter was received by the Bureau from the Anticommunist Committee of the Americas, which in part stated that a condition precedent to the last election of the Mayor of New Orleans was his acceptance of Leon Hubert as District Attorney of New Orleans. The letter further alleged that Hubert had been a protege of one Dr. Mitchell Franklin, a law professor at Tulane University, who was allegedly an admitted addict of Russian communism and a long-time vice president of the National Lawyers Guild (cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities). The letter indicated that the committee did not contend that Hubert was a communist or knowingly aided and abetted subversion. However, the committee believed that Hubert was inexperienced, naive, and was permitted to become District Attorney so that there would be no prosecution under the Louisiana Communist Control Act.

FOU... DEC 4 1964

In 1956, Hubert contacted our New Orleans Office and offered the services of his wife as a translator of Slavic languages. At that time, files were reviewed and revealed that Hubert had been a member of the National Lawyers Guild but had resigned in 1940.

In addition, our files reveal that Guy Banister, former SAC, had contacted the Bureau's New Orleans Office in July, 1956, and confidentially advised that within a short time several top heads of the New Orleans Police Department would "roll." Banister indicated that corruption among the city officials in New Orleans was great and indicated that he had enough on District Attorney Hubert and the rest of the city officials to charge them with malfeasance. He did not explain or clarify the type of charges he intended to press. (77-72922)

ALBERT E. JENNER, JR., Assistant to Rankin

Jenner, born 1907, Chicago, Illinois, is a lawyer. We have not investigated him; however, files show he was a member of United States Loyalty Review Board, 1952-53, and since 1956 served as a Special Assistant Attorney General of the State of Illinois. He is a member of the United States Supreme Court Advisory Committee on Federal Civil Rules.

In March, 1951, the Illinois Senate sitting as a committee conducted hearings on a bill which provided that persons affiliated with organizations advocating the overthrow of the Government be barred from public office and teaching positions. At this hearing a statement prepared by Jenner was read. These were stated to be Jenner's personal views. Jenner indicated that the proposed legislation would actually defeat the purposes of the sponsors and would create machinery for persecution of good citizens. He said that he believed the bill to be unconstitutional, and indicated that there was no guide provided for determining whether or not an organization is subversive.

Bureau files also show Jenner was a member of the National Lawyers Guild (cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities) in 1940.

Subsequent to Jenner's appointment to the staff of the President's Commission, Jenner was ill and confined to a hospital. Our Chicago SAC personally delivered a report of our investigation on the assassination and at that time Mr. Jenner appeared most appreciative and indicated he was serving the Commission at the direct request of Chief Justice Earl Warren. He expressed his very high regard for the Director and the FBI, indicating that he became acquainted firsthand with the reports of the Bureau when serving on a Loyalty Commission in Washington years ago. He said that he had always noticed that our reports were completely impartial and factual.

In February, 1964, Marina Oswald obtained a new attorney, William A. McKenzie. McKenzie confidentially advised the Bureau that while representing Oswald at the President's Commission in February, 1964, Jenner questioned Robert Oswald in detail and asked some very leading questions, such as "Did the FBI ever harass you during the course of the interview of you or Marina Oswald?," and "Do you think the various agencies such as the FBI and Secret Service are doing a good job or if not, what do you think the trouble is?" McKenzie indicated that on 2/21/64 when he and Robert Oswald were out to lunch he was approached by a "New York Times" writer. No questions were answered, but the writer indicated he was waiting for Mr. Jenner, and McKenzie subsequently observed Jenner talking with the "New York Times" man. Following this, an article appeared in the "New York Times" by that same writer wherein certain erroneous statements were attributed to the testimony of Robert Oswald. Thereafter, before the Commission, the question came up about someone on the Commission staff leaking information to the "New York Times" and McKenzie advised one of the officials of the Commission that he was fairly certain who the person was that leaked the information. Thereafter, Mr. Rankin contacted Mr. McKenzie and asked who the person was on the Commission's staff that leaked information to the press. McKenzie would not name the person because he could not prove the fact with any specifics. (105-82555, 23-24; 62-109090, 23,39)

NORMAN REDLICH, Assistant to Rankin

On 12/22/63 a New York informant advised Norman Redlich, professor at New York University, was working with the President's Commission. On 12/31/63 a memorandum was prepared showing subversive derogatory information in Bureau files. On 1/3/64 the memorandum was given to Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission, and by letter 3/16/64 Mr. Rankin requested the Bureau to initiate a full-field investigation of Redlich.

A Security of Government Employees investigation was thereupon initiated, which disclosed Redlich generally regarded as an "active civil rights libertarian" and strongly sympathetic to the cause of civil liberties. He was a subscriber to "National Guardian" prior to June, 1952, (cited by House Committee on Un-American Activities). He has since 1955 been active as a sponsor and/or speaker of the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee (ECLC) and the National Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA). Both of these groups have been cited by HCUA as communist front groups. Redlich admitted membership in the ECLC on a form submitted in connection with his current employment, but stated "Have never paid membership dues but have been listed on National Council since 1961."

He has been associated with Harry Magdoff and represented Magdoff when he was subpoenaed to appear before HCUA in 1961. Elizabeth T. Bentley identified Magdoff as member of a Soviet espionage group active in Washington, D. C., during early 1940's. Redlich has also been associated with Isidore Gibby Needleman, who was formerly employed by Amtorg Trading Corporation, registered Russian trade agency in the United States; has represented current and former Communist Party (CP) members before Congressional committees and in the courts; has served as a custodian for CP funds and has described himself as favoring strict adherence to Marxist-Leninist doctrines. In 1961 Redlich, Boris I. Bittker, and Edmond Cahn, latter individuals listed as references, were among a group of professors who signed a statement which condemned Supreme Court decision upholding registration provisions of Internal Security Act of 1950, which required the Communist Party of the United States to register as a "communist action" organization. In 1962 Redlich was one of a group of university professors who signed a petition for clemency to President of the United States in behalf of Carl Braden and Frank Wilkinson (Braden and Wilkinson former members of the CP and convicted for refusing to testify concerning their CP membership before the HCUA). In 1953 Redlich co-authored an article with Laurent B. Frantz, (identified CP member) concerning the Fifth Amendment.

When information reached the public concerning Redlich's association with the President's Commission, it resulted in numerous critical editorials in newspapers throughout the country as well as critical comments in Congress. In addition, numerous individuals wrote the Bureau stating their opposition to an individual with Redlich's background being associated with the President's Commission.

Redlich is currently maintained on Section A of the Reserve Index. (100-441512; 140-29239)

W. DAVID SLAWSON,
ARLEN SPECTER, Assistants to Rankin
SAMUEL A. STERN,

Bureau files reveal no pertinent information identifiable with these individuals.

HOWARD P. WILLENS, Assistant to Rankin

Willens was investigated by the Bureau in 1955 for the position of law clerk in the Antitrust Division of the Department. The investigation was brought up to date in 1961 at which time he was being considered for the position of attorney, Criminal Division. These investigations revealed no derogatory information concerning him; however, some derogatory information was developed concerning his father, Joseph Robert Willens.

The father's name appeared on the mailing list of the Chicago Council of American-Soviet Friendship, an affiliate of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, which has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450. It was also determined that the senior Mr. Willens was a next-door neighbor of Tony Accardo, prominent Chicago hoodlum. Mr. Willens was interviewed by the Bureau in 1961. He indicated he was opposed to communism and the types of government existing behind the Iron Curtain. He denied any affiliation or association with any cited organization. He admitted being a neighbor of Accardo's but said he had no association with him or any of his friends. (77-67364)

Re: President's Commission

In March, 1964, our Dallas Office advised that Mr. Willens, Department attorney on special assignment to the Commission, was in Dallas. He was advised of duplication of work by dual interviewing of witnesses in that the Bureau had interviewed several individuals and the Commission attorneys were reinterviewing these witnesses. The Director commented in connection with this communication "I would suggest we take this up with Rankin and see if we can't withdraw and let his attorneys take the statements. We are wasting man power, time and money. In future, don't deal with Willens, he is a mere underling."

This matter was discussed with Rankin and he instructed Commission attorneys to cease the duplication. (62-109060-2762)

PHILLIP BARSON,
JOHN HART ELY, Staff Members
MURRAY J. LAULICHT,

Bureau files reveal no pertinent information identifiable with these individuals.

RICHARD MITCHELL MOSK, Staff Member

Richard Mitchell Mosk is the son of Stanley Mosk, Attorney General of the State of California. No investigation has been conducted regarding Richard Mosk and our files contain no pertinent information identifiable with him.

Relative to Stanley Mosk, Bureau files indicate that he was a member of or affiliated with five subversive organizations during the middle and late 1940's, including the National Lawyers Guild and American Youth for Democracy. We have had difficulties in the past with Mosk regarding the differences between the Bureau's crime statistics as published in the Uniform Crime Report Bulletin and the California Statistics for Crime published by the State of California. It will be recalled that Mosk recently made inquiry into what he called the lack of cooperation between law enforcement agencies in the Frank Sinatra kidnaping case. He was informed of the facts by the SAC, Los Angeles. (62-109090-109)

STUART R. POLLAK, Staff Member

In 1963 we investigated Stuart Robert Pollak, born 8/24/37, for the position of attorney with the Criminal Division of the Department. Pollak, a Harvard Law School graduate, was then employed as a clerk with the United States Supreme Court. The investigation was favorable. (77-92695)

Bureau files reveal no pertinent information identifiable with this person.

CHARLES N. SHAFFER, Staff Member

In 1958 we investigated Shaffer for the position of attorney, Criminal Division of the Department. This investigation was favorable.

LLOYD L. WEINREB, Staff Member

In 1964 we investigated Weinreb for the Department. He was being considered for the position of attorney in the Criminal Division. The investigation was entirely favorable.

He is a Harvard Law School graduate and was formerly employed as a law clerk to Justice Harlan, U. S. Supreme Court. (77-94540)

With regard to the individuals who are listed as lawyers, secretaries and clerks, Bureau files contain no record or no pertinent information except for the following. It should be noted that the article contains no identifying data concerning these individuals; therefore, it was necessary to limit the search of our records to the name only.

STEPHEN G. BREYER
PAUL DODYK

We have not investigated either of these individuals. However, our files show that both Breyer and Dodyk, in 1959, notified the Department of State that they were American students who planned to attend the Vienna Youth Festival. Both indicated they realized that this was a communist-sponsored propaganda exercise, however, they desired to attend as loyal and well-informed young Americans and would be in a position to calmly present the facts in defense of America and the American point of view. They both expressed a desire not to do anything harmful to the interest of the United States and asked the Department of State if there was any official objection to their attendance. State advised both students that it was a matter for their own decision.

Information received in 1960 indicated that Breyer and Dodyk had been expelled from Russia for deviating from the prescribed route in that they had traveled to a city where Dodyk had relatives living which was not in accordance with the authority granted. They both received publicity in the United States as a result of their expulsion. (62-106275, 100-431394)

Bureau files contain no other information identifiable with these individuals.

JULIA EIDE

Mrs. Eide was investigated as a departmental applicant in 1953. No derogatory data was developed. In 1955 an Atomic Energy Act Applicant investigation was conducted and again no derogatory information was developed concerning her.

Mrs. Eide is the mother-in-law of SA Jesse L. Orr, presently assigned to the Denver Office. As a matter of interest, Mr. Rankin was interviewed in the 1955 investigation. He stated he recommended Mrs. Eide highly as she had been employed as his private secretary since he assumed office in the Department. (77-58728)

BEVERLY HECKMAN

This individual was investigated at the request of the Atomic Energy Commission as an applicant in 1955 in connection with her employment as a secretary in the Department of Justice. No derogatory information was developed.

LELA B. HEWLETT

Mrs. Hewlett was investigated as a departmental applicant in 1953. No derogatory security information was developed.

ELAINE JOHNSON

The Bureau conducted a departmental applicant investigation of Roslyn Elaine Johnson in 1961. No derogatory information was developed concerning this individual. However, our files do disclose that a father-in-law of Mrs. Johnson's sister had been a member of the Communist Party in Blue Island, Illinois, in 1943. There is no indication of any close relationship between Mrs. Johnson and her sister or any indication of any relationship between Mrs. Johnson and her sister's father-in-law. (77-88672, 140-10865)

ADELE W. LIPPARD

A departmental applicant investigation was conducted concerning Adele W. Lippard in 1954 and again in 1962 where she being considered for secretarial-clerical employment. No unfavorable information was developed.

DAVID LUHM

An applicant investigation was conducted concerning Luhm at the request of the Department (Immigration and Naturalization Service) in 1963. No derogatory information was developed.

ELLA MC CALL

One Ella Marie McCall, believed to be identical with Ella McCall of the Commission, was the subject of a departmental applicant-type investigation in 1961 and 1962. This investigation resulted favorably.

By letter dated 5/27/57 the CSC advised her employer in the Department of the Air Force as follows:

JEAN MILLARD

This individual may be identical with Jean Louise Millard, subject of an Atomic Energy Applicant investigation in 1950, which developed no derogatory data. (116-206608)

VAUGHNIE PERRY

This individual was investigated at the request of the Department in 1951. She was being considered by the Immigration and Naturalization Service for a position of clerk-typist. No derogatory information was developed.

MARY ANN ROWCOTSKY

This individual was investigated by the Bureau at the request of the Department in 1963. No derogatory information was developed. It was ascertained she had been employed as a clerk-stenographer in the Criminal Division of the Department since February, 1963. (77-92808)

JAY VOGELSON

This individual may be identical with Jay Michael Vogelson, investigated in 1963 as a departmental applicant, honor recruit, Criminal Division. Only derogatory data developed was that one former teacher at Lehigh University declined to recommend, stating applicant very outspoken on many and various subjects but declined to express any political views. An individual believed identical with applicant's father registered a preference for the American Labor Party (ALP), New York City in 1942 and 1943. The House Committee on Un-American Activities has cited the ALP indicating the communists had captured the Manhattan and Brooklyn sections thereof, but had been unable to win control outside of New York City. Praise Is Voiced For Staff Engaged On Warren Report

By Jerry Kluttz

Behind the massive Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy was a staff of civil servants and private attorneys who have won praise for their "unstinting efforts."

Kluttz

Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois described the staff yesterday as one of the ablest and most competent groups ever assembled and he added it did not get sufficient credit for its labors.

Members of the staff were wary about talking about their work but one of them likened the report itself as the top of the iceberg; beneath it, he explained, was the tremendous amount of work that has gone into 15 volumes of hearings, depositions and investigative reports, all of which will be made public.

Most of the staff members, one of them said, were used to working long hours but they all found work with the Commission to be particularly intense and hectic as the deadlines for the report neared.

70 to 80 Hours a Week

"Hours were long, frequently up to 70 and 80 hours a week with no days off," one of them said and added that some of them weren't able to be with their families for days at a stretch.

The staff wrote much of the report, except the recommendations and conclusions supplied by members of the Commission. The report has been praised for its easy and convincing reading. This has pleased staffers who said the report was written for the man in the street and not for lawyers, historians and political scientists.

The report was described as a cooperative writing effort of Commission members and the staff. Two of the staff members who did a tremendous amount of work on it were Alfred Goldberg, senior historian of Air Force's Historical Division, and Arthur K. Marmor, an Air Force historian.

IRS Probers on Job

Edward A. Conroy and John J. O'Brien of Internal Revenue's inspection staff were two of the crack investigators assigned to the Commission. They were selected from IRS because members of the Commission wanted independent investigators from an agency not involved in any way with the assassination.

J. Lee Rankin, who was Solicitor General during the Eisenhower Administration, was the Commission's chief counsel. He had 14 assistants. The Commission praised their "high professional qualifications . . . their wealth of legal and investigative experience and total dedication to the determination of the truth."

The assistants are: Francis W. H. Adams, former New York City police commissioner; Joseph A. Ball of Los Angeles, who practices and teaches criminal law; David W. Bells of Des Moines.

SUBJECT: "THE WORLD AT TEN," NEWS PROGRAM
STATION WNDT, NEW YORK, NEW YORK
FEATURING FRED J. COOK
AUTHOR OF "THE FBI NOBODY KNOWS" AND DONAL E. J. MACNAMARA
FORMER DEAN OF THE NEW YORK
INSTITUTE OF CRIMINOLOGY, 11-20-64

The captioned thirty-minute news program was monitored by the New York Office and a tape of it has been reviewed by the Crime Research Section. Approximately the last thirteen minutes of this program was devoted to an interview of Cook and MacNamara by announcer Harry Schwartz. Schwartz preambled his interview of these two individuals by indicating that he was puzzled at the Director's attack on the Reverend Martin Luther King and the Warren Commission Report. He asked Cook and MacNamara to comment.

Cook indicated that this is a normal reaction on the part of Mr. Hoover when he is criticized but that he usually does not speak out himself, but rather has some other supporter i.e. The American Legion do it for him. Cook said that he thought the Warren Commission Report's criticism of the FBI was "mild." He indicated that there was a lack of strong activity on the part of the FBI in connection with civil rights investigations which has caused a lot of criticism of the Bureau and Mr. Hoover is so "nettled" that he decided to reply himself. At this point, MacNamara said that he also thought the FBI and the Director were "oversensitive to criticism." He added, however, that a two-hour news conference with female reporters should not be allowed to weigh too heavily in the balance against "thirty years of rather professional law enforcement activity on Mr. Hoover's part." MacNamara said he agreed with the Director's criticism of the Warren Commission Report stating that if every "kook" and every other person who was mentally unbalanced or potentially dangerous were confined when the President was in the area civil rights organizations throughout the country would be up in arms and our jails would be overflowing. Cook disagreed with MacNamara and said the FBI had full knowledge of Oswald, his activities and his employment but did nothing about it. Cook said he recalled seeing Chief Curry of the Dallas Police Department on television following the assassination of President Kennedy and that Curry was rather irate. According to Cook, Curry said that the FBI "always" advised the Dallas Police Department in situations of this nature but had furnished no information on Oswald. Cook added that if the FBI was blameless why were the two Agents who were assigned to investigate Oswald disciplined and transferred.

CRIME RES. SECT.

At this point Schwartz asked for comments concerning the Director's statement that Dr. Martin Luther King was the most notorious liar in the country. MacNamara said that the Director's language was undiplomatic and that he never should have said anything like this about a man of "Dr. King's status." MacNamara said the FBI has problems in conducting civil rights investigations what with the problems of the Ku Klux Klan and uncooperative law enforcement agencies in the south but that he feels the FBI could do a better job than it is doing.

Cook observed that King and other Negro leaders are justified in their criticism of the FBI for its activity in civil rights matters. He questioned the "willingness" of the FBI "to do" in connection with civil rights investigations. He noted that he had commented on this in his book. He said that Mr. Hoover had written a letter to the Attorney General in 1946 requesting that the FBI be relieved of responsibility for "investigating civil rights complaints in the south." Cook admitted the problem of civil rights in the south goes much deeper than the FBI; however, he said that discouraging as it may be for the FBI to successfully investigate a case and then see the guilty parties go free, it still has the duty to press these cases. Exposing situations like the Beckwith case he said will eventually change the sentiment not only of the south but the whole country.

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

Cook, of course, is well known to the Director. Our files reflect that MacNamara, as of 1948, was associated with the New York Institute of Criminology, a privately-owned school. He has lectured at numerous universities and is active in various associations concerned with criminology. In April, 1960, he was President of the American League to Abolish Capital Punishment. During the period from December, 1949, through July, 1953, he was the subject of a Bureau security investigation which was closed when no information was developed indicating that he was a member of the Communist Party, although many of his past statements were consistent with Communist Party lines. Our files contain documentary evidence that MacNamara engaged in homosexual intimacies with at least one individual while he was teaching at the University of Southern California from 1949 to 1950 and later in New York when he was a lecturer on criminology in the Graduate School of Public Administration, New York University, from the Spring of 1950 to 1951. We have received information from other sources further substantiating the homosexual allegation made against MacNamara. In April, 1964, we received information that he was conducting a survey of the Bristol Township Police Department for a fee of $4,000 in order to determine what administrative features were necessary in order to revitalize and modernize that organization.

RECOMMENDATION:

None. For information.

PERSONAL LETTER

Dear Mr. Hoover: Warren Comm...

The publicity of the past few days concerning your protests the Warren Report accusations has prompted me to write this letter

I have read a small portion of the Warren Report and am of the opinion that the blame does not lie with the FBI nor the Secret Service personnel.

Our Presidents themselves are at fault, to some extent, in exposir themselves in such an unprotected manner as the recent Election Campaigns and Party Conventions shown on TV.

A President should maintain his dignity and refrain from participati in mob demostrations, which not only jeopardize his own life, but also the lives of others in the mobs.

Queen Elizabeth conducts herself in public with dignity, restraint and poise to preserve the respect of her subjects.

President Kennedy had his tie clasp pulled from his clothes.
President Johnson had his hand injured from mob contact.

Presidents Truman and Roosevelt were both targets for would-be assassin's bullets ... so "crack-pots" can appear from anywhere a President travels. Even the thoroughness of the FBI and Secret Service Depts. cannot spot every "nut" in the crowds.

From the portion of the Warren Report which I have read, I cannot understand why the State Dept. is so lax on allowing the "defecto to ever re-enter the United States and permitting them to move about as freely as Oswald did. Oswald had so many "subversive" interests, that it would appear he would have been considered a mental case many years before the assassination.

The report, thus far, does not state where Oswald got the money to do his traveling and gun-buying when he was unemployed from time to time and never held a job of any importance which would pay a high salary. The puzzle may not be solved in my life time

Since it is not a Federal offense to kill a President, and by present indications in the Ruby [illegible] it would appear that any

The crime in this Country drains millions of tax-payers dollars each year, yet our Government permits it to continue to grow steadily worse without any action to stop it.

The laws of the States are not uniform and various crimes are punishable according to the laws of each particular State.... or the judge mating out the sentence.

Any arrested person today can claim a phony "psycho" plea and be forgiven... seldom confined to an institution for his violence.

Death Penalties are very infrequent and then execution is delayed until the public has lost interest, and pardoned.

How long is a "life" sentence today? A change of State Governors commutes sentences and signs pardons to get himself re-elected.

My first interest in the Law Enforcement started with the shameful "boot-legging gangster" days... but I never felt crime was beyond control until recently... with street riots, race riots and Televised murder.

Respect of the Law will only come about by Fear of the punishment.

Tax dollars poured into "modern" prisons only further coddles prisoners and lessens their hardships of punishment.

My tax dollars are too hard-earned to be spent in this manner, as I also pay tax-dollars to support Law Enforcement. Then I pay more tax-dollars for a Judge's salary who makes a joke of the cour Could I personally appeal to you to bring about a nation-wide expose of the laxity and apathy toward crime and possibly invite the Governors to unite in their laws and enforcement?

With your knowledge of the Law and your many years of experience in handling crime, perhaps you could arouse both the Government and the Public to actively support a War on Crime and demand a measure of respect for the Law from these young punks and hoodlums

Does the Public know how many persons are now confined in prisons throughout the United States? And how much does it cost the tax-payers to support these criminals?

My commendations to you and to the FBI and Secret Service for the many years of excellent work. Your name is Honored and also Feared by the American people, all of whom have benefited from your servi

MORE COURT SUPPORT ASKED

Trooper Head Blames Public Apathy for Rise in Crime

HARRISBURG (AP) — State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy says he blames public apathy and failure of the courts to support law enforcement as the major reasons for the growth of crime in Pennsylvania during 1953.

"There is a tremendous amount of public apathy toward crime," Purdy declared Tuesday, commenting on a federal report showing an 11 per cent increase in the number of Pennsylvania crime cases between 1952 and 1953.

Apathy grows from many things, said Purdy, but mainly from society "developing a tolerance for crime."

Purdy also listed two other reasons contributing toward the increase in crime—"a lack of manpower in law enforcement agencies and a need to create a community awareness of the crime problem and the needs to overcome it."

Statistics from the Federal Bureau of Investigation showed Pennsylvania with 87,652 crime cases in 1963, compared to 79,681 the year before. The rate of increase was .8 per cent higher than on the national level.

The main problem with the courts, said Purdy, centers on a trend within the legal system for emphasis on the individual rather than on society.

As for apathy, Purdy said tolerance to crime has shown its greatest development in the field of gambling.

"Society closes its eyes to gambling," he said. "Yet gambling poses one of the greatest threats to the American way of life."

Purdy said the police manpower problem could be alleviated to some degree by better screening and training program to insure top quality. But quality, he said "calls for adequate salaries."

The greatest police manpower need, he said, is to find qualified administrators.

The community also must become aware of the fact that crime "is not just a police problem," said Purdy. "There must be community participation and involvement in this problem of crime."

Part of the community problem, Purdy indicated, centers on the matter of racial tensions. And the racial tensions, in turn, go back to the question of crime tolerance, he said.

"In much of the civil disobedience (in racial protests) we find young people," said Purdy. "They are being encouraged to violate the law, but when they become adults they will pass that on to their children."

"Thus," he said, "we have a situation in which the country could pay for generations to come."

Woodshed Punishment

Law Gains in War on Delinquency

By JACK J. ZYGMOND

HELENA, Mont. (AP) —Juvenile offenses, an awesome, growing problem in the nation, come up against a stiff hand in Montana, and one of the main reasons is a 71-year-old judge who advocates woodshed punishment and tough laws.

"Montana," says gray-haired, gruff-voiced District Judge Lester H. Loble, "owns the best juvenile court law in the nation."

Tough, yes. But former delinquents are coming back to thank him for straightening out their lives. And authorities from as far as Great Britain are taking an interested look at the Loble technique.

"I probably have the best and most efficient force of probation officers in the land — parents," Loble says. "The woodshed is coming back, indifferent parents are diminishing; they don't want the publicity or the trial."

For three years, under a 1961 law he fathered, Loble has been permitting open court hearings for juvenile hoodlums who commit felonies and vicious crimes. Their parents sit in the front row of the courtroom and the cases get full newspaper coverage including the names of the juvenile offenders.

Loble says that elsewhere — where secrecy is the law — the crime rate goes up and up. In his division, juvenile felony cases are down 49 per cent compared to the three-year period before the Loble law went into effect.

The law is simple. It provides that "whenever the hearing in the juvenile court is had on a written petition charging the commission of any felony, persons having a legitimate interest in the proceedings, including responsible representatives of public information media, shall not be excluded from such hearing."

The key is the written petition by the county attorney — without it publicity is forbidden.

Loble's fight against juvenile crime began in 1956 when he was elected district judge. He describes his first year as "a nightmare," with 99 cases involving serious offenses. Helena residents, according to Loble had no confidence in the court, which was then closed.

It was from this point that he began his successful drive to put the offender in the spotlight and assume his responsibility as a member of society whether he be 12 or 17.

Discipline Comes First

"I'm tough, yes," Loble says, "but I spend lots of time on prevention and rehabilitation. For an atrocious offense, I don't spend time trying to talk him out of a life of crime. I can't, even if the social workers think so. Send him to reform school or prison and then, after he has learned discipline, he gets an abundance of help from me."

Nationwide publicity is creating a demand for Loble as a speaker. Legislative leaders in several states have asked for copies of Montana's open court law. "I don't tell them how to operate their law. I tell them what I'm doing.

Not Fault of Police

"In the big cities, the fact that law is flaunted is not the fault of the police. They're the fall guys," Loble says. "Too often the delinquent never sees a judge. The social worker, inherently opposed to punishment, is out for rehabilitation."

In a letter entitled "This I Know," the judge declares that prevention and rehabilitation programs are not enough.

"Open courts establish public confidence. It is a myth that publicity glamorizes the juvenile and makes him worse. Any juvenile, or adult, who likes to see his name in the paper as a criminal is in a class with those who threaten witnesses. He is dangerous and should be so dealt with. My experience shows the quickest way to break up a gang is a public hearing, naming names and having the blame placed where it belongs—on the hoodlum and his parents.

In nonfelony cases, Loble's court is closed. "We can lay our cards on the table," he explains. "The offender may be placed on probation, but he's told that if he comes back he'd better bring a toothbrush because he's going to stay for awhile.

"The twin enemies of crime are fear of punishment and fear of publicity," he asserts, adding, "Discipline begins in the high chair, not the electric chair."

Most Teen-Agers Want More Parental Control

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS Ph.D.

In recent years there have been scattered indications that teen-agers wish to have more guidance and restrictions by their parents. Now comes an article by Kenneth Erickson, Superintendent of Schools in Corvallis, Oregon, reporting what teen-agers have to say on this matter. It is based on a survey of opinions by students of Wilson High School in Portland. The article, Parents Who Care More or Less, appears in the June issue of the PTA Magazine, official publication of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

An Appeal To Parents

Here are a few high spots quoted from the article: "The teen-agers' replies seemed almost to be an appeal to parents for a firm guiding hand . . . Most students (82 per cent) expressed a strong conviction that parents have—or should have—a major role in helping young people to become good citizens. . . . The young people showed their disapproval of what we might call a hands-off policy by parents — the policy of letting children make their own decisions on schoolwork, friends, choice of careers, religion, and other important matters."

Superintendent Erickson observes that parents, while often deploring teen-age patterns of behavior, usually accept them. These parents are in constant dread that their sons or daughters, if reasonably guided and restrained, run the risk of being unpopular. And don't most parents rate the popularity of their children as more to be desired than health, academic success or reputation for good citizenship?

But such is not the opinion of the youths in this survey. Many of them said they would like clearer and more definite rules on late hours and dating. They don't wish to bear the burden of setting their own limits. Obviously, the opinions of these teen-agers were given when they could feel and think reflectively. They were not faced with the emotionally - charged urge for more freedom in the hundreds of situations which face them daily. In these daily experiences, the parents usually are not fortified with objective values and resolves, and easily surrender to immediate pressures from the children.

Old-Fashioned Virtues

Superintendent Erickson believes that if we parents wish to rear good citizens, "we had better revive the old-fashioned virtues and values," and take stock of our own sense of family direction. He recommends to the P.T.A. that it take leadership in stimulating parents to do so.

How wonderful it would be if every local P.T.A. were to devote one or more of its meetings this coming year to encouraging parents accordingly. This article by Superintendent Erickson would provide good material for this purpose. Any such discussion inevitably would lead to awareness of the need to cultivate adequate restraints during the child's early years, in a family atmosphere of love and understanding.

(My bulletins, Love and Restraint, How to Teach Child Meaning of No, and How Juvenile Delinquency Can Be Curbed, may be secured by sending a U.S. stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Butler Eagle.)

Answering Parents' Questions

Q. Should a parent always try to suit punishment to the offense?

A. No. It rarely can be done effectively. Of first importance is the certainty and consistency of punishment and that it follows the offense immediately.

NEW YORK (AP) — As hundreds watched—but offered no help—a man in the Times Square area was stabbed repeatedly Sunday afternoon by an assailant who had tried to force his attentions on the victim's wife.

Joseph Zaia, 32, and his wife, Sandra, 26, were strolling along Broadway near 47th Street when a Negro, over six feet tall and in his 20s, put his arm around Mrs. Zaia and whispered in her ear, police said.

Zaia tried to push the intruder away. The man slashed her husband and stabbed Zaia in the neck at five times in the neck, chest and abdomen. Two ran through [illegible].

Zaia was reported in fair condition at St. Clare's Hospital.

The police department could withhold approval for persons under 18 years of age, those convicted of crimes of violence, drug addicts, habitual drunkards, those of unsound mind, persons "not of good moral character" or those who have no proper reason for acquiring a firearm.

Police also could revoke the license.

Judge Grants Ex-Prisoner $20,000 in Suit

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A U. S. District court judge in Pittsburgh has signed an order awarding $20,000 in damages to an ex-convict injured in a fall in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg.

The order was in favor of Stephen Demko, 34, of the city's Squirrel Hill section. It was signed Tuesday by Judge Wallace S. Gourley.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Stanley Greenfield said an appeal will be filed on the grounds that the award is excessive.

Demko sued the U. S. Government after he fell while installing a plate glass window in the penitentiary in 1962. Demko said he was working on a ledge when he fell 37 feet, suffering multiple injuries of the right foot and a back injury.

Demko, who was serving a 2½-year term on a conviction for the interstate transfer of forged checks, was released 18 months ago.

Others Say: Print The Names

Juvenile delinquency in the United States has risen 370 per cent since 1940.

But it isn't rising in Montana, and the rest of the country ought to be interested in examining the reasons why.

Montana dispensed with its juvenile courts two years ago and now deals in open court with all offenders regardless of their ages.

Their names, addresses, crimes and the names of their parents are reported fully in the newspapers.

The resulting publicity has had a salutary effect. Juvenile felony cases in Montana are 49 per cent below what they were under the former system. Juvenile traffic cases are down 75 per cent.

Newspapers could print editorials every day on the subject and not have the effect they would by printing those names.

DARIEN, Conn. (AP)—Three corporation executives, a psychiatrist and a teacher are among 12 persons charged with serving liquor to minors at dinner and debutante parties in two Darien homes.

The arrests Monday drew wide attention throughout Fairfield County, one of New York City's most fashionable suburban areas.

The charge is based on a late Connecticut law that prohibits the serving of liquor to anyone under 21, except by his parents. No one could recall it being invoked before.

The minimum age for buying liquor in Connecticut is 21. In New York state, just a few miles from here, it is 18.

The statute was invoked by Circuit Court Judge Rodney S. Nielson, presiding at the trial of Michael Smith, 18, who pleaded innocent to charges of reckless driving and negligent homicide in the death of Nancy Hichings, 17, last June 23.

The two were in a car that crashed shortly after the parties. Smith's trial has been continued until Sept. 30.

One of those arrested was Carlton Josselyn of Westport, a science teacher in Fairfield Public School who was a bartender at one of the parties.

Police often stand by at large house parties to control traffic on the narrow roads and prevent party crashing.

The parties were held June 1 at the homes of F. E. Duche, 51, a vice president of the Johns-Manville Corp., and Dr. George S. Hughes, a psychiatrist.

Hughes, his wife, Julia Ann, and Dutcher were among the 12 who appeared at the police station for booking.

Others booked included two couples described as co-hosts of the Hughes party, William J. Otersrom, 55, and his wife Lucille, 54, of Darien, and Dr.

President Defends 'Great Society' Plan

By FRANK CORMIER

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, returning to his college of 34 years ago, defended his "great society" concept today as realistic and attainable. He said it is "not an idle dream or vague Utopia."

Johnson was making a sentimental journey to San Marcos, a city of 13,000 some 30 miles southeast of his ranch home near Johnson City.

It was at San Marcos State Teachers College in 1930 that Johnson received a bachelor of science degree. Now he was returning to that campus, renamed Southwest Texas State College, to help inaugurate a new college president, James H. McCrocklin.

In his text, Johnson set forth two broad goals for the "great society" program he hopes will become the central theme of his administration's efforts:

1. "We must strike down the barriers which limit the hopes and the achievements of some of our people." He mentioned racial discrimination, poverty and lack of educational opportunities.

2. "We must move to enlarge the horizons of all Americans." He said: "the ultimate test of any society is the quality of the men and women it produces and the quality of the life they are permitted to lead."

Johnson said the great society "is concrete goals and will require specific programs. Even as we meet, some of these programs are being prepared for my review."

Without getting specific, he mentioned forthcoming administration proposals to help make cities "a decent place to live," to preserve the beauty of the land and to "make it possible for every child to receive an education of the highest quality to the limit of his ability—no matter how poor he is, or where he lives."

While limiting his catalogue of proposals to these, Johnson promised the over-all program "will do all these things and more, much more."

...ack Ruby Befuddled Man Year After Killing

By JAMES W. MANGAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A year behind bars has taken a heavy toll on Jack Ruby.

The once well-groomed, well-exercised night club operator now is a sloppy, befuddled man who apparently suffers from delusions of persecution.

He is confined to a blocked-off section of a hallway inside the Dallas County Jail, a stone's throw from where President Kennedy was assassinated last Nov. 22.

Ruby has been in jail since Nov. 24 when he shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of the President. Since March 14 he has been under the death sentence imposed by a jury which found him guilty of murder with malice.

Ruby's lawyers hope to win a reversal of this verdict when they argue before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin sometime next spring.

They will contend, among other things, that local conditions made it impossible for Ruby to get a fair trial in Dallas, and that testimony from certain police officers, which tended to show malice on Ruby's part, should have been ruled inadmissible.

A succession of attorneys have joined and left the Ruby defense team since Melvin Belli was dismissed after the trial. At present, Phil Burleson of Dallas and Joe Tonahill of Jasper, Tex., are the attorneys of record in the case, with Sol Dann of Detroit apparently acting in a consultant capacity for the Ruby family.

Tonahill said Ruby might be a free man in a year if the Austin court reverses the case.

"If the appellate court supports us on the issue of inadmissable police testimony," he said, "then the element of malice will be gone from the case. Murder without malice means two to five years, and, considering time off for good behavior, Jack already will have served the minimum time on such a sentence."

Meanwhile, in his constantly guarded jail quarters, wearing white coveralls and sandal-type shoes, Ruby waits. Sheriff Bill Decker maintains strict security measures.

Those allowed to see Ruby say he often appears to lose touch with reality, and raves about how Jews are suffering because he killed Oswald. He has attempted suicide by banging his head against a steel wall, and by sticking his finger into a light socket. He has lost weight, and let his body go soft.

A man who formerly liked to flash a large roll of bills, Ruby now is a declared pauper. His family is said to have little money. Voluntary contributions apparently help defray legal and other expenses.

Dear Mr. Kerr:

I received your letter of November 19th and want to thank you for your support of this Bureau in connection with our investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy.

With respect to your observations concerning public disclosure of our files, I would like to point out that information contained in the files of the FBI must be maintained as confidential in accordance with regulations of the Department of Justice and is available for official use only. As you may recall, the President appointed the Commission to look into this tragedy and ordered the FBI to conduct an investigation. Based upon these instructions, our investigative reports and the data appearing in our files were furnished to this Commission and naturally, any release of these facts fell within the responsibilities of the Commission. A premature release on the part of this Bureau could have possibly jeopardized the work of the Commission. Further, I would like to call your attention to the statements issued by FBI representatives disclaiming the allegation that Oswald was a "paid confidential informant," and the denial of the statement allegedly made by Special Agent James P. Hosty, Jr. I am certain you will agree the magnitude of the tragedy created an emotional atmosphere and many individuals were reluctant to accept facts released in this case.

With regard to the disciplinary action taken against Agent Hosty, it has been my long-standing policy not to discuss specific personnel problems in public. I know you will recognize the reasons underlying this policy. I can assure you, however, that many factors were involved and your conclusion about this action is in error.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I want you to know, as one who covered the entire affair of the assassination and its aftermaths, that I agree that the Warren Commission dealt harshly with the FBI.

I cannot see how any reasonable person could have suspected Lee Oswald as a potential assassin from his background, despite his Marine sharpshooting, defection and affinity for the Castro cause. New York, Chicago and Los Angeles must have dozens with approximately the same background--while Dallas had one.

As you know, the terrible events of last November spawned scores of myths which will persist, and even grow, with the passage of time. We on the local news scene were, let's face it, expecting something, due to the relatively minor but still unpleasant incidents which had attended previous visits of Sen. Johnson and Ambassador Stevenson, and because of the agitation of right-wing extremists. It would have been madness to expect trouble from the left-wing.

However, I do think that the FBI was remiss in not making an immediate disclosure of its file. It was commonly said here that Oswald was a "paid confidential informant", that agents had talked with him several times in front of the Texas School Book Depository, and then of course there was the story allegedly quoting Agent James P. Hosty as saying "we knew he was capable of doing It but didn't think he would". Inasmuch as Oswald was killed forty-eight hours after the assassination and the matter of prejudicing his rights was no longer a factor, a full disclosure of the true facts would have done much to set to rest some of the tripe that was afloat.

Actually, the disciplinary action against Hosty would seem to be an admission of a blooper in the Bureau for which someone had to atone.

A great good, in my opinion, could still be accomplished by releasing the full Oswald file, with no more harmful affects than if the subject were Karpis, Dillinger, et al. Would you consider this?

The Washington "Evening Star" for November 20, 1964, contained an article entitled "Warren Probers Will Hold Back Some Information." In this article it is indicated that Mr. Rankin of the President's Commission stated some evidence, such as confidential documents submitted to help the Commissio reach its conclusions, "will be delivered to the Archives but won't be made public until it is declassified by the agencies which supplied it."

In connection with the aforementioned article, the Director stated "I hope we were not a party to having any information withheld. H."

For the Director's information, during our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald and the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, we furnished to the Commission over 2300 reports totaling approximately 26,000 pages. The vast majority of such documents were unclassified when furnished to the Commission. There were, however, a number of documents that were classified when furnished to the Commission, largely because such documents contained information from other agencies which had been classified by such agencies or because the documents contained information received by us from highly sensitive coverage or informants.

In May, 1964, when the Commission indicated it desired to publish some of our documents which contained a security classification, Mr. A. H. Belmont personally contacted the Commission on May 4, 1964, to discuss the documents in question. Mr. Belmont specifically informed Commission Staff Members Howard Willens and Samuel Stern that the FBI had no desire to restrict the activities of the Commission in any way, and the decision as to whether our documents are introduced into the Commission's record is a decision for the Commission to make.

NOT RECORDED

By letter dated September 30, 1964, the Commission forwarded to the Bureau a list of approximately 100 FBI documents it desired authority to declassify and publish as backup data to its summary report. We carefully reviewed each document in question and in the great majority of cases, declassified the document involved where it was no longer necessary to maintain a security classification in the interest of national defense. In certain instances when our documents were classified because they contained classified information from other Government agencies, we contacted the agencies involved and either obtained authority from the agency to declassify the information involved or referred the Commission to such agency to resolve the classification problem. In a few instances where our documents could not be declassified because of the sensitive sources or confidential coverage involved, we furnished the Commission revised pages of such documents deleting the classified material and at the same time meeting the requirements of the Commission.

ANALYSIS:

We do not know what Mr. Rankin had in mind when he told the press that certain documents "will be delivered to the Archives but won't be made public until it is declassified by the agencies which supplied it." The FBI has leaned over backwards to permit the Commission to use any of our documents it desired in its report released to the public. When it was impossible to declassify certain documents because of their contents, we rewrote the reports to delete classified information and still meet the needs of the Commission.

It is probable that the Central Intelligence Agency, State Department, United States Secret Service and other agencies of the Government furnished the Commission classified documents in the data such agencies reported to the Commission. It is possible Rankin had reference to such data when he made his comment to the press.

Warren Probing Will Hold Back Some Information

NEW YORK (AP)—Some information obtained by the Warren Commission in its investigation of President Kennedy's death was classified and will not be included in the public transcripts, the commission's chief counsel says.

The White House announced yesterday that the hearing transcripts would be made public Nov. 30 in 26 volume sets weighing 51 pounds. They will be sold for $76 a set.

White House Press Secretary George Reedy said none of the testimony heard by the commission had been deleted.

J. Lee Rankin, commission counsel, said here last night that nothing had been deleted from actual testimony of witnesses before the commission.

However, he said, other evidence, such as confidential documents submitted to help the commission reach its conclusions, "will be delivered to the archives but won't be made public until it is declassified by the agencies which supplied it."

Chief Edgar J. Hoover
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:-

First allow me to congratulate you on a bang up job on your long tenu office. If there is a greater living American I hav'nt heard of him your name belongs beside Gen. Billy Mitchell, Gen. Doug MacArthur and ot their ilk. They too, received criticism(all unjust,)but I personally these REAL MEN whom had the real interest of America in their hearts bless them, one and all.

The Warren commission was definitely way out in left field on their report of the late Pres. Kennedy's assassination. In fact it goes much deeper
The late J.F.K. warned Congress that he was going to expose some of their UN-CONSTITUTIONAL activities if they did'nt get on the ball. I truly feel assassin was hired(bought and paid for)by higher ups in government who fear exposure.

A case in point, the Constitution of the U.S. states that "Congress alone shal coin, regulate money and the value thereof." No where does it say that a gr of private individuals may handle the "live blood of the nation" currency, creation and circulation thereof. Any nation whom allows this, according, great economists such as, Hilaire Belloc(of Britain I believe)and Professor Irving Fisher of Yale(both of whom now may be dead)will become bankrupt.
The great Thomas Jefferson said that if this usurious system is allowed, to prevail, one day all Americans will wake up homeless on the continent foun by their forefathers.

I fully realize, that the so called Federal Reserve Act passed about 19?? r delegated monetary powers to private bankers so what happens, they(the bank charge interest to the U.S. Govt. for the use of it's own money. No wonder t tall thin man(Uncle Sam)stays skinny! The important thing is, THE CONSTIT TION TODAY IS BEING VIOLATED and I, as an American resent it. I dont like see my country sold down the river.

Recently, they blame the F.B.I. for being lax, but they should blame the Sec Service, the Treasury Dept. and the C.I.A. LONG LIVE THE F.B.I.!!!!!!!!!
(the) (the)

I realize, that crooked money system's set up on wall St., is not in the ju diction of the F.B.I. Actually, it is the Attorney General's duty to check to this situation. In fact, I wrote to Robert Kennedy two or three years a to check it and was hoping that he would look into it and prove that I was dead wrong in my belief of phoney doings with the money system of the U.S.
however, he did not offer me the curtesy of a reply.

Most sincerely yours, and I salute the greatest policeman in the history of our great Country.

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Editor,

You say that millions question the Warren Commi[ssion] Report. They continue to feel that it was a well-planned [assassination]. The motive is coming glaringly to the fore today, one yea[r] later in the all-out vicious attacks upon J. Edgar Hoover.

The Communists (meaning the real-behind-the-scenes would-be WORLD RULERS who never show their faces) have never been able to penetrate the mighty force for TRUTH that J. Edgar Hoover has built.

These so-called "Communists" would stop at nothing to drive a wedge into the rank-and-files confidence in J. Edgar Hoover and his loyal 100% American F.B.I. agents.

They would not for one minute hesitate to murder the President of the United States and then point the finger at J. Edgar Hover, and say, "Look, he's not so hot! Why wasn't he on the job?" And then see to it that a phoney "Warren Commission Report" was slowly gotten out to lay to rest all their criminal conspiracy.

The answer to that crime of assassination can be found in the Protocols and in the Talmud where their plans stand fully revealed.

Jacob Levy.

FROM : M. A. Jones

SUBJECT: THE LES CRANE SHOW
TELEVISION PROGRAM
11:30 P. M. - 1 A. M.
WMAL-TV, CHANNEL 7

Captioned program is a new interview and discussion-type feature presented nationally over the American Broadcasting Company. In opening his program last night, Crane directed two questions to his studio audience: "Was J. Edgar Hoover imprudent in making his statements about Martin Luther King?" and "Should he be removed?" Two members of the audience responded, one alleging that the Director had been imprudent and the other stating, "He has served his usefulness." For the next hour, Crane devoted his program to various guests who spoke on other subjects.

At the beginning of the final 30 minutes, he introduced Attorney William Kunstler of the American Civil Liberties Union and Robert Morris, former Counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Crane noted that Fred Cook in his book, "The FBI Nobody Knows," stated that the FBI stands in the corner of white supremacy and the racists. Morris stated that the role of the FBI was "widely misunderstood," that it was not a national police force, that it could not provide protection and that it was an investigative agency reporting results to the Department of Justice. Morris said, "J. Edgar Hoover does his job and always does it most thoroughly."

Kunstler stated that "Hoover has been notoriously delinquent in the South. If he had any dignity, he would resign after his remarks regarding Reverend King." Kunstler said there had been 40 bombings in Birmingham and he asked, "How many has the FBI solved?" Kunstler said that the Director has a duty to make arrests in these cases and "he cannot hide behind the claim that he doesn't have the necessary power." Kunstler went on that the Warren Commission justifiably criticized the FBI, that Lee Harvey Oswald was a known Soviet defector and the FBI should have furnished this information to the Secret Service.

1 - Mr. DeLoach

Kunstler said that "Hoover appeared before a Congressional Subcommittee early this year and said that there was communist infiltration of the civil rights movement." He said that "everyone" coming into the Justice Department is handed a copy of an article prepared by "New York Herald Tribune" writer Roscoe Drummond in which Drummond states that the FBI is doing a good job in civil rights. Kunstler alleged that the FBI never did anything in the civil rights field "until today when, as a result of three murders, a sheriff was arrested on a minor charge." Elsewhere Kunstler alleged that the Director had always worked well with every conservative in the Senate and that every Southern legislator "regards Hoover as a states righter."

Mr. Morris described Cook's book as a "tissue of fabrications." He said that the Director was the sole bulwark of the Nation's internal security. He said that King had had the nerve to make false allegations regarding the number of Southern Agents in the South in the face of the established fact that 70% of all Bureau Agents in the South were actually Northerners. He said that any shortcomings in the civil rights field could not be justifiably attributed to the FBI. He said that the blame must be placed on local authorities and local juries. He said that the FBI had been hampered in this field "by the policy of the Justice Department."

Mr. Morris criticized the Warren Commission saying that it went out of its way in unjustified criticism of the FBI. When Crane quoted from Cook's book defining the Director as an "arch conservative," Mr. Morris described this as nonsense and said that the Director was a model of nonpolitical activity.

William Moses Kunstler, who is a New York City attorney who has been active in civil rights activities, is the subject of a Security Matter - C investigation (Bufile 100-439612) and is included on the Reserve Index, Section A, of the New York Office.

John Alfred Reeson is being called to your attention in connection with your responsibility of protecting the President of the United States.

Reeson resides at 3715 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. He is the owner of the new Plaza Theater, 303 West North Avenue, and the Vatia Shipping, 1021 South Loomis Street, both Chicago, Illinois. Reeson enlisted in the United States Army on February 21, 1942, and was discharged a Sergeant from the United States Army Air Corps on October 27, 1945. On May 3, 1957, Reeson was issued a passport, which document indicated that Reeson used the passport to travel to Spain for military service.

In 1941, Reeson ran for the office of Mayor of St. Louis, Missouri, on the Communist Party (CP) ticket.

On November 30, 1951, Reeson publicly admitted to former membership in the CP, claiming that he left the CP when the Russians moved their troops into the Hungarian uprising in 1956.

In 1958, he was Public Relations Director and a member of the Executive Committee of the Veterans of Abraham Lincoln Brigade (VALB). He has publicly admitted participation in the Spanish Civil War against the government of Francisco Franco.

In the early part of 1959, he was the moving force behind the Chicago Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) and has served as its chairman. He has also elected a number of the FPCC National Advisory Council. He has cooperated with the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico (Nacionalistas) and assisted in their fund raising efforts in Chicago. He led a picket demonstration in Chicago on the day of President John F. Kennedy's visit to this city on April 23, 1962.

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE,
CHICAGO CHAPTER

A source advised in October, 1960, that the Chicago Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) was formed during the summer of 1960 at Chicago, Illinois, under the direct guidance and leadership of RICHARD CRIEM, a member of the State Committee, Communist Party (CP) of Illinois.

A second source in August, 1960, furnished a leaflet entitled, "What Is Really Happening in Cuba?" distributed by the FPCC in Chicago. The aims and purposes of the FPCC as set forth in this leaflet include the following: "To disseminate the truth, to combat untruth; to publish and distribute factual information which the United States mass media suppresses. In general, to contribute to foundations for peace, friendship, and understanding between ourselves and the Cuban people." The leaflet reflects the FPCC plans to accomplish these aims: "By mailing of informational bulletins; organizing public meetings and forums; providing speakers, movies, and slides for meetings of interested organizations, placing ads in newspapers; to visit Cuba and see for themselves what conditions really are."

A third source advised that as of May 9, 1963, this Committee continued to exist, with the same aims and purposes, but under the direction and leadership of former communists, communist sympathizers, members of the Socialist Workers Party and others who are pro-CASTRO supporters.

The mailing address for the FPCC, Chicago Chapter, is Post Office Box 4474, Chicago 80, Illinois.

The Socialist Workers Party has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening in Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, Dr. CHARLES A. SANTOS-BUCH identified himself and ROBERT TABER as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and TABER obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the afore-mentioned advertisement.

On May 13, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. However, during the past year this source observed there has been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that today their influence is negligible.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that the National Headquarters of the FPCC is located in Room 339 at 799 Broadway, New York City. According to this source, the position of National Office Director was created in the Fall of 1962 and was filled by VINCENT "Ted" LEE, who now formulates FPCC policy. This source observed LEE has followed a course of entertaining and accepting the cooperation of many other organizations including the CP and the SWP when he has felt it would be to his personal benefit as well as the FPCC's. However, LEE has indicated to this source he has no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. LEE feels the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations, but not support the Cuban revolution per se.

The CP and the SWP have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

FROM : A. H. Belmont

Mr. D.J.Brennan

SUBJECT: Warren Commission
PRESIDENT'S COMMITTEE ON PRESIDENTIAL PROTECTION

At 10 a.m., on 10/29/64, in the office of Secretary of Treasury Dillon, the Director met with the President's Committee on Presidential Protection, comprised of Secretary of Treasury Dillon; McGeorge Bundy of the White House; Director McCone of CIA, and Acting Attorney General Katzenbach. In addition, representatives of the Bureau of Budget were present, as well as aides of Mr. Dillon and Mr. McCone; Mr. Howard Willens of the Department of Justice; and Mr. Belmont of FBI. The agenda of the meeting, as it concerned the FBI, is attached.

Secretary Dillon said that the Committee would like to have the views of the Director on the various points in the agenda. The Director stated that in his opinion it would be a grievous mistake to relocate the responsibility for protecting the President; that this responsibility should remain with Secret Service. He said that it was essential that this responsibility should rest with one agency, namely Secret Service. The role of the FBI should be the same as that of the various other intelligence agencies in the government, namely to provide information to Secret Service for its consideration in the matter of protecting the President. The Director pointed out the need for a crash program to expand the facilities of personnel of Secret Service to meet the responsibility of protecting the President.

2 ENCLOSURES With reference to the criteria for referral of information to Secret Service, the Director pointed out that Secret Service had not provided any written criteria prior to the assassination; that the FBI had referred any information pertaining to a possible threat to the President to Secret Service. However, in December 1963 the FBI broadened its criteria to include subversives, et cetera, even though there was no history of a threat, as such, to the President, and as a result we had sent about 18,800 names to Secret Service since December 1963, and the flow would continue to amount to about 15,000 a year.

SOVIET SECTION

The Director

The Director reiterated his concern that the mishandling of some of this information, by Secret Service or the police, could have strong repercussions, and pointed out that he had testified to this effect before the Warren Commission.

The Director briefly reviewed the Oswald matter and pointed out that Oswald had never shown potential for violence and, as an employee of the School Book Depository Building, Oswald was not even challenged after the assassination when he was encountered by the police and the superintendent of the building. He pointed out that, contrary to the Warren Commission report, there had been close liaison between the FBI and Secret Service, and the Warren Commission apparently recognized the extreme difficulty of drawing up proper criteria, as they left that to the current committee to handle.

Relative to criteria, the Director pointed out that each agency has a different type of information and different problems; consequently, the criteria should be basically broad to cover persons who may have threatened the President or his family, et cetera, but Secret Service should get together with the various agencies and work out additional criteria pertinent to the type of information the agency receives. Further, there should be a close liaison between Secret Service and all government agencies having intelligence information (such as State Department, CIA, et cetera), and those agencies should be extremely careful to forward information to Secret Service.

The Director pointed out that the degree of security to be applied depends on where the President is traveling; for example, in Puerto Rico or Mississippi there would have to be close security, because of the tendency toward violence, whereas in other parts of the country the possible threat of danger was less. He stressed that the approach must be practical; that it is not possible to empty all buildings and it is not possible to restrict the movements of the President beyond a certain point. He stated that the President should notify Secret Service in advance of his plans for travel, as any extemporaneous and sudden excursions do not permit proper advance planning and notification to the police.

The Director

Secretary Dillon noted that in our dissemination we have furnished the names and addresses of individuals, together with the fact that they are members of the Communist Party, and that Secret Service is not taking action on such cases, but is filing the information in the event we have trouble with Russia. (It is noted that we give more than the name, address and membership in the Party. Attached are two of the samples of information we furnished to Mr. Katzenbach as memoranda we disseminate to Secret Service.) The Director pointed out that we do disseminate on subversive individuals, even where there is no indication the individual has threatened the President; that these are the type of people we would pick up in the event of a war emergency.

Secretary Dillon asked if we disseminate reports on organizations and he was advised that we do disseminate information to Secret Service on organizations such as the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico, the Ku Klux Klan, the Nation of Islam, and other "hate" organizations.

It was pointed out that it is the responsibility of Secret Service to conduct additional investigation, where necessary, on persons who may be considered a threat to the President, and if a particular case involves a highly sensitive FBI source, Secret Service will check with the FBI in advance. The Director stressed the need for careful handling of such cases in order that our informants and sources would not be exposed.

The Director advised that we had loaned a total of about 500 FBI Agents to assist Secret Service, and we must be relieved of this burden because of our other responsibilities; that the answer to this was to provide additional personnel to Secret Service, which had the responsibility to neutralize subjects who were threats to the President.

The Director noted that, because of the volume of our files, we have not considered automation to be practical in our case, but we have an open mind as to this. Automation of Secret Service files should be considered to permit the prompt extraction of information therefrom, based on the type of threat and the geographical location of the subject.

The Director

The Director endorsed the proposal for meetings between Secret Service and the FBI to prepare a memorandum of understanding covering such matters as definition of criteria, responsibility for investigation, and liaison. He outlined our system of liaison, which has proved to be so effective. The Director suggested that such meetings be held between Secret Service and other agencies also.

The Director noted, in response to a question from Secretary Dillon, that local police ought to be given written instructions by Secret Service as to their duties when the President travels to their cities.

Secretary Dillon asked where the extra personnel should be used by Secret Service, assuming they secured additional personnel. The Director pointed out this must be flexible, depending on where the President travels and the problems in the particular area. Secretary Dillon noted that Secret Service is proposing a liaison system, patterned somewhat after the Bureau's, and the Director endorsed this. Mr. McCone spoke up as to the effectiveness of the Bureau's liaison with CIA.

Secretary Dillon noted that the Warren Commission recommended appointment of an Assistant Secretary in Treasury to strengthen the supervision of Secret Service. The Director noted that if Secret Service is properly run, with proper equipment and personnel, they don't need such an individual to supervise them; that this would encourage other agencies to go over the head of Secret Service, and the proper way to handle this is to pin the responsibility on the head of Secret Service and give him the tools to work with. The Director discussed the use of inspectors to insure tight discipline and proper functioning of any agency.

Secretary Dillon expressed his appreciation for the Director's appearance before the Committee.

Mr. John Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
U. S. Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I have intended to write you since the Warren Commission released their report stating, in part, that the F. B. I. failed to cooperate with the Secret Service prior to President Kennedy's visit to Dallas. I cannot believe that the Commission's report was accurate in making such a statement. I do agree with your statement that it would be necessary to round up thousands on certain [illegible]

During President Kennedy's trip to Wheeling in 1962 to attend a political rally for Cleveland Bailey, I heard many people make statements that should have been left unsaid. It would cause an agent such concern if they heard them. The following day I had an opportunity to discuss the President and how he exposed himself. I stated at that time that if the President was hurt or killed every police department from the F. B. I. to the local department would be accused of not doing their job. We did not believe such a thing would actually happen as it did.

From my personal experience, I feel there are hundreds of police officers all over the United States who had many trying hours during a President's visit. I do not think the Commission made an honest investigation or they would have consulted police from other parts of the country to get their honest remarks.

Another subject that has received much publicity that those who have written about lacks many facts. That is the Martin Luther King case. I hear that at one time Mr. King was a member of an organization sponsored by the Communist Party. If this is true it is even worse to accuse you and the Bureau for not doing as they want. That is not a function of the Bureau as I see it. I have enforced a law in my life to please any person or group and I'm quite sure the press should realize that too. I believe the press honored the Bureau investigations of the Civil Rights cases as well as the Dallas case. I also believe many of those who have spoken out in behalf of Mr. King could be considered a very risk as far as being a good citizen of the United States. I have never failed to or worked with a Special Agent whose pride and respect for the Bureau could be questioned. They would not belittle or disgrace the Bureau by not doing their job. I also feel that the Lutheran Human Relations Association of [illegible] should investigate the facts before they seek an apology.

I do hope you don't think I am too outspoken. I feel that you and the Bureau have been unjustly criticized not only by the Warren Commission, the NAACP, the Lutheran group and the press but all those who applaud. I have confidence in you not only as a friend and excellent leader, but the greatest American History who has done more for not only [illegible] in the United States but the free world as well.

Sincerely,

[illegible]

During [illegible] years as a police officer I was always proud to be able to assist the F. B. I. Agents whenever the called day or night. I was the happiest man alive when I was accepted to attend the F. B. I. Academy. I will never forget how good you were to me when I was a patient at the Hopemont Sanitarium for nearly eighteen months. As long as I live I will always be for to you and the Bureau. I just wish I was rich enough to really do something for you. I feel there are many more police officers, not only the graduates of the Academy, your own agents, but thousands of others who express my feelings to their friends.

There is one paper that has been on your side from the beginning and that is the Wheeling paper. They don't fail to back you to the fullest in their editorials at least three or four times a week. This I am proud. I know we don't have a person in our church that has any doubt about how great a man you have been. We discuss you every Sunday morning before we start our Sunday School lesson. SUBJECT: TESTIMONY BEFORE WARREN COMMISSION REGARDING ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Reference is made to memorandum from Mr. Belmont to Mr. Rosen 11/24/64 advising FBI had received twenty-six volumes of testimony released to the public by the Warren Commission on 11/23/64. One set of testimony was made available to Domestic Intelligence Division and is being reviewed by such Division.

A review was made of the testimony of Marina Oswald during her appearance before the Commission, February 3 through 6, 1964. During such testimony, Marina Oswald brought no substantive information to the attention of the Commission that had not already been fully developed and reported to the Commission by the FBI.

However, at one point in her testimony, Marina Oswald made statements which were critical of the FBI. Such statements appear on pages 79 and 80 of Volume I of the hearings printed by the Commission. At this point in the hearings, Mr. Rankin of the Commission asked Marina Oswald whether the police, the FBI, and the Secret Service asked her any questions after the assassination. Marina Oswald answered that in the police station there was a routine regular questioning, as always happens, and that, thereafter, she was asked many questions by the Secret Service and the FBI. Marina Oswald then stated, "Sometimes the FBI agents asked me questions which had no bearing or relationship, and if I didn't want to answer they told me that if I wanted to live in this country, I would have to help in this matter, even though they were often irrelevant. That is the FBI."

Mr. Rankin then asked Marina Oswald, "Do you know who said that to you?" Marina Oswald then answered, "Mr. Heitman and Bogoslav, who was an interpreter for the FBI." (Immediately following the assassination, Marina Oswald was interviewed several times by a Special Agent Wallace R. Heitman of the Dallas Office and Special Agent Anatole A. Boguslav, Russian-speaking Agent of the New York Office).

FBI - DALLAS, TEXAS

Subsequently Mr. Rankin asked Marina whether the various people from the police and the Secret Service and the FBI treated her courteously when they asked her about matters concerning the assassination. Marina Oswald stated that she had a very good opinion about the Secret Service and the people in the police department treated her very well. She then stated, "But the FBI agents were somehow polite and gruff. Sometimes they would mask a gruff question in a polite form."

During this same point in her testimony, Marina Oswald indicated she had been contacted by an Immigration and Naturalization Service official who had informed her that if she was not guilty of anything and if she had not committed any crime against this Government, then she had every right to live in this country. Marina stated these comments were made to her by the Immigration official as a type of introduction before the questioning of her by the FBI. Marina alleged that the Immigration official even said it would be better for her if she were to help them (FBI). During this same point in the testimony of Marina Oswald, Mr. Rankin asked Marina, "Is there anything else about your treatment by law enforcement officials during this period that you would like to tell the Commission about?" Marina Oswald answered, "I think that the FBI agents knew that I was afraid that after everything that had happened I could not remain to live in this country, and they somewhat exploited that for their own purposes, in a very polite form, so that you could not say anything after that. They cannot be accused of anything. They approached it in a very clever, contrived way."

ANALYSIS:

While it does not appear that the Commission placed particular credence concerning the remarks of Marina, as noted above, since the Commission did not raise this point with the FBI during the period of its existence, it is felt, for the record, we should have Special Agents Heitman and Boguslav comment on Marina's remarks. It appears highly unlikely that Agents Heitman and Boguslav made such comments and it is noted that during the initial interviews of Marina by these Agents, Marina was generally uncooperative and pointedly stated she did not like the FBI. She indicated that both she and her husband, Lee Oswald, felt the FBI had caused Lee to lose one job after another. (This, of course, was not true and was conclusively proved to the Commission during our investigation of the Oswald Case.)

CONTINUED - OVER

It will also be noted that Marina Oswald deliberately withheld data during her interviews with our Agents (Walker incident, allegation to kill Nixon, and the like) and deliberately lied to Bureau Agents on various occasions (lied she did not know of Oswald's trip to Mexico when she did, and the like). Our Agents recognized that Marina was not cooperating and diligently and correctly pressed her for full and accurate information in view of the vital importance of this investigation. Marina undoubtedly resented this and this probably accounts for her remarks in her testimony enumerated above.

Following Marina's interviews and testimony before the Commission in February, 1964, we, of course, interviewed her on a number of occasions and Marina generally became more cooperative and we had no difficulties with her.

While the Commission initially may have had some concern regarding Marina's remarks, the Commission members' eyes were quickly opened concerning Marina immediately following her testimony before the Commission when she engaged in sexual intimacies with her then business manager, James Martin.

ACTION:

Attached is an airtel to the Dallas and New York Offices alerting each office to the remarks of Marina Oswald regarding interviews conducted by Special Agents Wallace R. Heitman and Anatole A. Boguslav. We are asking that Special Agents Heitman and Boguslav furnish their comments to the Bureau concerning scurrilous allegations of Marina Oswald.

62-[illegible]-402

The Director stated the Warren Commission had completely distorted the FBI's investigation of Oswald; that Oswald had not given any indication of being a violent type of individual, nor did we have any record of violence on his part until after the assassination. He was a "loner." He had gone to Russia, had defected, and had worked in a factory in Russia. Mr. Hoover said he personally thought it was wrong to grant Oswald a visa to return to this country and to allow him full citizenship rights when he did return.

The next question dealt with the approaching anniversary of President Kennedy's death and the Director was asked if he would comment on the Warren report. Mr. Hoover said the Warren report was not fair as far as the FBI is concerned; that they did not release the full testimony of witnesses; that they did not release his own testimony and that he felt there was no such thing as complete security of a President. He stated President Johnson is a extrovert and he is not going to allow himself to be "boxed in." He said we could not arrest every crack pot without creating a police state.

A reporter stated that the Warren Commission had criticized the FBI because the FBI had taken an unduly restrictive view of its authority in preventive intelligence. The reporter inquired as to whether the Director agreed with this criticism. The Director emphatically replied that the criticism by the Warren Commission was unwarranted, untrue, and a classic example of Monday morning quarterbacking. The Director again reiterated that the FBI had not known of any violence whatsoever in Oswald's background. As a result there had been no need or necessity to furnish Oswald's name to the Secret Service or to the Dallas police.

Enclosed for the Bureau are two copies each and for the Dallas Division two copies each of affidavits prepared by SAs JAMES W. SIBERT and FRANCIS X. O'NEILL, JR. as requested in referenced communication.

It is to be noted that the statements referred to by Mr. ARLEN SPECTER, Assistant Counsel, President's Commission on the Assassination of President KENNEDY which were included in report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING at Dallas dated December 10, 1963, and which refers to an interview by SAs FRANCIS X. O'NEILL, JR. and JAMES W. SIBERT appeared in insert form.

It is to be further noted that these statements were made on the night of November 22, 1963, while the autopsy was being conducted and during this entire time inasmuch as only two Bureau Agents were present, Bureau Agents decided that SA SIBERT would remain in the presence of SA WILLIAM GREER, the President's driver, and SA O'NEILL would remain in the presence of SA ROY H. KELLERMAN to insure that one Bureau Agent and one Secret Service Agent would be present in the autopsy room at all times. SA KELLERMAN Assistant Special Agent in Charge of the White House detail, was in charge of the President's security on the Dallas trip.

I have reviewed the information contained in Volume II, Pages 92 through 100, of the hearings before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President KENNEDY. These pages refer to the testimony of ROY H. KELLERMAN, Special Agent, United States Secret Service. Reference is made on these pages to report of Special Agent ROBERT P. GEMBERLING at Dallas, Texas, dated December 10, 1963, setting forth information furnished by Mr. KELLERMAN to me.

I have reviewed the report of Special Agent ROBERT P. GEMBERLING and without qualification state that the information contained in his report attributed by me as being furnished by Mr. KELLERMAN is an accurate and true representation of what Mr. KELLERMAN told me on November 22, 1963.

These statements were made directly by Mr. KELLERMAN to me out of the hearing of Special Agent JAMES W. SIBERT, Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Career of FBI Chief Supports His Charges

The provocation must have been strong that moved FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to his forthright denunciation of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and one of the findings of the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy that held criticism of the Federal law enforcement agency.

Since taking over the Bureau in 1924, then a ragtag, patronage-ridden government appendage, and building it into the world's leading crime-investigation instrument, Hoover has been renowned for deeds, not words. The personal integrity of the director and the reputation of his arm of government have shone brightly in an environment where such is the exception, not the rule.

Thus, when Hoover has spoken out, his utterances have been listened to attentively and given the public consideration they have invariably merited.

In the exception he took to the Warren report over FBI negligence in maintaining effective liaison between governmental agencies that conceivably would have protected the President against the man charged with his slaying, Hoover would assuredly be in the best position to evaluate real or hypothetical defection of responsibility.

That his rebuttal came some time after release of the report would indicate that it was a considered and dispassionate statement, not an impetuous outburst triggered by criticism.

Again, in the matter of Dr. King's charge that sectional prejudice influenced FBI agents in their investigation of racial violence in Southern states, their boss alone would have the internal knowledge qualifying him for eminent decision.

Since in 40 years none of Hoover's public statements have been open to question, those now under fire should be viewed in that light.

PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

The attention of Baltimore is directed to Volume 2 of the hearings before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, specifically the testimony of Roy H. Kellerman which commences on Page 61. Your attention is also directed to the report of SA Robert P. Gemberling at Dallas, Texas, dated 12/10/63 captioned "Lee Harvey Oswald, aka, IS - R - Cuba." This report on Page 3 contains an insert prepared by the Baltimore Office by SA's Francis X. O'Neill, Jr. and James W. Sibert regarding their activities on 11/22/63 in connection with the autopsy of President Kennedy.

In Volume 2, on Page 92 of the Commission hearings a Commission staff member quotes from the insert prepared by the Baltimore Office and takes issue with SA Kellerman regarding statements attributed to him by Agents O'Neill and Sibert. The Commission was particularly concerned that our Agents report that Kellerman after the first shot heard the President say "get me to a hospital" and then heard Mrs. Kennedy say "oh no!" Inasmuch as Kellerman denied making any such statements to our Agents on a material point affidavits should be immediately obtained from SA's O'Neill and Sibert clearly attesting to the fact that the conversation reported by them as quoted in the Commission hearings is accurate and a true representation of what Kellerman told them on 11/22/63. The affidavits should be promptly submitted to the Bureau with copies to Dallas for its information.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

PURPOSE:

To advise you that an Agent of the Secret Service, when testifying before the President's Commission, denied making certain statements to FBI Agents which were subsequently reported to the Commission.

DETAILS:

In Volume II of the hearings before the President's Commission commencing on page 61 there appears the testimony of Roy H. Kellerman, Assistant Special Agent*, White House Detail, U. S. Secret Service on 3-9-64. *In Charge

Under questioning by a Commission member, Kellerman was asked about certain statements reportedly made by him on 11-22-63, to SA's Francis X. O Neill, Jr. and James W. Sibert, of our Baltimore Office, which appear in the 12-10-63 Dallas report of Special Agent Robert P. Gemberling (page 3, paragraph 4). SA's O'Neill and Sibert were under orders to be observers during the autopsy of President Kennedy at the National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Maryland, which commenced on the evening of 11-22-63, to be of assistance to the Secret Service, and to look after the Bureau's interests.

Our Agents, in conversation with Kellerman, sometime during the evening of 11-22-63, learned of certain information portions of which were reported as follows:

"He advised he heard a shot and immediately turned around, looking past Governor Connally who was seated directly in back of him, to the President. He observed the President slumped forward and heard him say, 'Get me to a hospital.' Mr. Kellerman then heard Mrs. Kennedy say, 'Oh, no!', as the President leaned towards her. He immediately advised the driver to take the President to the nearest hospital."

CONTINUED - OVER

A. Rosen to Mr. Belmont Memo
RE: PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSION

The Commission in questioning Kellerman made specific reference to the underscored portions of the above paragraph as it contradicts some of Kellerman's testimony. Kellerman claims he did not hear the President nor Mrs. Kennedy say these things and had never told our Agents that he had. In part of Kellerman's denial he stated "I don't know where they got those quotes."

OBSERVATIONS:

Kellerman is claiming our Agents furnished inaccurate accounts of a conversation with him. It is to be remembered that at the time this conversation with our Agents reportedly took place 11-22-63, Kellerman had been a security guard in the President's car and more than likely was upset and feeling remorse over the days episode. In his testimony before the Commission he endeavored to give the impression that he acted calmly and immediately took command, issuing logical instructions after the President was hit. The conversation reported by our Agents made it appear Kellerman reacted normally to the tragedy and not dramatically as indicated in his testimony, as he didn't order the driver to the hospital until after the President had so directed.

It is felt our Agents reported accurately what Kellerman told them on 11-22-63, and that Kellerman's testimony 3½ months later is the result of considered deliberation, on his part, to paint the most favorable picture possible, under the circumstances, for the Secret Service.

Consideration has been given to discussing this matter with Chief Rowley of Secret Service, however, since it is the word of our Agents against Kellerman's, it is not felt any good purpose would be served by this course of action.

RECOMMENDATION:

Affidavits are being obtained from our Agents Sibert and O'Neill attesting to the accuracy of their report and refuting Kellerman so that we will be in a position to show any future inquirer that we recognized this contradiction and did something about it.

SUBJECT: KENNEDY ASSASSINATION FILM

Reference is made to my memorandum dated 10/12/64. (62-109090-321). At that time, CIA inquired if the Bureau could make available to CIA a copy of a film which portrayed the assassination of President Kennedy. CIA was referring to the film which was taken by Adrian Zapruder, who sold the film to Life Magazine. The Bureau was furnished a copy by Zapruder prior to his negotiations with Life. CIA informed us that the Agency desired to use the film strictly for training purposes and if made available by the Bureau, it would be done with the understanding that it was being furnished on a loan basis.

When CIA made this request in October, 1964, the Liaison Agent, per instructions, informed CIA that the film was an exhibit of the Warren Commission and that the Agency should take up this matter with the Commission. On 11/27/64, Mrs. Jane Roman, CIA, advised the Liaison Agent that her Agency had conferred with Mr. Alfred Goldberg of the Warren Commission. Goldberg has informed CIA that the Commission has no objection to the Bureau making a copy of the film available to CIA under the conditions described above.

ACTION:

This matter is being referred to the attention of the Laboratory. If approved, a copy of the referenced film will be made available to CIA on a loan basis with a clear understanding that the Agency would use the film only for training purposes as indicated.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated 12/2/64. By letter dated 12/4/64, we advised Mr. Rankin of the Warren Commission that we planned to make available a copy of a film to CIA on a loan basis. This is the film which had been furnished to us by Abraham Zapruder who subsequently sold the film to "Life" magazine. The Bureau has not made the copy of the film available to any other agencies without first obtaining approval from the Commission.

On 12/7/64, Mr. Rankin advised Mr. Malley of the Bureau to hold up the release of the film to CIA. He indicated that he was conferring with "Life" concerning this matter. Mrs. Jane Roman, CIA, was informed by the Liaison Agent on 12/7/64, that the release of the film was being held in abeyance at the request of Mr. Rankin. The letter dated 12/4/64, which had been approved for dissemination to CIA with the film was not delivered. On 12/10/64, Mrs. Julia Eide, Secretary to Mr. Rankin, advised Mr. Malley that "Life" would be in contact with the Bureau and CIA concerning this matter. Mrs. Roman of CIA was so advised by the Liaison Agent on 12/10/64.

On 12/14/64, Mrs. Roman advised the Liaison Agent that a representative of "Life" magazine in Washington, D. C., had contacted CIA in order to verify that the Agency was interested in utilizing the copy of the film in possession of the Bureau. CIA explained to this individual the purpose of the request; namely, that it was to be used for training purposes and that the showing would be restricted to CIA personnel. The "Life" representative indicated that he would pass this information to his superiors in New York City.

UNRECORDED COPY FILED IN

ACTION:

In view of the above, the film is not being transmitted to CIA. No release will be made unless the Bureau receives proper authorization in writing.

The film is being returned to the Laboratory for retention.

Dear Mr. Chief Justice:

Thank you for your letter of December 7, 1964, concerning the work of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. The people of the United States owe a debt of gratitude to the members of the Commission and its staff for having undertaken the difficult and onerous task which was thrust upon them, and for the manner in which that task was carried out. I and other members of the Department of Justice involved are proud to have had the opportunity to have worked with the Commission and to have earned its commendation.

I am particularly pleased that you have been able to single out the Federal Bureau of Investigation for praise, for I know how difficult a burden was imposed upon the Bureau and its personnel in connection with assisting the Commission and of the efficient and tireless manner in which that burden was discharged.

Sincerely,

Acting Attorney General

Washington 25, D. C.

My dear General:

The work of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy has been concluded, and the many volumes of the record of testimony and exhibits to support the final Report have been released to the public. It is appropriate, therefore, that the Commission at this time should make known its appreciation to those who were so helpful in the development of the Report.

On behalf of the Commission, I desire to thank you personally and all those in your Department who were so helpful to us throughout the many months of our endeavors. So many of your people were of inestimable assistance that I will not undertake to name the individuals and their accomplishments, but I assure you that all of them performed services for the Commission in a cheerful and efficient manner. I know it put a strain on your staff, but everything we asked for was handled splendidly.

I would like to make special mention of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The work we imposed upon it was of tremendous magnitude. It would be difficult to estimate the man-days which were devoted by the Bureau to the work of the Commission, but everything was done in the best manner possible, and the members of the Commission are very grateful for it.

With best wishes, I am

On December 17, 1964, Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Jr., (R-Mich.) who was a member of the Warren Commission, reported it had been alleged to him that the account of SA Vincent J. Savadel's interview with Frank A. Capell, which had been furnished to the Commission and was published in the Commission's testimony, was not identical with Savadel's original report of this interview.

Per your instructions, SA David W. Bowers of this Section contacted Congressman Ford on 12-18-64, and exhibited to him a copy of the interview form FD - 302 which recorded SA Savadel's interview on 1-28-64, with Capell. It was pointed out to the Congressman that Volume XXVI of the committee's testimony before the Warren Commission actually contains, beginning on Page 609, a photographic reproduction of this form. He stated this certainly proved beyond any doubt that the committee had received the original account of the interview.

Congressman Ford indicated that Capell was the source of the allegation that the interview results had been "doctored" before being furnished to the Commission. He said Capell had given this indication to "my friend," obviously in an effort to protect his (Capell's) reputation. It was pointed out to the Congressman that our dealings with Capell clearly indicate that he is not to be trusted.

Dear Mr. Talmer:

Thank you for your letter of December 23 in reply to my letter of November 25 which was addressed to Mr. Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. In my letter to Chief Justice Warren, I raised the question of whether or not F.B.I. Director Hoover's testimony had been included in the Warren Report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Your letter of December 23 stated that in the one volume Report Mr. Hoover's testimony is published in various parts of the Report. Does the one volume Report carry ALL of Mr. Hoover's testimony or only a part? If ALL of Mr. Hoover's testimony is not included in the one volume Report, why not?

Also, I understand that Oswald called for John Abt, Attorney for the Communist Party, U.S.A. soon after his arrest. Does the Warren Report comment on this incident? I did not hear this mentioned or read about it in any of the usual news media.

Finally, I understand that Professor Norman Redlich of the Warren Commission is a member of a Communist front organization. Is my information correct?

According to the Manion Forum TV broadcast, number TF-101, the fact that Oswald was a Communist is the real reason why he murdered President Kennedy and that this is left out in the Warren Report. Why?

I will appreciate an answer to my questions.

Sincerely,

J. C. Peele, M. D.

THE MANION FORUM

THE WARREN REPORT IS A SHAMEFUL MEMORIAL TO JFK

HONORABLE JOHN R. PILLION
Member of Congress for New York

DEAN MANION: Ladies and gentlemen, for some months now the public has had access to the big, bulky Warren Report on the murder of President Kennedy. I have read this document and in spite of its enormous size, in my judgment, it is distinguished not by what it contains but by what it leaves out. The Report concludes finally that Lee Harvey Oswald did murder the President. But, it doesn't say why. During the continuity of these hearings, Congressman John Pillion, of New York, asked to be heard as a witness. The Commission refused to hear him. Whereon the Congressman wrote a letter to the Commission and he asked that this letter be included in the evidence and in the record. But this request was refused. What did Congressman Pillion want to tell the Commission? It gives me pleasure now to take you to Washington, D.C., where my daughter, Marilyn, is in process of interviewing this distinguished Congressman.

MARILYN MANION: America has just observed a sad and tragic anniversary—the first anniversary of the assassination of President Kennedy. As we reflect on that awful event of November 22 a year ago, we ask ourselves—Why? Why did it happen, and what could we have done to prevent it? Now those questions were supposed to be answered, of course, by the report of the Warren Commission. But, I understand, Mr. Pillion, that you do not agree that the Warren Report tells the whole story.

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: Yes, Miss Manion, I am most disappointed in both the contents of the report and in the lack of helpful conclusions and recommendations in the report.

The Warren Commission sent its report to President Johnson on September 24. For some months before this, there were continuing leaks out of the Commission to the effect that Lee Oswald, alone and unassisted, committed the assassination of President Kennedy. There were also suggestions coming out of the Commission that Lee Oswald's crime was the result of an anti-social personality.

I became so indignant about these impending, incomplete and fantastic conclusions that I addressed a 10-page communication to the Warren Commission two weeks before the completion of its report. In my letter, I outlined Oswald's total commitment to the Communist cause, his continuing close association with the Soviet Secret Police, which is also known as the KGB. I stated to the Warren Commission that the report would, i effect, constitute a "whitewash," if the Soviet-dominate World Communist apparatus was not identified as th prime motivating influence in Lee Oswald's assassina tion of President Kennedy.

MARILYN MANION: Well, what did the Warren Re port do?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: Well, first of all, th Warren Report most cleverly diverted the attention c the American public away from the Communistic influ ences that created the fanatic killer, Lee Oswald. In stead, the Warren Report devoted about four-fifths c its 888 pages toward proving that Lee Oswald reall committed the crimes of November 22, 1963, in whic President Kennedy and Police Officer Tippit were mur dered, and Governor Connally was shot.

As a matter of fact, the Dallas Police, our own FI and the United States Secret Service, within days afte the murder, did a thorough job in gathering evidenc that conclusively proved Lee Oswald to be the murderer before the Warren Commission was even establishec In essence, the Warren Report is an accumulation c minute detail and is an "over-proof," an exaggerate "over-proof" of Oswald's guilt.

MARILYN MANION: Well, what did the Warren Com mission fail to do?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: Well, it failed realisticall to evaluate the known facts concerning Oswald's in volvement with Communism and the Soviet Secre Police. The Commission chose to gloss-over and t avoid evaluating Oswald's long record of pro-Commu nism. It obviously did not want to relate Soviet an American Communism, in which Oswald was only tool, to President Kennedy's death.

MARILYN MANION: Congressman Pillion, do you be lieve the American public is fully informed of Oswald' close associations with the Communist Conspiracy?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: No. Most of our peopl are unaware of the extent of the Communist influence upon Oswald's life. From the age of 15, to the time c his death at the early age of 24, Oswald's life and min were shaped by the teachings and the terroristic tactic of revolutionary Communism. Oswald was first incul cated with Communism in New York City at the ag of 15.

At the age of 17, he joined the United States Marine Corps where he brazenly expressed his admiration for the Soviet and the Communist life. It is a disgrace to our military forces that a boy sworn to defend this Nation would become an admitted and confirmed Communist, without our Marine Corps officers even recognizing it.

Immediately upon his discharge from the Marine Corps, Oswald went to Russia. And upon arrival there, he voluntarily sought out and became associated with the Soviet Secret Police. The KGB arranged the Moscow press conference in which Oswald denounced the United States, and the KGB publicized Oswald's defection to the Soviet.

After interrogation by the KGB, Oswald was sent to the City of Minsk and given a sham cover job, since he had no technical skills. Besides being given an outright 5,000 rubles, Oswald received 700 rubles per month in wages, and another 700 rubles per month from the KGB. This second monthly payment of 700 rubles was falsely represented to come from the Soviet Red Cross, whereas, it actually came from the Soviet's KGB.

Oswald's 1,500 ruble income per month was more than the income of the manager, the General Manager of the huge 5,000 employee electronics plant where Oswald was employed. The KGB provided Oswald with a scarce luxury apartment in Minsk on a rental of only 6 rubles per month.

Oswald married his wife, Marina, who was a member of the Komsomol, which is the training organization for the Soviet's young Communist Party members. Marina's uncle was a Colonel in the MVD, another branch of the Soviet Intelligence.

After a stay of more than 2-1/2 years actually in the Soviet, Oswald returned to the United States—about June, 1962. From that period to the time of his assassination of President Kennedy, Oswald was completely preoccupied with Communism. By this time, he was a cold professional killer associated with the Communist apparatus.

On April 10, 1963, Oswald shot at and attempted to murder Major General Walker, who was an effective opponent of Communism. In anticipation of his arrest, Oswald left a note of instructions to his wife, Marina, advising her to contact the Soviet Embassy for help. It is obvious that Oswald intended Marina to contact the KGB through the Soviet Embassy.

And on his trip to Mexico City, late in September of last year, Oswald contacted the KGB in Mexico City on two occasions. As late as early November, 1963, about two weeks before the assassination, Oswald again contacted the KGB by letter. The Commission deliberately avoided assigning the least bit of culpability to the Soviet KGB and to Communism as the decisive factor motivating Lee Oswald's crimes.

MARILYN MANION: Congressman, in light of all the facts that you just related, what did the Warren Commission recommend?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: I was most shocked to read that 8 of the Commission's 12 recommendations amounted to a criticism of the United States Secret Service and, by implication, it also criticized the lack of protective measures by the FBI and the Dallas Police force.

Now the police officers faithfully discharged their duties. The Commission indicted these loyal Americans who are protecting us, while it deliberately failed even to accuse those Soviet and American Communists and pro-Communists who produced this creature of hate and violence, Lee Harvey Oswald. The report absolves the criminal and convicts the police who brought the criminal to trial. The remaining 4 recommendations of the Commission were superficial and almost absurd. They did not effectively deal with the prevention of future Communist subversions and terroristic tactics.

MARILYN MANION: But why did the Warren Commission totally absolve the Communists of any blame for the assassination?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: Well, first, because the Warren Commission was bound to conform to the State Department's policies not to create any hostility toward the Soviet or toward Communist infiltrations and subversions; and second, because some members of the Commission lack a comprehensive understanding of the devious and complex political operations of the Communist machinery.

The Warren Report is a sad commentary upon this great American tragedy, the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. It is a shameful memorial to his memory.

DEAN MANION: Thank you very much, John Pillion, of New York, and thank you, too, Marilyn, for this informative interview.

It is extremely significant to me, my friends, as Congressman Pillion has underscored, that the fact that Lee Harvey Oswald was a Marxist with a record like the one that the Congressman has told you about, was not given any particular significance by the report of this distinguished Commission. The fact that Oswald was a Communist, as the Congressman has said, is the real reason why he murdered President Kennedy. Why did the Warren Report leave this out?

Fair Play for Cuba and President's Murder

President Kennedy was apparently murdered by a member of the Communist-run group his brother had refused to label as a subversive organization.

This tragically ironic footnote to the assassination of the chief executive emerged with stark significance as Americans slowly began to take stock of the horrifying event.

As early as March 15, 1962, Florida Rep. Bill Cramer chided Attorney General Robert Kennedy for having failed to declare the Fair Play for Cuba Committee a subversive organization despite the 14 months of investigation by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee which established its Communist control.

Accused murderer Lee Harvey Oswald, an avowed Marxist, had declared himself to be a member of the Fair Play unit in New Orleans and was arrested there recently for disturbing the peace after he was discovered distributing Castroite literature.

Deepening the bitter irony surrounding the assasination was the fact that Attorney General Kennedy has frequently attacked anti-Communists while permitting more than two years to elapse without convicting a single Communist under the McCarran Internal Security Act.

"If the President had been murdered by a right-winger," said one local anti-Communist, "one shudders to think of the cries for blood that would have been shouted at the Attorney General."

As the international Communist conspiracy sought to disavow any complicity in the President's murder, Cuba Premier Fidel Castro made a startling but perhaps inadvertent admission at long last that the Fair Play for Cuba Committee is run from Havana.

"We have searched our records," he said in his lengthy speech Nov. 23 after the assassination, "and find no record of any man named Oswald." The question was obvious: Why should Castro have records of membership for an organization which has persistently tried to claim it has no connection with any foreign government?

FOREIGN AGENT PROVISIONS

Under provisions of the McCarran Act agents of a foreign power are liable for prosecution.

Investigation by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has established that the Fair Play for Cuba Committee was founded in 1960 by Robert Taber, an ex-convict recently on the Castro payroll.

Taber, who was once sentenced to 30 years in prison for kidnapping, armed robbery and auto theft, set up the committee with a group of New York Communists and left-wingers. These included Joanne Grant, a reporter for the Communist National Guardian, who earlier had made a clandestine visit to Red China. Miss Grant once toured the University of California and other campuses to recruit delegates to the Communist World Youth Festival of 1959.

Shortly after its founding the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee began its probe of the Fair Play Committee. Called as a witness, Miss Grant took the Fifth Amendment when asked about the group's Communist connections.

CRILEY A LEADER

The Senate investigations established that among the identified Communists running various units of the Fair Play organization was Richard Criley, now of Chicago, who was once a Communist youth leader at the University of California (TOCSIN, Nov. 20, 1962). Criley

'I WANT TO CONTACT MR. ABT....'

Oswald, Spy Ask Same Lawyer

"I want to contact Mr. Abt in New York to defend me as my lawyer," said accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald to reporters Nov. 23, the day before his death.

"Mr. Abt" is top Communist Party lawyer John J. Abt (TOCSIN, Dec. 4, 1962) — the same attorney demanded by Rudolf Abel in Aug. 1957. The activities of Abt — who pleaded a prior commitment in the Abel case — figured in espionage revelations of former Communists Whittaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley in 1948.

The lawyer represented California Communist leaders Albert J. Lima and Roscoe Proctor, both East Bay residents, at San Francisco hearings of the Subversive Activities Control Board in Nov. 1962 to determine why the two CP members had failed to register under the McCarran Internal Security Act.

Determined that the Communist Party or its members should never comply with the act, Abt vowed he would never personally register the subversive organization as proposed during arguments before the Court of Appeals in Washington, last June.

BENTLEY TESTIMONY

Elizabeth Bentley, who served as courier between Soviet agents and Communist employees in the U.S. government in the 40's, testified before the House Committee on Un-American Activities July 31, 1948, that Abt was the leader of an underground Communist group which had been operating for the benefit of the Soviet Union since the early 30's.

Whittaker Chambers told the committee Aug. 3, 1948, that he knew Abt as an underground Communist while Abt was employed in the legal division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the Department of Agriculture.

Twice given the opportunity to refute this testimony, Abt took the Fifth Amendment before both the HCUA in 1948 and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1953.

In 1937 Abt was employed by the Department of Justice as an assistant to the Attorney General in charge of the trial section of the Anti-trust Division. Convicted perjurer Alger Hiss also held a similar position as an aide to the AG.

'MUNITIONS' PROBE

At a time when the devil myth of the "capitalist munitions maker" was enjoying wide currency in Communist propaganda, both Abt and Hiss were members of a Senate Committee to Investigate the Munitions Industry. Abt had also been chief counsel to the LaFollette Civil

Communist Attorneys Petitioned Kennedy

The Fair Play for Cuba Committee in New York distributed a reprint of a petition signed in 1961 by a number of identified Communist Party lawyers asking for a change in U.S. neutrality laws to favor Castro.

The petition, dated May 18, 1961, was addressed to the President and the Attorney General and bore the endorsement of the following identified Communists:

George R. Andersen, Benjamin Dreyfus, Bertram Edises, Laurent B. Frantz, Charles R. Garry, Doris Brin Walker — all of the San Francisco Bay Area.

Also, Pauline Epstein, Seymour Mandel and John T. McTernan of Los Angeles.

Other signers who are past or present members of the Communist-run National Guild included:

San Franciscans Allan Brotsky, Beverly Axelrod, Vincent Hallinan, Norman Leonard, Francis J. McTernan, Carl B. Shapiro, Marvin Stender and Richard Wertheimer.

Also, Loraine Binder, Leo Gallagher, Daniel G. Marshall, Stanley Moffatt, Richard W. Petherbridge, Irving Rosenfeld, A. L. Wirin and Louis S. Katz of Los Angeles.

Liberties Investigating Committee, assistant counsel to the Works Progress Administration and special counsel to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Abt's pivotal position within the Communist network is indicated by his relationship with other Communists, as shown in the following ways:

— The CP cell which Miss Bentley said Abt had headed was originally run by the late Harold Ware. Ware was the son of old-time Communist Ella Reeve ("Mother") Bloor.

— Abt's wife is Jessica Smith, editor of Soviet Russia Today (now called New World Review). Abt himself wrote for the magazine, including an article in the June 1947 issue on social insurance in the USSR. Jessica Smith was formerly married to Harold Ware.

— Abt's sister was Marion Bachrach, who refused to answer questions about her affiliations in a 1948 congressional committee probe, but who told newsmen that she was a Communist Party member "and proud of it."

HILLMAN GROUP LAWYER

When Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson was U.S. attorney general, he was asked by the late Sidney Hillman to recommend an attorney for Hillman's CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, according to columnist Victor Riesel, Nov. 16, 1953. Jackson recommended Abt and he was hired, the columnist wrote.

Early in 1948 Abt took a leave of absence from the post to join the legal staff of the newly formed Independent Progressive Party, a Communist-instigated third party backing the candidacy of Henry Wallace for U.S. president.

Abt had been general counsel of the CIO Political Action Committee and the National Citizens Political Action Committee, the latter one of the IPP-founding groups.

In an article entitled "Some Observations on Soviet Law and Lawyers" for the Nov.-Dec. 1945 issue of the Lawyers Guild Review, Abt vigorously defended the Soviet judicial system. The Review is the organ of the National Lawyers Guild, cited as the Communist Party's legal bulwark.

Purportedly based on Abt's observations made during his visit to the USSR, the article claimed that the notorious police-state justice of the Soviet Union was in reality stern but scrupulous in its regard for rights of defendants.

Abt also was an adviser at a conference of the Kremlin's World Federation of Trade Unions in Paris in 1946 and a participant at a Prague conference of the same group in 1947.

In 1952 Abt and former Representative Vito Marcantonio represented the Communist Party in hearings before the Subversive Activities Control Board in New York.

Communists in Smith Act cases whom Abt has represented are Benjamin J. Davis, former New York City Councilman, in his 1953 bid for parole; Claude Lightfoot, Illinois CP chairman in 1955; and Henry Winston, New York party member, during Winston's imprisonment in 1960.

Cuba Unites Red Factions

Two long feuding Communist factions joined hands in support of Communist Fidel Castro in the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, a probe by the House Committee on Un-American Activities dated Nov. 2, 1962, revealed.

The regular U.S. Communist Party as well as the dissident Socialist Workers Party of Leon Trotsky followers were both represented in the Communist front, with the Trotskyites predominating.

The new "united-front" operation permitted greater strength in the conduct of vitriolic demonstrations against the United States and supporting Castro's Communist dictatorship.

Key officers of the committee in Los Angeles were Albert Lewis, executive secretary, and Steve Roberts, West Coast representative for the national committee. Both were identified as Socialist Workers Party members but took the Fifth Amendment during the HCUA hearings.

The Fair Play group had planned a giant picket demonstration during President Kennedy's scheduled speaking engagement in Los Angeles Oct. 26, 1962. Although the President's speech was cancelled because of the gravity of the Cuban crisis, the chapter nevertheless carried out the anti-American demonstration.

Delfina Varela represented the Southern California district of the Communist Party on the Fair Play chapter and Martin Hall, German-born Communist and sometime representative of the left-wing American Friends Service Committee, was its chairman.

Disclaims Oswald

Vincent T. Lee, national chairman of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee who issued a denial after the President's assassination of the existence of a New Orleans unit of the committee, was the subject of a report this year by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

The report dated Feb. 14 linked Lee with Pacifica Foundation (radio stations WBAI, New York; KPFA, Berkeley; and KPFK, Los Angeles). Lee, according to the report, obtained a U.S. passport to visit Cuba last December as a radio reporter with the object of obtaining taped interviews for WBAI. The Pacifica Foundation itself was the object of hearings by the SISS last January to determine possible Communist infiltration.

The request for Lee's passport was signed by Richard M. Elman, public affairs director for the New York station.

A Tampa (Fla.) Tribune article of Dec. 15, 1961, included in the Senate report, stated that Lee, 35, was actually the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tappin of New York.

Lee, former head of the Tampa Fair Play for Cuba Committee, refused to answer whether or not he knew the Tappins, whether he was a member of the Communist Party or had ever received financial compensation from it and all questions relating to his education, date and place of birth.

He also declined to tell the committee his whereabouts during the time he dropped out of sight in Miami in Dec. 1961 and re-emerged with a press release in May 1962.

The Tampa Tribune article declared that Lee was known to have been a member of the now defunct Socialist Youth League. He described himself as a "retired seaman."

The People's World, West Coast Communist Party organ, devoted two articles April 13 to interviews with Lee, who urged resumption of U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations and removal of the travel ban.

Bohemia, Spanish-language magazine printed in Havana, carried a photo of Lee in its Jan. 11 issue. "On the left," reads the caption, "is V. T. Lee, a North American, great defender of our revolution in the midst of his hostile country..."

'FAIR PLAY'

is also a member of Communist Frank Wilkinson's National Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

As other Communists were found to be leading the group in various cities, Taber escaped to Cuba to avoid prosecution by the Justice Department for failing to register as a foreign agent. He returned to the U.S. in March 1962 and the following month was called as a witness before the Senate subcommittee.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

At a recent meeting of the Delaware County Police Chiefs' Association, our members passed a motion, going on record as being in opposition to the recent report of the Warren Commission, calling it unwarranted and unjust.

Our Association would like to commend you and the F.B.I. for your outstanding work and faithful service in dealing with the police departments in Delaware County. We recognize the fact that some of the outstanding men in the field of law enforcement have represented the F.B.I. in this area and feel that as long as men of the caliber of Special Agent in Charge Fred Frohbose and Special Agent in Charge Joe D. Jamieson are in charge, the cooperation between the F.B.I. and the local police departments will continue.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Hoover,

The enclosed letter-to-the-editor of our local paper is self-explanatory, and I hope you or somebody in your department will read it carefully.

Suspicious still, in spite of the Warren report, I'm also wondering whether the crash of Senator Ed. Kennedy's was the work of the same people who plotted the death of President Kennedy. (Some misguided souls may believe that the Kennedys represent another Huey Long sort of family.) I hope that this airplane accident has received your quiet attention and investigation.

Sometimes a civilization's worst enemies are within, they say, rather than being the more obvious opponents on the outside -- and I just wonder how many other accidents will happen to those in our nation having the greatest potential for strong future leadership. Is some sinister group, within (one prefers to consider the communists as outsiders), working against our nation's better interest in favor of its own selfish ends?

Questions Why Details Overlooked In Warren Report Considerations

To The Reporter Dispatch:

With the release of the full testimony and other exhibits of the Warren Commission hearings, there will be many questions raised as details become known which were formerly obscured in the Warren Report itself. Granted that the average person couldn't care less about these details, nevertheless it seems fitting to examine carefully those points which seem to support belief that a conspiracy was responsible for staging the assassination.

One detail of the testimony (out of hundreds of equally intriguing obscured points) is that the Commission staff chose to use a map of the Oak Cliff area of Dallas (in Exhibit No. 1119-A, p. 158, Report) which entirely omits the name from Lancaster Ave. (For those interested, this is the street lying between Marsalis and Ewing.) The large words "Fifth", "Sixth", "Seventh" and "Eighth" occupy the space where the name "Lancaster" should be found. Curiously enough the word "Av." remains on the map, along Lancaster, between Comal St. and Addison St. The full length of Lancaster Ave. in Oak Cliff shows on the map as reproduced, so the name must have been there originally.

Why is Lancaster Ave. so important in the events of Nov. 22, 1963? Simply because Officer Tippit, in his police car "with No. 10 prominently displayed on each side", was at the corner of LANCASTER and Eighth St. at 6 minutes to 1 o'clock. (See p. 165.) That corner happens to be only 8 blocks away from Oswald's rooming house on N. Beckley Ave.

The testimony of the housekeeper at the rooming house (see p. 253) is that she saw a Dallas police car at about 1 P.M., while Oswald was briefly in the house getting his jacket. The number of this police car began with "10", as she recollects it, and the car drove slowly by, stopping momentarily in front of the house and honking its horn several times. Before Oswald came out, the car had left.

While this police car could have been Tippit's car, it probably was not, although the connection is quite remarkable, since the Commission found that no other police car was in the neighborhood of the rooming house at 1 PM. (See p. 253.) Tippit could have been driven the eight blocks to the house in the six minuttes available, Tippit was alone, whereas the housekeeper saw several occupants in the police car, but there is no evidence that the Commission tried to find them for questioning. The Commission went out of its way to say that there is no evidence that a police car [illegible] in the neighborhood of the rooming house about 1 p.m., other than the housekeeper's sworn testimony to them and to the F.B.I. Since the official Commission conclusion is that Oswald had no accomplices and that nobody in the police department was working with him, is this a case of stretching the reported facts to fit the conclusion?

Unfortunately for our country's future, the Warren Commission Report is permeated with such instances of cavalier treatment of reported facts, and obscuration of relations. During the next few years, these instances may give rise to numerous articles and discussions which would result in unjustly (I repeat, UNJUSTLY) pointing the finger of suspicion at the very heads of the executive and judiciary branches of our national government. I believe the blame lies with the staff, and not the leaders.

A more probable area exists than those just mentioned, in which to seek out the cause of the assassination, if indeed there was a conspiracy. Quasi-military men, who have mastered the craft of psychological warfare, are technologically quite capable of executing a deed such as the assassination and getting away with it. Are we quite sure that all such men in Washington are morally utterly incapable of such dastardly action? Might they have done it if they honestly believed that President Kennedy was not acting in the best interests of the country, in attempting to reach an accommodation with the Russians, to allow "co-existence"?

It would be most unfortunate if we should find out that the Warren Commission Report had appeared to try to cover up the existence of such a conspiracy.

The public must learn more about the domestic (non-intelligence) operations of our so-called "intelligence agencies", so that, despite their limitless budgets, their secret use of Foundations and dummy corporations, their penetration of the military "Special Forces" and the radio and press services, ... so that, despite all this, they are not unwittingly permitted to undermine and overthrow what is left of democracy in our country. The growing attempt by the Defense Intelligence Agency (an arm of the Pentagon) to discredit the C.I.A. (not under Pentagon control) is of relevance in this connection, since Allen Dulles was removed as head of the C.I.A. by the late President Kennedy.

PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Re Bureau airtel to Dallas dated 12/14/64 and Bureau airtel to all SACs and Legats dated 9/30/64.

Dallas is presently conducting a systematic review of the 26 volumes of hearings before the President's Commission and upon completion of same, the Bureau will be advised of the results.

There is set forth below the results of a thorough review of the "Report of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy", which report was furnished to the Dallas Office shortly after the release of same by the President's Commission. The information set forth below reflects certain incorrect statements and/or typographical errors in the President's Commission Report, which are being brought to the Bureau's attention with the suggestion that the Bureau consider making such incorrect statements and/or typographical errors known to Mr. HERMAN KAHN, Assistant Archivist, National Archives, in whose custody all material pertaining to the President's Commission's investigation was released as of 12/14/64, or other appropriate individual or agency. It is felt that should there by subsequent printings of the Commission's Report, such inaccuracies should be corrected prior to such printings.

Dallas Office fail to substantiate that LAWSON conferred with this office on 11/12/63.

Pages 72 and 73 -- paragraph 2 of page 72, line 5, makes reference to Commission Exhibit #2218 appearing on page 73. The Commission Exhibit number appearing on page 73 is reflected as Exhibit #2118. It is believed the correct exhibit number is 2118.

Page 152, paragraph 3, lines 3, 4, 5 and 6 -- indicate that SA JOHN HOWLETT of the U. S. Secret Service carried a rifle from the southeast corner of the 6th floor of the TSBD along the aisle to the northeast corner, placing the rifle on the floor near the site where OSWALD's rifle was actually found after the shooting. It is pointed out that this statement gives the impression the rifle was found in the northeast corner of the 6th floor of the TSBD when in actuality it was found in the northwest corner. Page 156, paragraph 2, last sentence correctly reflects that the rifle was found in the northwest corner.

Page 244, paragraph 4 -- last sentence is incorrect grammatically. "were known to one another prior to the assassination" should read "were known to each other prior to the assassination".

Page 281, paragraph 2, lines 4,5, and 6 -- indicate that OSWALD's brother ROBERT lived in Fort Worth and his mother resided in "nearby Vernon, Texas". It is pointed out that Vernon, Texas is approximately 163 miles from Fort Worth.

Page 329, paragraph 2, lines 18, 19 and 20 -- reflects that from 9/24/63 until 11/22/63, MARINA OSWALD stayed with RUTH PAINE while OSWALD lived in roominghouses in Dallas. It is pointed out that this period includes the period OSWALD travelled to Mexico and therefore the statement is to a certain extent incorrect.

Page 400, paragraph 3, line 10 -- "through the fall of 1963" should read "through the fall of 1962".

Page 504, line 7 -- reflects "Andrew Jackson----i. Jan. 30, 1835", whereas on page 505, paragraph 4, line 1, reflects date as "January 10, 1835". One of these dates is incorrect.

Page 664, next to last paragraph, line 1 -- name "Sheriff E. J. Decker" should be "Sheriff J. E. Decker".

Page 698, paragraph 3, line 3 -- year "1959" is incorrect as OSWALD did not go to Russia until October, 1959. It is believed that the year should be "1960".

Page 708, paragraph 2, lines 4 and 9 -- word "dairy" should be "diary".

Some of the above errors are minor; however, they are being brought to the Bureau's attention and if not deemed worthy of any action, the Bureau may disregard.

SUBJECT: REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

By airtel December 31, 1964, the Dallas Office called to the Bureau's attention numerous errors contained in the Commission's report on the assassination which was released to the public in September, 1964. Most of these errors were typographical errors involving misspelled words, erroneous dates or erroneous exhibit numbers. Two of the errors, however, pertain directly to the FBI.

On page thirty of the Commission's report, the report reads that when Secret Service Special Agent Winston G. Lawson arrived in Dallas, Texas, on November 12, 1963, in connection with duties he had as an advanced agent of President Kennedy's contemplated visit to Dallas on November 22, 1963, "Lawson conferred with the local police and the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation about potential dangers to the President." This statement is not true. In Volume 4 of the "Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy," page 346, it is reported that Congressman Ford specifically asked Agent Lawson whether when he got to Dallas on November 12, did not he personally check with the local FBI Office about any individuals or any groups. Mr. Lawson replied, "No, Sir; I did not. All the liaison either would be handled from the local SAC's Office (Secret Service) or through Washington."

A check of Bufiles discloses no indication of a contact with Agent Lawson with our Dallas Office prior to the assassination. Our files do reveal that on October 30, 1963, our Dallas Office informed Secret Service that one Norman Lee Elkins had reportedly made a statement that if President Kennedy made a trip to Dallas, a "reception" was planned for him. In addition, on the morning of November 21, 1963, an Agent of the Dallas Office found in Dallas, a bundle of leaflets captioned "Wanted for Treason," which contained seven separate criticisms of President Kennedy's policies. These leaflets and further information subsequently received by Dallas concerning the origin of these leaflets were furnished to Secret Service on November 21, 1963.

The Dallas Office also noted that on page 494 of the Commission's report wherein the Commission set out a list of witnesses before the Commission, Nat A. Pinkston is identified as an employee of the Texas School Book Depository. This is not correct inasmuch as Nat A. Pinkston is a Special Agent of the FBI attached to the Dallas Office of the FBI. We noted, however, that the Commission in setting out testimony of Nat A. Pinkston in Volume 6, page 334, of its "Hearings," Pinkston is correctly identified as a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Although the Commission was at error in connection with the two points mentioned above relating to the FBI, the Commission was not directing or implying any criticism of the Bureau. It appears this erroneous data slipped through the editorial staff of the Commission. Inasmuch as the Commission has ceased to exist, we are taking no action to correct the typographical or editorial errors that we have noted in the Commission's report.

SOUTH BEND, IND

WEEKLY BROADCAST NO. 529 NOVEMBER

THE WARREN REPORT

Absolves the Real Criminal of History's Most Heinous Cr

HONORABLE JOHN R. PILLION
Member of Congress for New York

DEAN MANION: We have just lived through the longest and possibly the most fateful year of history. It started on November 22, 1963, when one Lee Harvey Oswald fired the fatal shot heard 'round the world. The shocking sound of that awful fusillade is still reverberating. Official hopes that the published findings of the Warren Commission would silence it have been in vain.

Unfortunately, the Commission's report has raised more questions than it answered. Readers of the report cannot escape the impression that on the all-important subject of Oswald's motivation, the Commission's conclusions were made possible by its persistent disregard of notorious facts, deliberately excluded from the evidence before it.

In its sum and substance, the report gives the firm impression that the Commission was pre-determined to conclude that this horrible crime of the century resulted merely from Oswald's "demonstrated" propensity to act "dramatically" and at times "violently." (Page 544, Commission Report, Popular Library Edition, New York, New York.)

This is in spite of many recitations like the following: "Oswald's activities with regard to Cuba raise serious questions as to how much he might have been motivated in the assassination by a desire to aid the regime which Presider nedy so outspokenly cri For example, the Dallas Herald of November 19 prominently reported Pr Kennedy as having 'all vited the Cuban people overthrow Fidel Castro' munist regime and promised prompt l if they do' ... There can be no doubt wald was aware generally of the criti tude that Castro expressed about P Kennedy." (Page 556-557 - Ibid.)

But the Commission refused to ac idence that might have answered the vit tion that it raised here. On Septem 1964, U.S. Representative John R. Pi New York, addressed a documented lett members of the Commission with the that it be made a part of the Commiss ficial record. He also offered to testif the Commission and be questioned co the facts he submitted. Both requests nied. Congressman Pillion is with me l to tell you some of the things that l have told the Commission if he had b mitted to do so.

Congressman, I understand that you appointed with the report of the Warr mission. Now will you please tell us the reasons for your disappointment.

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: Yes, Dean Manion, I am most disappointed in both the content of the report and in the lack of helpful conclusions and recommendations in the report.

The Warren Commission sent its report to President Johnson on this past September 24. For some months before this, there were continuing leaks out of the Commission to the effect that Lee Oswald, alone and unassisted, committed the assassination of President Kennedy. There were also suggestions that Lee Oswald's crime was the result of an anti-social personality.

I was so indignant about these impending, incomplete and fantastic conclusions that I addressed a 10-page communication to the Warren Commission two weeks before the completion of its report. In my report, I outlined Oswald's total commitment to the Communist cause and his continuing close associations with the Soviet Secret Police, which is also known as the KGB.

I stated to the Warren Commission that the report would, in effect, constitute a "whitewash," if the Soviet-dominated World Communist apparatus was not identified as the prime motivating influence in Lee Oswald's assassination of President Kennedy.

DEAN MANION: Tell us what the Warren Report did.

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: First of all, the Warren Report most cleverly diverted the attention of the American public away from the Communistic influences that created the fanatic killer, Lee Oswald.

Instead, the Warren Report devoted about four-fifths of its 888 pages toward proving that Lee Oswald really committed the crimes of November 22, 1963, in which President Kennedy and Police Officer Tippit were murdered, and Governor Connally was shot.

As a matter of fact, the Dallas Police, the FBI and the U.S. Secret Service...

ing evidence that conclusively proved Lee Oswald to be the murderer, before the War Commission was even established.

In essence, the Warren Report is an accumulation of minute detail and is an exaggerated "over-proof" of Oswald's guilt.

Report Obscures Communist Influence on Oswald

DEAN MANION: Apparently its chief conclusion was obvious. What then did the War Commission fail to do?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: It failed to realistically evaluate the known facts concerning Oswald's involvement with Communism and the Soviet Secret Police. The Commission chose to gloss-over and to avoid evaluating Oswald's long record of pro-Communism.

It obviously did not want to relate Soviet and American Communism, in which Oswald was a mere tool, to President Kennedy's death.

DEAN MANION: Congressman, do you believe that the American public has been fully informed of Oswald's close associations with the Communist Conspiracy?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: No. Most of the people are unaware of the extent of the Communist influences upon Oswald's life. From the age of 15, to the time of his death at the age of 24, Oswald's life and mind were shaped by the teachings and terroristic tactics of revolutionary Communism.

Oswald was first inculcated with Communism in New York City at the age of 15. At the age of 17, he joined the U.S. Marine Corps where he brazenly expressed his admiration for the Soviet and the Communist life. It is a disgrace to our military forces that a boy sworn to defend this Nation would become an admitted and confirmed Communist, without our Marine Corps officers even recognizing it.

Immediately upon his discharge from the Marine Corps, Oswald went to Russia. Upon

The KGB arranged the Moscow press conference in which Oswald denounced the United States and publicized Oswald's defection to the Soviet. After interrogation by the KGB, Oswald was sent to the City of Minsk and given a sham cover job, since he had no technical skills.

Besides being given 5,000 rubles outright, Oswald received 700 rubles per month in wages, and another 700 rubles per month from the KGB. This second 700 rubles per month was falsely represented to come from the Soviet Red Cross.

Oswald's 1,400 rubles per month income was more than the income of the General Manager of the huge electronics plant in which he worked —a plant that had 5,000 employees. The KGB provided Oswald with one of their scarce luxury apartments for 6 rubles per month rent.

Oswald married his wife, Marina, who was a member of the Komsomol, which is the training organization for the Soviet's young Communist Party members. Marina's uncle was a Colonel in the MVD, another branch of the Soviet Intelligence.

After his stay of more than 2-1/2 years in the Soviet, Oswald returned to the United States —about June, 1962. From that period to the time of his assassination of President Kennedy, Oswald was preoccupied with Communism. By this time, he was a cold professional killer associated with the Communist apparatus.

On April 10, 1963, Oswald shot at and attempted to murder Major General Walker, who was an effective opponent of Communism. In anticipation of his arrest, Oswald left a note of instructions to his wife, Marina, advising her to contact the Soviet Embassy for help. It is obvious that Oswald intended Marina to contact the KGB through the Soviet Embassy.

On his trip to Mexico City in late September of last year, Oswald contacted the KGB there on two occasions. As late as early November, 1963, about two weeks before the assassination, Oswald again contacted the KGB by letter.

The Commission deliberately avoided assigning the least bit of culpability to the Soviet KGB and to Communism as the decisive factors r tivating Lee Oswald's crimes.

U.S. Law Enforcement Singled Out for Blame

DEAN MANION: Now, in the light of all th facts, Congressman, what did the Commis recommend?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: I was shocke read that 8 of the Commission's 12 recomm dations amounted to a criticism of the Un States Secret Service and, by implication, criticized the lack of protective measure the FBI and the Dallas Police.

The police officers faithfully discharged t duties. The Commission indicted those l Americans who are protecting us while it liberately failed even to accuse those Soviet American Communists and pro-Commur who produced this creature of hate and viole Lee Harvey Oswald. The report absolves criminal and convicts the police who bro the criminal to trial.

The remaining four recommendations o Commission were superficial and almost surd. They did not effectively deal with prevention of future Communist subvers and terroristic tactics in these United State DEAN MANION: So much for the motiv Oswald's crime. Now what was the Com sion's motive for obscuring it?

CONGRESSMAN PILLION: First: Bec the Warren Commission was bound to con to the State Department's policies not to c any hostility toward the Soviet or toward C munist infiltrations or subverions; and Second: Because some members of the C mission lack a comprehensive understandi the devious and complex political operatic the Communist machinery.

The Warren Report is a sad commentar on this great American tragedy, the assas tion of President John F. Kennedy. It shameful memorial to his memory.

DEAN MANION: Thank you. Congres

John R. Fillion, of Ne[illegible]k.

My friends, at the end of this long sad year of mourning, some profitable conclusions would seem to be in order. From what this distinguished Congressman has said, we did not get such conclusions from the Warren Commission. But look at the 1963 report of the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities:

"Because hate is so large an element in Communist doctrine and propaganda, it is reasonable to conclude that Oswald's close association with the Communist movement and reading of its propaganda markedly influenced his conduct.

"Within the past year, we have witnessed a shocking example of the kind of horrible [illegible]t can be committed by a fana[illegible] exist who had for years been an reader of Communist anti-Ame[illegible] propaganda and—not long before the s[illegible] ing of the President—a leader of Castro agitation on the streets of o[illegible] our major cities.

"Perhaps, it would not have happene[illegible] during past years, the American pe[illegible] as a whole, had worked harder to dis[illegible] the lies and half-truths in domestic C[illegible] munist propaganda so that our youth w[illegible] not be misled by it."

My friends, here is your cue for 1965. [illegible] harder to disclose the lies and half-truth[illegible] Communist propaganda. Begin by sending broadcast to a friend who needs it.

WHAT THE WARREN COMMISSION NEGLECTED TO SAY

"President John F. Kennedy was killed by a Communist. This shocking fact has stunned the American people . . . .

"President Kennedy is the latest victim in a long list of murders committed by Communists. The Kremlin has had 44 years of experience in the business of murder on foreign soil, and has built up an efficient apparatus for abduction, for murder, for assassination . . . .

"The gunfire that killed President Kennedy also exploded the following popular myths about Communism:

"1. 'The Communist threat is external, not internal.'

"2. 'Communism is dwindling in danger because the Party is dwindling in membership.' The Reds have always boasted that all they need is one Communist in the right place at the right time.

"3. 'We don't need to worry about Communists unless they are in sensitive positions.' Oswald was only a janitor.

"4. 'Communists are no threat unless they commit an overt act.' Communists are always a threat because they are criminals.

"5. 'We should muzzle activities of anti-Communists.' . . . Kennedy's assassination shows that Communists and left-wing extremists are the real danger to America.

"President Kennedy can serve his country in death, even as he did in life, if his assassination awakens us to the truth that the Communist danger is both internal and external."

ENCLOSURE

IS KENNEDY MURDER INQUIRY IS SUSPECT

HUGH TREVOR-ROPER, Regius Professor of Modern History at Oxford, who cables this astonishing report from America, finds that suppressed police and medical evidence eluded the Warren Commission

THE SUNDAY TIMES
LONDON, ENGLAND
DECEMBER 13, 1964

ENCLOSURE

THE ASSASSINATION of President Kennedy was a great shock to the whole world. To the American people it was more than a shock: it was a humiliation. The shooting of the President, followed only two days later by the shooting of the supposed assassin, Lee Oswald, seemed to show that the leading power of the West, the guardian of its security and culture, rested precariously on a basis of insecurity and violence. In order to reassure the world, President Johnson set up a commission of inquiry charged to discover the true facts. In order to reassure the American people, he must have hoped that the true facts would reveal—especially in an election year—no basic strains in American society. This is, in fact, what the commission has done.

Its report, the Warren Report* has answered the factual question. The assassination is explained. The report has also resolved the emotional problem: the assassination is explained away. Oswald, we are assured, shot the President for purely personal motives, explicable by his psychological case history. Jack Ruby shot Oswald on a purely personal impulse, similarly explicable. No one else is involved. The police, which watches over the city of Dallas, may have made errors; so may the secret service, which watches over the security of the President. These errors must be regretted and corrected in future: but American society is unaffected; the episode can be forgotten; or at least, if it is remembered, it leaves no taint in the American reputation, no trauma in the American soul.

Now let me say at once that there is no reason why this explanation, so massively documented, should not, theoretically, be true. Many assassinations, or attempted assassinations, have been the act of isolated, unbalanced individuals. The public has always been too prone to see conspiracy in what is really the effect of nature or chance. The Warren Commission was composed of responsible public men whose officials undoubtedly collected a great deal of matter. Its chairman, however reluctantly he may have accepted the chair, was the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Therefore no one should dismiss the report lightly. On the other hand, we need not altogether abdicate the use of reason in reading it.

IF I DISSENT from its findings, it is not because I prefer speculation to evidence or have a natural tendency towards radicalism: it is because, as a historian, I prefer evidence. In this case I am prepared to be content with the evidence actually supplied by the Commission. That evidence is certainly copious enough. Behind the summary, so gleefully and faultlessly endorsed by the Press, lies the full report, and behind the full report lie the twenty-six volumes of testimony on which it claims to lead to the comfortable conclusions of the report. It convinces me that the Commission, for whatever reasons, simply has not done its work, or, rather, it has done half its work. It has reassured the American people by its findings but it has not reassured the world by its methods; it has not established the facts; behind a smokescreen of irrelevant material it has accepted impermissible axioms, constructed invalid arguments, and failed to ask elementary and essential questions.

At this point I must declare my own interest. In June, 1964, before the Warren Report was issued, I agreed to serve on the British "Who killed Kennedy?" committee. I did this because I was convinced that the composition of the Warren Commission and the procedure which it announced were ill-calculated to produce the truth. They did not guarantee a full examination of the evidence, and there was some reason to fear the relevant evidence might never come before the Commission. The purpose of the committee was to guard against the danger that dissenting evidence might be silenced between political authority and emotional expediency, but at the same time there was no need to prejudge the issue. Truth can emerge even from an official body, and the political composition of the Commission and its defective methods need not necessarily prevent it from reaching valid conclusions, provided that it showed itself capable of independent judgment. I was therefore perfectly willing to examine the report, when it should appear, on its merits, to let it stand or fall, in my judgment, on its handling of the evidence. It is by that standard that I now consider it an inadmissible report. In order to demonstrate this, I shall concentrate on a few central facts which, to me, render the whole report suspect.

First of all there is the attempted arrest of Oswald by Patrolman Tippett. Any reader of the report must be struck by this episode. According to the report, the Dallas police issued the order which led to this attempted arrest before any evidence had been found which pointed personally to Oswald. We immediately ask, on what evidence did they issue these orders? To fill the gap, the report mentions one witness, Howard Brennan, who, we are told, saw the shots fired from the sixth-floor window and made a statement to the police "within minutes" of the assassination. This statement, says the report, was "most probably" the basis of the police description radioed (among others) to Tippett.

Now this chain of events is obviously of the greatest importance. It also contains obvious difficulties. Not only does the alleged statement of Brennan seem far too precise to correspond with anything he can really have seen, but the alleged police description far too vague to be the basis of a particular arrest, but the words "most probably," which slide over these difficulties, are unpardonably vague. Any police description leading to an attempted arrest must have been based on some definite evidence—the police must know on what evidence it was based—and it was the inescapable duty of the Commission, which claims to have "critically reassessed" all the evidence, to require the police to reveal the evidence. Either the police description was based on Brennan's statement, or it was not. Certainty, in such a matter, is absolutely essential and easily discoverable. Why then has the Commission been satisfied with the vague phrase "most probably"?

It is easy to see why the police prefer vagueness in this matter. If the description was based on Brennan's statement, then we immediately ask another question. For Brennan (according to the report) did not only give a general description of the man who fired the shot: he also gave a particular description of the window from which he fired. Why then, we naturally ask, did the police broadcast the vague description of the man, but make no immediate attempt to search the precisely identified room? That room was searched only later, in the course of a general search of the whole building. On the other hand, if the police description was not based on Brennan's statement, it follows that the police used other evidence which they have not revealed to the Commission. Either of these consequences raises further questions of great importance. By calmly accepting the comfortable phrase "most probably," the Commission saved itself the trouble of asking these further questions.

When we turn from the prelude to the aftermath of Oswald's arrest, the same pattern repeats itself. After his arrest, Oswald, we are told, was warned by Captain Fritz, chief of the homicide bureau of the Dallas police, that he was not compelled to make any statement, but that any statement which he made could be used in evidence against him. After that, Oswald was interrogated, altogether for twelve hours, by the F.B.I. and police, mainly by Captain Fritz. And yet, we are told, Fritz "kept no notes and there were no stenographic or tape recordings." This, I do not hesitate to say, cannot possibly be true. How could any statement made by Oswald be used against him if his statements were unrecorded?

Even in the most trivial cases such a record is automatically made—and this case was the assassination of the President of the United States. If no record was available to the Commission, there can be only one explanation. The record was destroyed by the F.B.I. or the police, and the Commission, with culpable indifference, has not troubled to ask why. In the introduction to its report the Commission expresses special gratitude to the Dallas police for its readiness to answer all questions. The reader can only marvel at the Commission's readiness to accept every answer—provided that it came from that source.

If the police withheld or suppressed [illegible] evidence, at least there was one other source on which the Commission might have drawn: the medical evidence of the President's wounds. Unfortunately, here too we quickly discover the same pattern of suppression. On medical evidence alone, the doctor who examined the President concluded that he had been shot from the front, and all police investigations were at first based on that assumption. This meant that the President—if indeed he was shot from the book depository—must have been shot either as his car approached the building or, if the building had been passed, at a moment when he had turned his head towards it. When both these conditions were ruled out by photographs, the police concluded that the shots must have come from behind, and the doctor was persuaded to adjust his medical report to this external police evidence.

WHEN THE Commission "critically reassessed" the evidence, it naturally had a duty to reexamine the medical evidence undistorted by police theories. Unfortunately it could not do so: the purely medical evidence was no longer available. The chief pathologist concerned, Dr Humes, signed an affidavit that he had burned all his original notes and had kept no copy.

Only the official autopsy, compiled (as is clearly stated) with the aid of police evidence, survives—and the Commission, once again, has accepted this evidence without asking why, or on whose authority, the original notes were destroyed. Police evidence withheld, police evidence destroyed, medical evidence destroyed, and no questions asked. This is an odd record in so important a case, but it is not the end.

According to the report, a specially constructed paper bag was afterwards found in the room from which Oswald is alleged to have fired the shots, and the Commission concludes that it was in this bag that Oswald introduced the fatal weapon into the build[illegible]place this conclusion is in fact contrary to the only evidence printed by the Commission, it seems strange that the police should have to admit that the bag, too, has since been destroyed. It was, we are told, "discoloured during various laboratory examinations" and so "a replica bag" was manufactured under police orders "for valid identification by witnesses." In other words, the police destroyed the real evidence and substituted their own fabrication. The replica may well have been a true replica, but we have to rely on a mere assertion by the police. Finally, to complete this record of suppression and destruction, there is the destruction of the most important living witness, Oswald himself.

Oswald was murdered, while under police protection, by Jack Ruby, an intimate associate of Dallas police. Ruby's close association with the Dallas police is admitted in the Warren Report, and it is undeniable that he entered the basement, where he murdered Oswald, by either the negligence or the connivance of the police. But how did he enter? Once again, the details are of the greatest importance—but the police are unable or unwilling to say, and the Commission is unwilling to press them. All that we are told is that, after his arrest, Ruby refused to discuss his means of entry: he was interrogated in vain. But then, suddenly, three policemen came forward and said that, within half an hour of his arrest, Ruby had admitted to them that he had entered by the main street ramp just before shooting Oswald—after which Ruby himself adopted this explanation of his entry. These three policemen, we are told, did not report this important piece of evidence to their superiors, who had been vainly interrogating Ruby on precisely this point, "until some days later." Why, or in what circumstances, Ruby made this interesting admission, and why the three policemen did not pass it on for several days, are clearly important questions. But the Commission evidently did not ask them. It was content evidence from police or F.B.I. sources. It never subjected this evidence to proper legal or intellectual tests. Never looked beyond that evidence, never pressed for clear meaning or clear answers. The claim of the Commissioners that they "critically reassessed" the police evidence is mere rhetoric. Their vast and slovenly report has no more authority than the tendentious and defective police reports out of which it is compiled. And of the value of those reports no more need be said than that even the Warren Report can only acquit the Dallas police of worse charges by admitting its culpable inefficiency.

Where then does the Warren Report leave the problem of President Kennedy's assassination? My own belief is that the problem remains a mystery. Nothing in the Warren Report can be taken on trust. There is no evidence that Oswald took the gun into the book depository, nor that he fired it. He may have done so, but it is still to be proved. The evidence laboriously presented by the F.B.I. and the Dallas police against Oswald is no stronger than the evidence incidentally admitted against themselves by their suppression and destruction of vital testimony. The best that can be said of the Warren Commission is that it has given publicity to the prosecutor's case. The case for the defence has not been heard—and until it is heard, no valid judgement can be given.

More significant is the question, why has the report been so uncritically hailed by the Press of America and even of Britain? I find this a disturbing fact: it suggests a failure of the critical spirit in journalism. In part this is explicable by mere technical necessity. A work like the Warren Report (or the Robbins Report) appears to be well documented. It is issued under respectable public names. It is too long to read—and its authors, recognising this fact, obligingly serve up to busy journalists a "summary and conclusions" in which the chain of reasoning is concealed. The journalist who has to express a hasty but emphatic judgment glances at the document, weighs it, reads the summary, and then plumps for a safe opinion. That may not necessarily be an endorsement of the document—but it will be a safe orthodoxy.

There is an orthodoxy of opposition, even of "liberalism," which is no less smug and unthinking than the orthodoxy of assent. Sometimes the two orthodoxies coincide. It seems that in respect of the Warren Report they do coincide. The Warren Report has satisfied the Left, because it exonerates the Left: it gives no countenance to the theory of a Communist plot. Equally, it has satisfied the Right because it exonerates the Right: it reveals no "fascist" plot either. Moreover it pleases both great parties in America: on the eve of an election either of them might have been split by uncontrolled accusations. Fortunately the report does not touch either party, even at its extreme edges. Nor does it touch the sensitive soul of the American people. Unfortunately, it may not touch the real facts either.

That acceptance of the Warren Report is emotional, not rational, is shown in many ways. Several of its most vocal supporters have had to admit, in controversy, that they have not read the text. Even those who have avoided this admission often show a surprising unfamiliarity with its contents. And anyway, documented or undocumented, the attacks of the orthodox on the heretics have been of a virulence incompatible with reasonable belief. When Lord Russell argued his dissent, he was attacked by "Time" magazine, and in England by the "Guardian," as a senile dotard whose beliefs could be dismissed unexamined. His supporters were declared to be psychological cases. The "New York Herald Tribune," having published a personal attack on him, refused in advance to publish any reply.

MR MARK LANE, American lawyer whom the Warren Commission refused to admit as counsel for Oswald, appointing instead an "observer" who was content merely to observe, has made a series of formidable criticisms of the report. They are documented, reasoned and, in my opinion, generally conclusive. For his pains, he has been subjected to an incredible campaign of vituperation in the American and even the British Press. To the Press, it seems, the report is a sacred text, not to be questioned by the profane. And yet, behind the Press, there still stands the public: a public which, I believe, is becoming increasingly sceptical both of the Press and of the report.

The American public does not much discuss the report. The same psychological causes which excite the Press to shrillness drive the public into silence: for both shrillness and silence are protections for uncertainty. When I offer to discuss the report with Americans, many of them evade the offer. Some say frankly that they have not read the report but are determined to believe its conclusions: they are so reassuring. But many are sceptical. In fact, a recent poll showed that a majority of Americans were sceptical. No doubt the majority had not read the report either—but in such an atmosphere there is hope that the matter is not yet closed. Orthodoxy is not yet final; heresy may still be heard.

TO : Mr. DeLoach

DATE: 1-6-65

FROM : M. A. Jones

SUBJECT: JACK L. RUBY, aka;
LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka;
(DECEASED) - VICTIM:
CIVIL RIGHTS
(44-24016)

Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Jr., (R-Mich.), a member of the Warren Commission, contacted your office on 1-6-65 concerning the matter regarding an allegation that the results of the interview conducted in captioned matter with one Frank A. Capell had been "doctored." Congressman Ford was shown a copy of the interview form FD-302 of 12-18-64 and was satisfied that no changes had taken place between this and the reproduction of it in Volume XXVI of the Warren Commission's Report. He explained, however, that John H. Ray, a New York attorney who formerly was Congressman from the 16th Congressional District in Staten Island, New York, was now in his office and was still concerned about this matter. He asked that someone come to his office and explain the situation to Mr. Ray.

SA David W. Bowers of this Section went to Congressman Ford's office and met Mr. Ray. It was determined that his concern with this matter was the fact that background information showing Capell had a prior criminal record had been published in the Warren Commission Report. He stated that this information was also published as though it had been developed by SA Vincent J. Savadel through an interview with Capell and he knew that this was not true (See enclosed Xerox of pages 608 and 609 of Volume XXVI of the Commission's Report which contains pertinent information).

It was pointed out to Mr. Ray that the results of SA Savadel's interview with Capell were recorded on a single page which became page 43 in an FBI report. It was explained to him that pages 40, 41 and 42 in this report set forth the reason for the interview with Capell and pertinent background information about Capell which was obtained from FBI files. This same procedure was followed in the interview of all individuals in the investigation. And it was pointed out to him that we had absolutely no control over what the Commission selected to print or not print in its final report. He stated he fully understood this and was in complete agreement with such procedure.

Mr. Ray expressed concern over the manner in which the data about Capell was reproduced in the Commission Report since it led him to believe that it all had resulted from SA Savadel's interview with Capell. Our procedure of using the interview form, FD-302, as inserts in investigative reports was explained to him and the fact that the form recording the interview with Capell bore the page number 1 in the upper left hand corner was pointed out to him. He then stated that he could now understand the procedure, adding that he felt it was unfortunate that the Commission had published the background data on Capell and particularly in the manner that it was set out. He was most appreciative of our explaining the situation to him and apologized for any inconvenience which his inquiries may have caused.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the enclosed letter be sent to the New York Office regarding this contact with Mr. Ray since he has been in contact with that office regarding this situation.

"The Herald of Freedom", published biweekly in Staten Island, New York, in its issue of January 17, 1964, contained the following statements concerning JACK RUBY:

"Jack Leon Rubenstein, alias Jack Ruby, the murderer of Lee H. Oswald, was a notorious character who has been close to several people in Chicago who were murdered and is a big time narcotics distributor. He was involved in many rackets, including strip tease 'joints' and party girls and has had contacts in Havana. Rubenstein visited Havana within the past year in violation of State Department regulations. While there, he visited his friend Franklin and owns and operates a novelty store on the Prado in Havana across the street from the Hotel Sevilla. Franklin is a known long-time Castro collaborator. He is a native Cuban married to an American girl. Franklin is involved in slave trade and party girls as a side line. The above information was received from Havana by one of the best informed men in the United States on Soviet and Castro intelligence operations."

COMMISSION EXHIBIT No. 3055

"The Herald of Freedom" is a four page pamphlet, edited and published by FRANK A. CAPELL in Staten Island, New York. It is published biweekly. CAPELL has described his publication as being "devoted to exposing Communism, Socialism, and un-American activities by pointing the whole truth in detail".

"The Staten Island Advance", a Staten Island, New York, daily community newspaper, in its issue of July 13, 1963, carried a front page article entitled "Island Pamphlet Triggers North Carolina Camp Race Riot". According to this article, "reports of interracial, nudity, and free love", which were published by FRANK A. CAPELL in "The Herald of Freedom" "caused 600 armed Blue Ridge Dixie Belt mountaineers to burn" Camp Summerlane's gymnasium at Rosman, North Carolina, and also shoot up one of their buses. This article reflected that CAPELL "said late night at his New Jersey home that he had published an account in the July 3 issue and that the Rosman Chamber of Commerce had ordered additional copies". This article also indicated that "The Herald of Freedom" was widely distributed among rural folk in the mountain area. This article in "The Staten Island Advance" stated that Sheriff C. R. MC CALL of Rosman told the Associated Press that the mountaineers were incensed because of camp activities published in the pamphlet.

FRANCIS A. CAPELL, Editor of "The Herald of Freedom", was arrested September 21, 1943, at New York, New York, by agents of the FBI on a charge of bribery.

An indictment was filed April 10, 1944, in the Southern District of New York against FRANCIS A. CAPELL, charging him with conspiracy in the acceptance of a $1,000.00 bribe intended to influence the decision of investigators of the War Production Board on September 21, 1943, in violation of Title 18, Section 207. A second indictment returned on the same date contained two counts and charged CAPELL with the solicitation and acceptance of $1,000.00 bribe and a $400.00 bribe intended to influence the decision of investigators of the War Production Board in violation of Section 207, Title 18, United States Code.

CAPELL entered a plea of guilty on May 29, 1945, at the United States District Court, Southern District of New York (SDNY), and was sentenced to one year and one day on each count of a three count indictment, sentences to run concurrently. Execution of this sentence was suspended, and he was placed on probation for two years. He was fined $2,000.00 on count one, and the fine was to be paid within one year. He was discharged from probation by order of the United States District Court, June 24, 1946. At that time his fine had been paid in full.

FRANCIS A. CAPELL in January, 1952, testified before a Subcommittee of the United States Senate Armed Services Committee relative to illegal hiring for work on overseas bases. CAPELL was then manager of Personnel Service Bureau, Incorporated, New York, New York. The Personnel Service Bureau was one of the few agencies in the New York area to hire men for overseas work.

FRANK A. CAPELL, 56 Bay Street, Staten Island, New York, advised that he is the editor of the biweekly publication, "The Herald of Freedom". He stated that this publication is devoted to fighting Communism and its entire contents are written by himself. CAPELL advised that his material is received from confidential sources and also from public source material.

CAPELL advised that with respect to the January 17, 1964, edition of his publication, which contained considerable information of a background nature on JACK RUBY, also known as Jack Rubinstein, the data which concerned RUBY's contacts in Havana, Cuba, was received in confidence from a reliable source in the newspaper industry. He advised that he had written that RUBY had been in Havana in the past year, but that accurately speaking, it should have read, "a few years ago."

CAPELL stated that the information regarding RUBY's contact in Havana with one "FRASKIN", was likewise received from the same source in the newspaper field.

He advised that in order to add further credence to his comments about RUBY in Cuba, he added the comment that the information was received from Havana from one of the best informed men in the United States on Soviet Intelligence. CAPELL stated this individual was the original source of the information regarding RUBY's trip to Havana and contact with "FRASKIN". He advised that this individual had furnished the information to his source in the newspaper field.

Presidential Assassination Report
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, District of Columbia

Dear Sir:

I have been assigned a term paper dealing with the possibility of Lee Harvey Oswald conspiring with others in his assassination plot despite the findings of the Warren Commission Report.

I believe that one week after the assassination the FBI reported that Oswald acted alone in his plot to kill President Kennedy. I would like to request any information concerning the possibility of a conspiracy which you may be able to release. Specifically I would gratefully acknowledge the answers to the following questions:

1. Why did Oswald assassinate President Kennedy?
2. On what evidence did the FBI base it's belief that Oswald acted alone, as an individual?
3. Why were possible accomplices such as the Cuban "Scentor", an unidentified right-wing millionaire, Jack Ruby, and Marina Oswald discounted?
4. To what percentage is the FBI positive or reasonably certain of the fact that Oswald was not involved in a conspiracy of any kind?

FREEDOM EVIDENCE

5. From what source or sources did Lee Harvey Oswald obtain the money necessary in order to travel to Mexico from September 26 until October 3, 1963?

6. Why did Oswald, contrary to his previous pattern of behavior, choose to room in a Dallas boarding house shortly before the assassination?

7. Did Oswald ever contact Jack Ruby in Ruby's nightclub as suggested by memory expert Bill Demar shortly after the assassination?

8. Why, in the estimation of the FBI, did Ruby shoot Oswald?

9. Did Oswald recognize Ruby in the Dallas police headquarters basement and then turn his glance away from him as suggested by a television commentator from photographs of the crime on the day that Oswald was fatally wounded?

10. Were any facts about the possibility of a conspiracy surpressed out of consideration of the emotional instability of the nation, the world situation at that time, or for any other reason?

I have no doubt that some of these questions may be answered by the Warren Commission Report. However I believe that the FBI has studied this particular question in more depth than the Warren Commission was able to, and was not under the intense public pressure of that Commission to publish the facts as soon as possible. Also some additional evidence may have come into existence since that Report. Therefore I am requesting this information.

I would also greatly appreciate the name of any sources which may assist me in my gathering of information for my paper.

Thank you for your time and trouble.

Yours truly,

Lawrence Ur

On January 13, 1965, Mr. Ralph Given, Security Officer, General Services Administration (GSA), made available to the Bureau a copy of a letter President Johnson received from Mr. Robert M. C. Johnson, Mayor of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, wherein Mr. Johnson criticizes the decision of the National Archives to withhold from the public for 75 years the testimony and exhibits of the Warren Commission. Mr. Given informed Inspector James R. Malley of this Bureau that his office has drafted a reply to Mayor Johnson and he requested to be advised whether Bureau has any objection to such proposed reply. A copy of such reply is attached.

A check of Bufiles disclosed we have had cordial correspondence with Mayor Johnson in the past on matters of mutual interest. Mayor Johnson has previously solicited advice from the Bureau in handling juvenile activities.

In its proposed reply to Mayor Johnson, GSA points out to Mayor Johnson that the Commission's report and additional 26 volumes of testimony, documents, affidavits, and other exhibits contained relevant facts concerning the assassination of President Kennedy and that no pertinent facts have been withheld and none are now cloaked in secrecy.

GSA also points out to Mayor Johnson that the Commission records in National Archives will be administered under the same laws, executive orders, and regulations that apply to other Government archives and that restrictions on use of any unpublished records of the Commission are not necessarily imposed because of considerations of national security. REC-44 62-109090-4

GSA further points out to Mayor Johnson that some of the items maintained by National Archives relating to the Commission's report deal with data involving innocent persons having no connection with the subject of the investigation, and that it would be improper to release information of this nature which would needlessly embarrass or damage innocent third parties. In addition, GSA points out that because of the techniques and sources of investigatory agencies, reports of investigation and similar materials are withheld from use, except for the permission of the originating agency, for a period of 75 years. In conclusion, GSA points out that the application of this policy to the records of the Commission appears to be required by the public interest.

The proposed draft of GSA closely conforms with our policy and feelings in this matter. By letter dated October 23, 1964, we informed the President's Commission that we were concerned that publication of all of our investigative reports might reflect on innocent persons if the reports are made public in their entirety. We noted that our reports contained information in the nature of gossip and rumor which had not been substantiated and that if this type of information should be misused or become a matter of public knowledge, it would reflect most unfavorably upon the Department of Justice and the President's Commission. It is to be noted that, without exception, all results of our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald and the assassination were furnished to the Commission in an unclassified status for use of the Commission in any manner it desired. To do this, we found it necessary to rewrite 16 reports and letterhead memoranda to protect important, sensitive informants, [redacted] or classified information obtained from another Government agency. The revised documents were used by the Commission in its report to the public and the original classified versions of such documents have been filed in National Archives along with other Commission documents.

ACTION:

Attached is a letter to the GSA advising that this Bureau has no objection to its proposed reply to Mayor Robert M. L. Johnson.

JAN 6 1964

Mr. President:

As one who read and believed the Warren Report on the assassination of President Kennedy I am disturbed and chagrined that you would permit a government agency to dictate to you what will be done with testimony and exhibits for the next 75 years.

Knowing that you believe in the public's right to know - a statement you have often made - it intrigues me that you would permit a 75 year cloak of secrecy to fall over the facts involved in the Kennedy assassination.

The decision of the National Archives Bureau to withhold from the public "off the record testimony and exhibits of the Warren Commission for 75 years" is inexplicable and inexcusable and gives cause to doubt the veracity of the published Warren Commission report.

I believe in national security but I fail to see the relationship between the facts of the Kennedy assassination and the security of the nation at this time.

Why I suggest that if there is true justification for withholding from the public the facts of one of the most tragic events of our time, it is also incumbent upon our national leadership to make it clear why.

Franklin D. Roosevelt said: "the only thing we have to fear is fear itself." Secrecy creates fear.

Respectfully submitted,

Robert H. L. Johnson

Dear Mayor Johnson:

Thank you for writing me concerning the records of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy which have now been deposited with the National Archives of the United States.

The Commission's Report of its findings and conclusions and the 26 additional volumes containing the testimony, depositions, affidavits, copies of investigative reports and of the documentary and photographic exhibits on which the findings were based, contain the relevant facts concerning the assassination of President Kennedy. No pertinent facts have been withheld and none are now cloaked with secrecy. Since no transcript was made of "off the record" testimony, publication of this evidence is, of course, impossible.

The Commission records in the National Archives will be administered under the same laws, executive orders and regulations that apply to other Government archives. Restrictions on use of any unpublished records of the Commission are not necessarily imposed because of considerations of national security. As in the case of all such investigations, numerous innocent persons having no connection with the subject of the investigation are involved in the reports. It would be quite improper to release information of this nature that would needlessly embarrass or damage innocent third parties. For this reason, as well as the fact that the techniques and sources of investigatory agencies must be protected, reports of investigation and similar materials are withheld from use, except with the permission of the originating agency, for a period of 75 years.

The application of this policy to the records of the Commission appears to me to be required by the public interest.

RE: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

On 1/20/65, Mrs. MYRTLE A. ROGERS, 2503 Kilburn Avenue, Dallas, Texas, telephonically advised the Dallas FBI Office that she had at approximately 7:00 p.m. that same evening received a telephone call from an individual identifying himself to her as LESTER HARRIS.

Mrs. ROGERS stated that HARRIS, who is completely unknown to her, started to ask her some questions about former roomers of hers who were residing in a cottage to the rear of her house at the time of the assassination of President KENNEDY. Mrs. ROGERS stated that she was dumbfounded when he started to mention dates and facts. She expressed to him her wonderment as to the source of his information. HARRIS replied to her, "Why Mrs. ROGERS, didn't you know that your name is in the Warren Commission Report?"

Mrs. ROGERS stated that she did not know that her name was in the Commission's report and so advised HARRIS.

HARRIS then questioned her as to the identities, present place of employments, telephone numbers, exact dates of residence, etc., of the roomers who were tenants at the time of the assassination. Mrs. ROGERS stated that her memory is poor and told HARRIS that she would have to search for her old rent receipt book before she could furnish him this information.

HARRIS then advised Mrs. ROGERS that he would call her the following evening around 7:00 p.m. for the information regarding names, dates, etc., of the former roomers. HARRIS gave his telephone number as LEhigh 5-6200.

Regarding this telephone number, Mrs. ROGERS has advised that HARRIS did not mention the name of the city from where he was calling. She knows that there is no such telephone exchange as "Lehigh" in the Dallas area.

On the night of January 21, 1965, Mrs. M. A. ROGERS, supra, recontacted the Dallas FBI Office and advised that LESTER HARRIS had just called again at which time he stated he was calling from New York City and that his telephone number was LEhigh 5-6200.

Mrs. ROGERS advised that she truthfully had not been able to find her 1963 rent ledger and so advised HARRIS. She then told him that she recalled that one of the former roomers was a (FNU) MC FADLIN, and that another roomer was a WILLIAM ANDERSON.

Mrs. ROGERS noted that HARRIS then started to press her for details regarding the search of MC FADLIN's room, that is, was it a legal search; who had the right to take the bullet shells and turn them over to the Sheriff's Office, etc.

Mrs. ROGERS stated that she halted HARRIS at this point and expressed her curiosity as to why he was wanting such information. He then replied that the information he was describing to her and asking questions about had appeared in the President's Commission report and he was merely trying to verify same.

Mrs. ROGERS asked HARRIS if he was writing a book and he said that he was not; but that he was just doing research and free lancing work.

At this point, their conversation came to an end and HARRIS expressed his thanks to Mrs. ROGERS for her cooperation. He said that he was going to try to locate WILLIAM ANDERSON for interview and he might someday call Mrs. ROGERS back by telephone.

Mrs. ROGERS cannot understand why HARRIS did not know the names of ANDERSON and MC FADLIN if he claims her name appears in the Commission Report.

It is noted that the index available to the Dallas Office of the Commission's Report, including the original report and the 26 volumes, does not contain any references to Mrs. M.A. ROGERS, WILLIAM ANDERSON, MC FADLIN or TOMMY JOHNSON.

The information originally obtained from Mrs. ROGERS, ANDERSON, and MC FADLIN, during the course of the Assassination investigation, appears in the report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, 12/10/63, Dallas, captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD; IS - R - CUBA", pages 606 through 617.

The Dallas indices contain no identifiable reference to LESTER HARRIS.

NOTE:

Mrs. Rogers fits into the assassination investigation as a result of an allegation that three men resided in her home just prior to the assassination, acted suspiciously and departed immediately after the assassination leaving numerous personal belongings and three rifle cartridges. Intensive investigation identified these three men and it was established the cartridges belonged to Dudley Hall McFadin who admitted leaving Mrs. Rogers' home hurriedly as he had no money to pay his rent and had intended to return for his personal belongings after he obtained money he owed her. This he never did. At this time we know nothing of Lester Harris; however, it is possible he may be doing some type of research and is making an effort to shed some doubt on the guilt of Lee Harvey Oswald based on the type of questions he asked Mrs. Rogers.

Having written you a critical letter last Fall when the press carried your reportedly forgiving attitude toward Walter Jenkin's conduct while in high office, I send you my hearty congratulations and warm appreciation for the remarks you made upon the receipt of the Sword of Loyola Award in Chicago, as carried in the San Francisco Examiner of Jan. 23, 1965. Well said!

I have just finished reading the "Warren Report" and I have never read a more meticulous presentation of the facts surrounding an event. It is completly convincing so far as Oswald is concerned. But I did not find an expected and hoped for discussion of the devestating effect that the Communist philosophy (Force and violence is not only right but praisworthy in destroying the existing order to bring about communism) must have on all such brittel minds as that of Lee Harvey Oswald's. Why?

One can not but wonder what comment might have been offered in the "Report" had the perpetrator of the vile murder been of the John Birch persuasion as was at first predicted by some members of the "Commission" and certain other politicians.

that a vigourous South African lobby is at work in Britain - an effo probably expedient in view of the present climate of opinion. We are in a state of suspended hypocrisy on aparthied; publicly we condemn i
- but all who have dealings with South Africa know that the barrage of words has little effect on that country's policy. Indeed, sympat towards South Africa's attitude is powerfully entrenched in financi circles here. And in these circles the brave words of Christian investigators have little effect.

I have learned from German, British and American missionaires (by reading church papers) that the greatest tragedy in the whole scene is undoubtedly the destruction of the image of Christian itself. It is becoming increasingly difficult to make the uncommitte people believe that to be "Christian" means to be compassionate. just and full of love, and that to be Communist means to be cruel and unjust. I even read that some missionairies observed with heartbreak

* From page 4: The Warren Report has correctedly been summed up as the case for the prosecution, and Trevor-Roper echoes this and ask for the case for the defence. He also castigates the American and British press for their lack of "the cririca spirit in journalism". This heavily applies to Canada, too.

how Hinduism, Buddhism, even Mohammedanism remain symbols of gentleness and brotherhood - for all their primitive and wretched superstitions - while Christianity increasingly is thought of as limitless wealth spent quite largely on weapons of indescribable and indiscriminate horror. And it began with Christian Americans planning and dropping the first nuclear bombs on Buddhist and non-white cities!

The Mystery of MR. K.

While Britain and the U.S.A. have been having their election the U.S.S.R. has been having an "un-election". The right of recall is a tenet of communism. So is the right of self-vindication. Who recalled Krushchov; and what were the charges; and what was his defence?

The "29 errors" is an evidence of desparate searching for reasons to suit every taste, from parish pump to United Nations. One of these "errors" concerns the Cuban crisis. It is asserted tha the placing of missiles in Cuba, and their subsequent removal caused the U.S.S.R. to "lose face".

Nonsense. Placing rockets in Cuba and revealing their presence just as the U.S.A. was about to invade the little island with the "biggest fleet ever assembled" was a master stroke. It won the war for Cuba without one life being lost.

If he had NOT placed the rocket there Cuba would have been invaded and Russia would have lost face. If he had not placed them in time some of us by now would not have any face worth losing- or keeping.

Comment:

The left has been aggravatingly silent on this bombshell from Russia. As silent as the press on the case for Oswald.

Our press has ferreted out practically nothing on the sta of K. Even the pacifist international weekly, Peace News, when it does get something buries it with small space, Dec. 4, and which is the first real news on the what of Krushchov. It is that the man is alive as he has been, ~~and still is~~, corresponding with Bertrand Russell. Lord Russell is afraid to release details for fear the pre will distort it.

The Word is a pacifist, atheist, independent left wing monthly. It has done well to have this opinion and speak it out.

Churchill on Hanging

Editor, The Sun, Sir:

On the question of capital punishment I am reminded of the words of the greatest humanitarian of our times, the incomparable Sir Winston Churchill, in a speech in the House of Commons in 1948:

Comment:

"Humanitarian"! Churchill is the embodiement of CALLOUSNESS. I believe his own daughter's drunkenness bothers him not at all? And was it he or his minister who said that the saturation bombing of German cities was "an excellent idea"?

Did Churchill really roll out those words? If so, what has he said! Nothing, of course.

In all, 'how crazy can you get'!

Letter from Kalamazoo, Michigan:

...I also listen to educational programs broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting System in Toronto, Ontario, which are much better than anything that is heard on most U.S. stations.

The UNited States has always been fairly materialistic, but I think it is becoming much more so as time passes. Of course there is no way to stem this tide, but a few of us can try to believe in truth and goodwill among peoples.

The U.S. greatly needs this type of information, even though most of us don't realize it and, worse, don't even want to think of it.

Awake! Dec. 22, 1964 (Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, New York

An interesting comment in this regard was that of the Altus, Oklahoma, Times-Democrat, Oct. 4, 1964. In an editorial entitled,

"Next President - Portrait in Mud," the following points were made: "Whom do you like for president? Do you prefer a 'raving, ranting demagogue' who is the trigger-happy leader of 'reckless and rejected extremes' and who would steer a "callous course'? Or will your vote go to a 'liar' ... a crafty millionaire who amassed a fortune in a manner that must cause him some sleepless nights... a political schemer who deliberately sets up international crises so he can show off... who uses his high office to threaten citizens with exposure as income tax cheaters unless they come across with real money for his party's campaign fund?"

The Oswald Case

Mrs. Kennedy uses the plural in reference to the killers of her husband, "They have shot my husband". This need not have significence by itself but one wonders when another plural use was omitted in the Warren Report. According to The Peacemaker a reporte Jack Anderson, had access to a tape recording made by Mrs. Johnson when she got home from Dallas in which she recounted her version of the crime. She did this for its therapeutic value. In regard to Mrs. Kennedy not changing her blood-stained clothes, Mrs. Johnson quotes her as saying, "I want them to see what they have done to Jack". The Commission has omitted this.

I do not believe Mrs. Kennedy has told all. I cannot believe she does not remember why she climbed to the back of the car. From beginning to end Mrs. Kennedy demonstrated nothing but superb mental stability. THis blank wall at this one point is inconsistent. She would remember the reason for her action only too well Governor Connally must be privy to the lie of the Warren Report, as of course must be very many, but evidently he will not al it where it affects himself, personally, namely the number and order of the shots. He sticks to three bullets. The second hit him; the third Kennedy to the brain. The Commission says he is mistaken, tha the firsf bullet hit him after going through Kennedy's neck.

I think the most blatant thing I have yet read in the Warren Report is that of the Commission discarding the evidence of their only two witnesses to the "paper bag" incident, and substituting therefore some of their own imagination!

The paper bag has already been taken up by critics, of course, and now The National Guardian, Dec. 26, reports it among a number of other challenges to the Commission's findings by the Brit historian, Hugh Trevor-Roper. (SEE 1ST PAGE)

PREDICATION:

By letter 2-8-65 the Attorney General (AG) informed the Bureau the President has requested Department of Justice to coordinate a study among appropriate Government agencies concerning the availability to members of the public of materials delivered by the President's Commission on the assassination of President Kennedy to National Archives. The AG specifically requested Bureau comments as to the possibility of making FBI investigative reports and other FBI documents, which were furnished to the Commission, available to the public at this time and also requested to be advised regarding certain criteria and procedures we would follow if requested to permit examination of our documents.

PROBLEMS INVOLVED:

Basically, the Bureau's position is that materials emanating from the Bureau for the President's Commission on the assassination of President Kennedy are in the public realm, except in the minority of instances requiring that the data be classified. Material in our reports and other communications that necessitated security classification in interests of the national security included:

1. Information from confidential security informants, some of whom can be identified if the information is made public.

2. Information obtained through confidential investigative techniques, such as mail covers, technical surveillances, anonymous sources, and the like.

3. Information showing our coverage of the Soviet Embassy, Washington, D. C.

4. Information from other Government agencies which was classified by such agencies and, therefore, we must maintain such classification.

According to United States Government classification procedures, anyone having access to classified material must have the necessary security clearance.

The overwhelming majority of our letters and reports which we disseminated to the President's Commission were unclassified because we endeavored to make them so: However, there are real problems involved in some of these letters and reports, and we have previously pointed this out to both the AG and the President's Commission.

For example, our unclassified documents which were furnished to the President's Commission contained a considerable amount of rumor, gossip, and character-assassination-type data involving innocent people. We have been extremely concerned over the possibility of this type information becoming available to the public. We specifically pointed out to the AG and the President's Commission that making the contents of such documents available to the public could cause serious repercussions to the Commission, and we pointed out the responsibility which must be assumed by the Commission in the event such documents are made available to the public.

The Commission took cognizance of our letter and by letter dated 11/18/64 replied that it was keenly aware that the publication of such documents should take place only after serious consideration of all the implications and that it was making every effort to minimize the use of information of a highly personal nature, consistent with the overriding requirement that the Commission make available to the public the fullest possible record of the investigation of the President's assassination.

In addition, there is a real problem involved where our unclassified documents contain information that was furnished to us in confidence by sources such as banks, hotels, Western Union, and the like whose records cannot be produced, except under the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum. Public disclosure of such information could lose us the cooperation of these valuable sources and possibly subject these sources to a civil suit.

Another problem involves our reports concerning Marina Oswald and her personal activities following the assassination. Also, in checking out the background of Lee Harvey Oswald's associates, including Ruth and Michael Paine and George and Jeanne DeMohrenschildt and others, we conducted extensive investigation into the personal lives of these people, which could cause them real embarrassment if published, and which would be unwarranted since these people were not involved in the assassination of President Kennedy.

In addition, it is noted that the entire extensive investigation we conducted concerning Jack Ruby, convicted assassin of Lee Harvey Oswald, is part of the records of the President's Commission now being maintained by the National Archives. The Ruby case is presently on appeal.

OBSERVATIONS:

During this Bureau's investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald and related inquiries, we sent to the Commission over 2,300 reports, letters and memoranda totaling approximately 25,400 pages. These included reports on Lee Harvey Oswald, Jack Ruby, Mark Lane, Ruth and Michael Paine, Jeanne and George DeMohrenschildt, general assassination reports dealing with false allegations and evidential items and other related matters.

At the termination of its investigation, the Commission in the preparation of its report to the public requested authority from this Bureau to declassify certain of our documents in order that it could use data in such communications in its report. In such instances we did authorize declassification of certain classified reports, or furnished to the Commission amended pages to a document to meet the needs of the Commission and still protect our sources and coverage. Some of our classified communications dealing with the investigation of false leads, allegations, and the like, were never used by the Commission in its report to the public. Although we do not know whether all data we furnished to the Commission has been turned over by the Commission to the National Archives, we assume this has been done.

QUESTIONS RAISED BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL:

In his letter, the AG specifically requested to be furnished answers to the following questions:

Memo W. A. Branigan to W. C. Sullivan
RE: PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION REPORTS AND WORKING PAPERS

1. QUESTION: What are the circumstances under which the FBI would refuse permission to inspect documents prepared for the Commission?

ANSWER: Basically, the FBI's position is that materials emanating from the Bureau for the President's Commission are in the public realm, except in the minority of instances requiring that the data be classified. In order for a person to gain access to the relatively few classified documents of this Bureau being maintained by the National Archives for the President's Commission, a security clearance would be required.

2. QUESTION: Would these considerations apply equally to all persons interested in viewing the documents, or would there be some persons such as recognized historians or those with security clearance, who would be given freer access?

ANSWER: As stated in the answer above, to have access to classifie documents of this Bureau being maintained by National Archives, a person, whether a recognized historian or otherwise, would have to have a security clearance, as such person would be bound by the classification of the document in such person's handling of the material.

3. QUESTION: In determining what documents should remain sealed, what consideration would be given to the extent to which information related to that included in the document in question appears in materials which have previously been published or otherwise made public?

ANSWER: Should it be considered desirable, this Bureau will examine the classified information from the FBI which was sent to the National Archives by the President's Commission for the purpose of extracting the classified information from the report so that this material could be segregated from the remainder of the report.

4. QUESTION: How often and under what circumstances would the FBI re-evaluate the reasons for maintaining the secrecy of particular documents?

ANSWER: We will review each classified document at least once a year and at any other time a specific inquiry is received concerning the classification of a certain document.

The AG also requested to be furnished our comments and recommendations as to the possibility of establishing uniform criteria for the disclosure of investigative reports prepared for the President's Commission, and/or of establishing a unified procedure for reviewing requests to examine these materials.

In responding to this question, we are informing the AG that we do not have any comments or recommendations for establishing uniform criteria for the disclosure of investigative reports involved and/or of establishing a unified procedure for reviewing requests to examine these materials. We are pointing out to the AG that there are certain serious problems involved in the disclosure of certain unclassified information which the Department should seriously consider. These problems, as mentioned above, include the following:

1. A number of our unclassified reports contain a considerable amount of rumor, gossip, and character-assassination-type data involving innocent people, and that there could be serious repercussions to the Commission and to this Government should such documents be made available to the public.

2. A number of our reports contain information from confidential sources such as banks, hotels, Western Union, and the like, whose records could not be produced except under the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum. Public disclosure of such information could lose us the cooperation of these valuable sources and possibly subject the sources to a civil suit.

3. A number of our reports contain extensive investigation into the personal lives of Marina Oswald and associates of Lee Harvey Oswald. Disclosure of such data to the public could cause these persons real embarrassment, which would be unwarranted since they were not involved in the assassination.

4. Reports containing the entire extensive investigation, which we conducted concerning Jack Ruby, are part of the records of the President's Commission, now being maintained by National Archives. The Jack Ruby case is presently on appeal.

The AG in his letter also stated that National Archives has indicated it would be able to make available to each agency all of its investigative reports, which are in the files of the President's Commission. The AG indicated that this being so, would we deem it feasible to have a representative of this Bureau make an item-by-item examination of the Commission documents from this Bureau to determine which may properly be made the subject of immediate examination by members of the public (and, where necessary, be properly declassified,) and which may be made subject to examination at some time less than 75 years hence.

In our reply to the AG on this point, we are stating that we do not find it necessary to make this item-by-item examination since we have complete records of everything we have disseminated to the President's Commission. We will inform the AG, however, that as pointed out above, we will examine each classified document maintained by National Archives for the purpose of extracting the classified information from the report so that this material could be segregated from the remainder of the report, if such action is deemed desirable.

The President has requested the Department of Justice to coordinate a study among the appropriate governmental agencies concerning the availability to members of the public of materials delivered by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy to the National Archives.

As you know, the current regulations of the National Archives provide that reports of investigative agencies are not to be made available to any member of the public, regardless of his credentials or purpose, for a period of 75 years without the approval of the agency which prepared the report. The President requested that this Department consider in particular "the feasibility and advisability of making an exception, in this particular case, to the normal 75-year disclosure procedure."

I can appreciate that the considerations which underlie the general policy of delayed disclosure of investigatory materials are applicable to some of the unpublished materials of the President's Commission. It is undoubtedly necessary to withhold certain of the Commission's papers from the public at this time. On the other hand, in light of "the very special nature of the Warren Commission's investigation and the desirability of the fullest possible disclosure of all the findings," as recognized by the President's Office, careful consideration must be given to possible alternatives to the 75-year procedure which would protect the legitimate demands of the government while allowing "the fullest possible disclosure." Moreover, since much of the evidentiary material relied on by the Commission has already been published, it may well be that the normal reasons for delaying disclosure are not applicable to a substantial portion of the unpublished materials.

CORRESPONDENCE

Since, under the normal procedures of the National Archives, the Federal Bureau of Investigation would determine whether Bureau reports submitted to the Commission would be made available for inspection, it seems advisable to begin the study by ascertaining the criteria and procedures that would be employed by your Bureau if requested to permit the examination of such documents. Though it may be that these matters are normally handled on an ad hoc basis, it will be helpful to know, so far as possible, the circumstances under which your Bureau would refuse permission to inspect documents prepared for the Commission. Would these considerations apply equally to all persons interested in viewing the documents or would there be some persons, such as recognized historians or those with security clearance, who would be given freer access? In determining what documents should remain sealed, what consideration would be given to the extent to which information related to that included in the document in question appears in materials which have previously been published or otherwise made public? How often and under what circumstances would your Bureau re-evaluate the reasons for maintaining the secrecy of particular documents?

The National Archives has indicated that it would be able to make available to each agency all of its investigative reports (and letters in the nature of investigative reports) which are in the files of the President's Commission. This being so, would you deem it feasible to have a representative of your Bureau make an item-by-item examination of the Commission documents from your Bureau to determine which may properly be made the subject of immediate examination by members of the public (and, when necessary, be properly declassified), and which may be made subject to examination at some time less than 75 years hence?

In addition to this information, I would appreciate your comments and recommendations as to the possibility of establishing uniform criteria for the disclosure of investigative reports prepared for the President's Commission, and/or of establishing a unified procedure for reviewing requests to examine these materials.

I realize that several of the questions raised by this memorandum present difficulties and will require your thoughtful consideration. I appreciate your assistance in examining this matter.

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION REPORTS AND WORKING PAPERS

This letter is in response to your letter of February 8, 1965, in captioned matter wherein you requested to be furnished certain data which would be of assistance in the study the Department of Justice is coordinating among the appropriate Governmental agencies concerning the availability to members of the public of materials delivered by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy to the National Archives.

Basically, this Bureau's position is that materials emanating from this Bureau for the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy are in the public realm, except in the minority of instances requiring that the data be classified. Material in our reports and other communications that necessitated security classification in interests of the national security included:

1. Information from confidential security informants, some of whom can be identified if the information is made public.

2. Information obtained through valuable confidential investigative techniques of this Bureau.

3. Information showing our coverage of the Soviet Embassy, Washington, D. C.

4. Information from other Government agencies which was classified by such agencies and, therefore, we must maintain such classification.

The Attorney General

According to U. S. Government classification procedures, anyone having access to classified material must have the necessary security clearance.

The overwhelming majority of our letters and reports which we disseminated to the President's Commission were unclassified because we endeavored to make them so. However, there are real problems involved in some of these letters and reports and we have previously pointed this out, both to the President's Commission and to the Department.

For example, our unclassified documents which were furnished to the President's Commission contained a considerable amount of rumor, gossip, and character-assassination-type data involving innocent people. We have been extremely concerned over the possibility of this type information becoming available to the public. In our letter to the Department dated October 27, 1964, in the matter entitled "Lee Harvey Oswald, Internal Security - Russia - Cuba," we specifically pointed out that making the contents of such documents available to the public could cause serious repercussions to the President's Commission and we also pointed out the responsibility which must be assumed by the President's Commission in the event such documents are made available to the public. By separate letter we expressed the same concern to the President's Commission.

The President's Commission took cognizance of our letter and by letter dated November 18, 1964, the President's Commission replied that it was keenly aware that publication of such documents should take place only after serious consideration of all of the implications and that it was making every effort to minimize the use of information of a highly personal nature, consistent with the overriding requirement that the Commission make available to the public the fullest possible record of the investigation of the President's assassination.

Another real problem involved in making unclassified documents available to the public is where such documents contain information that was furnished to us in confidence by sources such as banks, hotels, Western Union, and the like, whose records cannot be produced except upon the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum. Public disclosure of such information could result in the loss to us of the cooperation of these valuable sources and possibly subject these sources to a civil suit.

Another problem involves certain of our reports where we have conducted extensive investigation of Marina Oswald and her personal activities following the assassination. Similarly, in checking out the background of Lee Harvey Oswald's associates, including Ruth and Michael Paine and Jeanne and George DeMohrenschildt and others, we conducted extensive investigation into the personal lives of these people, which could cause them real embarrassment if publicized and which would be unwarranted since these people were not involved in the assassination of President Kennedy.

In addition to the problems above, it is also noted that the entire extensive investigation we conducted concerning Jack Ruby, convicted assassin of Lee Harvey Oswald, is part of the records of the President's Commission now being maintained by the National Archives. The Ruby case is presently on appeal.

As a matter of interest, please be advised that during our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald and related inquiries, we sent to the President's Commission over 2,300 reports, letters and memoranda, totaling approximately 25,400 pages. These data included reports on Lee Harvey Oswald, Jack Ruby, Mark Lane, Ruth and Michael Paine, Jeanne and George DeMohrenschildt, general assassination reports dealing with false allegations and evidential items and other related matters. At the termination of its investigation, the Commission, in the preparation of its report to the public, requested authority from this Bureau to declassify certain of our documents in order that it could use data in such communications in its report. In such instances, we did authorize declassification of certain classified reports where such was possible.

In other instances, we furnished to the President's Commission amended pages to a document to meet the needs of the President's Commission and still protect our sources and coverage. Some of our classified communications dealing with the investigation of false leads, allegations and the like, were never used by the President's Commission in its report to the public. Although we do not know whether all data we furnished to the Commission has been turned over by the Commission to the National Archives, we assume this has been done.

In your letter of February 8, 1965, you specifically requested to be furnished the answers to certain questions. These questions and our answers to the questions are set out below:

Question: What are the circumstances under which the FBI would refuse permission to inspect documents prepared for the Commission?

Answer: Basically, the FBI's position is that materials emanating from the Bureau for the President's Commission are in the public realm, except in the minority of instances requiring that the data be classified. In order for a person to gain access to the relatively few classified documents of this Bureau being maintained by the National Archives for the President's Commission, a security clearance would be required.

Question: Would these considerations apply equally to all persons interested in viewing the documents, or would there be some persons such as recognized historians or those with security clearance, who would be given freer access?

Answer: As stated in the answer above, to have access to classified documents of this Bureau being maintained by National Archives, a person, whether a recognized historian or otherwise, would have to have a security clearance, as such person would be bound by the classification of the document in such person's handling of the material.

Question: In determining what documents should remain sealed, what consideration would be given to the extent to which information related to that included in the document in question appears in materials which have previously been published or otherwise made public?

Answer: Should it be considered desirable, this Bureau will examine the classified information from the FBI which was sent to the National Archives by the President's Commission for the purpose of extracting the classified information from the report so that this material could be segregated from the remainder of the report.

Question: How often and under what circumstances would the FBI re-evaluate the reasons for maintaining the secrecy of particular documents?

Answer: We will review each classified document at least once a year and at any other time a specific inquiry is received concerning the classification of a certain document.

In your letter of February 8, 1965, you also requested to be furnished our comments and recommendations as to the possibility of establishing uniform criteria for the disclosure of investigative reports prepared for the President's Commission and/or of establishing a unified procedure for reviewing requests to examine these materials. For your information, we do not have any comments or recommendations in this connection. We do desire to point out again, however, that there are certain serious problems involved in the disclosure of certain unclassified information which appeared in the data which we furnished to the President's Commission which the Department should seriously consider in its study. These problems, as mentioned heretofore, include the following:

1. A number of our unclassified reports contain a considerable amount of rumor, gossip and character-assassination-type data involving innocent people and there could be serious repercussions to the President's Commission and to this Government should such documents be made available to the public.

2. A number of our reports contain information from valuable confidential sources such as banks, hotels, Western Union, and the like, whose records could not be produced except under the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum. Public disclosure of such information could result in the loss to us of the cooperation of these valuable sources and could possibly subject the sources to a civil suit.

3. A number of our reports contain extensive investigation into the personal lives of Marina Oswald and associates of Lee Harvey Oswald. Disclosure of such data to the public could cause these persons real embarrassment, which would be unwarranted since they were not involved in the assassination.

4. Reports containing the entire extensive investigation which we conducted concerning Jack Ruby are part of the records of the President's Commission now being maintained by National Archives. The Jack Ruby case is presently on appeal.

In conclusion, in your letter of February 8, 1965, you stated that National Archives has indicated it would be able to make available to each agency all of its investigative reports which are in the files of the President's Commission. You requested to be advised whether we deem it feasible to have a representative of this Bureau make an item-by-item examination of the Commission documents from this Bureau to determine which may properly be made the subject of immediate examination by members of the public (and, when necessary, be properly declassified), and which may be made subject to examination at some time less than 75 years hence.

For your information, we do not find it necessary to make this item-by-item examination at this time since we have complete records of everything we have disseminated to the President's Commission. However, as pointed out heretofore in this communication, we will, if deemed desirable, examine each classified document maintained by National Archives for the purpose of extracting the classified information from the document so that this material can be segregated from the remainder of the report.

SUBJECT: Preparation of certified copies of three exhibits to Report of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

It is my understanding that the F.B.I. presently has possession of the originals of the following three documents, among others, which were obtained from Marina Oswald in connection with the investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy:

(1) Commission Exhibit 129, Marina Oswald's Birth Certificate.

(2) Commission Exhibit 1111, Soviet Marriage Certificate of Lee Harvey Oswald and Marina Oswald (F.B.I. Exhibit 434).

(3) Commission Exhibit 1112, Soviet birth certificate of June Lee Oswald (F.B.I. Exhibit 344).

As you know, consideration is now being given to the appropriate disposition of these documents. At this time however, would you please prepare certified copies of the above three documents and send them to me, so that they may be forwarded to Marina Oswald.

SUMMARY FROM SPANISH

The Mexican Magazine "Politica," Year V, No. 114, January 15, 1965:

Title: "Puerto Rico: New Governor"
Pp. 34 and 36

In an article commenting on the recent elections in Puerto Rico, the pro-Independence Movement of Puerto Rico is mentioned thusly:

"Electoral Farce: The pro-Independence Movement (MPI), which is made up of the more valiant Puerto Rican patriots, announced that the elections which gave the victory to the Popular Democratic Party were an example of an electorial farce. This announcement has been confirmed, in part, by the national committee of the cited party, which has begun a survey to find out why more than 200,000 Puerto Ricans did not register or vote in the elections.

"The answer is easy: They did not vote because they followed the counsel of MPI, which urged them to participate in an "electoral strike," in spite of the fact that the law prohibits and demands that every citizen vote. If these 200,000 "striking" votes were added to the votes of the opposition parties, we could see that the PPD is in the minority in spite of having control over the electoral machinery.

"The MPI, which has increased in number and strength during 1964, besides denouncing the servilism of the new government to the will of the U. S., underlined the great successes gained by the movement. Among these successes is the release of their glorious independent leader, Pedro Albizu Campos, who was pardoned by Munoz Marin. Another of their successes is the treatment of the matter of Puerto Rican independence by the United Nations.

"The MPI is now preparing for the fight to succeed in the following objectives: prepare themselves for the 1968 elections and put an end to the problem of "statehood" so that Puerto Rico can cease being a U. S. colony; cause the failure of Munoz Marin's plans to convert Puerto Rico into a stage for the newly structured neo-colonialism of the United States, which is the objective of the U. S. in their request that the Puerto Rican question be dismissed by the United Nations; strengthen the expansion of the National Liberation Movement; seek the unity of anti-colonial forces upon a broad and highly militant political basis; and, develop diverse and increasing international pressures.

"To succeed in these proposals, the leaders of the MPI are reorganizing their party; this also includes the reorganization of their agencies in other countries, including the U. S."

Title: "United States; Who Killed Kennedy?"*
Pp. 36

The famous Warren report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, instead of clarifying the facts, it has hung a smoky veil over them. Such is the opinion of one of the more renown European historians, the Englishman, Hugh Trevor-Roper, Professor of Modern History at Oxford University.

Trevor-Roper (?) has made an extensive study of the report and is writing a book which refutes the assertions which are contained therein, pointing out the incongruities, contradictions and lack of investigative logic.

The English historian has exposed some of his ideas in the "London Sunday Times." These ideas have caused a sensation throughout Europe, even though the American press has given them very little space. According to Trevor-Roper, there are two outstanding points. The first thing is the manner in which they proceeded to arrest

*Translator's Note: This article is translated in full.

Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused Kennedy assassin, and second, the death of the policeman, D. D. Tippit (sic). The police gave Oswald's description and the order to arrest him, by radio, almost immediately after the President had been killed, without having any proof at all. To explain this anomaly, the Warren report says that a witness, Howard Brennan, saw them (sic) shoot from the window of the Texas School Book Depository Building and he told the police "a few minutes later." Trevor-Roper considers this to be improbable and suspects that the police had other proofs which they did not give to the Warren Commission.

According to the report, the police detained Oswald and Captain Fritz questioned him for 12 hours without even writing down one line of the questioning, taking shorthand notes or recording anything on tape. This seems impossible; nevertheless, the report claims that it is so. The FBI - Federal Bureau of Investigation - could not have committed the grave error of not recording the questioning process, especially when it concerned the assassination of the President of the United States. Either the record was destroyed, or the FBI is guilty of complete indifference - the Warren Commission has not bothered to find out.

In the first report issued by the doctors who attended Kennedy and made the autopsy, it says that Kennedy was hit from the front, and all of the police investigations were based on this assertion. It was supposed that the President was wounded when he approached the building or when he turned his head toward it. However, the police, not being able to coordinate that which the doctors had said with their affirmations concerning Oswald's supposed responsibility, maintained that Kennedy was shot from behind. The doctors re-examined their opinion and agreed with what the police wanted. The doctors did not save their notes. In spite of all this, the Warren Commission considers everything that happened to be all right. "The police evidence concerning Oswald's arrest and the doctors notes were destroyed," says Trevor-Roper, "and the Warren Commission did not consider these anomalies important."

At the place from where the shots were fired, the police found a paper sack in which - they say - Oswald put the fatal weapon. The sack was too small to hold the weapon; nevertheless, the police analyzed and later destroyed it, however, not without substituting a new sack, "so as to provide an instrumental proof." The police explained to the Commission that they destroyed the paper sack because it was discolored and rumpled. The Commission conforms with this explanation, since the "replica of the sack was the same as the original."

"After having completely destroyed all of the proof," says Trevor-Roper, sarcastically, "the police destroyed the supreme proof: Lee Harvey Oswald, the most important witness." How could Jack Ruby, Oswald's killer, enter the place where Oswald was in custody - even to the point of being held by two policeman - and kill him with one well-aimed shot from a revolver? He could have only gotten in the basement of the building with the consent or connivance of the police. Nevertheless, he did enter, and this is what the Warren Commission has not been able to clarify. In his initial declarations, Ruby refused to say how he had entered the place where Oswald was held. There appeared three policemen who declared that Ruby could have slipped-in to the place. Ruby then said that what the police reported was true.

The Warren Commission admits that Ruby was well known to the Dallas police and that they were on good terms. While referring to this part of the facts, the Warren Commission employs the word "probably" on various occasions in its report.

"The Commission," says the historian, "has considered valid everything that the Texas (sic) police and the FBI have told them, without ever submitting what they have said to a legal or intellectual investigation. Never has the Commission investigated further the proofs given by the police, and never has it insisted that the police express themselves or answer clearly."

Upon closing, Trevor-Roper criticizes the Commission and says that the confused and turbid report is limited to "criticizing the negligence" of the police. (sic) "The vast and disorderly Warren Commission report," terminates the historian, "has no more authority than the tendencious and defective police reports from which it was compiled."

The historian also refers to the declarations made by Mark Lane, Oswald's attorney, and says that these declarations were very just and well put. The historian adds that the report is a basis for accusation rather than an impartial document which could be used as a defense.

Mark Lane is now finishing a book in which he analyzes the Warren Report step by step.

Re DL airtel to the Bureau, 1/27/65.

On the basis of available information no record was located in the files of the Credit Bureau of Greater New York or the Bureau of Criminal Identification, NYCPD, concerning LESTER HARRIS.

The records of the NY Telephone Company made available on 2/24/65, reflected that telephone number LE 5-6200 is listed to a telephone answering service, dba Belles North, Ltd. at 221 East 78th St., NY, NY. This telephone was connected 1/22/63, and the operator of the answering service is Mrs. GAFFNEY. Telephone number AG-1134 is listed to Mrs. GAFFNEY at this address also.

FLORENCE GAFFNEY, operator of Belles North, Ltd. Answering Service, basement of apartment house located 221 East 78th Street on 2/25/65, advised as follows:

She has no subscriber by the name of LESTER HARRIS and she knows no one by that name.

She does have a subscriber named JONES HARRIS and he has been her subscriber since she began operating an answering service at her present location in 1963. He was also one of her subscribers for several years when she was part owner of Belles Celebrity Secretarial Service, Inc., a telephone answering service at 243 East 53rd Street, NY, NY. She indicated that it is common knowledge in theatrical circles that JONES HARRIS, a free lance writer, was born out of wedlock to JED HARRIS, well known NY theatrical producer and RUTH GORDON, Broadway stage actress.

RUTH GORDON is now married to GARSON KANIN another Broadway producer. JONES HARRIS resides with the KANINS at 242 East 48th St., NY, NY, telephone PL 5-8310.

According to GAFFNEY, HARRIS is convinced that LEE HARVEY OSWALD did not assassinate President KENNEDY. HARRIS believes that OSWALD is one of the persons appearing in a well publicized photograph taken of a group of people appearing in the doorway of the Texas Book Depository Building on the day of the assassination of President KENNEDY. HARRIS is supported in this theory by ARNOLD KRAKOWER, a NY attorney.

An article about JONES HARRIS and KRAKOWER and their theory appeared in one of the issues of "Life" magazine in the Fall of 1964. GAFFNEY could not recall the date that this article appeared in "Life" magazine.

Mrs. GAFFNEY never knew HARRIS to be employed, but she believed he is a free lance writer. She described him as white male, in his early thirties, short stocky build, about 5 feet 6 inches, dark hair, balding, and dark eyes.

JONES HARRIS, who described himself as a writer telephonically contacted the NYO on 2/7/62, indicated he was writing an article and he had a question concerning a point of law. He inquired as to why if it is a federal violation for a man to transport a woman across state lines for immoral purposes, it is not a federal violation for a woman to take a young boy across the state lines for an immoral purpose. At that time, HARRIS was referred to the USA, SDNY. No further inquiry being conducted, unless advised to the contrary by Dallas.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Re Bureau airtel to Dallas, 12/14/64, instructing Dallas to arrange for the systematic review of the 26 volumes containing the results of the hearings before the President's Commission, for the purpose of detecting any potentially serious problems which might possibly result in future embarrassment from unfounded allegations, criticism and the like.

In several instances, individuals, when interviewed by representatives of the President's Commission, indicated they did not recall certain statements recorded by FBI Agents reflecting the results of their interviews at an earlier time. For the most part, these were minor discrepancies which could have been due to a lapse of time and the state of mind of the individual when interviewed by FBI Agents. All of such minor discrepancies noted are not being brought to the attention of the Bureau, but are recorded in memorandum form in Dallas file.

It is noted that in numerous instances throughout the exhibits' volumes (e.g. Volumes XXII and XXV), FD-302s and/or letterhead memoranda were reproduced, which reflect examination of bank records, income tax records (both Federal and State), Western Union records, U. S. Post Office records, hospital records, and telephone records, which information is normally considered confidential and produced only upon the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum. It is unknown to the Dallas Office whether the President's Commission in all instances caused subpoenaes to be issued or otherwise obtained authority prior to the publication of such information.

It is also noted that some security-type reports were published in their entirety. It is presumed that this was done with the knowledge and sanction of the Bureau.

It is further pointed out that during instant review, a number of misspellings and typographical errors were noted, none of which appear to be of major consequence. No tabulation of all of the misspellings, poor grammar and punctuation, etc., was made.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

The Bureau is well aware of the criticism of the FBI in the President Commission's report on Page 24 concerning the FBI's "unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence...." Accordingly, no discussion of this subject matter herein appears required.

There is set forth below for the Bureau's attention certain data obtained during a review of the 26 volumes containing the results of the hearings before the President's Commission and certain of the volumes containing the exhibits which are considered worthy of mention. Where a volume number is not indicated, the review failed to reflect anything considered worthy of being brought to the Bureau's attention.

VOLUME I

On Pages 410-412, testimony of ROBERT EDWARD LEE OSWALD, the witness in describing an interview of MARINA OSWALD named one of the interviewing Agents as "Mr. BROWN", but did not identify the other Agent. Dallas files reflect the other Agent was SA JAMES P. HOSTY, JR. The witness inferred coercion or threats against MARINA OSWALD by the other Agent (SA JAMES P. HOSTY, JR.). It is noted that MARINA OSWALD herself has not complained of any such actions on the part of any Agents.

The same witness, on Page 446, claimed MARINA OSWALD was interviewed on a second occasion until she was almost exhausted. It is believed the witness was undoubtedly referring to an interview by SA ANATOLE BOGUSLAV and SA WALLACE R. HEITMAN on November 28, 1963. The FD-302 record of this interview relates information concerning the physical condition of MARINA OSWALD at the time. She was advised by interviewing Agents that she should not exhaust herself and to advise if she needed a respite. It is recognized this interview was lengthy. It was an important interview. MARINA OSWALD's physical and mental state of mind was, of course, not due primarily to the length of the interview but to the events of the preceding days.

On Page 495, witness JAMES HERBERT MARTIN described a reported conversation between himself and SA WALLACE R. HEITMAN concerning how newspapers obtained the story of OSWALD's attempt on General WALKER's life. MARTIN told the President's Commission representative that SA HEITMAN told him the story had not come from the Dallas Office of the FBI, but it was his opinion that it came through Washington -- Headquarters of the FBI or the Department of Justice. SA HEITMAN advised that he does not recall this reported conversation with MARTIN and denies he made any statement to MARTIN to the above effect.

VOLUMES IV AND V

These volumes contain testimony of SA JAMES P. HOSTY, JR., Chief of Police JESSE EDWARD CURRY, Lt. JACK REVILL, Detective V. J. BRIAN, all of the Dallas Police Department, and Dallas District Attorney HENRY WADE relative to the statements Lt. REVILL attributed to SA HOSTY on November 22, 1963, concerning the FBI's knowledge that OSWALD was capable of the assassination. This matter has previously been brought to the Bureau's attention, and the Bureau has already thoroughly considered the allegations made.

DL 62-3588

VOLUME VIII

Pages 228 through 265 reflect the deposition of NELSON DELGADO, a former U. S. Marine associate of OSWALD. This deposition might possibly cause some adverse reflection on the Agents who originally interviewed DELGADO.

On Page 238, DELGADO claims a misquote on the part of his interview; on Page 239, he claims the interviewing Agent who spoke Spanish kept "badgering" him; on Page 246, DELGADO infers interviewing Agents showed sarcasm toward him during interview; and on Page 259, DELGADO indicates the FBI misquoted him regarding the trip of OSWALD from his duty station to Los Angeles.

The interview referred to by DELGADO is one conducted by SA RICHARD B. MURDOCH and SA JAMES A. MARLEY, JR. The Spanish-speaking Agent DELGADO referred to is SA RICHARD B. MURDOCH (see report of SA JAMES A. MARLEY, JR., dated January 27, 1964, at Newark, New Jersey).

The report of SA JOHN T. MURPHY dated February 11, 1964, at Newark, sets forth on Cover Pages A and B certain evaluating comments concerning DELGADO, which it appears adequately explains DELGADO's remarks reflected in his deposition.

VOLUME IX

On Page 379, interview with Mrs. MICHAEL PAINE (RUTH PAINE), by a President's Commission representative, disclosed she was asked "Did the FBI, any of the FBI Agents, inquire of you prior to November 22, 1963, as to whether there were any firearms in your home?", to which Mrs. PAINE responded, "No". She was then asked "Did any FBI Agent inquire of you as to whether you thought there was any suspicious -- anything suspicious about LEE HARVEY OSWALD that caused you any concern with respect to the safety of the Government of the United States or any individual in it, in that Government?", to which she responded, "No, they made no such inquiry".

This testimony might be seized upon by some critic to substantiate his opinion there was a deficiency in investigating this matter. It is believed the Bureau has already thoroughly analyzed the results of the investigation conducted concerning OSWALD immediately prior to the assassination and further analysis would not appear to be warranted.

VOLUME XII

In testimony of Chief of Police JESSE E. CURRY on Page 30, he was asked if he received a message (on November 22, 1963) that Director HOOVER wanted him (CURRY) to know of his concern about OSWALD's security. Chief CURRY testified, "Specifically, I don't remember anyone coming to me and telling me that." (Mention is also made in the President's Commission report on Page 225.) It is noted this message was given to Chief CURRY on November 22, 1963, by an Agent of the Dallas Office. Chief CURRY does not deny receiving the message, but states he does not remember receiving such message.

VOLUME XVIII

Pages 795-796 and 798-799 are statements of U. S. Secret Service Agents relative to an incident at Parkland Hospital on November 22, 1963, concerning an individual claiming to be an FBI Agent, who attempted to enter the Emergency Room and was forcibly restrained. This Bureau is already thoroughly familiar with this incident involving SA J. DOYLE WILLIAMS, and no further action would appear warranted.

VOLUME XXI

VOLUME XXII

On Pages 297-303, there is a reproduction of an FD-302 in which the person being interviewed (PAUL ROWLAND JONES, known hoodlum) alleged that Dallas attorney T. K. ERWIN was a pay-off man of the hoodlum element to law enforcement authorities at Dallas. T. K. ERWIN continues to be an attorney in the City of Dallas. The truth of the allegation is not known.

An FD-302 interview report of Miss ELAINE ROGERS appears on Page 880. Miss ROGERS was one of many individuals discovered to have been acquainted with JACK RUBY. She related details of a conversation she had with RUBY in which he read suggestive and obscene poetry to her and in which he described his privates to her and went into detail as to how sexual intercourse with her would be accomplished and the gratification of same that she would receive. While it appears this information was voluntarily furnished by Miss ROGERS, it must be supposed she would not have anticipated publication of the interview for reading by millions.

On Page 903, an FD-302 report of interview with JOSEPHINE ANN BUNCE is reproduced. Miss BUNCE voluntarily furnished information as to having been intimate with JACK RUBY. It is not to be supposed that she anticipated widespread publication of this information.

VOLUME XXV

On Page 190-192, FD-302 reports of interviews with JEAN AASE and LAWRENCE V. MEYERS are reproduced. It is evident to the reader of such reports that these two persons cohabited illicitly, Mr. MEYERS being a married man. The information was supplied voluntarily, but, of course, it is doubtful either conceived of the publication of the interviews for the public to read.

On Page 276, a portion of an investigative insert sets forth information from the files of the Dallas Office concerning BILLY RAY WILSON aka, who, during the course of a previous Selective Service investigation, identified himself as a homosexual. It appears that WILSON's statement as to his homosexuality may have been a self-serving statement, but at the same time not made with the knowledge that it would one day be widely publicized.

On Page 374, the FD-302 report of interview of KAREN GREEN WILLIAMS is reproduced. Mrs. WILLIAMS advised that she danced under the name of FELISA PRELL as she did not want it publicly known that she was working as a strip-tease dancer.

With respect to the Bureau's request in referenced airtel that recommendations be made as to any action which should be taken, the following observations are made:

The President's Commission report and supporting volumes have been available to the public now for several months. The Dallas Office has received no complaints with regard to any of the items mentioned herein. It is presumed that had the Bureau received any complaints, such would have been brought to the attention of the Dallas Office. It would appear that any effort at corrective action at this time in view of the widespread circulation of the President's Commission report and the supporting volumes would only serve to invite attention to the items mentioned and thus possibly encourage criticism, which otherwise would not be forthcoming.

The March, 1965, issue of "Esquire" magazine contains an article entitled "A Critique of The Warren Report" by Dwight Macdonald. This article is a critical attack on the Report issued by the Warren Commission and it also contains criticism of the FBI, Secret Service, State Department, Dallas Police Department, and the Warren Commission itself.

DATA REGARDING AUTHOR:

Check of Bureau files disclosed we are currently conducting a Special Inquiry investigation for the White House concerning Dwight Macdonald. The position for which Macdonald is being considered by the White House was not given. Our investigation disclosed that a Dwight Macdonald, apparently identical with author of instant article in "Esquire," has previously had articles in "Esquire" wherein he has been critical of the FBI and the Director. Macdonald was born in 1906 in New York City and was educated at Yale University. He joined the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyite group, in approximately 1937 or 1938 and reportedly left this group in April, 1940. He later became identified with the Workers Party, which he left in 1941. He has been active in activities of the Socialist Workers Party and has been active in attempts to secure the release from prison of Morton Sobell, convicted Soviet agent.

ANALYSIS OF CURRENT ARTICLE IN "ESQUIRE":

Macdonald's article primarily is a scathing attack upon the Report issued by the Warren Commission in connection with the assassination of President Kennedy. Throughout his article, Macdonald draws upon his knowledge of Greek literature and mythology to make a comparison of Greek heroes and the individuals whose names appear in the Warren Report. He does this to such an extent that it appears his main objective is to impress upon his readers his vast knowledge of Greek literature and mythology.

Macdonald's main criticism of the Warren Report is its length and heap of inessential facts. He accuses the Warren Commission of using testimony of certain witnesses to build corroboration to findings of the Commission and claims that the Commission ignored or rejected the testimony of other witnesses where such testimony did not fit its findings.

On page sixty of his article, Macdonald makes reference to the Director as: "J. Edgar Hoover, whose G-men had efficiently kept Oswald 'under surveillance' as a defector to the USSR and a pro-Castro agitator, but who neglected to tell the Secret Service about it and whose response to a reproof in the Report was 'Monday-morning quarterbacking,' accurate, but somehow inadequate."

On page sixty-two of his article, Macdonald charges that FBI Agents Hosty and Bookhout, who conducted the interrogations of Oswald after the assassination, are "professionally stupid," whose "thinking has become so bureaucratized that it excludes unofficial reality, i.e., real reality."

Macdonald, on the same page in his article, is also critical of the FBI, Secret Service, and the Dallas Police Department for not making taped recordings and verbatum transcripts of all interviews conducted with Oswald after the assassination while Oswald was in custody of the Dallas Police Department.

In describing certain of the individuals or agencies whose names appeared in the Warren Report, Macdonald states as follows:

1. Lee Harvey Oswald - "Resentful underdog trying to give meaning to his failed life by elbowing his way into History."

2. Jack Ruby - "Hero-worshipper of cops and Presidents, who killed Oswald to avenge Jackie and the kids."

3. Judge Joe Brown - "Who presided over Ruby's trial chewing tobacco and occasionally leafing through magazines on the bench."

4. Police Chief Curry - "Who led the fatal motorcade and whose appetite for publicity made his headquarters a televised chaos which Ruby easily penetrated in his mission of vengence."

5. District Attorney Wade - "Who tried and convicted 'the suspect' on TV during Oswald's miraculous survival for almost two days in the custody of the Dallas cops."

6. Chief Justice Warren - "The Washington of the Supreme Court," whose "rectitude was as important to the Commission as Washington's was to the infant republic. But, like Washington, his character is as solid as his intellect is not."

7. United States Secret Service - "Under established procedure, they had instructions to watch the route for signs of trouble, scanning not only the crowds, but roofs and windows of buildings-except, it seems, the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository."

8. State Department - "After thinking it over for half a year, the State Department decided that, since he (Oswald) had failed to denationalize himself, he was still a citizen and his passport must be renewed. The travel loan was routine; almost any American stranded abroad without funds can get one, it seems."

In his article, Macdonald also is critical of a number of phony authors and spokesmen who made wild statements and wrote wild articles of the assassination. This group includes Mark Lane, Joachim Joesten, Thomas G. Buchanan, and Trevor-Roper. He criticized these individuals and their unrealistic criticism of the findings of the Warren Commission. He claimed, "These diehards wouldn't have been convinced by the Warren Report if Jehovah had descended in Person and had the Recording Angel engrave it on tablets of stone before their eyes."

After fifteen pages of rambling from one end of the Warren Report to the other, Macdonald finally arrives at the conclusion that Oswald alone killed the President; that there were no accomplices, and that there was no conspiracy. He charged that, instead of the long, cumbersome, involved Report that the Commission published of its findings, it would have done far better had it confined its Report to a "tidy, organized presentation of the 'hard' evidence plus a tough-minded evaluation of the 'soft' evidence, mostly eye witness testimony."

In connection with this charge of Macdonald, it is ironical to note that the report of the assassination prepared by the FBI and furnished to the President's Commission in early December, 1963, appears to be the exact type of document Macdonald feels should have

Dear Sir:

We are seniors in high school and are to be involved in a very serious debate concerning the assassination of the late President Kennedy. The point of controversy is whether or not this crime was the result of a planned conspiracy, domestic or foreign. Our viewpoint takes the con side of this statement. To make our arguement effective and also valid, it is necessary for us to obtain as much factual information as possible. We therefore would appreciate any data available from the F. B. I.'s investigation of this case. A personal comment would also be deeply appreciated. Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Dear Sir:

Drs. Perry and McClelland, who attended Mr. Kennedy's last moments in Dallas, Texas describe the bullet wound in his throat as one of entrance.

That bullet passed into the throat and down into the thoracic cavity, and did not exit.

Mr. Kennedy was facing straight forward, and his car was some forty feet beyond the bookstore window described as Oswald's vantage point, when the shots were fired. For Oswald's rifle to have made that wound, the bullet would have had to magically deflect itself approximately ninety degrees.

Sir, some Big People are trying to fool some little people...again.

I wonder who's interested besides me?

SUBJECT: USE OF SOG-NEW YORK TELEPHONE TIE LINE BY MR. J. LEE RANKIN

In December, 1963, the Director told Mr. Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Committee for investigating the assassination of President Kennedy, that Mr. Rankin could use our SOG-New York private telephone tie line any time in his investigation.

Mr. Mohr advised Mrs. Smith, our telephone supervisor, of this at the time.

The investigation by the special committee has been completed, and it appears that perhaps these instructions should now be rescinded.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Communications Section be instructed as to whether or not Mr. Rankin now has the Director's permission to use our SOG-New York telephone tie line.

Dear Mr. Palmer:

Thank you for your letter of March 6, 1965 in response to my previous inquiries about Lee Harvey Oswald.

Your letter states that the Warren Commission Report records the fact that Lee Harvey Oswald requested the legal services of John Abt after his arrest. My question was whether or not the Warren Report specified that Oswald had called for the legal services of John Abt, Attorney for the Communist Party in the Scarsden Area. Your letter states that such reference is made in the index of the Report, pages 801, 809 and 835. I now have the single volume copy of the Warren Report and I checked the references cited in your letter of March 6 and found that Abt is identified as a "New York lawyer." No mention is made of the fact that Abt is the Attorney for the Communist Party or that he is an identified Communist, as I understand him to be.

Why was this important information about Abt left out of the Report?

Sincerely,

J. C. Peele

Note was received March 26th from captioned individual in which she congratulated the Director upon the rapid solution of the recent killing of the civil rights worker in the vicinity of Selma, Alabama. In her note the correspondent states flatly that the Ku Klux Klan was responsible for this death.

The correspondent goes on to say that in solving this case the Director and the FBI made up for "the lack in Kennedy's shot, which could have been avoided by men (investigators) who allowed Oswald to get by without requesting Oswald to open that paper package." It is apparent that this correspondent has her facts completely mixed up with respect to the assassination of the late President Kennedy.

Bufiles contain no information concerning captioned individual.

..for the wonderful rapid successful probe in finding the Klu Klux Klan responsible for the death of The Lady in Detroit, whose sympathies was directly in opposite of the Klans ideas.

In this incident you and your staff made up for the lack in Kennedys shot, which could have been avoided by the men (investigators) who allowed Oswald to get by without requesting Oswald to open that paper package (gun) he was holding on to....for inspection..just to be sure, and the shot could have been avoided. PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN F. KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS

The attached letter directed to Inspector Leo J. Gauthier of this Bureau is being referred to your office for further consideration.

Mr. West was employed by Mr. Arlen Specter, Staff Attorney, President's Commission, to prepare a plat from a survey made of the assassination site in Dealey Plaza, Dallas, Texas, on May 24, 1964. Payment for services rendered by Mr. West was handled directly through Mr. Rankin's Office. Members of the FBI, Secret Service and Commission Staff Attorneys were present while the re-enactment of the assassination was in progress. Mr. West was working under the direct supervision of Mr. Specter. No one in the FBI promised copies of the plat to Mr. West or any member of his surveying team. Pursuant to Mr. Specter's instructions to Mr. West, the original plat (tracing) was furnished to the FBI upon its completion on May 31, 1964. Copies made by the FBI from this tracing were furnished to Mr. Specter per his instructions. The tracing which measures 40 by 72 inches was marked and identified as Commission Exhibit 882 on June 4, 1964, when Inspector Gauthier testified before the Commission members. Commission Exhibit 882 is presently in the custody of the FBI along with other exhibit items which the Commission desired be maintained by this Bureau pending a decision regarding permanent disposition.

Dear Mr. West:

Your letter to Inspector Leo J. Gauthier was referred to the Office of Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller, Jr., Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

The tracing as you mentioned became a matter of official record with the President's Commission inquiring into the assassination of President Kennedy on November 22, 1963.

The FBI has no authority to reproduce any of the Commission Exhibits. Your interest in obtaining copies of Commission Exhibit 882 for your file was immediately called to the attention of the Department of Justice. Mr. Gauthier has no recollection regarding the promise to furnish you with a copy of the plat prepared by you on May 24, 1964. As you will remember, the direction of the re-enactment of the assassination of President Kennedy through the use of surveying data, photographs, diagrams and scale models was supervised by staff attorneys assigned to the Office of Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN F. KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS

Reference communication received by L. J. Gauthier from Robert H. West, County Surveyor, Dallas, Texas, dated 3/29/65.

Mr. West is referring to surveying work he performed for the President's Commission on 5/24/64. Representatives of the FBI, Secret Service and staff members of the President's Commission conducted the re-enactment of the assassination under the supervision of Commission Staff Attorney Arlen Specter. Mr. West was following the instructions of Mr. Specter while field data was being gathered with the instruction that the results of his survey be made available as soon as possible to the FBI in Washington. Mr. West furnished his original layout (tracing) to the FBI on 5/31/64. Pursuant to the instructions of Mr. Specter, copies were made from this tracing and furnished to the Commission for its use. The tracing (original of the surveyor's plat 40 by 72 inches) was later marked as Commission Exhibit 882. This was in connection with Gauthier's testimony before the Commission on 6/4/64. Exhibit 882 is being maintained by the FBI Laboratory along with certain other exhibit items. The Exhibits Section is presently storing Exhibit 882 in its exhibit vault.

No one in the FBI to my knowledge promised to furnish Mr. West with copies of the plat in question. It is noted that Mr. West had shortly after the assassination been engaged by Secret Service to perform surveying work with regard to the assassination activities in Dealey Plaza. Payment for services rendered by Mr. West was handled directly through Mr. Rankin's Office.

The General Investigative Division advises that current incoming material concerning the work of the President's Commission is being called to the attention of Mr. Herbert J. Miller, Jr., Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT

Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission, telephoned today from his office in New York and advised he had received a communication from Waggoner Carr, Attorney General of the State of Texas. He stated Mr. Carr referred to the fact that he had seen some publicity indicating the guns belonging to Oswald had been returned to Mrs. Oswald. Carr expressed surprise at this action and desired to be advised by Mr. Rankin details concerning this matter. Mr. Rankin inquired as to whether Malley was in a position to furnish him any enlightenment on this matter and what action he might take with regard to this letter from Carr.

Mr. Rankin was advised that no information was available concerning this matter. It was suggested to Mr. Rankin that he might desire to acknowledge receipt of Mr. Carr's letter and refer Carr's letter to the Department of Justice, with whom the President's Commission had correspondence relative to the retention of exhibits. Mr. Rankin indicated he would handle Carr's inquiry in this manner. Mr. Rankin expressed his thanks to the Bureau for its assistance in this regard.

It is noted that the Bureau went on record with the President's Commission before they discontinued their activities and thereafter sent a letter to the Department advising that we desired to make appropriate disposition of the various exhibits which were in our possession. The President's Commission, in a letter to the Department, a copy of which was made available to the Bureau, set forth what exhibits they felt needed to be permanently retained and left the disposition of other exhibits up to the Department.

The Department has telephoned on a number of occasions concerning the significance of various exhibits and has commented they were trying to reach a solution on what to do with various exhibits. Up to this time no correspondence has been received from the Department authorizing the Bureau to dispose of any of the exhibits we are holding. The Bureau still has the guns of Oswald in its possession as exhibits.

Dear Sirs:

Yesterday a Mr. Mark Lane spoke at Haverford. I did all I could to argue with him on the basis of the Warren Report. However, one point was raised that necessitates additional information. Lane said that Winchester Western has not manufactured 6.5 mm. ammunition for a Manlicher Carcano rifle for 19 years. The Warren Commision said that Oswald used Western 6.5 mm. ammo of current manufacture. It said that FBI agents fired 100 rounds of current manufature Western 6.5 mm. ammo through Oswald's rifle.

Question: Did Winchester Western manufacture 6.5 mm. ammo for Manlicher Carcano rifles around the time that President Kennedy was shot.

Thank you for your kind assistance.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Enclosed herewith are two copies of a letter dated April 2, 1965, from LELAND A. QUINDRY, 200 Loney Street, Fox Chase, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in which letter QUINDRY points out a possible relationship between Commission Exhibit 97 and Commission Exhibit 117.

The two exhibits mentioned by QUINDRY, as set forth in the President's Commission report, have been examined. There does not appear to be any way to establish if the relation alleged by QUINDRY actually exists, and the pertinence of such relationship, even if established, does not appear significant.

Mr. QUINDRY's letter has been acknowledged, and no further action appears warranted.

Dear Sir:

The President's Commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy has apparently missed the connection between Commission Exhibit 97 and Exhibit 117, both of which are pictured in Volume XVI. of the Hearings.

The latter may be described as a layout sheet such as a person would prepare to show a printer how to arrange the copy so as to get a desired effect. In this case, the copy is the material shown in Exhibit 97. It was to be set in type with three inch columns, probably with a handset heading, "THE COMMUNIST PARTY OF THE UNITED STATES HAS BETRAYED ITSELF!"

In finished form, it was to have been a four page folder about 4½" x 7" in size with pages 1 and 2 of Exhibit 97 being printed on its face. Page two was to contain the material from pages 3 to 5½, that point being identified by a mark in the left margin as shown on page 426. Page three ends at the mark in the margin of page 426, and the remaining material would appear on page four.

It may be that this circular was actually printed in connection with some organization which Lee Harvey Oswald may have been interested. In that case it is even possible that such a folder might be found filed as an exhibit in some other case under your jurisdiction.

Very truly yours,

Leland A. Lewis

Dear Sir:

It is quite late to be wishing you a happy birthday, but as I had cut a couple clippings from our daily newspaper some time ago, when you were making headlines, to send to you, so decided it still not too late to forward them and I hope you have many many more birthdays and can continue with your good health; that you may enjoy life serving your country for a long time to come.

We need you and more men like you. I wanted so much to praise you for calling Dr. Martin Luther King, a LIAR before the nation. He is a menace to our country and the Negroes. He should contribute this leisure time he seems to have to culturing the Negroes, particularly in the South, so one day they will be better prepared for society and be able to think for themselves.

After John F. Kennedy was assasseinated, I was in wonder about some of the FBI procedures. On radio a few weeks ago I learned of the limitations and that FBI can only go so far. I was glad for this information.

I was not satisfied with the Warren report and I suppose I never will be. I still think this was a planned murder, altho' I have no proof what so ever, only that the newspapers said, "He had been warned not to go to Dallas".

I have just written a letter to LBJ and I am enclosing a carbon copy Thought mabe you might be interested in the thinking of a commoner, since you are a law man. I remain

Dear Mr. President:

Why does Dr. Martin Luther King go free after ignoring a court order? Just because his conscience tells him a law is unjust is no reason he can take the law into his own hands and cause innocent people to be killed. Just think what it would be like if each time someone's conscience says a law is unjust and would start a demonstration. I have a conscience telling me that the Government is taking away too much state rights, but I certainly am not going to start a demonstration.

Why didn't the Justice Department institute comtempt proceedings against Dr. King as was done against Governor Barnett, when he ignored a court order? and it is still pending against him and he is not even a governor anymore. Dr. King, as far as I know does not hold any office.

When I read that this last march consisted of none other than illiterates, prostitutes and a class of people who can't think for themselves, it is just too appalling that a nation like ours, who stand up to the world to be such a great democracy then let one man humiliate us in front of the whole world.

This is the reason for an organization called the KLU KLUX KLAN to start all over again. (I remember when they started back in the 1920's, it seemed so terrible hoped then I would never hear of them again.) I guess this is the reason for me being so perturbed about the Negro demonstrations. I had sympathy for the Negro until they have carried it to an extreme. I still feel that John F. Kennedy is responsible for the Negro starting these demonstrations in the first place. One of his first speeches over T.V. he said they would have to demonstrate. Now as I see it someone going to have to put the Negro in his place. The white men can't see the Negro men marrying their white women. Just how long will we have a white race? Consensus of just so for with we commoners.

The Negro isn't interested in his voting rights as much as he is in agitating everyone and everything that comes his way. I am sure the demonstrations would cease if camerman were kept away. The Negro thrives on publicity. The Negro here in Dayton has anything the White man does. We have very poor Whites same as we have very poor Negroes. I want to see the Negro vote as long as he can read and write. We have citizens who can't read nor write. If Dr. King wants to do something for this country let him do his home work among his illiterate people and get them ready for Society.

I feel if Dr. King, or any Negro living in this country is not satisfied, let them go back to their God given country (AFRICA) with their own kind. The African Negro is proud of his race. He hates the White race. Says the Negro of this country is not proud of his color.

There will never be peace. The great Society you want will never come, as long as Mothers and Fathers spend their evenings in liquor joints, spending money that should go to educate their children. And the children are out on the streets getting into trouble, staying out all night if their hearts so desire. Then if the law or teacher steps in to help their child, the parents protests

Washington D.C. doesn't set a good example for the Nation, especially when the Kennedys lived in the White House with liquor flowing over the bar, like water over a dam. Chiselers like Billie Sol Estes and Bobby Baker, making the headlines along with others, too numerous to mention.

To me the Democratic Party has become a Labor Party, which have become too strong for the good of our nation.

As long as our Government keeps doling out money to the poor and don't see that that they try to help themselves and help their country when asked to do a few days work in return, we are going to have a lazy bunch of misfits as long as the earth turns.

I am enclosing a couple newspaper clippings, that will give you some idea of the Negro race toward the Whites. We have rapings, knifing and shootings. Women afraid to leave their homes at night. Gambling seems to be a speciality with them. Then why should white people have to live beside of them! The better class of Negroes are afra afraid of the lower class.

Mr. President, I try to be a law abiding citizen. My husband and I have worked hard all our lives, with not too much education, as the saying goes, lived from hand to mouth most of our 43 years of married life. We managed to stay on top. We have a roof over our heads, with some savings. We are now retired. Have three granddaughters for which we are very proud. We did this with dignity and asked help from no one. I remain,

Taking Notes

Editor:

Why do we spend the time and money to expose the secrets of how Bobby Baker was able to parlay a $19,600 a year salary into a $2 million fortune?

The American people overwhelmingly voiced their approval at the polls for this type of government . . .

Now that I know that this is the accepted way of life and the powers that be are determined to proceed with this farce, I will be at my TV set taking notes on how it is done.

Hoover Retirement

Editor:

The editorial, "Let Mr. Hoover Retire," (Jan. 1) is really food for thought . . .

Mr. Hoover is 70 years of age. You say at this age the mind and body cannot much longer withstand the demands, etc. May I refer you to certain supreme court judges (ages) and again-elected Sen. Stephen Young? . . .

On the other hand possibly it might be a good thing for Mr. Hoover to retire, then and only then, could he expose to our country what is making our government—and those who seek to control it—tick.

The second paragraph of Mr. QUINDRY's letter concerns inquiry as to whether any investigation was conducted concerning the H. R. The above two referred to airtels set forth the fact that THEODORE HIDELL, Manager, H. R. Hidell Hardware, 5109 Woodland Avenue, Dallas, Texas, has been interviewed in an effort to locate an ALEX HIDELL.

Dear Sir:

The enclosed envelope contained your letter of April 6, 1965. I assume that the paper tape used to seal it was applied as a security precaution at your office. If not, it was done while in the hands of postal employees. I personally removed it from the mail box at this end of the line and found the paper tape as you see it. I know of no reason why anyone would want to pry into my mail, but thought it possible that someone was interested in yours.

By the way, were you aware that there is a listing in the current Philadelphia, Pa., telephone directory for "HIDELL, H R hardware 5109 Woodlnd Av SA 7-3181" ? I mention this because neither the Warren Commission's report nor hearings seem to show that anyone with that last name has ever been located. It is a medium sized hardware store located in a mixed neighborhood with white employees, and with about the type of stock that could be expected.

Being such an uncommon name, I would suppose that the manager of that store, if his name is Hidell, could probably give a complete run down on all the various branches of that family, regardless of where they are located. I say this because my last name is uncommon, too, and I could easily make such a listing for those having our family name.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
11/22/63,
DALLAS, TEXAS,
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

Warren Commission

SYNOPSIS:

The Department by communication dated May 3, 1965, furnished a copy of a letter to the Speaker of the House of Representatives enclosing a draft bill pertaining to legislation to provide a legal basis for the retention of critical exhibits relating to the assassination. It establishes a procedure under which selected items could be retained and protected by the United States. The Attorney General would be authorized to determine which items are required for preservation and following his decision all rights and titles would be vested in the United States after publication in the Federal Register. His acquisition authority would expire one year after the enactment of legislation. The Court of Claims thereafter would be granted exclusive jurisdiction over claims for just compensation for any item acquired by the United States. The Department requested the Bureau's views by the close of business, May 4, 1965.

This proposed legislation appears to be a logical solution to the problem of final disposition relative to items of evidence that were acquired during the investigation of the assassination. If this legislation is approved we will thereafter relinquish the evidence in our possession to the designated authority upon instructions from the Attorney General.

Memorandum to [redacted] Belmont
RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

BACKGROUND:

We have had previous correspondence with the Department concerning disposition of physical evidence pertaining to the assassination currently in our possession. Specifically, by letter dated February 24, 1965 to the Department, we clearly pointed out that we did not wish to be the custodian of the exhibits which related to the published findings of the President's Commission. Further, it was not within our prerogative either to object to or make recommendations as to the retention of exhibits.

Briefly, the Attorney General's letter to the Speaker of the House points out the evidence and investigative reports, transcripts and other working papers of the Commission have been officially transmitted to the National Archives. Pending final decision as to the disposition to be made of these exhibits, the physical evidence has been retained in our custody. The Attorney General has indicated that the national interest requires legislation to provide a valid legal basis for the retention of critical exhibits. He also indicates it is important to recognize that in years ahead allegations and theories regarding the assassination will continue to abound. Failure to retain critical exhibits would encourage rumors and allegations designed to destroy public confidence in the work and conclusions of the President's Commission. The Attorney General has indicated the legislation is desirable to protect the memory of President Kennedy from debasement which would occur if items connected with the President's death are permitted to become objects of commercial spectacle.

The proposed bill is quite specific and authorizes the Attorney General to determine, from time to time, which items should be selected and preserved by public use in connection with the published findings of the President's Commission. The selected items acquired by the United States will be preserved for public use and all rights and titles will be vested in the United States after publication in the Federal Register.

The bill points out all items acquired shall be placed under the jurisdiction of the Administrator of the General Services for preservation for public use under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed. To this end the bill indicates appropriate sums are to be made available to carry out the purpose of this act.

OBSERVATIONS:

This proposed legislation appears to be a logical solution to the problem of final disposition relative to items of evidence that were acquired during the investigation of the assassination. It was specifically noted in the Attorney General's letter reference is made to physical evidence which has been retained in the custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This tends to indicate that all physical evidence is in our possession. It is noted the Bureau has no knowledge and is not aware of other items of evidence which may have been obtained by the President's Commission from other sources or requested to be obtained through agencies other than the FBI. This information is being pointed out in our letter to the Deputy Attorney General. If this legislation is approved we will thereafter relinquish the evidence in our possession to the designated authorities upon instructions from the Attorney General.

"BILL TO PROVIDE FOR THE ACQUISITION AND PRESERVATION BY THE UNITED STATES OF CERTAIN ITEMS OF EVIDENCE PERTAINING TO THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY"

This is in response to the communication from Mr. Herbert E. Hoffman, dated May 3, 1965. Mr. Hoffman requested this Bureau's views concerning proposed legislation relating to the acquisition and preservation by the United States of certain items of evidence pertaining to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

A review of the Attorney General's letter to the Speaker, House of Representatives, and the attached draft bill has been made and it appears the proposed legislation is a logical solution to this problem.

Your attention is invited to the comment set forth in Paragraph 2, Page 1 of the Attorney General's letter pertaining to physical evidence in possession of this Bureau. UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL
WASHINGTON, D. C. 20530

The Speaker
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

Enclosed for your consideration and appropriate reference is a legislative proposal "Providing for the acquisition and preservation by the United States of certain items of evidence pertaining to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy."

In its investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy, the Commission appointed by President Johnson examined numerous items of physical evidence which were used to form the basis for its report. These items included the assassination weapon, the revolver involved in the murder of Patrolman J. D. Tippit, and many other exhibits. This evidence and the investigative reports, transcripts and other working papers of the Commission, have been officially transmitted to the National Archives by the Commission. Pending final decision as to the disposition to be made of these exhibits, the physical evidence has been retained in the custody of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Prior to the completion of its work, the Commission requested that this Department take the necessary steps to provide for the retention of the essential items of physical evidence in the possession of the United States Government for an indefinite period of time. After full consideration of the alternatives, I am persuaded that the national interest requires legislation which will provide a valid legal basis for the permanent retention of these critical exhibits.

MAY 11 1965

ENCLOSURE

In the first place, retention of these items would permit a more accurate and complete reassessment of the conclusions of the President's Commission if at any time in the future this was considered desirable. Many of the items, such as the weapons, cartridges and various documents, were the subject of testimony before the Commission, during the course of which expert and other witnesses testified about their vital characteristics, ownership, use, and relationship to the assassination.

Furthermore, I think it is important to recognize that in the years ahead allegations and theories regarding the assassination of President Kennedy will continue to abound. This has certainly been the case abroad and, to some degree within the United States, since the publication of the Commission's report, despite the impressive documentation and presentation of the Commission's conclusions. To a considerable extent, such allegations and theories feed on secrecy and uncertainty, as is demonstrated, I believe, by the historical literature during the past 100 years relating to the assassination of President Lincoln. In my judgment, a failure to retain the critical physical exhibits and the resultant possibility of their loss, destruction, or alteration will serve to encourage irresponsible rumors and allegations designed to destroy the widespread public confidence in the work and conclusions of the President's Commission.

Lastly, I believe the legislation is desirable to protect the memory of President Kennedy and our country from the debasement which would occur if items connected with the President's death are permitted to become objects of commercial spectacle. The assassination of President Kennedy on November 22, 1963, is a sad chapter in the story of our Nation. It remains, however, part of our national heritage. It would be most inappropriate, in my opinion, to permit these events and the work of the President's Commission to be demeaned by private profiteering. Retention of the items of physical evidence in the possession of the United States is necessary to protect this important national interest.

For these reasons, I am submitting the enclosed measure which would establish a procedure under which selected items of evidence could be retained and protected from dispersal and exploitation. The legislation would authorize the Attorney General to determine which of the items considered by the President's Commission are required by the national interest to be acquired by the United States and preserved for public use. When the Attorney General makes a determination that an item should be acquired, all right and title to it would be vested in the United States upon the filing of his determination with the Office of the Federal Register for publication in the Federal Register. The Attorney General's acquisition authority would expire one year after the enactment of the proposed legislation, and title to only those items described in determinations filed with the Office of the Federal Register within such one year period would vest in the United States. The Court of Claims would be granted exclusive jurisdiction over claims for just compensation for any item acquired by the United States pursuant to the procedure proposed in the legislation.

In order to meet the requirements of the national interest as indicated, I urge the early and favorable consideration of the enclosed proposal.

Sincerely,

Attorney General

the Committee on .....

A BILL

Providing for the acquisition and preservation by the United States of certain items of evidence pertaining to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.
(Insert title of bill here)

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

That it is hereby declared that the national interest requires that the United States acquire all right, title, and interest, in and to, certain items of evidence, to be designated by the Attorney General pursuant to section 2 of this Act, which were considered by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy (hereinafter referred to as "items"), and requires that those items be preserved for public use.

SEC. 2(a) The Attorney General is authorized to determine, from time to time, which items should, in conformity with the declaration contained in the first section of this Act, be acquired by the United States and be preserved for public use. Each such determination shall be published in the Federal Register.

(b) Whenever the Attorney General determines that an item should be acquired by the United States and be preserved for public use, all right, title, and interest in and to, that item shall be vested in the United States upon the filing of that determination with the Office of the Federal Register for publication in the Federal Register.

(c) The authority conferred upon the Attorney General by subsection (a) of this section to make determinations shall expire one year from the date of enactment of this Act, and the vesting provisions of subsection (b) of this section shall be valid only with respect to items described in determinations filed with the Office of the Federal Register within that one-year period.

SEC. 3. The United States Court of Claims shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear, determine, and render judgment upon any claim for just compensation for any item or interest therein acquired by the United States pursuant to section 2 of this Act: Provided, That the claim is filed within one year from date of the filing with the Office of the Federal Register of the determination by the Attorney General with respect to such item.

FROM THE AAPS

SEC. 4. All items acquired by the United States pursuant to section 2 of this Act shall be placed under the jurisdiction of the Administrator of General Services for preservation for public use under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe.

SEC. 5. All items acquired by the United States pursuant to section 2 of this Act shall be deemed to be personal property and records of the United States for the purposes of laws relating to the custody, administration, and protection of personal property and records of the United States, including, but not limited to, sections 2071 and 2112 of title 18 of the United States Code.

SEC. 6. There is hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN F. KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963

Reference memorandum Gauthier to Callahan 4/2/65.

Mr. Robert H. West, Surveyor, Dallas, Texas, who made the plat maps of the assassination area requested the Bureau to furnish him copies made from the original tracing which he had furnished to the Bureau on 5/31/64. Inasmuch as the Bureau had no authority to comply with this request, the matter was referred to the Criminal Division of the Justice Department for handling.

Mr. Cella, Department attorney, phone 187-2660, called me today and asked if I could determine what it would cost to have six prints made from the tracing which is in the possession of the Exhibits Section. He stated that Attorney Howard Willins who was Administrative Assistant to Mr. Rankin requested this information. Mr. Cella was advised that this information would be obtained and furnished to him.

ACTION:

The Cooper Trent, Inc., 1130 19th St., N.W., FE 8-3800, quoted a price of $2.10 per copy which measures 42" by 71". The Bureau's Liaison Section originally had copies made gratis by the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) for use of the FBI in preparing exhibits for the Commission in June 1964. SA Robert H. Haynes, Liaison Section, advised that DIA would be most happy to furnish additional copies to the Bureau at this time.

Unless advised to the contrary, I will telephonically advise Mr. Cella that six copies of the plat map will be made available to him through FBI sources if he so desires.

SUBJECT: ORDER OF RIFLE FROM KLEIN'S SPORTING GOODS, INC.,
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS,
APRIL 29, 1965
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

PURPOSE:

This concerns the individual who attempted to purchase a rifle from Klein's Sporting Goods, Inc., Chicago, Illinois, utilizing the name "A. J. Hidell," return address 6404 Pelican Drive, South, St. Petersburg, Florida. Tampa determined that the only resident at this address is Lowell Brandle, feature writer for "The St. Petersburg Times." It is a well known fact Lee Harvey Oswald purchased the assassination rifle from Klein's Sporting Goods, Inc., under the name "A. Hidell." Attached is a teletype to Tampa instructing that Brandle be thoroughly interviewed.

BACKGROUND:

Chicago Division by teletype 5/5/65 advised information was received from Mr. William J. Waldman, Vice-President of Klein's Sporting Goods, Inc., that on MAY 11 1965 order for a 30.06 Enfield "Sporter" rifle with a variable three to seven power scope had been received from an individual utilizing the name "A. J. Hidell", 6404 Pelican Drive, South, St. Petersburg, Florida. Mr. Waldman determined through a "source" of his that one Lowell Brandle resided at this address who was a reporter for "The St. Petersburg Times." He said due to the "bizarre implications" Klein's definitely was not filling the order and felt the FBI should be advised.

NOT RECORDED

Tampa has determined Lowell Brandle is a feature writer for "The St. Petersburg Times" and resides at 6404 Pelican Drive, South, St. Petersburg, Florida, with his wife. In addition, there were no references in the St. Petersburg City Directories for "Hidell." Tampa and Bureau indices reveal no derogatory information concerning Brandle and he has previously written several favorable articles about the Bureau and in addition has written articles in which he w critical of the John Birch Society, one of which was dated 10/29/64, wherein he states in effect the Bircher's were told to arm themselves and buy guns for children. The editor of "The St. Petersburg Times" is Mr. Courtland Anderson. It is noted we had cordial relations with this newspaper until October 14, 1964, when the paper printed in an editorial critical parts of the infamous book "The FBI Nobody Knows" written by Fred J. Cook. In the March 26, 1965 issue of this paper they took another "pot shot" at the Bureau by publishing an article captioned "Distorted Crime Rate Figures." In response to this article a letter was directed to the editor, Mr. Anderson, dated 4/2/65, which set the facts, as relating to this article, straight.

Consideration was given to the fact whether the ordering of this weapon under a fictitious name was a violation of the Postal Laws. Liaison Section contacted the Post Office Department and Mr. Saul Mendel, Assistant General Counsel, Post Office Department, advised that based on available facts he did not believe a violation of Postal Laws was involved in this instance.

Further, it is noted the ordering of this weapon which was not shipped does not constitute a violation of either the National Firearms Act or the Federal Firearms Act. The National Firearms Act deals generally with a weapon with a barrel of less than 18 inches in length or a machine gun and such weapon has been unlawfully transported, possessed or imported and the identification marks obliterated or changed. The Federal Firearms Act concerns the possession of a weapon or transportation thereof by a person who has been convicted of a felony.

ACTION:

In view of circumstances surrounding this matter it is believed we should interview Brandle to determine if he did order the rifle and, if so, his purpose in using the name "A. J. Hidell." Attached for approval is an airtel to Tampa instructing Brandle be immediately interviewed. Results of interview will be furnished to U. S. Secret Service, which agency has been advised of the information developed in this case. Department being advised.

AN EXPLANATION

The march of events has made us rush this assassination story into print. Other stories will be published on the subject as we get them in shape. We have not finished reading the twenty six volumes of Warren Report testimony, and personal contact with many witnesses is time consuming, often difficult, and sometimes impossible.

To the lily-livered liberals in Dallas, extra copies of this paper are fifty cents each. This is the type of exclusive story we have been suggesting could be printed by an honest weekly in Dallas. Both Dallas papers have known many facts on this story for months. The Times Herald will not fight even when an employee is murdered! It must make those employees just glow with pride to be working for such papers.

The Assassination No. 1

Reopen The Warren Commission

As stated in the Warren Commission Report, Captain Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department quoted Lee Harvey Oswald as saying about the killing of the President: "People will forget that in a few days and there would be another President." (V 4, P 225). This editor feels Oswald was wrong on his estimate of the nation's respect. This nation has not yet had a chance to adequately express itself over the assassination, and it may take a full scale war to make them forget.

We have been critical of the Warren Report, but we are so grateful for the many answers in the twenty six volumes of testimony. The answers are there for those who are willing to dig. We have felt from the very first that the final report should not have been made for at least five years. The report was made too soon, and too many important characters were overlooked.

We have steadily maintained that much study was needed concerning the finding of Oswald by Officer J. D. Tippett. All the police radio dispatcher could tell Tippett was that the suspect was "a white male about 30, slender build, height 5 feet 10 inches, 165 pounds." (Vol. 4, page 184). No clothes description, no color of hair or eyes could be given. Even though there must have been several thousand men in Oak Cliff who would fit this description, Tippett found the right man in a remarkably short time.

Tippett knew how to kill. He is alleged to have killed a seventeen year old Negro burglar suspect about a year before he himself was killed. The burglar was running from the scene when hit in the back by a bullet alleged to be from Tippett's gun.

After reading thousands of pages of testimony, we have found what seems to be an important withholding of evidence.

This evidence forces us to plead for a revival of the Warren Commission for more study and consideration concerning the assassination. The evidence concerns the testimony of George Senator, self classified as a beggar (vol. 14, page 308), the roommate and admitted "boyfriend" (vol. 14, page 312) of Jack Ruby. The discrepancy concerns a meeting in Ruby's and Senator's apartment on Sunday night, November 24, 1963 after Ruby killed Oswald.

After what has happened to those present at the meeting, one can presume it was an important meeting on that Sunday night. At least six persons were present for the meeting and three of them have died strangely. A reasonable man would wonder if Senator accidentally revealed something important that particular night.

On April 22, 1964, George Senator was being questioned by the Warren Commission on Senator's activities that Sunday after the killing of Oswald. Leading the questioning in Washington was Messrs. Burt W. Griffin and Leon D. Hubert, Jr., assistant counsel of the President's Commission. Dr. Alfred Goldberg, historian, was present. Volume XIV page 256 reads in part:

Mr. Hubert: All right, let's continue from the point that you left the jail. Did you meet anyone?

Mr. Senator. Yes.

Mr. Hubert. Who?

Mr. Senator: I was with Jim, I met Jim Martin and another attorney who I had only met for the first time and I don't remember his name.

Mr. Hubert: They were waiting for you or you met them outside?

Mr. Senator: They told me they would meet me somewhere.

Mr. Hubert: Where was that?

Mr. Senator: We met at a bar across the street from the courthouse.

Mr. Hubert: Do you know the name of the bar?

Mr. Senator: I think it is the TV Bar.

Mr. Hubert: The message you had was that they would meet you there, is that right?

Mr. Senator: Yes.

Mr. Hubert: And you did go there and talked to Martin and the other lawyer?

Mr. Senator: Yes; the other attorney.

Mr. Hubert: How long were you with them?

Mr. Senator: If I recall right, I would say we sat in that bar and had two or three beers, if I remember right. I think I said to Jim "I don't have a place to sleep or a place to go" because I was afraid to go home.

Mr. Hubert: You told that to Jim Martin?

Mr. Senator: I told that to Jim, and I believe—wait a minute now—I believe, I am not sure but I think I went to his house and he said he would put me up on the couch if I was afraid to go anywheres, which I was. From there on in I was afraid to go home.

Mr. Hubert: Why?

Mr. Senator: Why was I afraid to go home? Well, I was just scared, that is all.

Mr. Hubert: Scared of what?

Mr. Senator: I don't know of what, but I was scared.

Mr. Hubert: Obviously you were scared that somebody might try to hurt you?

Mr. Senator: Very possibly, yes; or something like this. Now who or what I don't know but that was the instinct I had. As a matter of fact I was scared for about 10 days after that.

Mr. Hubert: You mean you were scared for 10 days after being—

Mr. Senator: In other words, for about 10 days I was afraid to sleep in the same place twice. Who I was to fear I don't know, but just the normal thing, I was afraid.

Mr. Hubert went back to the point on page 259 when he asked:

Mr. Hubert: After that Sunday night when you talked to the lawyers for a while, you went home I understand to Jim Martin's?

Mr. Senator: If I remember right, I'm not sure but I think Jim put me up because I was afraid to go home and I didn't have a place to go to. If I remember right I think he did. I think I went to his apartment, his home rather.

Mr. Hubert tried a third time as shown by the questioning below:

Mr. Hubert: You didn't see Tom Howard that night?

Mr. Senator: I don't know if I did or not. I don't remember if I saw him or not that night.

Mr. Hubert: Did you go to bed early?

Mr. Senator: You see I can't quote if I did or didn't. I just don't remember if I did or didn't. I just don't remember if I did.

Mr. Hubert: Do you remmeber what time you went to bed at Jim Martin's house?

Mr. Senator: No; it could have been 11, 12, I don't know.

Mr. Hubert: As I remember it, you said you met them at about 6 or 7. It was dark in any case?

Mr. Senator: Yes; something like that.

Mr. Hubert: You stayed about a half hour in the beer place?

Mr. Senator: It may have been a half hour, it may have been an hour, I don't know.

Mr. Hubert: And you left and went to Jim Martin's?

Mr. Senator: I believe we went to Jim Martin's house. I think that I slept there that first night.

Mr. Hubert: Did you meet anyone else that first night or speak to anyone else that first night, that is November the 24th, 1963?

Mr. Senator: November 24?

Mr. Hubert: Yes.

Mr. Senator: Are you talking about Friday?

Mr. Hubert: No, November 24 was a Sunday.

Mr. Senator: No; because I was wrapped up. I was wrapped up in the courthouse all that day.

Mr. Hubert: No. I mean to say after you left the beer parlor, which I think you said was the TV Bar?

Mr. Senator: Yes.

Mr. Hubert: You said you think you went to Jim Martin's house?

Mr. Senator: I don't remember if I met Tom Howard. I just don't remember the incident but I am almost certain that I went there to sleep.

Mr. Hubert: You went to Jim Martin's house?

Mr. Senator: Yes.

Mr. Hubert: What I am asking you is that prior to the time

Mr. Senator: Did we meet anybody else?

Mr. Hubert: Yes.

Mr. Senator: I don't think so, I don't remember but I don't think so.

Mr. Hubert: Let's come then to Monday morning.

Then Mr. Griffin of the Commission took a turn at asking about Howard:

Mr. Griffin: Was Tom Howard at the TV Bar at that time?

Mr. Senator: I don't remember. I remember there was Jim, there was this other attorney, but I don't remember if Tom was or not. In other words, I don't want to quote and say he was or wasn't because I just don't remember. He may have been now. He may have been there. I just can't think if he was or not that night. He may have been.

Shortly after dark a meeting took place in Ruby's and Senator's apartment in Oak Cliff. George Senator and Attorney Tom Howard were present and having a drink in the apartment when two newsmen and two attorneys arrived. The newsmen were Bill Hunter of the Long Beach (Cal.) Press Telegram, and Jim Koethe of the Dallas Times Herald. Attorney C. A. Droby of Dallas arranged the meeting for the two newsmen.

Droby insists that he only arranged the meeting. He says he did not accompany the other five men on a tour of the apartment, nor did he hear any of the conversation which went on. But the lives of three who accompanied Senator about the apartment have been taken.

We learned this week that Attorney Jim Martin, close friend of George Senator, was present for the apartment meeting. Martin did not testify before the Warren Commission, but he told this editor he heard the conversations during the visit of the newsmen. He could not remember anything that was said, but he was sure there was nothing significant. "Certainly there was nothing said that would make Senator lie about."

We asked Martin if he did not feel it was unusual for Senator to call Martin about the killing of Oswald before the announcement was made that Ruby had done the shooting. (vol. 14 page 245) Martin said this editor was wrong, but later said: "You are telling me something I didn't know about."

We asked Martin if he did not feel it was unusual for Senator to forget the meeting while testifying in Washington on April 22, 1964 since Bill Hunter, who was a newsman present at the meeting, was shot to death across the nation in Long Beach, California that very night. Martin grinned and said:

"Oh, you are are still looking for conspiracy."
We nodded yes and he said: "You will never find it."
We asked: "Never find it, or not there?"
He added soberly: "Not there."

(The string of amazing coincidences continues to grow. Someday a list must be compiled, and fed to a computer to get the fantastic odds for such things happening with such perfect timing and placement to produce the assassination.)

Bill Hunter, a native of Dallas and an award winning newsman in Long Beach, was reading a book after 11 p.m. in the police station called the "Public Safety Building". Two policemen going off duty came into the press room and one shot Hunter through the heart at range officially ruled to be "more than three feet". The policeman said he dropped his gun, and it fired as he picked it up, but the angle of the bullet caused him to have to change the story to one of quick draw with his fellow officer. The other officer testified that he had his back turned when the shooting took place.

Hunter had written:

Within minutes of Ruby's execution of Oswald before the eyes of millions watching television, at least two Dallas attorneys appeared to talk with him.

"He didn't tell us anything," one of the attorneys told the press after the first brief meeting. "He just listened. He paid for advice."

Hunter was quoting Tom Howard who died of a heart attack just a few short weeks ago here in Dallas. Howard was acting strangely to his friends two days before his death. He was taken to the hospital by "a friend." No autopsy was performed.

Dallas Times Herald reporter Jim Koethe was killed by a karate chop to the throat just as he emerged from a shower in his apartment in Dallas on September 21, 1964. His murderer was not indicted.

What went on in that meeting? Few are left to tell, and no one in authority to even ask the questions since the Warren Commission has made its final report and closed the investigation. As Oswald said: "People will forget that in a few days, and there would be another President."

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY; 11/22/63; DALLAS, TEXAS

A detailed review has been made of the testimonies published in the "Hearings before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy" by each of the members of the Physics and Chemistry Section of the Laboratory who testified or furnished depositions, and by each such member of the Document Section.

This review revealed numerous typographical errors and misspellings which were obviously caused during the editing and printing of this material. These errors are of little consequence and do not alter the tenor of the testimony. Detailed listing attached.

The only substantial error noted appears on page 517, paragraph 6 of Volume XIV, pertaining to the polygraph examination of Jack L. Ruby by SA Herndon of the Laboratory. This error consists of the omission by the printer of page 43 of the original testimony transcript. A copy of this transcript page is attached hereto for record purposes. Since the testimony has already been printed and the omission does not seriously change the substance of the testimony, calling this error to the official attention of the Warren Commission does not appear warranted.

MR. RUBY: Never have---I haven't.

MR. HERNDON: I'm going to refer to this as a polygraph. That's the word technically used, and as you know, it's often referred to as a lie detector test. Th are one and the same, but I will refer to it as a polygra test.

Inasmuch as this is your first examination, I wan you to be fully aware of what I'm going to do and give yo little, in layman's terms if I can, general idea of how t polygraph works, and what I'm going to record and measure I want you to be fully aware of that.

However, before I take you over here and put you this polygraph chair, I usually like to give anybody an opportunity to make any statements they wish to make pric to actually taking the tests, the polygraph tests.

MR. RUBY: I feel well and I am not reluctant, I repeat.

First, I would like to know----do I sound as tho I have all my senses to you when I answer your questions

MR. HERNDON: Well, I'm not in a position to answer that, Mr. Ruby.

FROM : J. H. GALE

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Mr. Joseph Giordano, who advised he is employed in Mrs. Lincoln's Office at the Archives, called concerning late President Kennedy's clothing. Mr. Giordano advised that he had just recently begun working at Archives and had been assigned by Mrs. Lincoln to "tracing down the late President's clothing." He stated he understood the Bureau had certain articles of clothing in connection with our official investigation and he was interested in learning what the proper procedure would be to obtain these articles.

The Bureau does have some articles of the late President's as official exhibits obtained during our investigation. At the expiration of the Warren Commission, the Department was directed to handle the disposition of the official exhibits in this matter. The Bureau has corresponded with the Department concerning this matter and it was suggested to Mr. Giordano that he direct his inquiry to the Attorney General's Office. Mr. Giordano stated he had been in touch with the Office of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and it had been suggested to him that he call the Attorney General's Office, which he would do.

ACTION:

This is submitted for information since Mr. Giordano advised that he would discuss this matter with the Office of the Attorney General.

Re Chicago teletype 5/5/65.

As noted in referenced teletype, on 5/5/65, Mr. WILLIAM J. WALDMAN, Vice-President, Klein's Sporting Goods, Inc., 4540 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, advised that his firm was in receipt of an order postmarked 4/29/65, from one "A.J. HIDELL," 6404 Pelican Drive South, St. Petersburg, Florida. This order called for a shipment of one Enfield rifle, sporter model, and a variable three to seven power riflescope. Enclosed was a money order in the amount of $33.28. Also enclosed was a handwritten affidavit apparently from HIDELL, in which he advised he was of age, and was not an alien, fugitive, drug addict, ex-convict or under indictment.

Mr. WALDMAN advised that the order was apparently placed from an advertisement appearing in a magazine. Upon receipt of the order, one of Klein's clerks noticed the name of HIDELL in that Klein's sold a rifle to LEE HARVEY OSWALD under the name A. HIDELL, which rifle was used in the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY. WALDMAN stated that because of this he had telephonically checked with a "source" in St. Petersburg, Florida, and found that HIDELL was not known to be a resident of the Pelican Drive address. This "source" identified a resident there as one LOWELL BRANDLE, an employee of the "St. Petersburg Times."

Mr. WALDMAN advised that Klein's definitely will not fill the order in question. He added that because of the "bizarre implications" of the order he felt the FBI should be advised.

On 5/6/65, the original envelope, handwritten order and handwritten affidavit were furnished to SA ROBERT J. DOLAN by MITCHELL J. SCIBOR, Mail Order Manager, Kleins Sporting Goods, Inc.

Submitted herewith for the Bureau is the original envelope, handwritten order and handwritten affidavit as furnished by Mr. SCIBOR.

Also submitted herewith is one xerox copy of each of the above items for the information of the Tampa Division.

Above is submitted to the Bureau in the event the Bureau deems it advisable to compare handwriting on the documents submitted with known handwriting specimens acquired during the investigation of the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY.

It is requested that following the Bureau's decision as to what examination, if any, need be made, and completion of such examination, submitted material be returned to the Chicago Division.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION CONCERNING

On May 14, 1965, Mr. William J. Waldman, Vice President, Klein's Sporting Goods, Incorporated, 4540 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, made available to the Chicago Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) a letter which he received from Lowell Brandle of the "St. Petersburg Times", St. Petersburg, Florida. This letter was as follows:

"Dear Mr. Waldman:

"In reference to your letter of May 5, I am pleased to inform you that--as you suspected--there is no such person as A. J. Widell living at 6101 Pelican Dr. S., St. Petersburg. That is my home address and I am a special writer on the staff of The St. Petersburg Times.

"I attempted to order the rifle from Klein's in that manner, to see for myself if it was possible for someone else--with a far different motive--to purchase a firearm in a similar manner, using a pseudonym. In the past I've written on the subject of mail-order firearms, and I understand the many problems involved. Also, I know that there is a lot of emotionalism involved, too. This was another reason I sought to purchase the rifle from your firm--to learn facts.

"Well, I am pleased that Klein's has taken whatever precautions are necessary to detect those who might be using a pseudonym on an order. I intend to write an article saying what I attempted, and the result. It would be good if I could include an explanation of the measures your firm takes to avoid selling a firearm to the wrong person. It might help prevent unnecessarily harsh legislation. Would you please give me a brief general statement, concerning the difficulties involved in operating your business in such a responsible fashion, how you overcame those difficulties, and any remarks you care to make on the matter of ordering firearms by mail.

"I know that there are some small, irresponsible firms which are selling firearms. Personally, I feel they are dangerous, and they must be an embarrassment to Klein's in many ways. Perhaps my article will help inform the public that there is a difference between Klein's operation and that of some others. I suspect that in the public mind--as it was in my own mind--all firms selling firearms are lumped together, more or less. This seems most unfair.

Mr. Waldman also made available a copy of a letter dated May 5, 1963, to Mr. A. J. Hidell, 6404 Pelican Drive South, St. Petersburg, Florida, which letter had been prepared by himself. This letter was as follows:

"Dear Mr. Hidell:

"Please accept our thanks for your order. However . . .

"We cannot fill this order as inquiry by us indicates (1) the resident at 6404 Pelican Dr., So., St. Petersburg, Florida is not A. J. Hidell and (2) we are unable to establish there is such a person as A. J. Hidell residing elsewhere in St. Petersburg.

ORDER OF RIFLE FROM KLEIN'S SPORTING GOODS, INCORPORATED, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, APRIL 29, 1965

Reference is made to a memorandum dated May 11, 1965, at Chicago, Illinois, in captioned matter.

On May 12, 1965, Mr. LOWELL BRANDLE, a special writer for the "St. Petersburg Times", St. Petersburg, Florida, telephoned the FBI Office, Tampa, and advised that he had been writing several articles about purchasing guns by mail order. He said he attempted to purchase a gun from Klein's Store in Chicago using a pseudonym "A. J. HIDELL", which is the name used by LEE HARVEY OSWALD when ordering the gun from Klein's which he later used to assassinate President JOHN F. KENNEDY. Mr. BRANDLE stated that he felt if Klein's would accept this order from him under the name of HIDELL, they would accept an order from anyone. He ordered first a catalog from Klein's and later ordered a cheap Enfield rifle using the name HIDELL. Mr. BRANDLE stated that apparently Klein's has been checking into the matter in that they checked city directories and made further inquiries and then advised him that there was no one by the name of HIDELL residing in St. Petersburg, and consequently the rifle he ordered would not be shipped. He added that Klein's was taking the necessary precautionary measures concerning mail order purchases of weapons, and he had directed a communication thereafter to Klein's congratulating them on their alertness.

Mr. BRANDLE continued that he was now attempting the same approach on another arms company by the name of Potomac Arms Corporation, Post Office Box 35SN4, Prince Street, Alexandria, Virginia. He said he received a catalog indicating that the Potomac Arms Corporation have available for sale cannons, Soviet light machine guns, Italian carbines, and the like. He sent one order and requested that a gun be sent to him and he would pay for it on delivery. A reply was received by Mr. BRANDLE instructing him to complete a form which certified that he was over 21 years of age, had never been convicted, and was not a fugitive. He said that he plans to use the name of HIDELL and to order a rifle from the Potomac Arms Corporation. He said that the reason for his contact with the FBI at this time was to place himself on record in the event that any inquiries were received concerning his order of the gun from the Potomac Arms Corporation. He added that if he was able to receive the gun from the Potomac firm, he felt that his nine-year-old daughter could do the same thing and that this firm would not be exercising the same sound judgment as the Klein's store.

ORDER OF RIFLE FROM KLEIN'S SPORTING GOODS,
INCORPORATED, CHICAGO,
ILLINOIS, APRIL 29, 1963
MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION CONCERNING

On May 3, 1963, Mr. William J. Waldman, Vice President, Klein's Sporting Goods, Incorporated, 4540 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, advised the Chicago Division, Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), that his firm was in receipt of a firearms order postmarked April 29, 1963, from one "A. J. Hidell", 6101 Pelican Drive South, St. Petersburg, Florida. Also enclosed was a money order in the amount of $33.28. A handwritten affidavit apparently from A. J. Hidell was also enclosed with the firearms order in which Hidell advised he was of age, was not an alien, fugitive, drug addict, ex-convict or under indictment.

Mr. Waldman advised that the firearms order apparently had been placed as a result of Klein's Sporting Goods, Incorporated, advertisement appearing in a national magazine. Upon receipt of the order, one of Klein's order clerks noticed the name of "A. J. Hidell" and because the Klein's firm had sold the rifle used in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy under that name, the matter was brought to the attention of Mr. Waldman. Because of the unusual aspect of this order, Mr. Waldman stated, he telephonically contacted a "source" of his in St. Petersburg, Florida. He subsequently learned that no one by the name of Hidell was known to reside at the Pelican Drive address. Mr. Waldman's "source" identified a resident at 6101 Pelican Drive South, St. Petersburg, Florida, as one Lowell Brandle, an employee of the "St. Petersburg Times".

Mr. Waldman advised that Klein's definitely would not fill the order in question. He added that because of the "bizarre implications" of the order, he felt the matter should be brought to the attention of the FBI.

ILLINOIS, APRIL 29, 1965

On May 6, 1965, the original envelope, handwritten order and handwritten affidavit as described by Mr. Waldman, were furnished to the Chicago Division, FBI, by Mr. Mitchell J. Seibor, Mail Order Manager, Klein's Sporting Goods, Incorporated.

Examination of the envelope in question determined that it was postmarked St. Petersburg, Florida, April 29, 1965. It was addressed to "Klein's Sporting Goods, Department 654, 227 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois 60606". The envelope bears the return address "A. J. Hidell, 6404 Pelican Dr. S., St. Petersburg, Florida".

The original order as furnished by Mr. Seibor reads as follows:

"Enclosed is a money order for $33.28, which includes the price of the Enfield rifle with scope, ($31.78), C23-3213, and the $1.50 postage."

The affidavit accompanying this order is as follows:

"6404 Pelican Dr. S

SOLOVIEV recalled that during this time subject was on the staff of this publication and contributed anti-communist articles designed to discourage displaced persons from returning to Russia. SOLOVIEV stated that in about 1948 subject immigrated to Chile. SOLOVIEV did not know subject prior to 1946-47 and knows nothing of his background prior to this time. SOLOVIEV subsequently immigrated to the U. S. and did not hear of or from subject until about two years ago when he corresponded with the subject. During this correspondence subject asked him if he would recommend that subject come to the U. S. SOLOVIEV told him it would not be easy but that he would find a place.

SOLOVIEV stated that after immigration to U. S. and while subject was at the University of Maryland, about two years ago, he had occasion to meet and talk with subject. At this time subject stated he had been associated with the University of Chile in research work as a Professor of Physics. SOLOVIEV also understood that subject did research work for the Government of Brazil and would spend three of four months a year in Brazil on this research.

Preparatory to reviewing the Warren Commission records in the National Archives pursuant to the request of the Attorney General, Special Agents J. W. Hines and K. M. Raupach of the Investigative Division and Special Agent J. C. Stokes of the Domestic Intelligence Division on 7/12/65 contacted Dr. James B. Rhoads, Assistant Archivist for Civil Archives.

Dr. Rhoads explained that the records of the Warren Commission in the possession of the National Archives are contained in 26 different sets of files. The principal file and the one to be reviewed at this time is known as the Numbered Commission Document File and it consists of approximately 32 cubic feet of records. This is the file into which the Warren Commission placed the basic raw materials from which they prepared their report and the supporting volumes.

The remaining files which have not to date been processed by the Archives are arbitrary breakdowns by the Commission of various facets of the investigation of the assassination and related matters. These other files contain copies of much of the material which is in the file presently being reviewed and, when processed by the Archives, a search of these files which contain Bureau documents will also have to be made by the Bureau to determine what material therein can be placed in the public domain. Not all of the remaining 25 Commission files will have to be reviewed as some of them contain only material relating directly to the work of the Commission, such as the Commission's personnel records, its vouchers, and the testimony taken by the Commission.

Dr. Rhoads explained that the placing of our records on the assassination of President Kennedy and related cases in the public domain simply means that anyone can walk into the Archives from the street and ask to view such records and, if such person so desires, may copy the records or request the Archives to produce copies of them. The Archives, according to Dr. Rhoads, has the facilities to reproduce documents in the public domain.

Memorandum to Mr. [redacted] C. Sullivan
RE: PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

Dr. Rhoads escorted the Bureau representatives through the security room of the Archives where the records to be reviewed were observed to be contained in 33 cardboard boxes. The working area in the security room was highly undesirable as space is very limited. Dr. Rhoads stated that he would endeavor to locate other space where the review could be conducted under security conditions.

He said that the working hours at the Archives are from 8:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. and, as the Warren Commission records must be maintained in the security room, the door to which is protected by a combination lock, the records would have to be returned to that room by 5:15 p.m. nightly as the guard force on duty after that time does not have the combination to the lock or access to the room.

On 7/13/65 Dr. Rhoads telephonically advised Special Agent J. C. Stokes that he had successfully located working space for the Bureau's representatives to review the Warren files and that this space could accommodate up to six Agents. He was told that Bureau representatives would be at his office on the morning of July 14, 1965, to commence the review. Dr. Rhoads, on 7/13/65, requested that we not commence the review on 7/13/65 due to the parade on Pennsylvania Avenue that date and as Mr. Skinner, the Custodian of the security room, was to be on leave that date. We have commenced to review that portion of the Warren files which we can identify from the list supplied by the Archives. While we have copies of all documents we furnished to the Commission, it will be necessary to examine many of the documents listed, for in the case of memoranda it is not possible to definitely identify the document on the basis of the information in the Archives listing.

In a memorandum of February 8, 1965, I requested an expression of your views with regard to public disclosure of unpublished documents that were furnished to the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy by the Bureau.

Following a review of your recommendations and the recommendations of the heads of other interested departments and agencies, I submitted a memorandum to McGeorge Bundy, Special Assistant to the President, proposing certain guidelines for determining which of those documents should be made available to the public. By a memorandum of April 19, 1965, Mr. Bundy approved those guidelines and asked me, in coordination with the National Archives, to instruct the appropriate agencies to conduct a review of pertinent documents in accordance with those guidelines and to complete that review by September 1965.

In order to facilitate this review, the National Archives has prepared a list of the documents which are in the files of the President's Commission which were submitted by, or originated in, the Bureau. This list includes only the documents that were not published by the Commission and those that could readily be determined to have been published only in part.

It is requested that you arrange for the prompt examination of the listed documents with a view to authorizing the removal of existing restrictions on public availability of as many of those documents as possible.

EXP. PROC. JUL 8 1965

51 AUG 18 1965

JUL 22 1965

The guidelines approved by Mr. Bundy, which are set forth in the attachment to this letter, should be applied in making the required determinations.

The document-by-document review that this procedure requires may be undertaken on the basis of file copies of documents which were retained in the files of the Bureau, or, since all records of the President's Commission have been transferred to the National Archives, the Archivist will arrange to give your representative access to the listed documents if that procedure would be more convenient. At the conclusion of your review, a copy of the enclosed list, marked so as to show which documents may be made public and which must remain closed for the time being, is to be sent to Dr. Wayne C. Grover, Archivist of the United States. With respect to items that must be withheld from the public, please indicate the letter or number of the item in the attached guidelines that best describes the Bureau's reason for such withholding..

It is essential that the Archivist of the United States receive a reply by August 15, 1965, since a report to the White House must be prepared and submitted by September 1 on the overall status of accessibility to the records of the Commission. In order to avoid any unnecessary delay in this regard, I suggest that you send your reply to the Archivist. If any questions or problems arise in the course of the review, your representative should contact Dr. James B. Rhoads, Assistant Archivist for Civil Archives, whose telephone number is code 13, extension 22442.

I am aware of the difficulties inherent in this undertaking, but the public interest in these documents, and the determination of the White House Office that they be disclosed to the fullest extent consistent with the national security, sound public administration, and the rights of individual privacy, require that this assignment be accomplished with care and dispatch.

INDICATION

GUIDELINES FOR REVIEW OF MATERIALS SUBMITTED TO THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

1. Statutory requirements prohibiting disclosure should be observed.

2. Security classifications should be respected, but the agency responsible for the classification should carefully re-evaluate the contents of each classified document and determine whether the classification can, consistently with the national security, be eliminated or downgraded.

3. Unclassified material which has not already been disclosed in another form should be made available to the public on a regular basis unless disclosure--

(A) Would be detrimental to the administration and enforcement of the laws and regulations of the United States and its agencies;

(B) Might reveal the identity of confidential sources of information and impede or jeopardize future investigations by precluding or limiting the use of the same or similar sources hereafter;

(C) Would be a source of embarrassment to innocent persons, who are the subject, source, or apparent source of the material in question, because it contains gossip and rumor or details of a personal nature having no significant connection with the assassination of the President;

XEROX
JUL 22 1965

ENCLOSURE

(D) Would reveal material pertinent to the criminal prosecution of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, prior to the final judicial determination of that case.

Whenever one of the above reasons for nondisclosure may apply, your department should, in determining whether or not to authorize disclosure, weigh that reason against the overriding policy of the Executive Branch favoring the fullest possible disclosure.

Unless sooner released to the public, classified and unclassified material which is not now made available to the public shall, as a minimum, be reviewed by the agency concerned five years and ten years after the initial examination has been completed. The criteria applied in the initial examination, outlined above, should be applied to determine whether changed circumstances will permit further disclosure. Similar reviews should be undertaken at ten-year intervals until all materials are opened for legitimate research purposes. The Archivist of the United States will arrange for such review at the appropriate time. Whenever possible provision should be made for the automatic declassification of classified material which cannot be declassified at this time.

Request of the Attorney General

By letter dated July 8, 1965, the Attorney General requested that a review of pertinent documents now in the possession of National Archives relating to the assassination of President Kennedy be made for the purpose of a public disclosure of information on file which has not previously been disclosed. The letter made available certain guidelines which had been approved by McGeorge Bundy, Special Assistant to the President, which guidelines were to be used in making this review.

Material to be Reviewed

The items listed by National Archives for review comprise 202 pages of items and list more than 2000 items for review. It appears National Archives has listed every report that was submitted to the Warren Commission by the Bureau, as well as all letterhead memoranda, all letters and any other written material that was furnished to the Commission, such as the preliminary report consisting of five volumes which was made available to the Warren Commission.

Guidelines for Review

(1) Statutory requirements prohibiting disclosure should be observed.

This appears to apply to national defense information and restricted data, disclosure of which is prohibited by the Espionage Statute and by the Atomic Energy Act.

ST-107 REC-49 62-109090-469

(2) Security classifications should be respected, but the agency responsible for the classification should carefully re-evaluate the contents of each classified document and determine whether the classification can, consistently with the national security, be eliminated or downgraded.

XEROX

JUL 22 1965

With reference to security classifications in material furnished to the Warren Commission, we have previously declassified practically all material wherein such a request was received from the Warren Commission. This guideline will be followed in making the review.

(3) Unclassified material which has not already been disclosed in another form should be made available to the public on a regular basis unless disclosure--

(A) Would be detrimental to the administration and enforcement of the laws and regulations of the United States and its agencies;

(B) Might reveal the identity of confidential sources of information and impede or jeopardize future investigations by precluding or limiting the use of the same or similar sources hereafter;

(C) Would be a source of embarrassment to innocent persons, who are the subject, source, or apparent source of the material in question, because it contains gossip and rumor or details of a personal nature having no significant connection with the assassination of the President;

(D) Would reveal material pertinent to the criminal prosecution of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, prior to the final judicial determination of that case.

Regarding (A) above, there is no problem.

With regard to Items (B), (C) and (D) above, these guidelines will be followed in making the review and the Department will be advised of any situations where because of the application of these guidelines the information cannot be disclosed.

With respect to the Ruby material, a legal decision will have to be rendered by the Department as to whether any of the reports in the Ruby case can be disclosed in view of the pending prosecutive action concerning Ruby.

The guideline indicates that in any instance where the foregoing reasons for non-disclosure might apply, we should in determining whether or not to authorize disclosure weigh that reason against the overriding policy of the Executive Branch favoring the fullest disclosure.

The comment is also made that unless the material has been released to the public, classified and unclassified material not now available to the public shall, as a minimum, be reviewed five and ten years after the initial examination (and each ten years thereafter) has been completed. The criteria applied in the initial examination, as previously outlined, is to be applied in each subsequent review.

All of the above guidelines will be followed to the fullest in making our review.

It is to be noted that many of our reports do contain information received from confidential sources where disclosure of same might possibly affect the Bureau's operations. In addition, many of our reports contain data received from banks, telephone companies and other places of business where disclosure could place such business concerns in a most embarrassing position unless appropriate subpoenaes were issued for this data prior to public disclosure. There is also the possibility that disclosure of some of the information as now contained in our reports could result in lawsuits wherein the claim would be made that character assassination, injury to reputation, or other miscellaneous claims resulted.

The review will be made by the Domestic Intelligence Division, the General Investigative Division and the Laboratory, and there is a possibility that some of the items may refer to matters handled in the Identification Division and possibly the Administrative Division. Where such applies, these Divisions will handle their own material.

In making this review considerable savings in time can be achieved by having the list furnished by the National Archives checked against the material actually in the possession of Archives in order to make sure that we are reviewing the proper material.

The letter from the Attorney General requested the results of our review be furnished directly to National Archives by August 15, 1965. Due to the circumstances relating to our reports, we do not contemplate furnishing results of our review to National Archives but instead will furnish it to the Attorney General as recommendations and advise the Attorney General that the final decision as to disclosure rests with the Department.

ACTION: A review of this voluminous material is starting today and will be completed as rapidly as possible.

PURPOSE:

To advise that Leo Sauvage has prepared a 442 page book entitled, "L'Affaire Oswald" (The Oswald Affair). This book questions the sincerity of the Warren Commission in conducting an objective investigation into the assassination. It is written in French.

BACKGROUND:

Legat, Paris has furnished a new book, "The Oswald Affair," by Leo Sauvage, which is written in French. Also furnished was an article concerning this book which appeared in the "New York Times," International Edition, Paris, dated 6-23-65. The Times article quotes Sauvage as charging that the Warren Commission acted like a prosecutor rather then like an investigating body. The Times article states that throughout "L'Affaire Oswald" Sauvage expresses a conviction that Oswald was innocent and Sauvage advances an unsubstantiated hypothesis that the murders of President Kennedy and his suspected assassin may have been the result of two separate plots. Times goes on to state that the plot to kill the President, according to Sauvage's book was conceived by unspecified Southern racists and a trial of Oswald would have revealed his innocence. The Times article states that Sauvage presents no new evidence.

Sauvage is reported to be a French correspondent for a Socialist newspaper and was the author of an article entitled, "The Oswald Affair," which appeared in the March, 1964, issue of "Commentary," a publication of the American Jewish Committee. The approximate ten page article in "Commentary" was analyzed in a previous memo (A. Rosen to Mr. Belmont, dated 4-27-64, captioned, "Lee Harvey Oswald, aka, Internal Security - Russia-Cuba," copy attached). The "Commentary" article states that as the Dallas authorities convicted Oswald by "press and television," the FBI "forced" the hand of the Warren Commission by leaking the results of our investigation and thus assuring that the Commission would return a verdict of "guilty" for Oswald. The "Commentary" article is based on speculation, unfounded material and half truths.

It appears likely that the book by Sauvage is an expansion of the information contained in the "Commentary" article, (both the book and the article are by the same author and have the same title); therefore, there would appear to be no need to translate the book.

ACTION:

It is recommended that the attached 442 page book not be translated as there is no reason to believe it contains any new material.

SENATE

Pages 17363-17365. The Senate passed with amendments H. R. 6097, to amend title 18, United States Code, to provide penalties for the assassination of the President or Vice President. This was set forth in a memorandum written on July 23rd. Senator Mansfield, (D) Montana, requested to have an excerpt from the committee report on this bill placed in the Record. Senator Cooper, (R) Kentucky, requested to have printed in the Record excerpts from the recommendations made by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy regarding Presidential protection. This material comments on Federal and local jurisdiction in connection with such crimes and states "While the police work of the Dallas authorities in the early identification and apprehension of Oswald was both efficient and prompt, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who strongly supports such legislation, testified that the absence of clear Federal jurisdiction over the assassination of President Kennedy led to embarrassment and confusion in the subsequent investigation by Federal and local authorities."

Pages 17384-17385. Senator Yarborough, (D) Texas, spoke concerning a recently passed California law providing compensation to innocent victims of crimes of violence. He stated "Recently I introduced S. 2155, the criminal injuries compensation bill. The bill would set up a Violent Crimes Compensation Commission to award compensation to persons who suffer losses as a result of their being a victim of a crime of violence. I hope that the Federal Government will not lag too far behind the State of California in enacting such meritorious legislation." He requested to have printed in the Record the California statute and an article from the Washington Post of July 23rd.

INQUIRY RE WARREN COMMISSION EXHIBITS

Today SA Shaneyfelt handled a telephone call with Miss Meagher who referred to his testimony before the Warren Commission and indicated an interest therein. She stated she is undertaking a book on the assassination of President Kennedy and raised some questions concerning procedures followed by SA Shaneyfelt in his examination of the "Zapruder" film (amateur film depicting the assassination events). Since SA Shaneyfelt had testified in great detail before the Warren Commission concerning his examination of this film and his testimony is now a matter of public record, Miss Meagher was referred to appropriate pages of the transcript as rendered by the Warren Commission. It was suggested to her that if she desired any further information that she contact Mr. DeLoach's Office. She was very appreciative and stated that after she had fully reviewed the testimony, she would decide whether it would be necessary to be in touch with the Bureau further.

RECOMMENDATION: None. For information.

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

Pursuant to your request in your letter dated July 8, 1965, we have reviewed the material available at the National Archives which was described in the listing enclosed with your letter. This review was conducted on a document-by-document basis. In keeping with the spirit of the guidelines approved by the Honorable McGeorge Bundy, Special Assistant to the President, on April 19, 1965, we have examined this material with a view toward fitting the guidelines to the material on a page-by-page basis.

Documents identified as Commission Documents Numbers 294b-d, 294b-c, 294d, 294f, 294j, 294k, and 1114 were not presented to us for review at the National Archives as those documents were filed with the Warren Commission by the Department of State. Accordingly, we have not taken into consideration the effect the guidelines may have on Federal Bureau of Investigation material which may be included in the above-identified documents.

The results of our review of the material in question are contained in our August 10, 1965, memorandum, the original and one copy of which are enclosed herewith. The results of our review are expressed in this form for it was not feasible, on the basis of our page-by-page consideration of the documents, to express the results on the listing prepared by the National Archives.

Our basic position concerning the public disclosure of material emanating from this Bureau in connection with our investigations of events relating to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was expressed in my letter of February 15, 1965. As in our view the final decision as to the public disclosure of the material in question rests with the Department of Justice, we are furnishing the results of our review to you rather than to the National Archives. In light of the considerable derogatory data concerning Jack L. Ruby which has been published by the Warren Commission, we deemed it inadvisable to attempt to speculate as to which portion of the material under review may have an effect on the final adjudication of Ruby's case in the event of public disclosure. We, accordingly, suggest that the Department of Justice decide whether or not the material in the Jack L. Ruby case be publicly disclosed at this time.

We would call to your attention that a number of documents described in the National Archives' listing were missing. These documents are identified in Lists D and E in the enclosed memorandum. In addition, we have found several instances in which documents in the possession of the National Archives have been marked to indicate that they have been declassified when such is not the case. In these instances, we have included such items in List C.

Returned herewith is the original listing prepared by the National Archives which was enclosed with your letter of July 8, 1965.

Re: Weekly Report - Major Legislation

There have been only two changes with respect to the legislation reported to you last week.

Both H. R. 11583, supplemental appropriation bill which includes the appropriation for the Law Enforcement Assistance Act and the Crime Commissions, and H. R. 9545, pertaining to the acquisition of evidence related to the assassination of President Kennedy, have been passed by the Congress.

Memorandum from Mr. Rosen to Mr. Belmont dated 7-12-65 set forth facts concerning request of the Attorney General that we review pertinent documents in the possession of the National Archives relating to the assassination of President Kennedy for the purpose of recommending which of the material on file can be placed in the public domain. The Department furnished us with a set of guidelines to follow in making our review. (Copy of these guidelines is attached.) We have now completed our review of the pertinent material on file at the Archives. The purpose of this memorandum is to set forth our findings and our plans to complete this project.

We have reviewed over 2,000 documents and are prepared at this time to indicate which of these documents can go into the public domain as is. In our review we have been guided by the overriding policy favoring the fullest possible disclosure of this material. Our review has noted the reporting of some information which falls within the guidelines for excision and we are prepared to recommend the excision of such material on a page-to-page basis.

Examples of such material which falls within the guidelines are as follows:

Guideline 1 - Statutory requirements that prohibit disclosure. Example - Records of the Family Court in New York City concerning psychiatric treatment of Oswald as a youth.

Guideline 2 - Respect of security classifications. Examples - It has been necessary to classify some of our material in order to protect sensitive informants and investigative techniques and in line with classifications afforded material by other agencies. Examples - Considerable information was obtained from long-established sensitive sources of the Legal Attache in Mexico City. An anonymous source and a trash cover furnished some information reported and classified data from the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) is among the material. We are, at this time, reviewing the Administrative Pages of our classified documents to determine if they may be declassified or downgraded. Where possible to do so without destroying the significance of any given document, we are preparing to recommend excision of the classified portions of such documents so that the remaining portions may be placed in the public domain.

Guideline 3a.- Data detrimental to the administration and enforcement of the laws and regulations of the U.S. Example - Information furnished by the Soviet defector Yuri Nosenko concerning his knowledge of the KGB file on Oswald. To publish this would be to inform the Soviets as to what Nosenko said.

Guideline 3b. - Information which would reveal identity of confidential sources by precluding or limiting the use of such sources hereafter. Example - This concerns records not normally produced unless a subpoena is issued, such as bank and telephone company records.

Guideline 3c. - This deals with information consisting of rumor, gossip or details of a personal nature having no significant connection with the assassination which would be a source of embarrassment to innocent persons. This is the area that gives us most difficulty in evaluating our material against the guidelines. We investigated hundreds of rumors and false reports often made maliciously or for reasons of personal aggrandizement or by demented people. In keeping with the policy of full disclosure, we are recommending leaving in the record information of a derogatory nature which we have uncovered which reflects unfavorably on people who have maliciously made false reports or charges. We have found many instances in which our rundown of false reports has uncovered derogatory data concerning the person making them. However, where a person has given us rumor, gossip or false information reflecting unfavorably on another person and which material is not related to the assassination, we are recommending excision. Example - Examples of this type of thing are the considerable derogatory data developed concerning the personal affairs of George de Mohrenschildt, a member of the Russian community in Dallas who befriended the Oswalds. De Mohrenschildt, who has been married several times, is regarded by many as a sexual delinquent. Information concerning mental treatment of a brother of Ruby; numerous instances of claimed extramarital activity and homosexual tendencies on the part of individuals not related to the assassination.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. SULLIVAN
RE: PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

Guideline 3d deals with the excision of material pertinent to the criminal prosecution of Jack Ruby prior to the final adjudication of that case. In this connection, we are not attempting to theorize what material, the public disclosure of which, may affect Ruby's case and we plan to tell the Department that with respect to the Ruby material, the Department will have to render a legal decision as to whether the reports in the Ruby case can be disclosed in view of the legal action pending concerning Ruby. We know in this connection that the Commission has already reported considerable information concerning Ruby which is highly derogatory.

It is interesting to note that the records reviewed which are contained in that portion of the Commission's records known as the Commission's Numbered Document File, are not in very good condition. In this connection, some 125 documents (mostly cover letters) appearing in the Archives list are missing. We intend to call this to the Attorney General's attention when we make our report to him and to stress that our review did not include a review of the listed documents which the Archives has not to date produced. Mr. John F. Simmons, the supervisor of the Security Room at the Archives where these records are maintained, stated it is likely that the missing documents are contained among a group of unfiled papers which were turned over to Archives by the Commission. These documents are contained in some seven Archives filing boxes and we do not intend to review them at this time.

In addition, we have discovered four instances in which classified letterheads which have been marked to indicate that they have been declassified are contained among the documents in support of exhibits which were published in the Commission's report. The four documents in question are not copies of the exhibits that were actually published for in each instance we rewrote the classified document in an unclassified form and advised the Commission that the original document should remain classified. The Commission published our unclassified redrafts. This will be called to the Attorney General's attention.

ACTION:

For information. Our processing of the Attorney General's request is continuing and the deadline of 8-15-65 will be met.

GUIDELINES FOR REVIEW OF MATERIALS SUBMITTED TO THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

1. Statutory requirements prohibiting disclosure should be observed.

2. Security classifications should be respected, but the agency responsible for the classification should carefully re-evaluate the contents of each classified document and determine whether the classification can, consistently with the national security, be eliminated or downgraded.

3. Unclassified material which has not already been disclosed in another form should be made available to the public on a regular basis unless disclosure--

   (A) Would be detrimental to the administration and enforcement of the laws and regulations of the United States and its agencies;

   (B) Might reveal the identity of confidential sources of information and impede or jeopardize future investigations by precluding or limiting the use of the same or similar sources hereafter;

   (C) Would be a source of embarrassment to innocent persons, who are the subject, source, or apparent source of the material in question, because it contains gossip and rumor or details of a personal nature having no significant connection with the assassination of the President;

ENCLOSURE

(D) Would reveal material pertinent to the criminal prosecution of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, prior to the final judicial determination of that case.

Whenever one of the above reasons for nondisclosure may apply, your department should, in determining whether or not to authorize disclosure, weigh that reason against the overriding policy of the Executive Branch favoring the fullest possible disclosure.,

Unless sooner released to the public, classified and unclassified material which is not now made available to the public shall, as a minimum, be reviewed by the agency concerned five years and ten years after the initial examination has been completed. The criteria applied in the initial examination, outlined above, should be applied to determine whether changed circumstances will permit further disclosure. Similar reviews should be undertaken at ten-year intervals until all materials are opened for legitimate research purposes. The Archivist of the United States will arrange for such review at the appropriate time. Whenever possible provision should be made for the automatic declassification of classified material which cannot be declassified at this time.

SUBJECT: PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

By August 10, 1965, letter to the Attorney General, we completed the project of reviewing past records of the Warren Commission on file at the National Archives for the purpose of determining how this material fit a series of guidelines approved by the White House with a view towards making as much of the material as possible available to the public. To accomplish this, the Department sent us an original list prepared by the National Archives in which the material to be reviewed was identified by Commission numbers and was, in part, otherwise described. When we completed this review, we returned the original list to the Attorney General.

The purpose of this memorandum is to record the identities of the SA personnel who worked on the project and to serve as a vehicle for the inclusion in this file of the work papers prepared by the personnel involved and our master listing which is a Xerox copy of the original Archives list which was returned to the Attorney General.

The review of the material was completed by SAs J. C. Stokes, J. W. Hines, K. M. Raupach, T. N. Goble, J. M. Sizoo, L. L. Anderson, and L. Whitson. The project was coordinated by SA Stokes who completed the preparation of the master list.

Each item on the master list bears a marking at the Commission document number. The significance of these markings is as follows: A check mark indicates the document can be released to the public; an X mark signifies that the entire document is to be excised; a circle around the document number indicates that the document is to be excised in part prior to release to the public; and a square about the document number signifies that no decision could be reached as to public disclosure because the document was missing or was a document of another agency which should make the decision. The colors of the markings signify the identity of the agent who made the decision as follows: Red, Stokes; green, Hines; dark blue, Raupach; brown, Whitson; purple, Sizoo; pink, Anderson; light blue, Goble. Attached to this memorandum for filing are the master listing and the notes of indicated personnel showing those items that were designated for complete or partial excision as well as their reasons for this designation. There is attached in addition one Xerox copy of our August 10, 1965, memorandum which portrayed our findings in connection with the review of the material in question. A yellow copy of our August 10, 1965, letterhead has gone to file.

Dear Dr. Grover:

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has completed its survey of the documents relating to the Warren Commission files which were described in the list that was presented to this department by your agency, and has prepared five self-explanatory lists concerning those documents which the Attorney General has asked me to forward to you.

The first list describes the documents that may be publicly disclosed; the second list describes those that may be disclosed in part; the third list describes those that should not be released at this time; the fourth list describes those that are missing from your files or which were presented by other agencies; and the fifth list describes transmittal letters which were not in your files. Necessarily, the documents described in the last two lists have not been evaluated.

The Bureau notes that the documents identified as Commission Documents Numbers 294b-d, 294b-c, 294-d, 294f, 294j, 294k, and 1114 were not presented to it for review at the National Archives since those documents were filed with the Warren Commission by the Department of State. Accordingly, the Bureau has not taken into consideration the effect the guidelines may have on material of the Bureau which may be included in those documents.

Furthermore, the Bureau notes that it found several instances in which documents in the possession of your

PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

In connection with the pending review of documents originating in the Bureau that were submitted in connection with this matter looking toward public disclosure, the Laboratory has completed a review of the copies maintained of various Laboratory reports and other documents prepared in the Laboratory. In addition, the Laboratory has carefully scrutinized the 202-page listing of documents submitted for our review. Based upon these reviews two items were noted that should be withheld from public disclosure as follows:

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF
WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

Our letter dated August 10, 1965, forwarded to you copies of our memorandum of the same date which set forth the results of our review of certain material contained in the Warren Commission's Numbered Document File at the National Archives.

On August 18, 1965, Dr. James B. Rhoads, Assistant Archivist for Civil Archives, requested that we review certain documents which were listed in List D in our August 10, 1965, memorandum. We have completed this review as well as a review of several additional Commission documents among the Warren Commission's Numbered Document File which were not listed in the listing of unpublished material prepared by the National Archives. The results of our review of this material which was conducted on August 19 and 20, 1965, are contained in the enclosed memorandum dated August 24, 1965, two copies of which are enclosed. In order to expedite processing of the material in question by the National Archives, a copy of the enclosed memorandum is being furnished to Dr. Rhoads.

We call to your attention that among the documents reviewed on August 19 and 20, 1965, were Commission Documents 692 and 1114 which were originally listed in our List D. Document 692 is an official Central Intelligence Agency Dossier and 1114 is a file of the Department of State, both of which have been classified "Secret" in their entirety by the contributing agencies. The FBI documents contained in these files, which documents are described in the enclosed memorandum, by themselves all fall within the category covered in our List A; namely documents which, according to the guidelines, may at this time be placed in the public domain. However, as the contributing agencies have classified the files in which they are contained "Secret," we have listed them in the enclosed memorandum under List C which pertains to material which must, at this time, be excised under the guidelines. Should the contributing agencies declassify their files which are represented by Commission Documents numbered 692 and 1114, the FBI material contained therein may be placed in List A.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HONORABLE McGEORGE BUNDY

Re: Disclosure of Records of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy

In a memorandum dated April 19, 1965, you asked me to assume responsibility for coordinating a review of investigative records furnished by a number of Federal agencies to the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

With the assistance of the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration and the cooperation of the agencies that furnished records to the Commission, this review has now been completed.

As an initial step, the National Archives determined the origin of each of the investigative records in the files of the Warren Commission that had not been published by the Commission or had been published only in part, and compiled a list of such documents for each agency. Each originating agency was then requested (see Appendix A for a typical request) to review individually all listed documents, and to determine on the basis of the guidelines approved by your office (Appendix B), which documents might now be made available by the National Archives to qualified researchers, and which in its best judgment should be withheld. In every instance the overriding policy of the Executive Branch favoring the fullest possible disclosure of these documents was emphasized.

Although most of the records involved in this review are of a sensitive nature and would ordinarily be withheld from public use for a considerable period of time, most agencies found that because of the special circumstances inherent in this situation, it was possible to make a substantial exception to normal policies. I am, therefore, happy to be able to report that 76 percent of the approximately 75,000 pages of documents reviewed are now open for public use in the National Archives. As a rule documents have been cleared for disclosure in their entirety, although in a few cases minor excisions have been requested. A table showing the degree to which documents have been opened or withheld by major source agencies is attached as Appendix C.

It has been agreed, as you will recall, that the Archivist of the United States will coordinate a similar review in 1970 and at ten year intervals thereafter until all records submitted to the Warren Commission are open for public use.

This report relates only to investigative materials submitted to the Warren Commission and does not cover the documentary material created by the Commission itself. In a few weeks, upon completion of appropriate arrangements with regard to the latter class of material, a further report will be submitted to you. At that time, I understand, the General Services Administration will make a public announcement regarding all aspects of accessibility to the records of the Commission.

WARREN COMMISSION EXHIBITS

Pursuant to the request in your letter of September 17, 1965, we have obtained from the National Archives the two live rifle cartridges which formed a portion of Commission Document 1355. These cartridges will be retained by us until such time as a decision is reached as to the disposition to be made of the physical evidence collected in connection with our investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

NOTE:

The two cartridges in question (30.06 caliber) have nothing to do with the assassination. They were obtained from an OC lawyer at the specific request of the Commission and were forwarded to the Commission with an OC Letterhead 7/31/64 which, together with the cartridges, was assigned Commission Document Number 1355. Both the letterhead and the bullets were turned over to the Archives by the Commission. The Deputy Archivist, on 9/13/65, wrote to the Department and asked if it would be possible for the Department to retain them. The OC letterhead is among those documents which can be made available for public review. However, it would be unwise to include with the letterhead two live cartridges which may be dangerous. The cartridges were picked up from the Archives 9/29/65 by SA K. M. Raupach and are being retained in the Lab with other exhibits.

SUBJECT: Warren Commission Exhibits

Attached is a self-explanatory letter to me from the Deputy Archivist of the United States informing me that his agency has in its possession two live cartridges which were apparently submitted to the Warren Commission by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Archives has asked that this Department take custody of those items.

It would be appreciated if you would arrange to have those cartridges deactivated so that they may be safely retained by the Archives, or if you would arrange to take custody of them on behalf of the Department.

Dear Mr. Schlei:

It has come to my attention that during the recent review of documents submitted to the Warren Commission by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, two live cartridges were found. These cartridges were apparently submitted to the Commission in conjunction with an unsigned memorandum from the Oklahoma City office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation dated July 31, 1964. This memorandum is identified in Commission files as Document 1355 and is published as Commission Exhibit 1997.

As the Department of Justice has custody of the objects of physical evidence accumulated by the Warren Commission, and since these cartridges are possibly hazardous, I should like to suggest that it might be appropriate for us to transfer these items to the Department.

If this suggestion meets with your approval, your representative should get in touch with Dr. James B. Rhoads, Assistant Archivist for Civil Archives, whose telephone number is code 13, extension 22442. Dr. Rhoads will be glad to arrange for the delivery of the cartridges to whomever you designate.

Per your instructions, SA David W. Bowers, on 11-19-65, contacted Miss Mildred Leonard, Executive Secretary to Congressman Ford, who had telephonically contacted your office requesting an FBI representative stop by to see her.

Miss Leonard stated former Congressman John H. Ray, of New York, has conducted research concerning the Warren Commission investigation for Congressman Ford in the past and currently is reviewing the various documents which comprise the Commission files. He has determined a number of documents are "restricted" and not available for inspection. He requested Congressman Ford determine if the FBI might lift its restrictions on the documents for his review. He stated "any items I find of interest will be reported only to you" (Congressman Ford). A copy of Mr. Ray's statement regarding this matter is enclosed; the original and his notes concerning the documents he has been unable to review being returned to Miss Leonard.

The Domestic Intelligence Division has advised it has conducted a review of all FBI documents in the main Warren Commission file and by letters dated 8-10, 25-65, advised the Attorney General as to which documents and/or pages of documents should be restricted. Guidelines for the restrictions were established by the Attorney General and approved by the White House; hence, any exceptions would have to be approved by the Attorney General and the White House.

Handled with Mr. Conrad 11-26-65

RECOMMENDATION:

Through the courtesy of Dr. Rhodes and his assistant, Marion Johnson, as arranged by Frank Meyer, I have had opportunity to examine the list of documents sent to the Hall of Records by the Warren Commission. Most of the documents came originally from the F.B.I., the Secret Service, and the C.I.A.

There are approximately 2500 listed documents. A few of them are marked "missing," and about 25% of the 2500 are marked "restricted," - that is, not available for inspection by me or any other researcher. Dr. Rhodes told me that those restrictions were imposed by the various agencies from which the documents had been received.

A substantial number of the restricted documents relate to Ruby. His case is still before the courts and I can understand the restrictions as to those documents.

I send you herewith the notes I made of missing or restricted documents.

Since most of the restricted documents originated in F.B.I., I suggest you talk with Mr. De Loach of that organization. It may be that F.B.I. will lift its restrictions at your instance. You can give assurance that any items I find of interest will be reported only to you.

I suggest that no inquiry be addressed to other departments until we have the F.B.I. answers.

I received your letter of December 5th, with enclosures, and want to thank you for your confidence in my administration of the FBI.

While I would like to be of service to you, at the request of the President, the FBI conducted an investigation concerning the assassination of President Kennedy and furnished the results to appropriate authorities. It is not within our province to make further dissemination of our investigation. Therefore, I am certain you will understand why I cannot comment specifically as you suggested.

In response to your request, enclosed is a copy of the FBI Annual Report for fiscal year 1965.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Please, may I have a copy of your Fiscal-1965 Annual Report?

And please, may I ask a question concerning your testimony before the Warren Commission, Vol. V, page 98.

Because of the incredibly-poor organization of the full set of the Warren Commission, I cannot find --if it appears at all -- the original FBI report you refer to on page 98 -- among the "Exhibits."

You refer to Mr. Johnson's request that the Bureau conduct an investigation then:

> "I immediately assigned a special force headed by the special agent in charge at Dallas, Tex., to initiate t investigation, and to get all details and facts concerning it, which we obtained, and then prepared a report which we submitted to the Attorney General for transmission to the President."

If this report appears as an "Exhibit," please, can you tell me in which Volume, and on which page or pages?

If this report does not appear as an Exhibit in the ful set of the Commission hearings, why doesn't it?

The thought has come that a matter of its form might ha entered -- meaning it was not in suitable form for public release.

If this is the case, and the report does NOT appear somewhere -- because of its historic interest, why was it not prepared in such a form so that it could have been included in the evidence?

And please -- you mention that the FBI books on the tragedy will never be closed. Is there any legal provisior anywhere for formal channeling of any future investigative results -- of course, of major importance -- to any specifi body or agency of Government except the Department of Justice?

And please, are the "investigative report of December 23, 1963," and another dated February 11, 1964, which I refer to on page 112, published among the Exhibits? No Exhibit numbers seem to be assigned to these.

Do you know of any legal provision which has been made for those constant off-the-record episodes to be preserved, for future publication, after the immediate problems involving "national security," etc. have resolved themselves by age?

If I moan now over such as the lack of proper, logica organization of the hearings, over the off-the-record episodes, etc. what will some pitiful researcher do in 2065? Ha!

UNICEF-ACLU SMASH LOCAL LAW IN NEWPORT BEACH

The legal Iron Fist behind the Velvet-Glove "humanitarianism" propaganda of the UN purchasing agency known to the public as the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), showed itself late last month when the tax-exempt domestic propagandists for the global purchasing agency exerted legal force against a California city to overturn a decision its officials made under a city ordinance to preserve Halloween as a fun-holiday for its kids.

A banner headline in the October 21, 1965 issue of the Newport Harbor Ensign read: "UN CHAPTER, ACLU JOIN TO FIGHT NB UNICEF BAN."

"The Coastline Chapter of the United Nations Association, represented by two American Civil Liberties Union attorneys, will challenge the Newport Beach ban on UNICEF solicitation next Wednesday, October 27, in Superior Court."

On September 27, the Newport Beach Council voted 4 to 3 against granting a permit to the UN Association to transform the city's children into door-to-door money beggers for UNICEF. The female president of the UNA chapter charged "discrimination" and the ACLU legal beavers came running. The court order filed by this pair of professional bleeding-heart outfits ordered the city and its Police Chief to appear before the Superior Court.

Ironically, while this legal force was being exerted against an American city by UNICEF-lovers and their ACLU legal cohorts, the Swedish Socialists who hand-pick individuals and organizations to award "peace" prizes to, finally got around to bestowing the Nobel Peace Prize upon this UN purchasing agency.

Last year's Nobel "Peace" winner was Martin Luther King. The prize is $51,788.

In 1964 UNICEF spent over twice that prize sum to purchase a whole fleet of 52 brand new trucks and jeeps and the spare parts to keep them running in top shape for the Red Beast of the Caribbean—Fidel Castro of Cuba!

Your federal taxes, of course, footed 40 per cent of that UNICEF purchase for Castro, as your federal taxes foot 40 per cent of the total UNICEF budget—a cool annual $12 million, plus another around $17 million in tax-subsidized dried skim milk, which UNICEF ignores when it informs Americans and others as to the ratio of U.S. contributions to those of other countries.

By October 29th, area newspapers were carrying headlines reporting the result of the legal force exerted by UNICEF-propagandists against an American city:

"NEWPORT'S ANTI-HALLOWEEN SOLICITATION LAW 'INVALID'" appeared over one story, reporting that the Superior Court Judge Stephen K. Tamura had issued an injunction enjoining the City of Newport Beach and its police chief, James Galvis, from interfering with solicitation of funds for UNICEF on Halloween.

The Judge decided that the city ordinance governing issuance of such licenses "does not provide adequate objective standards for the guidance of the Council in determining which non-commercial charitable solicitations will be permitted and which ones will be denied.

"An ordinance," he went on, "which gives the official or board charged with the power to regulate such solicitations the power to grant or deny a permit at its discretion is invalid."

"U.N. HALLOWEEN 'IN' — COUNCIL EYES FUTURE BAN" headlined a story that the Newport Beach officials very probably will take a "hard look" at the present city ordinances regulating door-to-door solicitations and noted that the Council could prohibit such child-begging in the city.

Knowing the Legal Iron Fist in all UN System operations — at the national or global level — you can be certain the Newport Beach episode was a test-run for many more such legal-force attacks on similar city regulations all over the Nation. Los Angeles, for instance, for years has forbidden such child-begging, especially at Halloween, on grounds such door-to-door begging places the child in grave physical danger.

N-o-w is the time to alert your City Fathers to comb the laws they have enacted to protect your City's children from the physical and moral dangers of door-to-door begging to make certain there are no technical loopholes for the Legal-beavers in the UN Association, the ACLU and the U.S. Committee for UNICEF to crawl through come Halloween 1966!

CORE, for instance, sells Christmas cards to raise funds to "further the interracial work of the Congress of Racial Equality." Why shouldn't CORE get free space? They may picket the White House about Vietnam, but at least their cards in times past have carried a quote from the Bible, which is more than can be said for UNICEF's!

In Los Angeles, UNICEF cards are peddled by the UN Association — and by the officially cited "principal book store of the Communist Party."

Just last week a happy voice from that Red-atheist store informed me that not only would they be selling UNICEF cards again this year, but added: "We already have them, they came in last week!"

The UNICEF Halloween "Trick or Treat" propaganda sent this year included a picture of a nickel and a picture of a child with milk-rimmed lips. The message: "Your nickel treat to UNICEF at Halloween fills his cup with milk for 25 days."

It's your American nickel all right, but what you aren't told is that you've already put up a cool, annual $12 million for UNICEF, 40 per cent of all it gets. You have already donated another roughly $17 million in dried skim milk, but this $17 million isn't counted by UNICEF when it figures the ratio of U. S. contributions to those of other countries!

And speaking of drinking, UNICEF's liquor bill — they call it "Hospitality" in the budget — ran an estimated $5,800 for 1964. How many "nickels" are there in $5,800? How many glasses of "milk" for "starving" kids?

The U. S. Committee for UNICEF is tax-exempt. Its Executive Director, C. Lloyd Bailey, showed up in Los Angeles this week and clobbered "right wing groups, such as the John Birch Society" for calling UNICEF's Christmas cards "anti-Christian." Another paper quotes him as saying the critics claimed the "cards didn't bear symbols of Christianity."

And Bailey posed for a picture, holding a UNICEF "Christmas" card across his chest like a criminal holds up his number. The card shows a picture of a trio of desolate farm wagons and what might be a garbage can. There's snow, of course!

COMPLEXITIES ALLOW UNESCO UNDER-COVER ROLE

A friend, a Congressman from Iowa, on October 19th wrote his reaction to Winchell's item about the UN Secretariat's new female press officer:

"There is nothing unusual about the daughter of a 'high Communist party exec' being employed by the United Nations. You and I know there are many Communists holding jobs in the U.N. Secretariat."

And so we do, this friend in Congress and I—but what's far more important, does the general public know about it?

Involved in the above are technicalities. There are two kinds of "communists" holding jobs in the UN System Secretariats—1. disloyal Americans and disloyals from other non-communist nations who are Soviet Agents or sympathizers, and 2. the admitted, Simon-pure Communists on the payrolls from the USSR and the rest of the Red-bloc, a right which goes with membership.

Two previous columns have explained that general American awareness of the latter variety of UN System red-nationals was never permitted to develop, thanks to the success of the communist campaign within the U.S.A., run under the cover-name of "McCarthyism." Actually, it was a campaign to bring an end to exposures of Soviet agents and sympathizers placed high in the U.S. Government and its agencies.

It is amazing how few people—even editors, etc.—here, and even in Rhodesia (which is the scene of a current newspaper letter-to-the-editor battle over UNesco's red-national employees) realize that the entire UN System operates as a rudimentary world government, which it, in fact, was designed eventually to become.

Thus throughout the entire UN System, including UNesco, UNICEF, WHO, FAO, ILO, etc., you find the identical changes from day-to-day, month-to-month, year-to-year in policies, in budgets, in projects, in every phase of the operation — including personnel—found in any local, state or national government.

Personnel is hired, fired, drops dead, gets sick, resigns, defects, contracts run out, or are made. New "laws" (called "resolutions," cies, etc., and the dropping or abolishing of old ones. Budgets are subject to the same periodical changes.

The UN System has its own peculiar lingo and terminology. Parts of the UN System must take UN "loyalty oaths," those on the Secretariat payroll. Other powerful bodies, such as the UNesco Executive Board, do not.

In other words, the UN System, including each of its agencies, is a complex, complicated, specialized kind of operation. Certainly it is a full-time research. Even then, because of the incredible number of documents issued by each part, plus a rapidly moving policy toward locking and interlocking UN System policies, funds, personnel, projects (UNesco, UNICEF, etc. are openly wailing now that they are "losing their independence" because of this new phase) no one person, or even a full staff, could hope to keep up with the System.

Furthermore, crucial alterations in translation policies in UNesco, plus an almost total blackout now of identification of individuals at all levels, in the Secretariat or outside of it on the myriad UNesco advisory boards, commissions, etc.; in documents dealing with the international non-governmental affiliated bodies, etc.; in reporting global gabfests, etc., is permitting the UN System — especially UNesco to operate almost completely under-cover.

This blackout of identification has even been extended to the nations involved. Nations are now lumped as to continent or area: "5 Asian," "3 Latin American," etc.

Total wiping out of all individual and national identity is, of course, what the UN System was designed to do.

The few who do attempt to sound an alert to their fellow-citizens, here or in Rhodesia—via letters-to-the-editor, or or even editorials by editors themselves—are now officially clobbered for their "errors," technical or otherwise, by professional UN, UNesco, UNICEF, etc. propagandists, whose salaries are paid, either domestically or internationally, by the very citizens they gleefully —and publicly — clobber! And this propaganda technique, this intimidation tactic, began with that "Nobel" winning UN purchasing agency—UNICEF!

ish, the Soviet ordered its satellites —Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia — to "withdraw" from UNesco, howling that it was "too American" for them! Tito's commies stayed in.

Could you think of a better way for the State Dept. to try to silence UNesco's "critics" than to be able to announce that contrary to all the "charges" about red-infiltration, UNesco was so politically lily-white, so "American" that even the commies who had belonged to UNesco found it necessary to leave?

Meanwhile, the cries of "witch-hunts" and "book-burners" mounted . . .

UNESCO—SACRED COW OF KREMLIN AND STATE DEPT.

"The dghtr of a high Communist Party exec has been employed as a press officer with the United Nations. How come???"

This gem comes from Walter Winchell's column in the L.A. Herald-Examiner, Oct. 14, 1965.

How come? It's simple!.

Since the early 1950's, Americans have been brainwashed by the State Dept. with a series of UNesco, UNICEF, etc. whitewashes — UNICEF's latest is dated 1965 — assuring Americans that thanks to "Executive Order 10422 as amended" the UN System no longer hires or retains disloyal U. S. citizens.

The bitter truth is that however serious the "loyalty" information on an individual may be, once that information is transmitted to the UN System by the U.S., the final decision to hire, fire, or retain rests SOLELY with the UNers themselves!

Last week we began telling the story about the fight against UNesco going on via a newspaper in Salisbury, Rhodesia. The fight centers on the USSR and other Red-bloc nationals, and the jobs they hold in the UNesco Secretariat.

That this fight is going on in RHODESIA, and not in the U.S.A. is partly due to the fact that just at the peak of American awakening to the dangers of disloyal U. S. citizens on the UNesco, UNICEF, and other UN System payrolls — and before Americans lous Secretariats — the Kremlin moved to help the State Department protect their mutual sacred cow—UNesco.

On Kremlin orders, Poland "left" UNesco membership on Dec. 11, 1952. Hungary "left" Unesco Dec. 30, 1952, and Czechoslovakia "left" Jan. 29, 1953. They all howled over their shoulders that UNesco was "too American" for them!

The State Department's tax paid stable of professional UNesco propagandists, maintained to "service" the tax-supported 100-member U. S. National Commission for UNesco, which includes 60 national organizations—using tax-cash from the UNesco "attackers" as well as from the UNesco-lovers—started the U.S. Government Printing Presses into a roar.

And the 60 national organizations, like the PTA, NEA, AAUN, and the UNesco-lovers in mass communications papered the Nation with the Glad Word—that in spite of the documented proof from such as The American Legion, VFW, DAR, etc., proving that UNesco at both the national and international levels was shot through with reds and pinks—UNesco "really" was so politically lily-white, so "American," that even the Red Bloc found it necessary to "leave" UNesco membership.

Concurrent with this campaign, there were the rising cries from about the same 60 UNesco Commission organizations and their outside helpers, plus the communist-press, about "Witch-Hunts," "Book-Burners," and from their cradles in the Red-press, words like "McCarranism" and "McCarthyism" showed up in the mouths of even "good" Americans . . .

Four months into 1954, the Kremlin moved again. April 21, 1954, stony-faced Jacob Malik strolled into the London office where UNesco's constitution is enshrined and signed the Soviet Union into full membership in UNesco.

May 12, 1954, the Byelorussian SSR and the Ukrainian SSR signed into full UNesco membership. June 1, Poland returned to the UNesco fold. Hungary returned June 18. Czechoslovakia rejoined UNesco Sept. 9, 1954.

May 18, 1954, Rumania petitioned for UNesco membership. July 21, 1954, Bulgaria petitioned for UNesco membership. Oct. 6, 1954, Albania entered her petition.

Did the U.S. State Department presses and its U.S. National Commission for UNesco

High Place in the U.S.A.—and in the Kremlin — the word went out, "Give UNesco the s-i-l-e-n-t t-r-e-a-t-m-e-n-t!"

Bulgaria joined UNesco on May 17, 1956. Rumania joined July 27, 1956. Albania was welcomed into UNesco Oct. 16, 1958, and Mongolia signed into UNesco Nov. 1, 1962. Cuba fell to the Kremlin and Castro Jan. 1, 1959.

Each of these, UNesco's Red-bloc of 12 countries, including Yugoslavia — legally — feed their nationals into UNesco's Secretariat. (To be continued week-after-week.)

UNICEFERS TO INVADE U.S. POST OFFICES

Something new has been added to the tricks UNICEF plays annually on the American taxpayers, not only at Halloween, but during the Christmas season.

"POST OFFICES TO SELL U.N. CARDS," reads a headline in the Hollywood Citizen-News, October 13, 1965:

"Washington (UPI)—Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has authorized postmasters to make space available in post offices for the United States Committee for the United Nations Children's Fund to sell Christmas cards."

This directive has arrived in Los Angeles. It came in the form of an official "bulletin" from the Bureau of Facilities, Post Office Dept., Washington, D.C.

Addressed to "all postmasters," the directive states that if requests are received from units of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF, they were "encouraged" to assign space in their local post offices for the sale of UNICEF "Christmas" cards from November 15 to December 5, 1965. The UNICEF salesmen are to provide their own table and chair.

This brazen attempt to misuse public property must be stopped. Since Polish-blooded Gronouski is now in commie Poland as U.S. Ambassador, cooking up deals for more U.S. trade with the commie Poles, your protest should be addressed to the new Postmaster General, Lawrence O'Brien.

Your Congressman and Senators should be informed.

Locally, your postmaster should be DIScouraged from taking the action Washington "encouraged" him to take. If he refuses to stop this invasion, and since your taxes are in

SEX, SECURITY, AND TAX-SHUDDERS IN AEROSPACE REPORT

Could anything in the way of a title sound duller than "THE AEROSPACE CORPORATION, A Study of Fiscal and Management Policy and Control," a Report of the Sub-committee for Special Investigations of the Committee on Armed Services, United States House of Representatives, 89th Congress, First Session?

Who'd ever suspect — with a title like that, and knowing it has been rolled off the presses of the U.S. Government Printing Office at a quarter a copy — that there's a shock on every page rivaling anything you'll see in tonight's best T-V melodrama?

Like a sex - and - security yarn? Like reading about "morals arrests?" Do you go for stories about "mental health" and "psychiatrists?" Like reading about how the other half — those working in a lavishly-financed "non-profit" corporation — live? On your federal tax cash, of course? If any of these dramatic situations appeals to you, you'd better get your quarter off to Washington, quick!

The shudders come when you realize that this outfit — a creature of the Congress and the Air Force — has been assigned the "systems management services" for MOL, the MANNED ORBITING LABORATORY, now being so highly touted as a great breakthrough for the "military" in the space effort, as contrasted to the primary emphasis on "peaceful" "civilian" space effort begun by Eisenhower and continued by Kennedy and Johnson.

All through the years since the earth satellite programs of the Soviet Union and the U.S.A. were kicked off by UNesco and the International Council of Scientific Unions as part of their International Geophysical Year — there has been a screaming need for a no-holds-barred Congressional investigation to spell out the tionally and the entire space program domestically.

The late Senator Joe McCarthy called for such a probe as early as 1955, and in 1956, he made an urgent plea to the Congress to set up a blue-ribbon, security-cleared, joint committee to find out whether the U.S. lag in space was due to communist-infiltration, or to mere incompetence.

The day the Soviet Union "won" its space-propaganda victory in 1957, the Soviet - defector who exposed the Red atomic spy ring operating in Canada, with taproots into the U.S., Igor Gouzenko, wrote a letter to Eisenhower warning him:

"In my opinion, it (the Red launching) indicates the work of well-organized Soviet spy rings in the U.S. missile production system. These espionage rings on one hand are pumping OUT of the United States the valuable scientific and other information, and, on the other hand, are sabotaging and DELAYING the U.S. missile efforts under all kinds of seemingly logical excuses."

Eisenhower never answered this warning, not in a courtesy letter to Gouzenko, nor in any other way, nor did Kennedy, nor has Johnson.

Khrushchev, from the beginning, knew there is no such thing as "peaceful" use of space — he saw the launch vehicles for what they are — nothing more or less than long-range artillery! Two years before he enrolled the USSR in 1954 as a member of UNesco, he sent his missile boys to chat with ours about "earth satellites" — on the invitation of UNesco and ICSU. Over and over Khrushchev repeated the truth — it's a simple operation to remove the "peaceful" space-package and substitute a warhead!

"The Aerospace Corporation" Report is m-u-s-t reading. I've used the sex-and-security lure to try to get you to spend a quarter to buy it. Here is a shocking story of wanton waste of public funds by one of those Think-and-Plan-and-Manage-Factories set up for space and other areas such as disarmament, plus expenses, per psychiatrist. They worked on high-level staff personnel, on security cases, and even made suggestions for a planned group discussion at Aerospace. The Report provides quotes from that section under a title: "Creative Sabotage."

NOW MEET "LIL" ANOTHER SPACE - SECURITY SHUDDER

How many millions in hard cash, and how many months or perhaps years in time did the Soviet Union save for its space efforts as the direct result of the September meeting in Athens of the UNesco-affiliated International Astronautical Federation?

With key American space figures already there, Johnson exported the Gemini 5 astronauts Cooper and Conrad and their physician to attend. The result was those nauseating pictures of civilian-clad Cooper and Conrad exchanging "watches" and "pins" with the alleged Soviet "cosmonauts" Belyayev and Leonov, who were beautifully costumed for their roles in dazzling white military uniforms with enough brass on them to sink a battleship.

Unless you've read "The Wennerstroem Spy Case: How It Touched the United States and NATO," (45 cents from the U. S. Government Printing Office) you won't share my morning-paper sickness over the picture captioned "All Smiles," showing a grinning Wernher von Braun with the alleged Soviet spacemen and Leonid Sedov, a key Soviet missile expert who haunts UNesco House in Paris.

Sedov talks "peaceful" space when he visits UNesco as several-term V-P, and later as President of the International Astronautical Federation to sign contracts to get UNesco cash for IAF. IAF is cross-membered into and collaborates with the space work of the red-and-pinko ridden (even Red China, Red Vietnam, Red Sedov prepares for war with the USA and others his regular job. In 1958, for instance, after studying Wennerstroem and other Soviet-spy donations as to detailed Western defense plans and military installations, he headed a staff to draft a master plan for Soviet missile sites. Sedov, for example, toured every missile site in Tito's "independent" (Ha!) communist Yugoslavia, then selected new locations for missile bases, to be manned by Soviet technicians, and aimed them at the free-world outposts of Greece, Turkey and Western Germany.

"Missiles and Rockets" (9-27-'65) covers part of the Athens meeting, giving space to a Thing called "LIL." LIL, "Space Daily" (8-21-'64) explained, is a Lunar International Laboratory, under study for four years by "scholarly" members of IAF and its Paris creature, the International Academy of Astronautics, Deputy Director of which is Frank J. Malina.

Malina headed the study board for "LIL." Other members were L. T. Akulinichev (USSR), engineering psychological problems; R. Angiboust (France), psycho-sociological problems; V. V. Beniuh (USSR), scientific instruments for lunar station; N. Boneff (Bulgaria), lunar geology; C. S. Draper (USA), data acquisition; S. Gorgolewski (Poland) radio astronomy; Andrew G. Haley (USA), space law; C. S. Henderson (USA), space exploration; L. G. Mitcham (USA), selenology; K. P. Ogorodnikov (USSR), optical astronomy and astrophysics; William H. Pickering (USA), radiation; O. E. Reynolds (USA), physiological problems; L. I. SEDOV (USSR), theoretical mechanics; J. C. Stoddart (U.K.), physiological problems; Yu Volynkin (USSR), bioastronautics.

Frank Malina and above board decided UNesco would be the ideal "sponsor" for LIL, since "prime importance to the planning is avoiding even a hint of NATIONAL interest becoming involved."

Frank J. Malina is an identified member of the Communist Party of California. With House commie probers in hot pursuit, he fled the U.S. in 1947 to become Deputy Director of UNesco's Natural Sciences Dept. under British commie, Joseph Needham. All WW II Malina worked on rockets for General Tire and Rubber Co.

A Malina co-worker in the CalTech rocket crew was Hsue-Shen Tsien, who fled Cal Tech and the USA in 1955 for Red China, and is now being credited as one of the major scientists behind the Red China a-bomb, and perhaps a missile delivery system for it.

Where were the House commie probers in November, 1964, when, for the first time, to my best knowledge, Malina dared to return to U.S. soil? He addressed the Third International Symposium on Bioastronautics and the Exploration of Space in San Antonio, sponsored by the Aerospace Medical Division, Air Force Systems Command, Brooks AFB. Where, come to think of it, was Air Force intelligence? Phenobarb, anyone?

RHODESIA WAGES WAR ON UNESCO'S RED EMPLOYEES

There's a fight against UNesco going on in Salisbury, Rhodesia. The fight is centering on the communist nationals employed by UNesco in its Secretariat, and the jobs they hold . . .

Even ONE communist in the UNesco Secretariat is a serious and dangerous matter from a security point of view, since the very nature of the international communist conspiracy makes it impossible for a communist national from the USSR or any of its Captive States to serve any other body or agency than the communist conspiracy itself.

Every Congressional investigation involving U.S. citizens serving as UN System personnel, including UNesco, UNICEF, etc., has exposed the danger to the internal security of this and other nations represented by the presence of "domestic" Soviet agents and/or their sympathizers in the UN machinery.

Each annual report issued by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, including his 1965 report to the Congress, stresses — and with annually mounting alarm —the fact that the Soviet intelligence services, employing their own, plus Communist-bloc personnel, use to the hilt the opportunities for the collection of classified and unclassified information offered via the LEGAL route. Mr. Hoover stated this year that "the focal points of these operations continue to be the United Nations representatives using the LEGAL COVER of their diplomatic or other official status to cloak their spying activities."

The Soviet Union participated fully in the drafting of UNesco's constitution, and in the writing of "UNesco" into so many provisions of the UN Charter itself that withdrawal from "UNesco" would be impossible, without withdrawal from the UN itself. Then the Soviet failed to join UNesco. Poland and Hungary joined in 1946, Czechoslovakia in 1948 and Yugoslavia in 1950.

In the early 1950's came the Congressional exposures not only of Soviet agents planted in U.S. Government, but of the heavy infiltration of U. S. citizens who were Soviet agents or sympathizers into the Secretariats of the entire UN System, including UNesco, UNICEF, etc. Great national organizations like The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the DAR, etc., passed resolutions against UNesco, the U.S. National Commission for UNesco, and in the VFW resolution, against the U.S. Office of Education as well. Fights against UNesco were waged — and won — in cities like Los Angeles.

The general public was being awakened to the dangers of UNesco, and not only to its menace to internal security as a spy-roost and source of red-slanted educational, scientific, cultural, and other materials, reports, etc.

The public was also being awakened to UNesco's attack on patriotism and the whole concept of continued American national independence. UNesco and the State Dept. were caught red-handed tampering with U.S. school curricula and teaching materials, twisting and distorting them to achieve UNesco's political goal: training world citizens for their coming "citizenship" in a world government created out of the UN machinery already existing.

The U. S. passed a federal law in 1952 to try to stop UNesco and the State Dept. from spending any more taxes on the promotion — direct or INDIRECT — of the principles or doctrine of one world government and one world citizenship.

Then the Kremlin moved to protect UNesco. American public awakening seriously threatened not only UNesco's finances, but the Kremlin's use of UNesco and

Warren Commission

Dear Sir,

I have been doing some research in the 26 volumes of the Warren Commission Hearings, and recently noticed what I think is a small error in the labelling of two Zapruder frames in CE 885 in Volume 18. Since these volumes constitute an extremely important document, I thought I should call this to your attention.

I am referring to the two Zapruder frames labelling 314 and 315. I claim that the frame captioned 314 is actually 315 and vice-versa.

To prove this, drop a perpendicular from the forward foot of the little girl in the background to the side of the Presidential automobile in both frames. You will note that it falls further towards the rear of the car in the frame labelled 314 than in the frame labelled 315. Of course, the reverse should be true as the car is moving forward, with respect to the little girl, at about ten MPH. The lateral motion of the car is much greater than that of the little girl's foot.

Similarly, I note that the woman in the left background of frame 313 suddenly disappear in the frame labelled 314, but reappears in the frame labelled 315. Of course, the reverse would be true if the camera is slowly scanning from left to right.

If you agree that this is indeed an accidental mislabelling, may I suggest that the National Archives be notified about this? It is very possible that the slides are being shown there in this mislabelled fashion.

I would like to hear your opinion on the validity of my argument at your earliest convenience. Thankyou.

Respectfully yours,

Judith R. Schmidt

Dear Miss Schmidt:

Reference is made to your letter dated December 6, 1965, to Special Agent Lyndal L. Shaneyfelt regarding the labeling of two of the Zapruder frames numbers 314 and 315 of Commission Exhibit 885 in Volume 18 of the "Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy."

You are correct in the observation that frames labeled 314 and 315 of Commission Exhibit 885 are transposed in Volume 18 as noted in your letter. This is a printing error and does not exist in the actual Commission Exhibit. For your information the slides from which Commission Exhibit 885 was prepared are correctly numbered and are being shown in their correct sequence.

NOTE: The photographs described by Miss Schmidt as Exhibit 885 are photographs of each frame of the Zapruder film including the pertinent portion of this film that was made during the assassination of President Kennedy. These photographs were made in the FBI Laboratory from color slides that had previously been made directly from the original Zapruder films. The black and white photographs were bound in a book and each frame was numbered in sequence and this book was used during the testimony of SA Shaneyfelt before the Commission. SA Shaneyfelt has checked this Exhibit at the National Archives and found that not only Commission

SUBJECT: JOHN SCHUCHARDT

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE
SWARTHMORE, PENNSYLVANIA

On January 28th, the captioned individual visited Bureau Headquarters and spoke to SA John W. O'Beirne, Crime Research Section.

Schuchardt indicated that he had just left the Archives Building where he is conducting research into the hearings conducted by the Warren Commission into the assassination of President Kennedy. He stated he wanted to look at photographs which were examined during the hearings and had been unable to locate them. He said he was referring to those taken by Robert J. E. Hughes, Malcolm Couch and Hugh Betzner. Schuchardt wondered, since this material was not contained in the exhibits in the Archives, whether they could be made available to him from FBI files.

Schuchardt was informed that all material gathered by the FBI was furnished to the Warren Commission for its review and eventual disposition. It was pointed out that while it was not known if the items were obtained by the FBI or one of the other investigating agencies which assisted the Commission, nevertheless, it was the Commission's responsibility to dispose of all material in any way it saw fit. He was informed that everything pertaining to the Kennedy assassination which involved the FBI was furnished to the Commission and other correspondence in FBI files regarding this matter is available to other government agencies only through official channels. He was informed of the confidential nature of FBI files and that no information could be provided to him.

Bufiles contain no information identifiable with Schuchardt. The photographs to which he referred were furnished to the Commission and no information is available regarding the disposition it made of this material.

The letter furnished no reason as to why SA Herndon's autograph was requested, however, it is noted that SA Herndon testified before the Warren Commission.

Bureau files revealed Miss Himes sent a letter to the Director dated 11/29/63, requesting his autograph on some envelopes. Miss Gandy answered this letter enclosing the envelopes which the Director autographed. Bureau files contain no other identifiable information concerning the correspondent.

This is the second such letter SA Herndon has received; and in accordance with the manner the preceding letter was handled, unless advised to the contrary, the material will be returned to Miss Himes without autograph or notation in the self-addressed stamped envelope which was furnished. SUGGESTION 549-66

Captioned employee who is assigned to the File Review Unit of the Files and Communications Division has suggested through this division's Streamlining Committee that the bulky enclosure for the file 62-109090-236 which is the "Hearing Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy" be placed in the cabinet in the same manner as the Dies Committee Hearing enclosures. She noted the original enclosure and five copies consist of 25 bound volumes each which fill 11 boxes and are currently maintained in the bulky ramp bins. According to Miss Near, there are many references to and requests for this enclosure which often make it difficult to locate and review same. When such requests are received, enclosures are pulled from the bins by Filing Unit employees and given to a file reviewer for review. In researching this problem, the supervisory staff of this division felt that one copy could be placed in the File Review Unit for the analysts to review all references and this copy would not be charged out. A notation would be placed on the bulky ramp desk stating that no file reviewer is to review these references. The original and other copies would be kept on the bulky ramp with the original not to be charged out. Streamlining Committee is of the opinion this suggestion should be adopted as amended by the supervisory staff of this division and this suggestion is being effected by the Records Branch.

RECOMMENDATION:

No formal acknowledgement is deemed necessary in this matter and employee is being orally thanked.

Dear Sir/Madam:

P[illegible]o not DESTROY or disregard [illegible]letter.

While I realize that this could easily be your first impulse as it is so often mine when I receive unsolicited mail-it is important that you at least consider the contents.

I say this because the very validity of this project depends entirely on your eminence as a person-for there can be little doubt that future generations will consult and evaluate,the searching,incisive or just common sense comments you may feel free to make.

On Monday September 28,1964,when the Warren Commission finally released their voluminous report on the assassination of President Kennedy,they had this to say,in Chapter One,Summary & Conclusion:

> "The assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy on November 22,1962 was a cruel and shocking act of violence directed against a man,a family,a nation and against all mankind."

On the whole,I believe that one compassionate sentence from the report has been accepted with universal unanmity but unfortunately,the report itself-despite an enthusiastic endorsement by Louis Nizer-has not been as well received.

In October 1965,a book titled"The Unanswered Questions about the Assassination of President Kennedy" written by Sylvan Fox-a Pulitzer Prize reporter-unleashed a whole gravamen of grave doubts at the Warren Commission's considerable sins of OMISSION.

Following in February 1966,at the annual meeting of The American Academy of Forensic Sciences convening in Chicago,several of a panel of experts made up of doctors,lawyers,criminologists et al went on record as being"appalled" at the "unprofessional" modus operandi of the Warren Commission in arriving at a historical decision.

In view of these distinguished demurrers what I should like to ascertain is:

ARE YOU for the most part in agreement with the conclusions of the Warren Commission that this crazed act was the work of ONE and ONLY ONE assassin

WHERE WERE YOU on that fateful Friday and what were your IM-MEDIATE reactions to this terrible calamity?

Naturally,I would appreciate whatever recollections or reflections you may be able to summon up.

Copies of this letter are being addressed to a spectrum of opinion all the way from Bertrand Russell to Bill Buckley and from General Edwin Walker all the way to Dwight David Eisenhower.It will include a cross section of personalities,politicos,clergymen,lawyers and all shades of newsmen.

Arthur Schlesinger Jr.in his Boswellian account of theKennedy era,"A Thousand Days"-and some 1,100 pages-fails to even mention the existence of a Lee Harvey Oswald and this is how he defends his notable omission as reported by -Bob Considine,March 10,1966.

> "My feeling about the murder of President Kennedy is that it was motivated not by politics,but by madness,and my point about Dallas in "A Thousand Days" was that a city of such exceptional hysteria and violence might well subvert the already twisted psyche of a weak and impressionable man like Oswald and lead him to terrible actions.
> The issue in short,seemed to me not a question of ideology,whether Right or Left but irrationality vs rationality."

This is an opinion Marvin Belli also shares in his "Dallas Justice" but I am not certain whether YOU agree with this rationale. Possibly, there can be no consensus. Whatever thoughts you do have will certainly be most appreciated.

Naturally,I am not expecting an avalanche of responses considering my awesome anonymity and a possible reticence concerning the inquiry but whatever replies I receive,I hopefully expect to form the basis of an article.

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

Our letter dated August 10, 1965, forwarded to you copies of our memorandum of the same date which set forth the results of our review of certain material contained in the Warren Commission's Numbered Document File at the National Archives. The purpose of our review was to reach a determination under guidelines approved on April 19, 1965, by Honorable McGeorge Bundy, Special Assistant to the President, as to which of the documents may be made available to the public.

At the time of our review certain of the documents in the Commission's Numbered Document File were missing and, accordingly, we were unable to reach a determination as to the public disclosure of those documents.

On April 22, 1966, Mr. Marion Johnson of the staff of Dr. James B. Rhoads, Deputy Archivist of the United States, advised that Commission Document Number 1380 has now been located. This document is identified as a "Confidential" memorandum of thirteen pages dated August 4, 1964, at New York, New York, captioned "Mark Lane, Security Matter - C." Applying guideline number two, it is our view that Commission Document Number 1380 should not at this time be placed in the public domain.

Dear Sir/Madam:

This is a follow-up of an original questionnaire whic may have wished to complete but possibly,due to the posing type of query being an overly busy person)you found it either impracticable or inconven

Then again,perhaps,you may be receiving the questionnai for the first time.If so,your opinion as a prominent person is honestly,in interests of future historical inquiry,inestimable.Therefore,I am taking the unenfranchised liberty of sending one along.

Assuredly,I am of the opinion that you care to comment on the thoughts and deep emotions that surged over you when,for the first time, you discovered,on that fateful Friday November 22,1963,that John Fitzgerald Kennedy,35th President of the United States of America,had cruelly been cut down,at the height of his vitality and vigor,by a crazed assassination.

Then,later on in November 28,1964 when the Warren Commission issued their 912 page report on the murder, were you completely satisfied that it put to rest,once and for all,all the innuendoes,the rumors,the suspicions,the incredible concatenation of coincidence all conspiring to create unsettling doubts?

As of now,I have had stimulating replies from Arnold Toynbee, Melvin Belli,Bob Considine,Bertrand Russell,Henry Steele Commagher,Allen Nevins, Norman Thomas,Herriman Smith,Reinhold Niebuhr,Fulton Lewis Jr.,Hugh Trevor-Roper Richard Cardinal Cushing,Bishop James Pike,Frederick C.Barghoorn(the Yale professor who was released by the Soviet Union on the unwaivering insistence of President Kennedy just 6 days before the assassination),Detective M.N.McDonald (who apprehended Lee Harvey Oswald in the Dallas theatre)and others.

Almost ALL of them,have made a judgement on the Warren repor although , IT IS NOT NECESSARY for you to do so.Answers to ONE or ALL questions will be tremendously appreciated. Believe me,I am ASKING you to articulate ONLY because NO ONE ELSE may have sought out your true convictions.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

On May 23, 1966, a source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that he learned that Fletcher Knebel, well-known journalist, is collaborating with Edward J. Epstein in writing a book on the "Report of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy." According to the source, Epstein allegedly has access to Federal Bureau of Investigation reports and is using material from these reports for the book. The source added that he learned that Wesley J. Liebelier, former Assistant Counsel to the President's Commission, has made such FBI data available to Epstein. According to our source, Knebel and Epstein plan to shed new light on the President's Commission's Report.

MAILED 4 MAY 25 1966 COMM-FBI

REC-31 62-109090-480

For your information, during the course of our intensive investigation of the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy, numerous reports and other FBI data were made available to the President's Commission. Much of this data was later used by the Commission in part or in its entirety in the publication of its Report. We have also determined that FBI reports and other FBI documents which have been cleared for public disclosure and which are maintained by the National Archives are available to the public upon request. The National Archives, as a matter of policy, will reproduce for a nominal fee such cleared FBI reports upon request.

SUBJECT: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY (WARREN COMMISSION)

D.J.

Allen Dulles telephonically furnished the following information to Agent Papich on May 23, 1966.

Dulles had just received a phone call from Fletcher Knebel, well-known writer. Knebel informed Dulles that he was collaborating with one Edward J. Epstein in writing a book on the Warren Commission report dealing with the assassination of President Kennedy. Knebel indicated that this book would "throw a new light on everything." He did not elaborate but stated that Epstein had access to FBI reports. He explaiped that this access had been arranged through Wesley J. Liebeler, who had been a member of the Warren Commission working staff. Knebel was looking for Dulles' reaction and Dulles advised Knebel that he would be way out of line if he were using FBI reports. Dulles raised the question concerning legality and handling of classified information. Knebel made no further comment but did indicate that Epstein personally may have been in contact with Dulles in the past.

Shortly after, Dulles called again stating that he had checked his diary. He learned that Epstein had telephonically contacted him on September 27, 1965, explaining that he was a graduate student at Cornell University and that he was writing a thesis on the Warren Commission report. Epstein told Dulles that he had talked to other members of the Commission and he was interested in meeting with the former CIA Director. Dulles stated that he saw Epstein about three days later and they had a conversation concerning the work of the Warren Commission. The entire conversation was in general terms and he recalled that Epstein never expressed any personal views concerning the work of the Commission. He definitely gave no indication that he was planning to write a book.

RE: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT

(WARREN COMMISSION)

Dulles asked that we not contact Knebel or Epstein at this time and not identify Dulles as the source of this information. Dulles made the observation that the current atmosphere is such that he and the Bureau can easily be charged with "suppression." Dulles made it clear that he certainly was not restricting the Bureau from making any inquiry and he fully recognized that this might become necessary. He stated that if "the chips are down" and he is needed, he will be ready to cooperate with the Bureau.

Bufiles indicate that one Edward J. Epstein, born December 6, 1935, described as a student, residing at 121 Wright Road, Rocky Avenue Centre, New York, traveled as a tourist in the Soviet Union in 1958 (100-351585-3339).

Our files also indicate that in 1955 Edward J. Epstein, a student at Cornell University, complained that a telephone conversation between him and another student had been tape recorded by a member of an investigating committee connected with the Student Council of Cornell University. The Committee was looking into campus election irregularities. The facts were submitted to the Department for possible violation of unauthorized publication or use of communications and the Department declined prosecution (139-198).

OBSERVATIONS:

A large number of FBI reports and other documents were set out in part or in their entirety in the "Report of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy." In addition, it is to be noted that a large number of FBI reports prepared in connection with the assassination of the late President Kennedy are in possession of the National Archives and are available to the public. As a matter of policy the National Archives will not release material originating from the FBI without prior FBI approval, however, the above material was specifically reviewed by us for release. It is not known what documents Epstein allegedly may possess, but there is a definite possibility he may have documents which have been cleared for release to the public.

ACTION:

Enclosed for approval is a letter to the Attorney General advising him concerning this matter. He is being informed that the Bureau does not contemplate any further action.

PURPOSE:

To furnish information in Bureau files concerning Harold Weisberg and Edward Jay Epstein, who authored the books "Whitewash" and "Inquest" respectively, each dealing with the findings made by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

HAROLD WEISBERG

Harold Weisberg and his wife, Lillian Stone Weisberg, jointly own a 14 acre tract of land in Hyattstown, Maryland, upon which they operate the Coq d'Or Farm whose principal business is raising of pheasant-chickens, Rock-Cornish game hens, waterfowl and other poultry and the sale of poultry and eggs.

Bureau files contain numerous references to the Weisbergs. The Department of State, in a report dated April 28, 1947, showed that Harold Weisberg was an employee of the La Follette Civil Liberties Committee from September, 1936, to October, 1939, and was discharged for permitting certain information to leak to the press. This report sets forth that Senator La Follette stated that Weisberg had been dismissed for a breach of trust involving the release of confidential information to newspapers, and the Senator was quite certain the newspaper involved was The Daily Worker.

Weisberg was one of ten employees fired summarily by the State Department in June, 1947, because of suspected communist or communistic sympathies. He was later allowed to resign without prejudice, but was not restored to his job. His wife, Lillian Stone Weisberg, was investigated under the provisions of Executive Order 9835 in 1948, and the Civil Service Commission advised in October, 1948, she had been retained. At that time, she was a clerk in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Her name had been carried on the active list of members of the Washington Book Shop Association and the Washington Committee for Democratic Action during December, 1947, and she was listed as an active member of the Washington League of Women Shoppers during January, 1941. Informants contacted during the investigation of Weisberg's wife advised that Harold Weisberg had been an associate of Maurice Helperin, who was involved in Soviet espionage conspiracy.

In 1961, Weisberg and his wife filed a claim against the Government under the Federal Tort Claims Act in the amount of $9,950 for damages allegedly sustained by them in their poultry business as a result of low-flying helicopters. This case was tried and court directed judgment in favor of the Weisbergs for $750.

In a letter dated May 23, 1966, to the Director, Weisberg enclosed a copy of his book "Whitewash" and made reference to quotations from the Director's testimony and that of FBI Agents and stated he believed these required "immediate and unequivocal explanation." He submitted three questions which pertain to testimony concerning the number of shots fired and he questioned the results of our Laboratory examination of the bullets.

EDWARD JAY EPSTEIN

Bureau files indicate that one Edward J. Epstein, born December 6, 1935, described as a student residing at 121 Wright Road, Rocky Avenue Centre, New York, traveled as a tourist in the Soviet Union in 1958.

Our files also indicate that in 1955, Edward J. Epstein, a student at Cornell University, complained that a telephone conversation between him and another student had been tape-recorded by a member of an investigating committee connected with the Student Council of Cornell University. The Committee was looking into campus election irregularities. The facts were submitted to the Department for possible violation of Unauthorized Publication or Use of Communications and the Department declined prosecution.

In a Washington Post article dated May 29, 1966, referred-to-below, Epstein is described as a candidate for a Doctor of Philosophy Degree at Harvard University and his book was written as his Masters thesis while at Cornell University.

ACTION:

ON TICKLER LIST.

Bureau files are being expeditiously reviewed in order to determine the complete facts to resolve any alleged discrepancies which were mentioned in an article appearing in the Washington Post, May 29, 1966, captioned, "An Inquest: Skeptical Postcript to Warren Group's Report on Assassination." This Post article was based on a review of the books authored by Weisberg and Epstein.

Bureau files are also being expeditiously reviewed in order to determine the facts concerning the items mentioned in Weisberg's letter of May 23, 1966.

Memoranda are being prepared setting forth recommended action in each of the above matters.

NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

SYNOPSIS:

A letter was received from Harold Weisberg of Hyattstown, Maryland, enclosing his book, entitled "Whitewash - the report on the Warren Report." He believed that immediate and unequivocal explanations are required from the FBI in connection with the FBI's report to the President's Commission. He specifically demanded answers to three items.

(1) Relating to the number of bullets which were involved in the assassination he suggests five were fired. The Commission's report concludes three shots were fired.

(2) He states that in testimony before the President's Commission evidence was not introduced as to the spectographic analyses of a bullet and fragments. This is absolutely incorrect, since the testimony of a FBI Laboratory expert concerning spectographic analyses is set forth in the Commission's report.

(3) Weisberg alleges the whole bullet (located on Governor Connally's stretcher) had been wiped clean and that the FBI Laboratory expert testified that the cleansing of the bullet was not complete and that foreign matter remained in the grooves of the bullet. This is inaccurate since our Laboratory expert testified the bullet was clean when he received it and that there was no blood or tissue present.

Weisberg formed his opinions after reading the FBI reports to the President's Commission dated 12/9/63 and 1/13/64. Both of these are located in the National Archives and are available to the public.

Memorandum to Mr. DeLoach
Re: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

In connection with our original report to the Commission on 12/9/63, the Commission credited the Bureau by saying this report was of principal importance to them. Weisberg, in his book, describes this report in part as "neat, clean, colorful and optically attractive rendition of such tenuous content that a self-respecting undergraduate lawyer would hesitate to take it into an uncorrupted court."

His 208-page book has been reviewed. It is a vitriolic and diabolical criticism of the President's Commission, the FBI, the Secret Service, police agencies and other branches of the Government relating to the assassination investigation. Weisberg attempted to have his book published by 103 different publishers both in the United States and Europe, all of whom refused. He thereafter personally published a limited number and had it copyrighted in August, 1965. Weisberg, in his own comments stated, "In writing this book the author has had but one purpose. That was to show that the job assigned to and expected of the President's Commission on the assassination of John F. Kennedy has not been done." Weisberg has distorted the truth regarding the investigation of the assassination and has set forth his own theories and deductions of what should have been done. Illustrative of this, he contends the President was shot from both the front and back, and that another conspirator was therefore involved with Oswald. His book is full of errors and inconsistencies.

Due to the inaccuracies, falsehoods and deliberate slanting of facts to fit his own purpose, coupled with Weisberg's subversive background (memorandum Mr. Rosen to Mr. DeLoach, 6/1/66, attached) it is not felt the Bureau should add dignity or credibility to him by acknowledging his communication.

ACTION:

That Weisberg's communication not be acknowledged.

Memorandum to Mr. DeLoach
RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

DETAILS:

A letter was received from Harold Weisberg enclosing his book entitled " Whitewash - the report on the Warren Report." He stated, in the book will be found quotations from the Director's testimony and that of FBI Agents that he believes require immediate and unequivocal explanations. He specifically pointed to three items which, in his opinion, "It would seem no question of National security can be involved." Weisberg indicated that in the brief discussion of the assassination in the report to the commission it was said that three shots were fired, of which two hit the President and one the Governor. Weisberg is referring to our initial report of December 9, 1963, furnished to the Commission. He read into this comment that this report did not account for the bullet that hit the curbstone and that the bullet that did not kill the President struck him in the back, not the neck and did not go through his body. He said this did not account for the wound in the front of the President's neck and therefore theorized at least five bullets were fired.

This matter has been thoroughly covered by separate memorandum as it relates to the article published in "The Washington Post" dated May 29, 1966. Weisberg's theory is completely in error as it is obvious he has not conducted thorough research into this matter as all pertinent information is available in the "President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy Report."

In Weisberg's second point he states that in testimony before the Commission, evidence was not introduced as to the spectrographic analysis of a bullet and various bullet fragments. This is not correct since the Laboratory examiner's testimony to the Commission indicates that these items were examined spectrographically and were found to be similar in composition. The Laboratory examiner further pointed out that such similarity of composition does not necessarily mean that the fragments came from a particular bullet. Testimony as to the spectrographic comparison appears in Volume V, pages 67, 69, 73, 74 and in Volume XV, page 700.

In Weisberg's third point he states that the Laboratory expert testified that the bullet from Governor Connally's stretcher had been wiped clean. This is not true. The expert testified the bullet was clean when he received it and that no blood or tissue which would interfere with the firearms examination was present. (Volume III, pages 428 and 429). With regard to Weisberg's further inquiry as to whether the bullet could be associated through residues with either the President's body or the Governor's body, there was, in fact, no blood or tissue on the bullet for such an examination when the evidence was received in the FBI Laboratory.

The bullets, one from Governor Connally's stretcher and the two bullet fragments from the front seat area of the limousine were identified with Oswald's rifle and were found to be physically the same as Western 6.5 mm Mannlicher-Carcano ammunition components. The other possible bullet fragments from the limousine, the President's head and the Governor's wrist, were only pieces of lead, similar in metallic composition to the lead core portion of Western 6.5 mm ammunition. These lead fragments and the lead smears on the windshield of the limousine and the lead residue found on the curbing at the scene, which the Commission thoroughly investigated, do not possess characteristic compositions or shapes which would permit their positive identification as fragments or smears of specific bullets.

In connection with the background of Weisberg himself, he was the subject of a separate memorandum, a copy of which is attached.

Weisberg's book has been reviewed. It is a 6" by 9" paperbound book, obviously cheaply prepared and its selling price is indicated as $4.95. The book was copyrighted by Weisberg in 1965, and on the cover it states "The book that couldn't be printed." In this respect it is of importance to note in the preface Weisberg stated the book was offered to 63 United States book publishers during a 14-month period and of these 63 publishers, 21 had so little interest they declined even to read the book. In addition, 11 offers were made by Weisberg to publishers in 8 foreign countries, none of whom accepted his offer. In all Weisberg stated 103 offers of this book were made, not counting repeaters. He indicated following refusals of publishers to print his book he prepared a limited edition and copyrighted it in August, 1965.

Memorandum to Mr. DeLoach
RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

In Weisberg's own words he says his book is more than an analysis of the investigation of the assassination of the late President. "It is a commentary of the freedom of the press, the underpinning of the democratic society, and a measure of the state of that society."

Following a review of this book it was determined it is nothing more than a vitriolic and diabolical criticism of the President's Commission and the FBI relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. He indicated the superficial and immature manner in which the report deals with the possibility of a conspiracy or of a different assassin is only one of the ways in which the Commission may have crippled itself. He contended it would have been better if the Commission had had its own staff of investigators and restricted the use of the FBI and Secret Service to technical services.

Weisberg indicated his book is an attempt to "analyse the report itself exclusively on the basis of the Commission's own information." It is noted that of the 13 chapters in this book he quotes the Commission's findings extensively but thereafter inserts his own comments and theories as to what should have been done. In every instance concerning all phases of the investigation and the findings, he was critical. In Chapter 9 where he discusses the witnesses and their treatment he stated there are always those people who suddenly see a chance to become important, to themselves, to those for whom they will testify, to their circle of friends and to the world at large. He also said that there are nervous people and neurotics inevitably there are those who have axes to grind - hatreds or dislikes to be indulged, and political objectives to be attained. From these comments it would appear that Weisberg is adequately describing himself.

Weisberg said in respect to the Commission's report, "What is most lacking in this report is analysis." He has delved into the scientific findings and arrived at his own conclusions without apparent background relating to scientific research.

Weisberg claimed the Commission's report was abundantly clear that it distorts and misrepresents the Commission's information on Oswald's politics. He claims when the Commission did this, "Can there be any reason for this except a desire to fool the public?" He also contended whenever possible the Commission's report infers inefficiency of the Federal bureaucracy.

Weisberg referred to the "Investigation of a Possible Conspiracy" involving Oswald. The Commission concluded there is no credible evidence that Lee Harvey Oswald was part of a conspiracy to assassinate President Kennedy. Weisberg said "On both counts the report is wrong. First, it had more than evidence of a conspiracy; it had irrefutable proof. Second, the Commission had highly credible evidence that Lee Harvey Oswald was, in fact, part of this conspiracy." Weisberg continues page after page in this particular vein of thinking. He criticized the Secret Service, the results of the autopsy examination and the bullet and fragments recovered, and the nature of the wounds of President Kennedy. It is quite obvious he has failed miserably in attempting to reconstruct the facts in their proper light.

In the author's conclusion he indicated in writing this book, the author has had but one purpose. That was to show that the job assigned and expected of the President's Commission on the assassination of John F. Kennedy has not been done. He then continues can the job really be done regardless of the consequences. Weisberg said, "Who can solve this crime?" Not the courts, for there is no question which can be taken to court. Not the Commission, for it has already both failed and closed up, its work unfinished." Therefore he said "Only Congress remains."

Based on Weisberg's inadequate research he contended the President was shot from both front and back. "Nothing else makes sense. Nothing else is possible." He stated "There was not a single assassin, Oswald or any other. Thus, there was at least one conspiracy - to kill the President."

Weisberg referred to an FBI report he observed in the National Archives which was carefully prepared document and one of the initial reports furnished to the President's Commission which the Commission commended us for. Weisberg described this report as "a tissue so thin and a polemic so undisguised that it would demean labors of a hick police force investigating the purloining of a desiccated flounder." He further described this report as a "Neat, clean, colorful and optically attractive rendition of such tenuous content that a self-respecting undergraduate would hesitate to take it into an uncorrupted court."

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

It appears Weisberg, by publishing his book, is attempting to establish controversy and to expound his personal theories and deductions concerning the assassination investigation. This book is full of errors and inconsistencies and Weisberg has distorted the truth relating to the assassination investigation. Due to information contained in his book and Weisberg's background, the Bureau should not add dignity or credibility to him by answering his communication.

SUBJECT: RICHARD H. POPKIN, PROFESSOR, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA AT SAN DIEGO, ALLEGES LEE HARVEY OSWALD WAS PART OF A CONSPIRACY

"The Washington Post," 7-18-66 issue, contained an article titled "Professor Feels Oswald Had a Double." Article alleged a California educator, Professor Richard H. Popkin, University of California at San Diego, writing in the New York Review of Books, contended that an analysis of the Warren Commission Report and two new books on the Kennedy Assassination, provide "compelling" substantiation of the theory that Lee Harvey Oswald was part of a conspiracy. Popkin demanded the investigation be reopened. Popkin's own theory is that a man who looked like Oswald and often posed as Oswald was the actual assassin, while Oswald was used to create the illusion that a lonely, alienated man with pro-Castro leanings was the sole perpetrator of the crime.

Popkin used a review of Edward J. Epstein's "Inquest" and Harold Weisberg's "Whitewash," both of which take issue with the Warren Report, as a forum for his own speculation.

Mr. Hoover asked "What do we know of Popkin?"

Bufiles contain only one reference to Richard H. Popkin. This is in a report dated 10-9-65, at San Diego, which alleged a confidential informant reported that four members of the faculty of the University of California at San Diego, were the main organizers of the "International Days of Protest" observance scheduled for 10-15 and 16-65. Informant said Richard H. Popkin was Chairman of the committee and he was affiliated with the Department of Philosophy of the University of California. Informant said Popkin was doing most of the paperwork and the protest, scheduled for 4 to 7 p.m. on 10-15-65 would consist of picketing plus a demonstration around the flag pole located on the Campus of San Diego State College. Speeches would then be made opposing the United States policy with regard to Vietnam, and leaflets along the same line would be passed out. It was learned from a confidential source that the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) had expressed an intention to support the demonstration, if one was held. SWP has been designated by the United States Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450. (100-444608-126)

Biographical data in "Who's Who In America" reflects that Richard H. Popkin was born 12-27-23, New York City, the son of Louis and Zelda (Feinberg). SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING
THE BOOK "INQUEST"
BY EDWARD JAY EPSTEIN

SYNOPSIS:

To advise the book entitled, "Inquest," written by Edward Jay Epstein has been reviewed. Epstein, a candidate for a Doctorate degree at Harvard University, said "The primary subject of this book is the Warren Commission, not the assassination itself." He claims his book attempts to answer the question: "How did the Commission go about searching for such an illusive and many-faced quarry as the truth?" Epstein indicated the research for his book was based on four main sources: the Commission's report and the 25 volumes of testimony and exhibits: the investigative reports in the U. S. National Archives: the working papers of the Commission supplied by the staff: and last, and according to Epstein, the most important, were the interviews conducted with members of the Commission and staff. Epstein criticized the President's Commission severely, contending it did an inadequate job of investigating the assassination. He points out, based on his interview with Commission members, the internal strife which existed with the Commission and staff.

Epstein makes no direct derogatory remarks concerning the Bureau, but quotes members of the staff interviewed who expressed some dissatisfaction in dealing with the Bureau. For example, Joseph A. Ball, Assistant Counsel, commented rather than having direct access to FBI Agents, his requests for assistance had to come from FBI headquarters in Washington, D. C. Ball was quoted as saying the FBI was "exasperatingly bureaucratic." Other staff members, according to Epstein, believed FBI Agents were initially resentful of "amateurs" doing what they considered to be their job. However, J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel, was quoted as saying that, although there were some "communication" problems between the staff and the FBI, there was a liaison officer with the FBI on whom he could call "any time of the day or night." Epstein continues that the staff had "virtually all of its questions answered by the FBI."

Epstein reported a number of prominent persons, such as the Director, testified and gave stature to the Commission's investigation; however, such did not serve to reveal any new facts about the assassination.

"Inquest" attempts to establish a second assassin was involved, basing this premise on the time sequence of shots fired and the official autopsy report. Epstein's inquiries were obviously superficial since it is reported he spent only two days in the National Archives reviewing papers which totaled over 63,000 pages. Epstein distorted facts to fit his designed theories and is guilty of the very thing he accuses the Commission of - - inadequate research.

This is submitted for information.

Rosen to DeLoach Memorandum
RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

DETAILS:

Edward Jay Epstein, a candidate for a doctorate degree at Harvard University, has written a book entitled "Inquest," "The Warren Commission and the Establishment of Truth." It was originally written as a thesis for a master's degree at Cornell University. The book contains a laudatory introduction by Richard H. Rovere, Washington correspondant for "The New Yorker." The book contains a preface and ten chapters which are broken down into three parts. Epstein copyrighted his book in 1965 and it was published by the Viking Press, New York, New York, and was simultaneously published in Canada by the MacMillan Company of Canada Limited.

DC NY

Epstein said "the primary subject of this book is the Warren Commission, not the assassination itself." It attempts to answer the question, "How did the Commission go about searching for such illusive and many-faced quarry as the truth?" He pointed out the Commission had to do an exhaustive investigation, evaluate and weigh all the facts, and arrive at an answer. Epstein's study dealt with four central questions arising out of the Commission's work: how did the Commission initiate, organize and direct a full-scale investigation; the general problem of truth-finding in a political environment; the problem of the investigation itself; and finally the question how the Commission's report was written.

Epstein stated the research for his book was based on four sources. The first, the Commission's report and the 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits; the second, the investigative reports in the United States National Archives; and the third, the working papers of the Commission supplied by a member of the staff. Epstein points out this material and especially his chronological file were of particular importance in understanding the mechanics of the Commission. Epstein is specifically referring to Assistant Counsel Wesley J. Liebeler. The fourth point, and most important according to Epstein, was the interviews conducted between March 23, 1965, and September 25, 1965, among five of the seven members of the Commission; J. Lee Rankin, the Commission's General Counsel; Norman Redlich, Rankin's Special Assistant; Howard P. Willens, the Administrative Assistant; and Alfred Goldberg, who with Redlich had editorial responsibility for writing the report. In addition, six Assistant Counsels who conducted investigation were also interviewed.

In criticizing the President's Commission, Epstein pointed out the internal strife which existed between staff members and Commission members. He said there were actually two separate investigations, the Commission's hearings and the staff investigation. Opinions differed as to what the Commission actually did, and staff members, according to Epstein, were of the opinion they did all the investigating, lined up the witnesses, solved the problems, and wrote the report. Wesley J. Liebeler, when asked what the Commission did, replied "nothing." The Commission was compared to a corporation's board of directors with Rankin as president and the staff members as the officers. He also said there was little direct contact between the Commission members and the staff lawyers and to most of the lawyers "Warren was the Commission."

Epstein said there was a restriction in communication with the FBI. Wesley J. Liebeler was quoted as saying that although the FBI was extremely efficient in answering questions submitted in writing, the Agents did not develop any information that was not specifically requested of them. This is a false statement as hundreds of independent investigations were conducted by us to resolve any questions and the results were all furnished to the President's Commission. In Epstein's book he clearly points out that the Commission did not read all of the material that was furnished to them. He also indicated other staff members were not satisfied with FBI cooperation. However, J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel, was quoted as saying that although there was some "communication" problems between the staff and the FBI there was a liaison officer in the FBI on whom he could call at "any time of the day or night" to expedite important problems.

Epstein indicated the Commission spent considerable time on other peripheral problems such as the methods of the Dallas Police, the activities of Jack Ruby, and anti-Kennedy advertisements. He conceded the Commission was obliged to explore these matters because they might possibly have been connected with the assassination. However, these explorations left little time for testimony concerning the assassination itself. In addition, he pointed out a number of prominent witnesses such as the Director, Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, and the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency testified on procedures of their individual agencies. Although, according to Epstein, these notable witnesses gave stature and importance to the Commission's investigation, it did not serve to reveal any new facts about the assassination itself.

Epstein has attempted to establish that two assassins were involved in the shooting of President Kennedy. He bases his theory on the U. S. Navy autopsy report which states that a bullet which entered President Kennedy's back exited through the front of his throat. He cited two FBI reports which were made available to him in the National Archives, one dated 12/9/63 and the other 1/13/64, which he contended contradicted the autopsy report by saying the bullet entered Kennedy's back, did not exit from his body, and thus could not have struck Governor Connally. Further, in attempting to establish his theory, he indicated the Zapruder film shows that the assassination could have been committed by one man alone only under one condition; that Kennedy and Connally were hit by the same bullet. He doubles back and says that the previous mentioned summary and supplemental report of ours precluded this condition. He, therefore, said unless the basic facts and assumption established by the Commission are incorrect, there is a strong case that Oswald could not have acted alone.

The facts are our Agents who attended the autopsy at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, were advised by examining physicians that they could not locate an exit hole for the bullet which entered the President's back. Subsequently, they determined the exit hole had been obliterated by a tracheotomy performed on the President by doctors at Parkland Hospital, Dallas. The information we obtained from the physicians conducting the autopsy was furnished to the Bureau and set forth in our 12/9/63 report. This information was repeated in our 1/13/64 report along with a statement to the effect that a bullet exit hole had been located in the shirt worn by the President. The autopsy report as furnished orally to our Agents was repeated in the 1/13/64 report in order to emphasize the apparent discrepancy between the oral autopsy report and our examination of the clothing without making such a conclusion.

Without fully taking into consideration pertinent details Epstein then raises the question: Why did the Commission fail to take cognizance in its conclusions of this evidence of a second assassin? He said a serious discussion of this problem would in itself have undermined the dominant purpose of the Commission, namely the settling of doubts and suspicions. He said if the Commission had made it clear that very substantial evidence indicated the presence of a second assassin, it would have opened a pandora's box of doubts and suspicions. In establishing the Commission's version of the truth, according to Epstein, the Warren Commission acted to reassure the Nation and protect the National interest.

Epstein's approach to writing his book was scholarly, however, in contending that the Commission's investigation was in essence superficial and inadequate he immediately fell into the same trap. He shifted the attention from various studies of the assassination itself to a study of the Warren Commission and its staff. By taking certain information and twisting the facts he prepared them in such a manner that to the reader they would appear to substantiate his own theories and conclusions. He purposely failed to include pertinent information in many instances which would have clearly defined either why the Commission did or did not pursue certain avenues of investigation.

On page 211 under notes Epstein indicated that he interviewed Dr. James Rhodes, Civil Archivist of the National Archives, as well as conducting limited examination and "spot check" of the investigative reports contained in the National Archives. It is noted that 23 Government agencies furnished information to the President's Commission relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. During July, 1965, based on a request of the White House, the Attorney General requested that a review of pertinent documents in possession of the National Archives relating to the assassination of President Kennedy be made for the purpose of public disclosure of information on file which had not previously been disclosed. The Bureau and other Government agencies complied with the Attorney General's request. The results of our review of those documents which we considered suitable for public disclosure was furnished to the Attorney General by letter dated August 25, 1965. Subsequently, the Attorney General directed a memorandum to Mr. McGeorge Bundy in which he indicated that 76% of approximately 75,000 pages of documents contained in the National Archives were reviewed and open for public use; therefore, approximately 63,831 pages are currently available in the National Archives for review by the public.

An article appeared in "The New York Times" by Mr. Fred Graham, a lawyer and the Supreme Court correspondent for "The New York Times." Mr. Graham reviewed Epstein's book and was critical of it. He mentioned that the book jacket described Mr. Epstein as "a young scholar" and makes much of the academic genius of the book. The United States National Archives is given as a major research source and the impression is created that this is a definitive scholarly study of the Commission. However, he pointed out that Epstein considered the available papers and investigative reports submitted to the Commission by the FBI and other agencies of so little value that he spent only two days in the National Archives making a "spot check" on their contents.

Although Epstein did not make any direct derogatory remarks against the Bureau, he did quote several Commission staff members who were primarily dissatisfied with communications with the Bureau. He quoted Joseph A. Ball, Assistant Counsel, who said that on his first trip to Dallas he called the FBI Field Office for assistance in a problem. Ball was told the request must come from FBI Headquarters, Washington. Thereafter, Ball had to telephone Mr. Howard P. Willens, Assistant Counsel, who prepared a formal request which was forwarded to the Bureau. Ball said three days later he was notified that this request had been approved, but by this time Ball had resolved his problem. Ball was quoted as saying the FBI was "exasperatingly bureaucratic." Epstein said that other lawyers on the Commission staff were less satisfied with FBI cooperation. Mr. Melvin Eisenberg, Assistant Counsel, [illegible] said that although relations gradually improved, FBI Agents were resentful of "amateurs" doing what they considered to be their job. Joseph Ball was again quoted as saying that FBI Agents cooperated only on "express orders" from "Hoover." J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel, said, however, that although there were some "communication problems" between the staff and the FBI there was a liaison officer with the Bureau on whom he could call at "any time of the day or night" to expedite important problems.

Since Epstein did not conduct adequate research of facts available and, further, that his book was based mostly on interviews he conducted, Epstein has exercised literary license in arriving at his conclusions and theories. His book and the manner in which it was prepared indicates there are many discrepancies existing in the Commission's investigation of the assassination. However, the discrepancies appeared not within the Commission itself but with the interpretation given by the writer. In the future, this book will no doubt cause considerable consternation with the findings of the President's Commission. However, the deception utilized by Epstein can be immediately revealed by making comparisons of those things he has written with the findings of the President's Commission.

Dear Sir:

As you may know I am a researcher duly registered with the National Archives and Records Service and a holder of researcher identification card number 604-145. I have, in addition, an account with that office which has permitted me in the past to order photostatic copies of documents in their records.

I have examined a number of the documents on the list of basic source materials in possession of the Warren Commission maintained by the National Archives. I am now anxious to examine some of the physical evidence in the case. I refer to the shirt and jacket worn by President Kennedy on November 22, 1963, the bullet designated by the Warren Commission as Commission Exhibit 399, as well as the two fragments of bullets also found, the alleged assassination rifle, the jacket which the Commission determined that Lee Harvey Oswald wore on November 22, Oswald's handwriting specimens that were examined by the Commission's experts, the pistol that the Commission determined was used to shoot J. D. Tippit, the bullets recovered from Tippit's body, the goatskin that served as a target for bullets fired from the alleged assassination weapon, the metal shims that were alleged assassination weapon before it was tested, the windshield of the Presidential limousine, the original photograph shown to Marguerite Oswald on Nover 23, 1963 by [redacted] Agent Odum, the curbstone that was damaged on November 22nd and examined at the FBI laboratory during August, 1964, the paper bag in which Oswald allegedly carried the rifle on November 22 and the paper bag manufactured by the FBI Laboratory to simulate the original, and the actual tape-recordings of the Dallas Police broadcasts which were examined by an FBI agent and from which two different and inconsistent transcripts were made and published by the Commission.

I have absolutely no objection to examining the evidence under the supervision of governmental agents. In some cases I would wish to have reputable and recognized authorities make the examination on my behalf. For example, I wish to employ outstanding handwriting experts to examine the handwriting specimens.

I have been informed that at least some, if not most or all of the evidence that I have referred to hereinabove, may be in the possession of the FBI. Accordingly I should like to know when it may be convenient for your office for me to see the evidence and arrange to have independent experts examine the evidence.

If for any reason you should decline to permit an examination of the evidence by me or by independent experts, I would appreciate it if you would in any event list those items of evidence that you actually do possess and the authorities upon which you rely both for the possession of the evidence and the declination to permit the examination of the evidence.

LETTER OF INQUIRY FROM
MARK LANE DATED JUNE 8, 1966

Previous correspondence has been had with Mr. Fred M. Vinson, Jr., Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, concerning evidence temporarily retained by this Bureau relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. My most recent letter was dated June 13, 1966, and concerned a request from Mr. Edwin A. Walker, who desired the return of a bullet fired at him, which was acquired from the Dallas Police Department and subsequently became Commission Exhibit Number 573. It was also indicated it is desirable the material in our possession obtained during the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy be turned over to the Government agency designated or to other interested individuals. This will be done when appropriate notification is received from you.

Enclosed for any action deemed appropriate is a copy of a letter dated June 8, 1966, from Mark Lane, who requested permission to examine items of evidence obtained during the investigation relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. Also enclosed is a copy of my letter to Mr. Lane dated June 13, 1966.

You may recall Mark Lane represented Marguerite Oswald, mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, during the investigation relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. You are specifically referred to letterhead memoranda captioned "Assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, November 22, 1963, Dallas, Texas; Miscellaneous - Information Concerning" dated March 30, 1966, Dallas, Texas; March 31, 1966, Dallas, Texas; and April 23, 1966, Dallas, Texas. These letterhead memoranda were furnished to the Criminal Division on April 11 and 29, 1966. They contained information concerning Mark Lane who, at that time, was in Dallas filming interviews with witnesses for an alleged educational television documentary relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. At that time Mark Lane was representing himself as "Robert Blake."

On June 22, 1966, Mr. S. Douglass Cater, Jr., Special Assistant to the President, contacted Mr. Donahoe in Mr. DeLoach's office and indicated that the publisher of Reporter magazine, described by Cater as a friend of the President, is planning to write a responsible article on the assassination of President Kennedy to rebut some of the more sensational books recently published which have taken issue with the Warren Commission report. Mr. Cater specifically made reference to a small portable radio which was found in Oswald's effects by the Dallas Police Department and which is now in custody of the FBI Laboratory until disposition is made of all evidence in this case.

Mr. Cater indicated that the article for Reporter magazine is being prepared by one Al Newman who has developed a theory that Oswald may have been influenced by listening to inflammatory remarks by Fidel Castro on the radio found in Oswald's possession. Cater requested that he be furnished all data in our possession regarding the radio, its capability to receive Cuban broadcasts and any data we may have received as to its use in this regard.

A small, brown, plastic Russian-made radio commonly known as the "Tourist" was found in Oswald's effects after his arrest. This radio was designed for use on standard broadcast frequencies and is similar in this respect to American-made radios commonly found in the American home. The radio could be used with dry cell batteries or with a small power supply unit which would enable the radio to be operated on ordinary house current. Someone living in the Southeastern section of the United States could listen to Cuban broadcasts with this radio, particularly at night when reception would be better, if radio operating properly.

The radio was not in operating condition when it was received by the FBI Laboratory from the Dallas Police Department. The battery terminals were badly rusted and one terminal was missing. No effort was made by the FBI Laboratory to repair the radio since to have done so would have changed the physical condition of the radio from that in which it was received. Obviously, from an evidentiary standpoint, it was essential no steps be taken to alter the radio.

The Warren Commission was furnished data by this Bureau concerning the radio since it was listed in an inventory of all evidence obtained. The Commission did not assign an exhibit number to the radio and no mention of it was made by the Commission in its "Report on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy." During our investigation of Oswald, we developed no information indicating Oswald used this radio to listen to Cuban radio broadcasts.

Copies of photographs of the radio (FBI identification number A-2) and the power supply unit (FBI identification number A-6) are attached as enclosures to this memorandum.

ACTION:

Attached for approval is a letter to Mr. Cater furnishing him the information concerning the radio as set forth herein in accordance with his request. We are suggesting that Mr. Cater not release the data furnished him concerning the radio to any publication without clearing such release with the Attorney General. We are pointing out to Mr. Cater that under Public Law 89-318, which was enacted on November 2, 1965, the Attorney General was authorized to choose any item of evidence for retention by the Government as it relates to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

On 7/13/66, PAUL NOBLE, Producer of the Alan Burke television show, seen on Saturday nights on WNEW-TV, telephonically advised that ALAN BURKE's guest for the 7/23/66 show would be HAROLD WEISBERG, the author of the book "Whitewash." According to PAUL NOBLE, this program would be taped on 7/14/66. His purpose in calling was to furnish us this information, and he requested any information in possession of the FBI which could refute WEISBERG's book.

Mr. NOBLE was furnished all public source data and material which refuted criticism placed on the FBI or the Warren Commission for their investigation of the assasination of President KENNEDY. Arrangements were made so that the audio portion of the tape could be reviewed by the NYO.

NEW YORK OFFICE

On 7/19/66, the audio portion of the Alan Burke Show was reviewed by Special Agents of the NYO, a summary of which follows:

Mr. WEISBERG advised that he had problems in having his book published as there was a self-emposed embargo by the publishing firms that this was not a good topic for their business. He stated that no one in government entered into this embargo and that it was entirely self-emposed by the publisher.

He stated he did not agree with the Warren Commission's report on the assasination of President KENNEDY, nor of the two FBI reports on President KENNEDY's death. However, he did not go into detail of why he did not agree with the FBI reports.

He advised that both the Warren Commission and the FBI were government agencies that were in some way involved either directly or indirectly with the President; such as the Secret Service protecting the President, and LEE OSWALD involved in assignments with the FBI.

He spoke of the autopsy performed by the Naval doctors in Washington, D.C., and how some of the first reports were destroyed by the Chief Examiner. He also stated that the Naval examinations did not wholely agree with the findings of the doctors in Dallas who tried to save the President's life on the day he was assasined. He explained that the doctors in Dallas had stated in their reports that there was a wound in the neck area of the President indicating a possibility of a person firing from another position other than that position of OSWALD's.

WEISBERG stated that it was his opinion that OSWALD was a fall guy, that there was someone else involved but that he did not know who, how many, or what their reasons were for killing President KENNEDY. He further stated that he could not name any organization or give any opinion of who might have taken part in this assasination.

He stated that the FBI reports were different from the Commission's report and that he did not hold the FBI responsible for the Commission's report, but that the Commission's staff was responsible and not the men on the Commission.

WEISBERG then went on to explain that each member of the Commission was a dedicated man, fair, and put out his best work. However, they erred in their findings. He also stated that he was not challenging the integrity of Chief Justice WARREN.

WEISBERG stated that he could not accept the Warren report in any form and set forth the conclusions of his book as follows:

1) The investigation was not done well.

2) The investigation must be done by Congress and must be public.

3) For him to succeed in bringing about the above second step, he must destroy, by means of his book, the findings of the Warren report or leave a very great doubt in everyone's mind.

He stated he did not feel the Commission proved that OSWALD could kill the President alone or that he must have had the help of another person. He further stated that OSWALD could not have killed police officer TIBETT. He stated he believed that the man who killed officer TIBETT bore a very close resemblence to OSWALD. At this point in his interview, he stated he believed the Commission bent evidence to their own thinking and should have investigated the death of officer TIBETT. He stated, based on the Commission's own investigation of OSWALD's movements, he could not have been in the area where TIBETT had been killed. He further stated that nowhere in the Commission's report is there any information on TIBETT's death.

In the discussion of the Warren Commission's report, WEISBERG stated that a number of problems confronted the government at the time of President KENNEDY's assasination; such as the public tranquility, was this assasination a conspiracy or a plot by a foreign government, and would it lead to war. All these thoughts lead to extremely difficult problems in conducting such an investigation.

He stated that in speaking of the men on the Commission, that they were loyal, dedicated and trustworthy citizens. However, because of their high position in public office and not being able to delegate these powers, they in turn delegated the investigation to staff members and this is the area in which they failed.

WEISBERG spoke about an unknown witness who was interviewed in Dallas, Texas, by a staff member and who was accused by this staff member of perjury and that the Commission never followed this up. He stated the Commission set about to prove a case against OSWALD, who was a person accused, rather than to obtain the truth.

He further pointed out that a man was arrested in a building across Houston Street in Dallas, Texas, for no other reason than for being unable to explain what he was doing there. This was just before Dallas Police had picked up OSWALD. He stated the Commission did not interview this person.

Several times during the interview, WEISBERG stated he doubted the accuracy of the Warren report but went out of his way to state he did not doubt the intent of the members of the Commission.

WEISBERG also spoke of finding a rifle in the Book Depository and three shells, that no one saw OSWALD carry the gun into the building, that the proof that OSWALD had bought such a gun was based on handwriting, and that no one had ever seen OSWALD with this rifle in his possession.

He also discussed, at some length, the autopsies performed on TIBETT, OSWALD, and President KENNEDY, and that in the report, only President KENNEDY is mentioned, and this is for the first time.

WEISBERG was very critical of the Dallas Police Department and stated "they were directly responsible for OSWALD's murder."

He then went on to explain that 70 Dallas Police officers were used to protect OSWALD and against the advice of the Sheriff's Office of Dallas and the FBI, they would not remove OSWALD on the night of February 23rd. He stated the reason the Dallas Police Department would not remove him was the Dallas Police Chief had told the Press the exact time he was planning to move him and that he wanted to keep this appointed time. He stated that he felt the Commission should have looked into the Dallas Police Department activities.

WEISBERG put great emphasis on the three shells found in the Book Depository. He stated that these shells, after examination, were found to have been in another rifle, other than the one found on the 6th floor. WEISBERG stated he was using as his authority Mr. HOOVER, Director of the FBI. He stated that although they had markings on them from the rifle found on the 6th floor, they were not able to say when they had been fired. He also stated that only one of OSWALD's palm prints was found on the rifle, in a position under the barrel of the gun, and that various prints of OSWALD's were found on the 6th floor, but these were of no value in the investigation because OSWALD worked on that floor in his every day duties at the Depository.

WEISBERG further stated that a bullet, described by the Commission as hitting President KENNEDY and Governor CONNELLY, could do all the things that it did and not be disformed. He described three bullets, the above mentioned one, the missed bullet, and the one in President KENNEDY's head. He pointed out that OSWALD was a rather poor shot, having scored a 191 in the Marine Corps and that a 190 was the qualifying score for a marksman.

WEISBERG discussed ballistics during the discussion and divided this into two parts:

1) concerning the President.

2) concerning officer TIBETT.

WEISBERG stated that with regards to the President, some fragments can be identified and some cannot. He stated the FBI made a spectrographic analysis and a Special Agent GALLAGHER of the FBI, who made the analysis, was called as a witness only as the hearing concluded around September 15th, and that he was never asked for a spectrographic analysis nor is this analysis part of the record. Mr. WEISBERG stated even Mr. HOOVER said that the curbstone fragments were not associated with other bullet fragments.

With regard to officer TIBETT, WEISBERG stated that the FBI took his pistol to its laboratory in Washington, D.C., fired it 100 times, and could not associate the bullets with the pistol that they knew it was fired from.

In answer to a question about the speed of firing the rifle, WEISBERG stated that without regard to accuracy, and with a bullet in the breach, the most competent men in the FBI, "the fastest drawer in Washington" took 2.3 seconds just to reload.

A person by the name of GEORGE ABBOTT asked Mr. WEISBERG about the question of a person masquerading as OSWALD. Mr. WEISBERG replied that he denoted a whole chapter in the book to this. Another person made the allegation that there was a man using the name OSWALD around September 15th. The FBI was asked to look into this and located three Cuban refugees, one of whom bore the resemblence of OSWALD. WEISBERG stated the Commission got around this by stating that OSWALD was in Mexico at the time.

This program is two hours in length and because of the great expense involved in taping this program, no extra copies of the tape could be made and none are available.

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF WARREN COMMISSION RECORDS

Reference is made to Public Law 89-318 passed November 2, 1965, which gave you the authority to determine which items of evidence pertaining to the assassination of President Kennedy should be acquired and preserved by the U. S. Government.

As you are aware, this Statute declared that the authority granted was to expire one year from the date of enactment. As pointed out in my memorandum to you of June 16, 1966, captioned, "Letter of Inquiry from Mark Lane dated June 8, 1966," I have not received any information as to what action is being taken relative to determining what items among the exhibits will be retained by the U. S. Government.

Since completion of the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy, this Bureau has been the temporary depository for approximately one thousand exhibits. With increasing frequency letters are being received requesting permission to examine these exhibits.

This Bureau would like to turn over this material to the National Archives and Records Service, or whatever agency you select as the permanent depository for these exhibits, at the earliest possible time. It is believed that an early determination concerning the disposition of these exhibits is most important in that it would remove any veil of secrecy the public might attach to any material presently being retained by the Federal Government.

Reference is made to my letters dated June 16, 1966, captioned, "Letter of Inquiry from Mark Lane dated June 8, 1966," and June 27, 1966, captioned, "Public Disclosure of Warren Commission Records."

These communications indicated my desire to relinquish evidence and exhibits temporarily being retained by this Bureau relating to the assassination of President Kennedy.

Since the passage of Public Law 89-318 on November 2, 1965, which gave the Attorney General authority to determine the items of evidence pertaining to the assassination of President Kennedy which should be acquired and preserved by the United States Government, no information has been received as to what action is to be taken. In view of the requirement that each of the hundreds of items will require individual consideration, I would appreciate a reply in this respect so that this Bureau can take such steps as are necessary to relinquish the numerous items in our possession.

Professor Feels Oswald Had a Double

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP) A California educator said today that an analysis of the Warren Commission report and two new books on the Kennedy assassination provide "compelling" substantiation of the theory that Lee Harvey Oswald was part of a conspiracy.

Writing in the New York Review of Books, Prof. Richard H. Popkin of the University of California at San Diego contended the Commission's conclusion that Oswald was a loner is not consistent with much of the material in its 26-volume report on the late President's assassination. The professor demanded that the investigation be reopened.

Popkin's own theory is that a man who looked like Oswald and often posed as Oswald was the actual assassin, while Oswald was used to create the illusion that a lonely, alienated man with pro-Castro leanings was the sole perpetrator of the crime.

The educator used a review of Edward J. Epstein's "Inquest" and Harold Weisberg's "Whitewash," both of which take issue with the Warren report, as a forum for his own speculation.

Popkin made it clear that he does not believe Oswald was sincere in his pro-Castro activities and that he could have been involved with either right or left wing conspirators.

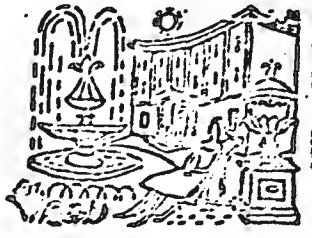
The Little Assassin and How He Grew

By TOM DONNELLY

"INQUEST: THE WARREN COMMISSION AND THE ESTABLISHMENT OF TRUTH" by Edward Jay Epstein (Viking). Mr. Epstein's critique of the Warren Commission and the Warren Report has been applauded and booed by the early evaluators, with the booers just possibly outnumbering the applauders.

Richard Rovere, who has provided the book with an introduction, says Mr. Epstein, a scholar, has shamed journalists by doing a job journalists should have done; he has performed a public service by telling "the news." (For one thing, Mr. Epstein has discovered that the Commission's investigation had its superficial aspects.)



Newsweek, Time, and Look have decided Mr. Epstein's report has its superficial aspects.

Mr. Epstein has grave doubts about the theory that President John F. Kennedy and Governor John Connally were hit by a single bullet. (To support his own theory that there were TWO assassins, Mr. Epstein cites early FBI reports on Kennedy's wounds; the FBI has explained that those reports were written in a hurry, were incomplete, and were turned in before the autopsy was completed.)

The New Republic, greatly impressed by Mr. Epstein's effort, says "The Warren Report may now have been shot to death and require a full autopsy."

My own approach to the Epstein report is going to be superficial, no doubt because I have read, thru the years, so many "true crime" books explaining that the man or woman named as the killer (by either a court of law or the court of public opinion) didn't really do it, or wasn't alone in the plot. Lizzie Borden, for instance, didn't kill her father and step-mother. It was the Irish maid who did it. Clocks and charts and measurements and bannisters and the temperature in Fall River are cited to show that Lizzie couldn't have gotten the axe up out of the cellar before noon, whereas the Irish maid was probably down there that morning because it was the coolest spot of the house and the maid had been overcome by the summer sun.

Just as authors are free to reconstruct crimes of less than crucial importance (pointing up the unanswered questions that invariably attend any murder investigation), authors are free to make their own patterns out of the problems and puzzles involved in the assassination of a president.

Mr. Epstein doesn't say Lee Harvey Oswald was innocent. He says "There is a strong case that Oswald could not have acted alone." There must have been a second assassin. Noting that there were "three established shots," Mr. Epstein says that a bystander was hit by a fragment which might have come from a fourth shot. (The it might also have come from one of the three established shots.) Of course, "a fourth shot in itself would not indicate that a second assassin was at work but . . ."

And how about those witnesses who thought the shots came from "a grassy knoll"?

"If there was no evidence of more than one assassin," says Mr. Epstein, "there was also no evidence that precluded the possibility." (As far as I know, there wasn't any evidence that precluded the possibility of a third, fourth or fifth assassin.)

Mr. Epstein says if the Commission "had made it clear that very substantial evidence indicated the presence of a second assassin, it would have opened a Pandora's box of doubts and suspicions." For me, Mr. Epstein's "Inquest" falls apart because I can't begin to visualize how a second assassin fitted into the scheme. Mr. Epstein can't either, apparently. He mostly talks about possible fourth bullets and so on. That's very substantial evidence?

FOR RELEASE MONDAY, JULY 18

Writing in the new issue of The New York Review of Books, Professor Richard H. Popkin presents the first systematic theory suggesting how Oswald may have conspired with others to assassinate the President.

Professor Popkin, Chairman of the Department of Philosophy at the University of California, San Diego, writes: "The evidence seems to me compelling that there was a second Oswald, that his presence was being forced on people's notice, and that he played a role on November 22, 1963."

Professor Popkin's article is based on evidence that appears in the 26 volumes of the Warren Commission Report, but was neglected by the Commission itself, as well as on new evidence that has appeared in recent weeks. He shows, for example, that on September 21, 1964, the Commission received a potentially significant report from the FBI concerning a man "similar in appearance to Lee Harvey Oswald," but that "in the mad rush to publish" nothing was done by the Commission to follow up this report.

"One would have expected," he writes, "that if the Commission had really been interested in clearing up all of the questions and rumors about the case it would have stopped everything, located this man..., found out if he had been masquerading as Oswald, and, if so, why... The public should demand that the Commission or FBI tell us whether this turned out to be significant..."

Professor Popkin also points out that the Commission's theory that the President and Governor Connally of Texas were wounded by a single bullet passing through the President's neck is contradicted by two FBI reports recently published for the first time in Edward Jay Epstein's Inquest (Viking Press). The FBI reports, he points out, indicate that Kennedy was shot in the back, not the neck. But the Commission never examined photographs of the body taken during the autopsy in order to ascertain the truth.

"If Kennedy was shot in the back," he writes, "...then it seems unlikely that anything can redeem a one-assassin theory...the Commission's Report made no attempt to resolve the contradiction between the FBI reports and the autopsy. The question whether the FBI reports were accurate can only be answered if the photographs of the autopsy and the X-rays are made available for examination by responsible and independent observers, if not by the public at large. Since the Commission's theory of a single assassin depends heavily on this point, the photos and X-rays should be made available immediately."

Reference is made to my memoranda dated June 16, 1966, captioned, "Letter of Inquiry from Mark Lane dated June 8, 1966," and June 27, and July 14, 1966, captioned, "Public Disclosure of Warren Commission Records."

These communications expressed my wish to dispose of evidence and exhibits temporarily being held by this Bureau in connection with the assassination of President Kennedy.

Public Law 89-318 granted authority to the Attorney General to decide the items of evidence pertaining to the assassination which should be acquired and preserved by the United States Government. Inasmuch as that Public Law is to expire on November 2, 1966, I would appreciate being advised of any decisions which are made concerning the items that are to be retained by the Government and those that are to be disposed of. This Bureau has hundreds of items in our temporary custody which we are desirous of making certain are disposed of prior to the expiration date of this Public Law.

MARKSMANSHIP

In Dallas

Revilo P. Oliver is Professor of Classics in the University of Illinois. During World War II, he was Director of Research in a secret agency of the War Department. He has traveled widely. Dr. Oliver is an academician of international reputation who has published scholarly articles in four languages within the pages of twelve learned periodicals in the United States and Europe.

■ WE ALL KNOW what happened in Dallas on the twenty-second of November. It is imperative that we understand it.

Lee Harvey Oswald was a young punk who defected to the Soviet, taking with him the operational codes of the Marine Corps and such other secrets as a fledgling traitor had been able to steal while in military service. He not only forfeited his American citizenship by his acts, but also officially repudiated it under oath in the American Embassy in Moscow. He was then trained in sabotage, terrorism, and guerrilla warfare (including accurate shooting from ambush) in the well-known school for international criminals near Minsk, and while there he married the daughter of a colonel in the Soviet military espionage system (and possibly also in the Secret Police).* In 1962, after he had been trained for three years in Russia, the Communist agent and his Communist wife were brought to the United States, in open violation of American law, by our Communist-dominated State Department.

On his arrival in this country, Oswald took up his duties as an agent of the Conspiracy, spying on anti-Communist Cuban refugees, serving as an agitator for "Fair Play for Cuba," and participating in some of the many other forms of subversion that flourish openly in defiance of law through the connivance of the Attorney General, Robert F. Kennedy. In April of 1963, he was sent to Dallas, where he tried to murder General Edwin Walker. The failure does not reflect on the assassin's professional training: General Walker happened to turn his head at the instant the shot was fired. According to a story that has been neither confirmed nor denied officially at the time that I write, Oswald was arrested as a suspect, but was released through the personal intervention of Robert F. Kennedy, and all inquiry into the attempted assassination of a great American was halted.†

In November, Oswald was sent back to Dallas, where a job in a suitably located building had been arranged for him. He shot the President of the United States from ambush, left the building undetected, and would have escaped to Mexico but for some mischance. He was stopped for questioning

* If you missed the detail about Mrs. Oswald's father, see the Congressional Record for December 4, page 22211.

† Reprinted in The Councilor (221 Oil & Gas Bldg., Shreveport, La.), December 20, 1963.

...ignant policeman, whom he killed in a moment (...anic. Arrested and identified, he, ...e his training, was so vain as to ... for photographs while triumphantly giving the Communists' clenched-fist salute; he asked for a noted Communist attorney, who had been a member of the little Communist cell that included the noted traitor, Alger Hiss; and he began to tell contradictory stories. He was accordingly liquidated before he could make a complete confession.

There are many other significant data, but I have stated the essentials. They are known to you.

The fact that they are known to you should give you—if you are an American—hope and courage. You will need both.

Obviously, something went wrong in Dallas—in our favor, this time. The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft a-gley—and so do schemes of Communists, sometimes. The identification of the murderer was a near-miracle. If not the result of divine intervention, it was the result of a series of coincidences of the same order as might enable a bum with a dollar in his pocket to enter a casino in Reno and emerge with a thousand.

It is highly significant that, after Oswald was arrested, you learned the facts. That proves that the Communist Conspiracy's control of the United States is not yet complete.

I firmly believe that in our nation as a whole the overwhelming majority of local policemen, whom we shamefully neglect and take for granted, are brave and honorable Americans. But I know nothing of the police in Dallas. It is quite possible that, as is usual in our large cities, they are subject to great pressures from a corrupt municipal government. I shall not be greatly astonished if, in the course of the Conspiracy's frantic efforts to confuse us with irrelevancies, it should be disclosed that pay-offs (...een made by Jakob Leon Rubenstei... as Ruby, and other members of the underworld that pander to human vice and folly. It is by no means impossible that crypto-Communists have been planted in that police force. But paint the picture as dark as you will, it remains indisputably true that, at the very least, there were enough honest and patriotic men on that police force to bring about the arrest of Oswald, to identify him, and to prevent both his escape and his assassination "while trying to escape." It required a gunman from outside to do the job.

It is quite true that the Communist Conspiracy, through the management of great broadcasting systems and news agencies, through the many criminals lodged in the Press, and through many indirect pressures (such as allocation of advertising and harassment by bureaus of the federal government), has a control over our channels of communication that seems to us, in our moments of discouragement, virtually total. As was to be expected, a few moments after the shot was fired in Dallas, the vermin, probably in obedience to general or specific orders issued in advance of the event, began to screech out their diseased hatred of the American people, and, long after the facts were known to everyone, went on mechanically repeating, like defective phonograph records, the same vicious lies about the "radical right" until fresh orders reached them from headquarters. But the significant fact is that there were enough honest American newsmen, in the United States and abroad, to make it impossible to conceal the Conspiracy's connection with the bungled assassination. That is very encouraging.

The Show And The Sorrow

All that could be done at the moment to obscure the Communists' mischance was to stage an elaborate spectacle with all the t[illegible]cal virtuosity seen in a performan[illegible] of Aida in the Baths of Caracalla or the amphitheatre at Verona, supplemented with the cruder devices of Hollywood's expert vulgarians. Every effort was made to incite an orgy of bathos and irrationality. For the most part, the good sense of the American people frustrated the efforts of the showmen. But we need to consider the facts clearly and objectively.

There are two basic reasons why the American people were shocked and grieved by the assassination. Neither has anything to do with either the personal character of the victim or the identity of the assassin.

(1) The victim was the President of the United States; he was therefore symbolically representative of the nation, and his assassination was a form of armed attack on our country. The alarm, indignation, and sorrow excited by such an attack made on American soil should have no relation to either the private or public character of the person who was President. To put the matter as clearly as possible, the crime would have been every bit as horrible and shocking, had it (per impossibile) been absolutely certain that on the very next day the President would be impeached, tried, convicted, removed from office, and executed for his own crimes. That would be tomorrow, and would not affect today, when he is still legally invested with the dignity of his high office.

dicates either a defect in the constitution (which may grant excessive powers or provide inadequate checks) or the fatuity of citizens who tolerate abuses for which constitutional remedies are available. In either case, the abuse is primarily evidence of a weakness that the society must learn to correct legally. And if the society cannot learn from experience, there is no hope for it anyway.

(2) Regardless of office, political violence is always shocking and a warn-de mortuis nil nisi . . . ?

ing of impending collapse. The Roman ficers whom that society has appointed in conformity with its own constitution be inviolate so long as they are clothed with the dignity of office, however mistaken and unfortunate their appointment may have been. So long as the officer has not outlawed himself by violent usurpation, any misuse of the powers legally bestowed upon him inhis gangsters into the streets with impunity; when the decent people of Rome tried to protect themselves by hiring gangsters of their own under Milo, that was not an answer: It was a confession of defeat. The assassination of Kennedy, quite apart from consideration of the office that he held, was an act of violence both deplorable and ominous—as ominous as the violence excited by the infamous Martin Luther King and other criminals engaged in inciting race war with the approval and even, it is said, the active co-operation of the White House. It was as deplorable and ominous as the violence of the uniformed goons (protected by reluctant and ashamed soldiers) whom Kennedy, in open violation of the American Constitution, sent into Oxford, Mississippi, to kick into submission American citizens, whom the late Mr. Kennedy had come to regard as his subjects.

Such lawlessness, regardless of the identity of the perpetrators or their professed motives, is as alarming as the outbreak of a fire in a house; and if not speedily extinguished, will destroy the whole social order. That is a fact that all conservatives know, for it is they who read the lessons of human history and understand how hard it is to build and how easy it is to destroy — how perishable and precious are the moral restraints and the habitual observance of them by which civilization shelters itself from the feral barbarism that is latent in all peoples. That is the very fact that "Liberal intellectuals" try to conceal with the contorted sophistries that they are perpetually devising to justify as "social good" or "progress" the murders and massacres that secretly fascinate and excite them. That is why conservatives try to conserve what "Liberals" seek to destroy.

The foregoing are two good and sufficient reasons why Americans were shocked and grieved by the assassination in Dallas. Let them suffice us. It is imperative that we do not permit ourselves to be confused at this critical time by a twisted proverb and residual superstition.

Taboo

The maxim, de mortuis nil nisi bonum, has long been a favorite dictum of Anglo-Saxons (for some reason, it is seldom cited on the continent of Europe). Reference books usually attribute it to one of the Seven Sages, Chilo, who lived in the early part of the Sixth Century B.C.; but that is a mistake. In his precepts for prudent conduct, roughly similar to Benjamin Franklin's, Chilo urges us not to malign the dead (ton technekota me kakologein). He was interested in our own integrity, not the comfort or reputation of the deceased, and the precept is on a par with his advice that we should not utter idle threats in a quarrel because that is womanish.

Whatever the source of the phrase so glibly and frequently quoted these days, the notion that one should speak only good of the departed is compounded of various sentiments. It undoubtedly had its origin in man's deep-seated and primitive fear of the dead—a fear lest the Manes may somehow hear what we say and, if angered, use their mysterious powers to work harm upon us. That residual awe is supplemented by our infinite pity for the dead, and our hope that after life's fitful fever they sleep well. Pity is reinforced by the strong impulse toward generosity and kindness that, although biologically inexplicable, is found in all decent men. And that kindness is directed in part toward the living, for even the most odious and despicable beings may be survived by someone who grieves for them. Even Nero had one concubine who loved him. Acte wept for him and saw to it that his body was decently buried. And we honor her for it.

The dictum has become a fixed convention. We all know the story of the old men in a rural community who attend the funeral of one of their contemporaries. Having known the old reprobate all his life, they stand silently in a circle, tongue-tied, uneasily shuffling their feet, eyeing one another and searching their memories, until one is at last able to say, "Well, when Jake was a boy, he was mighty nigh the best speller in the sixth grade."

As an expression of courtesy and personal kindness, the dictum is unexceptionable. In politics and history it is utter nonsense — and everyone knows that it is. Were the dictum taken seriously, history would be impossible, for no page of it can be written without recording the follies and the crimes of the dead. Not even the sentimental innocents who now, under expert stimulation, weep over the "martyred President" believe in the dictum de mortuis — at least, I have yet to hear one of them utter a lament for Adolf Hitler, although Adolf is certainly as defunct as Jack and therefore presumably as much entitled to post-mortem consideration.

Taboos are for barbarians, who indulge in tribal howling and gashing of cheeks and breast whenever a big chief dies or an eclipse portends the end of the world. We are a civilized race.

In memoriam aeternam

Rational men will understand that, far from sobbing over the deceased or lying to placate his vengeful ghost, it behooves us to speak of him with complete candor and historical objectivity. Jack was not sanctified by a bullet.

The departed Kennedy is the John F. Kennedy who procured his election by peddling boob-bait to the suckers, including a cynical pledge to destroy the Communist base in Cuba. He is the John F. Kennedy with whose blessing and support the Central Intelligence Agency staged a fake "invasion" of Cuba designed to strengthen our mortal enemies there and to disgrace us — disgrace us not merely by ignominious failure, but by the inhuman crime of having lured brave men into a trap and sent them to suffering and death. He is the John F. Kennedy who, in close collaboration with Khrushchev, staged the phoney "embargo" that was improvised both to befuddle the suckers on election day in 1962 and to provide for several months a cover for the steady and rapid transfer of Soviet troops and Soviet weapons to Cuba for eventual use against us. He is the John F. Kennedy who installed and maintained in power the unspeakable Yarmolinsky-McNamara gang in the Pentagon to demoralize and subvert our armed forces and to sabotage our military installations and equipment. He is the John F. Kennedy who, by shameless intimidation, bribery, and blackmail, induced weaklings in Congress to approve treasonable acts designed to disarm us and to make us the helpless prey of the affiliated criminals and savages of the "United Nations."

I have mentioned but a few of the hundred reasons why we shall never forget John F. Kennedy. So long as there are Americans, his memory will be cherished with distaste. If the United States is saved by the desperate exertions of patriots, we may have a future of true greatness and glory—but we never forget how near we were to destruction in the year 1963, And if the international vermin succeed in completing their occupation of our country, Americans will remember Kennedy while they live, and will curse him as they face the firing squads or toil in a brutish degradation that leaves no hope for anything but a speedy death.

Three Explanations

Why was Kennedy murdered by the young Bolshevik? With a little imagination, it is easy to excogitate numerous explanations that are not absolutely impossible. For example: (a) Oswald was a "madman" who acted all alone just to get his name in the papers; (b) Oswald was a poor shot who was really trying to kill Governor Connally or Mrs. Kennedy and hit the President by mistake; (c) the person killed was not Kennedy but a double, and the real Kennedy is now a guest aboard a "flying saucer" on which he is heroically negotiating with Martians or Saturnians to Save the World. With a little time and a fairly wide reading in romantic fiction, anyone can think of sixty or seventy fantasies as good or better than those that I have mentioned.

On the evidence, however, and with consideration of human probabilities, there are only three explanations that are not preposterous, viz.:

(1) That Kennedy was executed by the Communist Conspiracy because he was planning to turn American. For this comforting hypothesis there is no evidence now known. Ever since January, 1961, some hopeful Americans have maintained that Jack was a conservative at heart, that he deliberately packed his administration with Schlesingers, Rostows, and Yarmolinskys so that these would bring our nation so near to disaster that even the stupidest "Liberal," not in the employ of the Conspiracy, could not overlook the obvious, and that when an unmistakable crisis at last made it politically feasible, Kennedy would carry out a sudden and dramatic volte-face, sweep the scum out of Washington, and rally the forces of the great majority of loyal and patriotic Americans.

I wish I could believe that. It is true that the late Senator McCarthy praised young Kennedy, but although the Senator was a great American whose memory we must all revere, he was not preternaturally gifted: He could have been either deceived by a smooth-talking hypocrite (as have been greater men than he in the past) or mistaken in his estimate of a person who, although then sincere in his allegiance to what then seemed to be the winning side, later thought it expedient to change sides. It is also true that Kennedy said some fine things in speeches delivered just before his death, but those statements did not significantly differ from the pro-American flourishes normally used as seasoning in the boob-bait manufactured by Salinger's technicians during the past three years.

If Kennedy did entertain laudable designs, he cannot have kept them entirely in petto; he must have disclosed them to a few persons, perhaps including his father, in whom he had confidence. And if he did, the time for those persons to give evidence is now, while there is still a chance to clear the reputation of the deceased.

(2) That the assassination was the result of one of the rifts that not infrequently occur within the management of the Communist Conspiracy, whose satraps sometimes liquidate one another without defecting from the Conspiracy, just as Persian satraps, such as Tissaphernes and Pharnabazus, made war on one another without revolting or intending to revolt against the King of Kings.

Now it was generally suspected for some time before the assassination that Khrushchev and Kennedy were planning to stage another show to bamboozle the American suckers just before the election next November. According to this plan, a fake "revolt" against Castro would be enacted by the Communist second team, which has long been kept in reserve for such an eventuality. (Cf. American Opinion, March, 1962, p. 33.) The "democratic revolution" was to be headed by a Communist agent who differed from Fidel only in being less hairy and less well known to Americans, so that the New York Times, the State Department, the Central Intelligence Agency, and our other domestic enemies could swear once again that the vicious criminal was an "agrarian reformer," an "anti-Communist," and the "George Washington of Cuba." (It is confidently believed in conspiratorial circles that the dumb brutes in the United States will never learn—until it is much too late.)

[illegible] that this performance in Cuba was to accomplish two things: (a) the re-election of Kennedy and most of his stooges in Congress, which would, of course, be impossible without some seasonably contrived and major "crisis"; and (b) the endlessly repeated and trite device of making the tax-paying serfs in the United States, who have financed every important Communist conquest since 1917, work to provision and fortify another conquest under the pretext that by so doing they in some mysterious way "fight Communism."

Now, if those observers are correct in their projections, the scenario called for the "success" of the "democratic revolution." And that would involve, if the play was to be convincing, the liquidation of Fidel and a few of his more notorious accomplices. And that, as is well known to everyone who has made even the slightest study of Communism, would be merely commonplace and normal.

The rabid rats of Bolshevism devour one another—and no one knows that better than the rats themselves. Almost all of the Conspiracy's most famous murderers—Trotsky, Zinoviev (Apfelbaum), Kirov (Kostrikov), Kamenev (Rosenfeld), Yezhov, Beria, and a hundred others, possibly including Stalin—were murdered by their insatiably blood-thirsty confederates. Indeed, it is a general rule that only accident or disease can save a Communist "leader" from assassination or execution by other Communists as soon as his usefulness to the Conspiracy is ended or his liquidation will provide an opportunity for useful propaganda.

Cornered rats will fight for their lives. Castro, of course, knew of the planned "revolution," and if the dénouement was correctly foreseen by American observers, he also knew that [illegible] tion of Jack in the hope of averting, or at least postponing, his own. Now that Oswald is silenced and superiors who gave him his orders are unidentified, it may never be possible completely to disprove that hypothesis, although there are a number of considerations that weigh against it.

We should note, also, that a few American observers believed that the Communist scenario had a different third act. According to their forecast, the Communist second team was to stage an indecisive "revolt" against the first team. Jack, pretending to carry out after four years the pledge that he made to get himself elected, would commit the United States to support the second team. At the scheduled moment on the eve of elections Nick would "intervene" and yell about a "nuclear holocaust," thus producing a "crisis" which would call for a "bipartisan" cancellation of the election. The gang in the Pentagon, hypocritically wringing its greasy hands, would claim that we were even weaker than its concerted sabotage of our defenses had in fact made us by that time. That would suffice to set craven "intellectuals" and neurotic females to running through our streets howling for "peace" and the "United Nations." After much tension, a great "statesmanlike solution" would be found: surrender of our sovereignty and weapons to an "international" body, with the Russians agreeing to do likewise. Then the savages in the "international police force" would move in, and the glorious and long-awaited butchery of the American boobs would get under way.

Those who make this prognosis support it by pointing out that the Conspiracy has already fallen far behind its schedule for the United States, and that the slow but ever increasing awakening of the American people from their hypnotic lethargy makes it necessary for the Conspiracy to adopt drastic and precipitate measures now, if it is not to fail utterly. If those observers are right, then interference by Castro is excluded, for the plan itself would guarantee his safety until the United States had been abolished.

(3) That the Conspiracy ordered the assassination as part of systematic preparation for a domestic take-over. If so, the plan, of course, was to place the blame on the "right-wing extremists" (if I may use the Bolsheviks' code-word for informed and loyal Americans), and we may be sure that a whole train of "clues" had been carefully planted to lead or point in that direction as soon as Oswald was safe in Mexico. These preparations were rendered useless when Oswald was, through some mischance, arrested—probably in consequence of some slip-up of which we as yet know nothing. He may, for example, have missed connections with some agent of the Conspiracy who was to transport him to the airport, and it may be significant that, when observed on the street, he was walking directly toward the apartment of the Jakob Rubenstein (alias Jack Ruby) who later silenced him.

Two objections to this explanation are commonly raised, but neither is cogent.

The first is the assumption that, if the International Conspiracy had planned the assassination, there would have been no slip-up. That is absurd. The degenerates are not Supermen. Their agents make blunders all the time — blunders that could destroy whole segments of the apparatus, if the Conspiracy did not have so many criminals planted in communications and politics to cover up the blunders and to paralyze the normal reactions of a healthy society. It would take pages even to list the mistakes that the Conspiracy's agents, including their branch manager, Castro, have made in the course of the Cuban operation. For that matter, a potentially serious and quite unnecessary mistake was made when the Communist Party's official publication, The Worker, yelled for the appointment of Earl Warren to "investigate" the assassination before the appointment was made—or at least, before the appointment was disclosed to the public. Nothing was gained by that mistake in timing, which serves only to give away the whole show.

The second argument is that the Conspiracy could not have wanted to eliminate Kennedy, who was doing so much for it. But that is a miscalculation. For one thing, the job was not being done on schedule. A few measures had been forced through Congress, but not, for example, what is called "Civil Rights," a very vital part of the vermin's preparations for the final take-over. Virtually nothing was done to speed up national bankruptcy and the total economic collapse that is doubtless scheduled to accompany the subjugation of the American people. The Congress was, on the whole, the most American Congress that we have had for many years, and it blocked the measures most cunningly designed to destroy the nation. It was not the fault of any one man, to be sure, but the record for 1963 was, for all practical purposes, a stalemate. Our "Liberals," always impatient for open dictatorship and terrorism, were beginning to feel frustrated; some of them were screeching in our more prominent daily, weekly, and monthly liepapers about the "standpatism" of Congress and hinting that that nasty relic of the Constitution must be abolished in the interests of "effective democracy." Others were beginning to lose confidence.

That is what the Conspiracy cannot afford. It is already sadly behind schedule. Of course, its secret plans, like the identity of its master strategists, are undisclosed, but at the end of 1958 some competent observers, after the most careful and painstaking study of all available indications, concluded that 1963 was the year scheduled for the effective capture of the United States. And those analysts—without exception, so far as I know—still believe that they were right; they believe that the Communist schedule was retarded and partly disrupted by the awakening of the American people and their growing awareness of the Communist Conspiracy and its designs. It is known from past operations that the Conspiracy's plans always call for constantly accelerated subversion in the final phase of a conquest, and so even a stalemate is, from the standpoint of our enemies, an alarming tactical failure. They cannot afford many more without suffering total defeat.

The Conspiracy, we must remember, does not have the resilience of a nation at war, which, unless thoroughly rotted, can rely on the powerful cohesive force of patriotism. To be sure, a frenzied hatred of mankind and human civilization is an even more powerful cohesive force among the born Bolsheviks who direct and manage the Conspiracy, and it has been able to excite race hatred among certain "minorities" and so acquire some fanatical shock-troops; but for a very large part of the work of subversion it must rely on low-grade criminals, opportunistic collaborators, and stupid employees. And its power of discipline over those groups largely depends on their complete confidence that the Conspiracy's triumph is inevitable.

Is this Communist Rubenstein?

Careful observers were aware of the feeling of crisis in conspiritorial circles before the assassination. In June of 1963, an experienced American military man made a careful analysis of the situation at that time, and in his highly confidential report concluded, on the basis of indications in Communist and crypto-Communist sources, that the be[illegible] Thanksgiving. Taylor Caldwell, wh[illegible]mbines feminine sensitivity with art[illegible] perception, sensed in the tone of Communist and "Liberal" publications a direction that made the assassination of Kennedy "very probable"—and she said so in an explicit warning published on October thirty-first and written about a week earlier. Other observers, who saw that Communist plans called for some sensational act of violence in the United States naturally considered the assassination of Kennedy (possibly in a crash of his airplane so arranged as to show unmistakable sabotage) as one of the expedients that the Conspiracy might adopt, although they did not, so far as I know, regard it as the most likely at the present juncture.

But, aside from the Conspiracy's obvious need for some drastic means of checking the growth of American patriotism, there is the consideration that Kennedy was rapidly becoming a political liability. Despite the best efforts of the lie-machines, it was clear that his popularity was diminishing so rapidly that some observers doubted whether even the most cunningly contrived and timed "crisis" could procure his re-election. His conduct was exciting ever increasing disgust even among the credulous; and what was worse, the vast cesspool in Washington was beginning to leak badly.

The bandits of the New Frontier, of whom Billie Sol Estes was but a puny specimen, had operated a little too openly. It had not been possible entirely to conceal the theft of wheat worth $32 million in a single raid or the probable "disappearance" of another $109 million in the same way. It had not been possible completely to suppress the TFX scandal, which would incense the entire nation if it were really exposed; it had not been possible to prevent the public from finding out something about little rumored [illegible]me murders thus far successfully [illegible]guised as "accidental deaths") [illegible] ready to burst at the slightest pressure. Only the most desperate exertions, involving the personal intervention of two of the most prominent members of the Administration, have kept the lid — precariously and temporarily—on the modernized badger game that is operated (at the taxpayers' expense and partly on government property) to entrap and subject to blackmail members of Congress not responsive to bribery and other routine pressures from the Administration. There are rumors that an even more filthy scandal, involving both sadistic sexual perversions and the use of governmental powers for the importation and distribution of hallucinatory narcotics, is simmering dangerously near to the surface. I am told that documentary evidence of secret shipments of secret munitions of war to the Soviet by the Administration in treasonable defiance of law is available in a place in which it is secure from both burglary and bribery. Even so minor a matter as the recent exposure of "scientists" in the employ of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as having forged spectrographic data for use in a smear-job on an American physician disquieted some theretofore complacent and somnolent citizens. For aught I know to the contrary, the assassination of Kennedy may have been necessary as the only means of avoiding, or even long deferring, national scandals so flagrant as to shock the whole of our brainwashed and hypnotized populace back to sanity.

In summary, then, there is not a single indication that the Conspiracy did not plan and carry out the assassination of Kennedy. On the other hand, there is evidence which very strongly suggests that it did.

First of all [illegible]re is the suspicious celerity with [illegible]h the broadcasting agency sardonically called Voice of America, Tass in Moscow, Earl Warren, and many publicists and politicians noted for their services to the Conspiracy in the past, began to screech that the murder was the work of "right-wing extremists" almost as soon as the shot was fired. One is justified in asking whether the leaders of this chorus went into action as soon as they received news that they were expecting. Or, if they did not know the precise moment, were they not prepared in advance for news of that kind? Is it conceivable that the same story would have occurred independently to so many different persons, however intense their hatred of the American people, or that they would have dared to announce as fact a malicious conjecture, if they had no assurance that their statements would be confirmed by "evidence" to be discovered subsequently? Not even the most addle-pated emulator of Sherlock Holmes would pretend to identify a murderer without a single clue. But the screechers went much farther than that: What they said was the precise opposite of what was suggested by the first indications available (the arrest of a Negro, reported on the radio while the Presidential automobile was starting for the hospital) — an indication which, although it later proved to be [illegible] person could have [illegible] trusted that [illegible] would soon be produced.

Persons whose business it is to tamper [illegible] do lying, but even they do not lightly take the risk of being caught promptly in a particularly improbable and offensive lie. The case of Earl Warren is even more puzzling. No one would [illegible] Court must be shre[illegible]enough not to make allegations w[illegible]t some reason to believe that he will [illegible]ble to produce some shreds of "evidence" to support them.

It seems that preparations had been made for rioting and murder throughout the country. Americans known to be opponents of the Conspiracy, including General Walker, prominent members of the John Birch Society, and leaders of other conservative organizations, began to receive threats of death by telephone from creatures who somehow knew that Kennedy was dead before he reached the hospital. In many communities, mobs composed of the dregs of humanity and openly proposing to burn the homes and murder the families of known conservatives, began to form in the evening, as though in obedience to orders that had not been countermanded to all sectors. I do not suggest that the local vermin were entrusted with a fore-knowledge of precisely what was to happen in Dallas, but it seems very likely that they had been prepared to respond to a signal and told what to do when the signal came.

It is easy to see what could have happened, had everything gone smoothly in Dallas. There could have been a complete break-down of law and order everywhere. The numerous vermin that have been living for years in ill-concealed anticipation of the glorious day when they will be able to hack Americans to pieces and drag bodies through the streets, could have "spontaneously" started looting, burning, and murdering. In many places they could have mustered strength beyond the control of the police, and even if checked and arrested, they could have claimed, like Rubenstein, that they had been "crazed" by "sorrow" for martyred Jack, and, of course, unlimited funds would have been available for legal defense. What is more, the great nest of traitors in Washington could have begun a pseudo-legal reign of terror, for which the infamous "Sedition Trial" in Washington in 1944 was obviously a small-scale and premature pilot-study. In an atmosphere of hysteria, maintained by the anti-American television, radio, and Press, all the leading American patriots could have been dragged in chains to Washington. The "Federal Marshals," fresh from Alcatraz and the like, whom the juvenile Czar had used for his invasion of Mississippi, could have been counted on to beat some of them to death or murder them while "trying to escape." The sadists whom we have imported as "mental health experts" could have tortured others into fake "confessions" or have destroyed their minds with drugs. There could have been a national Saturnalia of legalized violence under cover of which the International Conspiracy could have gained a control of the whole nation that could not subsequently have been broken.

You, who read these lines, may owe your life or at least your liberty to the vigilance and sagacity of Officer J. D. Tippit, the policeman who stopped Oswald on the street and was murdered by the Conspiracy's well-trained but not infallible agent.

There is other evidence, including definite indications that certain persons, whom observers have long regarded as members or at least auxiliaries of the Conspiracy, knew days in advance that something was going to happen to Kennedy in Dallas. But when one considers the enormous gains that the Conspiracy could have reaped from the assassination, had it been carried out without mishap, and when one remembers that the Conspiracy had an urgent and even desperate need of precisely such an event, one cannot avoid the conclusion that the weight of probability lies overwhelmingly on the side of the view that the murder was arranged by the Conspiracy as a strategic operation.

Be Ye Not Comforted

Many Americans, while giving thanks for their deliverance, strangely assume that the Communists' mishap in Dallas will give us a respite from danger of at least several months. On the contrary, the danger is greater than ever, for the partial failure merely augments the criminals' need for some signal victory over Americans to preserve enthusiasm in their own ranks. As I write, shortly before Christmas, it does not seem that that victory can be attained before the New Year, but we may be sure that every effort will be made to attain it as soon as possible thereafter.

The first expedient was primarily defensive. In a hasty and thus far successful attempt to thwart an investigation by legally constituted authorities, i.e. the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security and the Attorney General of the State of Texas, both of whom had already announced their determination to conduct an impartial inquiry, a legal and un-Constitutional "special commission" was improvised with the obvious hope that it could be turned into a Soviet-style kangaroo court. The best-known members of this packed "commission" are:

(1) Earl Warren, so notorious as the chief of the quasi-judicial gang engaged in subverting the Constitution of the United States that many thousands of the finest and most prominent American citizens have for two years been demanding with increasing insistence his impeachment and trial. A favorite subject of speculation and debate among some informed observers is whether Warren, if brought to trial, would try to dodge behind the Fifth Amendment or would take it on the lam and disappear behind the Iron Curtain. Warren, who spends his vacations with Little Comrade Tito in Yugoslavia or with Big Comrade Khrushchev in the Crimea, began to traduce and defame loyal and informed Americans minutes after the murder in Dallas; and it is easy to see why the Communist Party, through some indiscretion or mis-timing, officially nominated him as head of the "special commission" two days before his appointment was announced in Washington.

(2) T. Hale Boggs, the loud-mouthed agitator who disgraces the State of Louisiana in Congress. The Councilor has reproduced a press photograph which shows young Boggs in the act of giving the Communist clenched-fist salute while he was head of the Communist-front "American Student Union" in Tulane University, ridiculing our Army, and urging young men not to gang which meets annually in some city abroad to plot liquidation of the United States. As promptly as Warren, Boggs began to yell that the "right-wing" (as he and his kind call Americans who don't want to be liquidated) was guilty of having shot Mister Jack.

(3) Allen W. Dulles, one of the founders of the malodorous Council On Foreign Relations and currently its Director. Dulles was the head of an American spy ring in Switzerland during the Second World War and is said to have done a fairly good job, although it was believed at the time that his organization was infested with double agents who were really in the employ of the Soviet—and even more serious implications can be drawn from the testimony given in Karlsruhe last July by Heinz Felfe, a Soviet agent who had been Mr. Dulles' German counterpart and supposed competitor in Switzerland.

Our Central Intelligence Agency, although it was infected from the very beginning by the incorporation of scum from the notorious O.S.S., was still an American agency while it was under the command of Admiral Hillenkoetter. Under Mr. Dulles it was transformed into the bizarre gang of seventeen thousand or more secret and faceless agents, some of them expert assassins so recently imported into the United States that they cannot speak English. Mr. Dulles' C.I.A. is also the gang that helped Castro attain power in Cuba, staged the fake "invasion" to destroy anti-Communist organizations in Cuba, recently carried out (in close cooperation with the Soviet Secret Police) the murder in South Vietnam of unlimited funds. Some perhaps frenetic observers believe—based upon this and other "coincidences"—that the C.I.A. is now the major branch of the Soviet Secret Police in the United States.

It was to Mr. Dulles personally that the late Bang-Jensen trustingly confided evidence that very important members of the C.I.A. were officers in the Soviet Secret Police, and Mr. Dulles did nothing at all about it—unless, indeed, it was the C.I.A. that murdered Bang-Jensen to prevent him from ever giving testimony.

One writer has recently suggested that it was the C.I.A. that arranged the assassination of Kennedy; I know of no evidence to support that opinion, but obviously Mr. Dulles' creation is open to suspicion. Perhaps that is why he is a member of the "special commission."

(4) John J. McCloy, of the Council On Foreign Relations, the Ford Foundation, the World Brotherhood, and other mysteriously powerful organizations whose un-American or anti-American activities should have been investigated by Cong[illegible] long ago. McCloy is reputed to be the principal author of the present plan to disarm the United States and prepare it for occupation by Soviet troops and associated savages of the "United Nations," which he, as an assistant of Alger Hiss, helped to design and foist on the American people.

Well, those four form a majority of the "fact-finding commission" and their records offer a guarantee of the kind of "facts" they will find or devise. Two of the other members are self-styled "Liberals" of little political experience, and it is obviously idle to speculate concerning what Senator Russell may be able to do alone in such company.

It should be noted that the very creation of this Soviet-style "commission" in violation of our Constitution and for the express purpose of superseding legal and Constitutional procedures represents in itself a victory for which the Communist Conspiracy would have been willing to pay almost any price, since it accelerates the disintegration of legality and accustoms Americans to dictatorial acts that subvert the authority of Congress.

The functions of a "commission" so constituted are obvious. It will:

(1) Cover up for the Communist Conspiracy as much as possible by claiming that Comrade Oswald was a poor, lone critter who done it all alone. Probably "psychiatrists" will be produced to prove he done it 'cause, at the age of six months, he had to wait an extra five minutes for his bottle. That will establish the need for more Welfare and Civil Rights.

(2) Suppress permanently the report of the F.B.I., which it has already acted to conceal from the American people, and, if permanent suppression proves impossible, to have the report watered down or at least kept secret until a "crisis" can be arranged that will make its publication pass almost unnoticed.

(3) Smother and suppress the evidence of close contacts between Oswald and Rubenstein in both Waco and Dallas during the period immediately preceding the assassination of Kennedy, and other evidence connecting both of them with mysteriously prosperous persons of unknown antecedents in the vicinity of New York City. Every effort will be made to conceal Rubenstein's connections with Communist Cuba, including such items as a clandestine visit to Havana about a year ago, when he stayed with a long-time and close associate of Castro's named Praskin, who operates, as a cover for his other activities, a "novelty store" on the Prado opposite the Seville Hotel.* It may even be possible to prevent the public from learning definitely whether or not the "Jack" Rubenstein who executed Oswald is the person of the same name who has a published record of Communist associations and activities in this country going back for many years.

(3) Harass the Dallas police as much as possible. This will convey to police forces everywhere an understanding of the inadvisability of interfering with Communists engaged in the discharge of their duties. I doubt that the "commission" will go farther than this, although I confess that I am disturbed by the persistence with which the "Liberal" columnists around the world, from France to Australia, insist that poor Oswald, an innocent little Communist, was "framed" by the "Fascist" police of Dallas.

(4) Try to smear and intimidate loyal Americans in every way possible. Much can be accomplished in this direction if the Congress can be pressured into voting un-Constitutional powers of subpoena to an un-Constitutional "commission" dominated by persons who

*I understand that full report on this and other known activities of Rubenstein will probably appear in a future issue of The Herald of Freedom (Box 333, Staten Island 1, N.Y.).

The Communist clenched-fist salute.

should themselves be on trial for their efforts to subvert and destroy the Constitution. Since no American cow is wealthy after having been milked by the Income-Tax collectors, and since the majority of conspicuously loyal Americans are persons of very modest means, just one item, the cost of employing attorneys, could give the gang the power to inhibit and even paralyze most of the opposition to treason in the crucial year of 1964. It is possible, of course, that the "commission" may simply assume such powers. If so, Congress will probably object; but, if it should be necessary, the august Chief Justice could dash over to the Supreme Court Building, put on his black robe, and rule that Congress, like God, is un-Constitutional. It's just a ten-minute trip by cab.

(5) To go as much further as may be feasible. It is reported in the Press that the "commission" has requested the power to "extort" testimony from "unwilling witnesses." At the time at which I write, it seems unlikely that any such un-Constitutional power will be unconstitutionally granted. Of course, the original plan, to have been carried out eventually, if everything went according to schedule in Dallas, called for nice, rubber-lined torture chambers (such as you may glimpse in that excellent film, My Latvia) in which the hated Americans could be scientifically tortured into "confession," and the remains of those who proved "uncooperative" could be efficiently washed down the drains.

(6) To create propaganda for other Communist projects to facilitate the final conquest of the United States. A number are likely, but the most obvious is the one that was contemplated when Comrade Oswald was careful to provide evidence that the rifle used in the assassination had been purchased by mail. It is eminently desirable that firearms now in the possession of Americans be confiscated, partly to convince the Conspiracy's serfs how helpless they are, and especially to reduce the occupational hazards to the Balubas, Outer Mongolians, or other beasts who may form the "international police force" that is to occupy the United States and butcher its white inhabitants.

(7) To co-operate when the Conspiracy arranges for further violence. We may be sure that such will occur at the earliest feasible moment, and that every precaution will be taken to avoid a slip-up such as occurred in Dallas. It is impossible to predict at this moment when such an incident will occur or what form it will take—except, of course, that the blame will fall on "right-wing extremists." The assassination of other high government officials is an obvious possibility—perhaps too obvious, despite the sudden yapping of "Liberals" that something must be done quick to prevent the succession of John McCormack, as now provided by law. (Newsweek, THE WEEKLY LIEPAPER published by the Washington Post, had the effrontery to state the cause for alarm: McCormack is suspected of "anti-Communism"!) The Conspiracy, however, might go so far as to arrange the assassination of some Justice: That could, perhaps, be made to seem plausible after the Warren Court has maltreated a number of Americans in its latest usurpation of un-Constitutional powers, and it is, furthermore, the only sure way of preventing an impeachment and trial by Congress.

But another assassination would seem a bit monotonous, unless preceded by several other incidents of a different pattern. A hundred varieties of incidents are possible, such as first-class race riots, an "accidental" nuclear explosion to pep up agitation for "disarmament," or a well planned series of almost convincing "suicides" of American "rightists." A properly timed "crisis" in Latin America, preferably near to our borders, would be a suitable intermezzo during the performance. We cannot now predict precisely what arrangements the unknown Directorate of the Conspiracy will deem most expedient, for it is likely that their choice of both time and events will be made after they have seen how much advantage they will have been able to extract from the Kennedy assassination.

One thing is certain, however: The bungle in Dallas, far from justifying the slightest relaxation, should summon us to the utmost vigilance. It should warn us that we have come to the year of decision, and that only our most devoted and united efforts can prevail against a gang of international murderers rendered desperate by the awareness that their time is running out. ■ ■

MARXMANSHIP

In Dallas [Part II]

Revilo P. Oliver is Professor of Classics in the University of Illinois. During World War II, he was Director of Research in a secret agency of the War Department. He has traveled widely. Dr. Oliver is an academician of international reputation who has published scholarly articles in four languages within the pages of twelve learned periodicals in the United States and Europe.

■ HENCEFORTH, no American has an excuse for illusion. He has had an ocular demonstration of who and what his enemies are. And that lesson is repeated every day as his enemies, recklessly exposing themselves, try to carry out their original plan in spite of Comrade Oswald's bungling.

The assassination and its aftermath must have given to many Americans the shock that each of us must somehow feel in his own being before he can understand what Communists really are and why they are seeking to kill or enslave him. That understanding does not automatically come from mere information. We all carry in our minds a great accumulation of items of information, such as that a continent lies under the ice of Antarctica or that the natives of the Andaman Islands are pygmies, which have no effect on our thinking because such facts seem irrelevant to our own lives. By this time, every literate American has in his own mind a good deal of information about Communists, although often as detached and unrelated items that seem remote from his quotidian concerns. Even copious and systematic information may remain, so to speak, inert in the mind until illumined by a perception that carries conviction.

The Moment Of Truth

The perception usually comes from some personal experience or observation. It may be some minor shock, such as the falling apple is said to have given Newton; but at that shock a thousand bits of scattered knowledge latent in the mind arrange themselves into a coherent whole and exhibit a basic truth.

When I was a youngster, I knew a man of substance who told me that he had almost been enlisted in a Communist-front operation to release from prison a creature named Mooney, who had murdered nine persons in California to show how much he loved Humanity. Although moved by the plausible and pathetic story told him by the Editor of a "literary" periodical, the gentleman was canny enough to check a few facts and then visit the headquarters of the organization soliciting his support. His unannounced visit gave him his moment of perception. He returned with the conviction that he had seen specimens of a criminal gang that was burrowing its way beneath the foundations of society, bent on undermining the whole nation. I thought his alarm preposterous, and, I am afraid, smiled at it.

In college, I could not overlook the young Communists. It required no great acumen to [illegible] at their idealistic squeakings about "social justice" and the "downtrodden" were mere pretense to cover the malice and phrenetic rancors seething within them. But I did not really understand them until I met, during the great Crusade to Save the Soviet, a young lawyer who had been provided with a direct commission and a "vital" job in Washington to preserve him from the kind of military service that may be bad for the skin. He explained to me the wickedness of making a profit, and he told me how "social justice" would come to businessmen. "We'll shoot them in the belly," he said rapturously; "they die longer that way." And the greasy-faced creature licked its dry lips.

A professional man tells me that his moment came at the time that Irreproachable Ike, violating the Constitution he had sworn to uphold, used the Army to help the Warren Crew get the race war under way. He was talking to a clergyman of the "social gospel" variety whose emotional perturbation he did not understand until some indiscreet exclamations let him see that the holy man was inwardly trembling with eagerness for news that Americans had been bayonetted or machine-gunned on the streets of Little Rock.

The moment came to another man when he was one of a party of four in the bar of a private club. One of the four, an evidently urbane and cultivated gentleman — who had come to the United States as a refugee and had been given a salary and security that he could never have attained in the land whence he came — took a Scotch or two too many and began to make it painfully clear that he regarded Americans as detestable swine who need to be taught, with the toe of a boot, their place in One World.

A university professor tells me that his moment came two years ago when a senior colleague, who had for many years pontificated about the "marketplace of ideas," and, seated as a seated Buddha, had beamed benignly when Gus Hall and Gordon Hall spoke on the campus, "because we need to hear all sides," began to yell like a Comanche at a scalp-dance. What had shattered academic serenity was the discovery that there was a horrible "hate-sheet" read by "Fascist war-mongers" who must be "stamped out" or, at least, have their teeth kicked in. As for contributors to the hate-sheet, said the Sakya Muni of Academic Freedom, whom I quote verbatim, "they must be exterminated. Shooting is too good for them." The hate-sheet in question was that mild and self-consciously "moderate" fortnightly, National Review, and my informant believes that the Double Dome would have run amok with a kris, had he even suspected the existence of American Opinion. As it was, however, the yells sufficed to make my informant suddenly realize what makes "Liberals" tick — and he compared them to certain well wrapped and disguised packages that are occasionally discovered by a postal inspector or the baggage master of an airline because they also tick.

A New Yorker says that his moment came early in December when he read a column by Walter Lippmann, whom he had long supposed to be suffering from nothing more serious than a cerebrum bloated with ideals. In that column the punctate pundit, wrapping his feet about his neck in one of his customary verbal twists, claimed that "in a free [sic] country" criticism of "Civil Rights and Russia" is "inherently subversive." Not content with having thus exposed himself, Big-Brained Walt went on tactlessly to yowl that because Oswald scored a bull's-eye, "the only solace for the nation's [sic] shame and grief can come from a Purge"—a purge, of course, of the awful Americans who think they still have a country. Thus, said my correspondent, was long covert hatred of Americans and dissembled blood-lust made manifest for all to see. It is possible, to be sure, that the quoted phrase was just lipography, and that Lippmann meant something else, such as forced feeding of castor oil to Americans; but the phrase served to give at least one of his readers an impulse to put together and comprehend many data that his mind was holding in suspension.

Ex uno disce omnes

Oswald was a young Communist punk, but, aside from his fortuitous notoriety, there was nothing unusual about him. You have seen thousands like him, and you are paying taxes to breed or nourish swarms of them.

You saw a representative selection of them in that excellent film, Operation Abolition, which is now more timely than ever. You saw the veteran criminals, who should have been deported or imprisoned long ago, riot and yell at the House Committee, an official delegation of the highest governmental authority in our nation. You will not have failed to recognize in them rabid beasts grown insolent with long impunity. You saw also the rioting swarms of young creatures that had crawled out from the woodwork of the University of California and other tax-supported institutions of "higher learning." You had an opportunity to study their hate-contorted faces.

You can see fledgling Oswalds in the flesh whenever, as occasionally happens, a loyal American is permitted to speak on or near a college campus. The young "progressives" will be there to jeer and quibble. It will be instructive to observe how many are deformed in body or feature as well as mind, and, if you approach near enough, you can see the hatred glistening in beady eyes. (For a close approach, a handkerchief sprinkled [illegible] minimize the discomfort.) And you should reflect that you are financing, directly through taxes or contributions or indirectly through the institution's tax exemption, the hatching and "education" of young murderers.

You can see the species wherever you look. And with just a little patience and dexterity, you can make all but the most hardened and experienced disclose their inner emotions — perhaps in a spate of verbiage, but at least for a moment in an unguarded word or glare in the eyes; and you will feel like a swimmer who has glimpsed, six fathoms down, the flat, greenish flicker of a turning shark.

You can see them on television, on the floor of Congress, and in their pulpits; you can read them in the Press. And you need have no doubts. Whether they are trying crudely or subtly to use the Communists' assassination of Kennedy to incite hatred against "right-wing extremists," you can no longer fancy that they are just ignorant "intellectuals" with mixed-up ganglia. They are lying. They are lying with conscious calculation. They are lying with murderous intent.

You cannot mistake them when, in your very presence and with breath-taking effrontery, they discharge the diseased hatreds and homicidal lusts that fester in their gangrenous little minds.

From direct observation, you, as an American, can now recognize your enemy and know what he is. And if ever you are tempted to doubt the evidence of your own eyes and ears, remember that such monsters are no novelty — that in the brief span of man's sad and dolorous history one can find almost innumerable recorded instances of recrudescent savagery and of the frenzied and exacerbated rage of anthropoid beasts that cannot bear to be dragged toward civilization and humanity. The best illustration in a book that I have seen is [illegible]is Zoul's Thugs and Communists (Public Opinion, Long Island City 4; cf. American Opinion, January, 1962, pp. 29-36).

The vital thing is that you, as an American, realize that you are being hunted by a feral and stealthy pack. And that this is no nightmare, from which you will automatically awaken in a moment, nor yet is it a vision excited by the writers who strove to be more outré than Poe. That is a reality which you must face, if you are to survive at all.

The Time Is Now

With the nature of our enemies thus made manifest, and with such unmistakable indications of their numbers and power, an American who does not wilfully close his eyes and drug his mind can scarcely escape a perception of the magnitude and immediacy of our peril. This is the year of decision. We cannot hope for a complete victory this year, but we must end thirty years of unvaried retreat and, for a change, advance a little to recover some of the ground we have lost and to turn the tide of battle. A mere stalemate is scarcely possible, and another defeat will be our last. With another defeat, you and I may not be alive in 1965—or, if we are, we may regret it.

Now that Providence has given us a last chance, we must use it wisely and well. We must act with courage and determination, and, above all, with a rational and realistic understanding of our situation. We are fighting against enormous, though not insuperable odds, and we shall need the utmost effort of every American who will work with us. Our greatest handicap is that we, unlike our enemies, do not have a unified and secret command which plans the total strategy without need to disclose or explain it to anyone, and which carries out that strategy by issuing orders that are obeyed without question. Against a conspiracy that makes its decisions in secret and coordinates with the efficiency of a single organism the movements of its numerous and often hidden tentacles, we can oppose only the voluntary efforts of individuals who are loosely organized into a large number of voluntary organizations, which must, in turn, voluntarily cooperate with one another. In these circumstances a secret strategy is impossible, and we must rely on the rationality and self-control of responsible individuals to supply that minimum of unity and coordination without which we could do nothing against a conspiracy that has almost absolute control over its agents through its appeal to their criminal instincts, their complicity in past crimes, and, if need be, fear.

Our enemies plan in secret, but they have a standard technique for dealing with Americans that has long been obvious to every observer. While the vast majority of Americans are kept, so far as possible, in a state of ignorant complacency and confusion by the lie-machine, conservative and patriotic organizations are destroyed by inciting them to fight one another and by paralyzing each one with internal dissension. That technique has been used for more than forty years, and, without exception until the past few years, accomplished its purpose speedily and infallibly. Its success depended partly upon our enemies' vast financial resources and long experience in covert and subtle manipulation of individuals, but even more on the fact that loyal Americans are divided in their personal interests and beliefs.

That we Americans are so divided is our basic weakness in the present struggle, but it is not one of which we need be ashamed. It is the weakness of all societies of free men, and hence it is, in large part, precisely what we are trying to preserve. But our conflicts of interest and belief must be candidly admitted and [illegible]ately defined, if we are not to succumb to the manipulations of our enemies.

The Unity Of Dissension

As Americans, our one bond of effective unity is the American tradition, which is, in its essentials, a severely practical one. It is our first and most urgent duty to take a lesson from our forefathers, the citizens of the thirteen colonies, who, confronted by overwhelming odds, achieved independence because they had the intelligence and self-control never to lose sight of their real objective; although the colonies were deeply divided by opposed economic interests, vehement religious dissensions, and cultural differences that were, within the ambit of Western civilization, comparatively great. The governing bodies of each colony well knew that they could make an extremely advantageous settlement by deserting the other twelve. And the larger colonies must have been often tempted to seek opportunities, during the long struggle, of extending their influence and power at the expense of others in the hope of dominating whatever confederation might come out of independence.

A desperate undertaking, which most political analysts would have pronounced impossible a priori for peoples so sundered by divergent interests and creeds, succeeded because — and only because — our forefathers were able to transcend those differences and maintain an effective unity for the specific and strictly limited purpose of attaining political freedom.

Our task as Americans today is to attain and maintain an effective unity for the specific and strictly limited purpose of (a) preserving our national independence by recovering our federal government from the international vermin who have stealthily captured it, and (b) restoring as rapidly as may be —and that will be [illegible] a period of more than a decade—our constitutional government that those vermin have all but totally subverted. As a practical imperative, all other purposes, however passionately important they may be to us personally, must be recognized as secondary and even irrelevant, so far as the cause in which we must unite is concerned.

Our problem, I grant, is far more complex and delicate than that which confronted our forefathers. Their opponents were men who frankly and honorably declared themselves and disdained disguise. Our enemies are secret criminals whose principal weapon has always been deceit, dissimulation, and stealthy subversion. But our problem, surely, is not beyond the power of reason. And we should derive a stimulus to use it from the consideration that we have much more at stake than did our forefathers.

Who Is The Enemy?

Every one of us who tries to calculate our chances of victory must be continually astonished, and not infrequently dismayed, by the fantastic fact that what should be our greatest strength is also our greatest weakness. We have so indulged our human propensities to sentimentality and emotionalism, and we have been so subtly conditioned to fear shibboleths and bugaboos, that we squander in acrimonious debate over correctures the energies which, if rationally directed, could save us from annihilation.

Our enemy is the International Communist Conspiracy. Of that, there can be no possible doubt. Every time the fetid nest of vermin in Washington spends our money and (usually) the lives of American soldiers to enslave and barbarize another country, that country is invariably handed over to Communists — never to Fabian Socialists, Illuminati or similar [illegible]

Germany, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, China, Cuba, and the many others are all obviously and notoriously Communist provinces. And it is perfectly obvious that what the nest is preparing for the United States, through "civil rights," disarmament, and the like, is a Communist regime.

Although the Conspiracy is secret, we have learned a great deal about it by (a) studying its operations, and (b) utilizing the testimony of defectors from the Conspiracy and of our own counter-espionage agents who were able to penetrate some distance into the organization. The information thus obtained is necessarily incomplete, and, for obvious reasons, it becomes the more scanty, the nearer we approach the Conspiracy's inner core; and fails us completely before we reach that core.

The information that we have is sufficient to give us a good working knowledge of the general structure of the Conspiracy, although, of course, there are a great many details and possibly some very important elements about which we urgently need to know more.

Only the most naive persons today are puzzled by the operations of what is the lowest level in the Conspiracy (although it includes persons of great social or political prominence). The Conspiracy, engaged in total subversion, naturally finds and exploits all the weaknesses that are inherent in our society as in all human societies. It finds, and uses as its unconscious instruments, fat-heads and dunces who can be stirred to glutinous sentimentality or a rancorous resentment of their betters. But it uses above all the criminal tendencies that always have been present in all large populations and always will be present to the utmost verge of the foreseeable future. Every large aggregation of human beings produces, by biological necessity, its sneak-thieves, robbers, shysters, "intellectuals," perverts, sadists, and other degenerates. As is known to everyone who has thought about it at all, the continued existence of a civilization, like that of a large city, depends on the efficiency of the sewage system that disposes of its organic waste: On this level, all that the Conspiracy has to do is stop up the sewers (which civilized societies seem naturally disposed to neglect anyway, since no one likes to think about such unpleasant necessities). By this time, we have all learned not to waste time arguing whether a given person, who is knowingly serving the Conspiracy's ends, is a member, an accomplice, a hireling, or just a petty criminal who has been given opportunity and encouragement.

The structure of the main Communist apparatus in this country is reasonably clear. There is a large number of them and, so far as is known, they operate independently of one another. The official Communist Party, the more concealed "Trotskyite" apparatus, the military and naval espionage rings directed from the various Soviet embassies, the industrial and technological espionage directed from the various consulates, and the Secret Police are all controlled directly from Moscow, and are believed to have no contact with one another in this country, except that the Secret Police watch all the others and probably supervise the transfer of talented criminals, recruited by the Party, to the more secret units. The vast crypto-Communist apparatus no longer has large cells, such as the one of which the infamous Hiss was a member; and is now so organized that no cell has more than three members and most of the criminals know the identity only of the superior from whom they receive orders. Most observers believe that this operation is handled by the Secret Police. There are other apparatus and transmission belts, some possibly of strategic importance, which may operate in this country independently of the ones I have mentioned. But given the criminals' success in preventing or halting all official inquiry into their more clandestine activities in the United States, we can only speculate about the chain of command in operations that we cannot even prove to be Communist. Most observers would agree in identifying some of these by cogent inference from copious circumstantial evidence; about others, so little is known that competent observers differ widely in the surmises that they base on admittedly fragmentary indications; and it is quite possible that there are some whose true nature has not even been suspected.

So far as we know, however, the various Bolshevik apparatus are controlled from Moscow. Whenever we can trace their organization at all, we can follow the wires until they disappear in the massive walls of the Kremlin. (In recent years, some circuits have been rewired so that the lines from this country go to Peking; cf. AMERICAN OPINION, January, 1964, p. 71. That merely shows that a new exchange has been installed for operational convenience.) All observers, I believe, would agree that, so far as is known, the criminals in our country get their orders, directly or indirectly, from Moscow.

Now there are very good reasons for believing that the foul brute that is titular Boss in the Kremlin is merely a subordinate, an executive of limited powers. So long as the unspeakable thing called Stalin was alive, most (but not all) observers thought that he was the real head of the Conspiracy. Events subsequent to the death (or, perhaps, liquidation) of that monster have made it increasingly apparent to judicious observers that the organization of the Conspiracy is more complex than was once generally supposed — that the his personal appetites and eccentricities will, within rather narrow limits, be tolerated, since he represents a considerable investment in publicity; but who can always be fired by the producers of the show, and will be eliminated the minute that he gets out of hand so far as to endanger the success of production. So, who are the producers?

The question may be too precipitately asked. Let us state it first in more simple terms: Who controls Khrushchev and the organizations on which his power is evidently based?

An experienced and highly qualified anti-Communist organization, which has probably penetrated as far into the Kremlin and its secrets as any human beings, summarized its findings in a report that the Honorable Timothy P. Sheehan read to the House of Representatives on August 5, 1957. (You probably never heard of it. The unanimity with which daily liepapers ignored sensational, and therefore potentially profitable, news, and the extraordinary exertions made by prominent subhumans to avert the re-election of Congressman Sheehan, serve only, so far as prudent and rational Americans are concerned, to validate and confirm the report he communicated to Congress.)

The kernel of this long and circumstantial report is that, superior to Krushchev and similar administrators, and superior even to the Secret Police, is another and more select organization of truly international scope, the Communist Security System (CSS), which has penetrated and controls even the Secret Police. The existence of such an inner organization was first suspected by cautious observers in 1939, when the purulent blob of anti-human protoplasm called Nicolai Yezhov was blotted out and replaced by the equally loathesome thing called Lavrenti Beria.

until 1953, w[illegible] the ease with which the Beria-thing was in turn liquidated made it apparent to thoughtful analysts that the Secret Police, of which Beria had been the absolute and unchallenged master, must be in turn subordinate to some inner and even more secret apparatus. The CSS, as described in the report, precisely corresponds to that more secret apparatus, as its characteristics were deduced by many observers before the report was made public by a courageous and patriotic Congressman at the cost of his own political career.

Not all qualified observers find the report on the Communist Security System as convincing and cogent as I do, although I know of none who would categorically reject it. Since no member of the CSS has ever defected and confessed, the intelligence report concerning it can be corroborated only by deduction and inference from numerous, scattered, often ambiguous, and sometimes conflicting data. The most that any observer can say, therefore, is that he accepts the report's description of the CSS as highly probable, since it fits the known pattern of conspiratorial organization and provides the most comprehensive and consistent explanation thus far proposed of the facts which indicate that the Conspiracy is controlled by some inner circle.

But if the CSS is the controlling organism, we have merely pushed the ultimate question one step farther back. Who controls the CSS?

That, of course, must be the darkest and most jealously guarded secret of all. As was to be expected, the report can only state that "the guiding [i.e. controlling] members of the Communist Security System" are "fellow travellers, rich financiers, and secret Communists" whose identity is known only to themselves and the few trusted agents through whom they, as an invisible government, transmit their orders. That description suggests — even implies — that most or all of [illegible]eal directors of the Conspiracy live outside of Soviet territory. There is nothing implausible in that. Indeed, there never was any real evidence to support the gratuitous assumption that the Conspiracy's headquarters were moved to Russia after the conquest of that country in 1917.

Our Secret Enemy

Whatever hypothesis we may form concerning the inmost structure of the Communist Conspiracy, we can scarcely do other than postulate that the supreme direction must come from some supreme council which, in all probability, has not less than ten nor more than five hundred members. Whatever we may suspect, we do not know who they are; we do not know where they meet or how they communicate with one another; we do not even know what rational end (if any) they propose to themselves other than a Satanic dominion over the whole world. We only know that they must be phenomenally intelligent and unutterably evil.

Now, at the risk of laboring the obvious, we cannot too often remind ourselves that our ultimate enemies are the members of that council, whoever they are, however they work, and whatever their secret designs. And the International Communist Conspiracy by definition consists of the unknown members of that council and all of the instrumentalities and subordinate organizations that they direct. That is the conspiracy that we must defeat, at least in our own country, if we are not to perish most miserably at its hands. And I do not see how any American who has observed what has been done to his nation in recent years, and thought about it, could disagree with either the definition or a statement that only the most dedicated and united efforts of American patriots can save us from an imminent and unspeakable horror.

No reader of AMERICAN OPINION, I am sure, to be confused, even for an instant, by the semantic quibble made possible by the fact that the Communist Conspiracy is not directed by Communists, if by that term we mean persons who believe in "Marxism." The barbarous jargon and confusing twaddle of "dialectical materialism" has always been what Marx designed it to be, an elaborate deception triply useful for enlisting recruits, stultifying ignorant "intellectuals," and concealing serious purposes. On the lower levels of the Conspiracy, many members of the Communist Party believe, or pretend to believe, that drivel as an article of faith; while the more sincere and intelligent rack their brains trying to solve a set of quadratic equations that were designed to be insoluble (and eventually they either defect or get the point and move upward to the next level). We may be quite sure, I think, that anyone who attains the rank of assistant to an immediate subordinate of a branch manager, such as Castro, has left belief in "Marxism" as far behind him as belief in Santa Claus. So, unless we find an adolescent's pleasure in the paradox that Khrushchev and his kind are not Communists, we must understand that by "Communist" we mean a conscious participant in the International Conspiracy, without reference to his real or feigned reasons for participation.

Some Theories

It has long been apparent that the Communist Conspiracy was something quite different from the picture that its members tried to hold before the general public. It was clear to judicious observers a century ago that the degenerates who publicly headed or secretly financed the International were not in the least interested in the "workers" or the "proletariat" about whose "oppression" they pretended to snivel. When the Conspiracy effected its first territorial conquest in 1917, only the simple-minded could describe as "Russian" a revolution whose leaders and executives had, almost without exception, swarmed into Russia a few months before the take-over, and had been financed from both Germany and the United States, although those two nations were technically at war with one another. And after the conquest of Russia, it was clear that the total resources of that hapless and more than decimated land were utterly inadequate to finance an international conspiracy. And although Trotsky, Lenin, Stalin, and the rest were, without doubt, viciously cunning monsters, it was extremely improbable that they had either the brains or the time to direct such a conspiracy while discharging their duties as executives in Russia and, incidentally, clawing at one another's throats.

Long ago, therefore, observers very reasonably began to look for a conspiracy behind the Soviet. The existence of such an inner or directing conspiracy was strongly suggested, as I have said, by the known facts in the history of Communism from the time of Marx to the present. It was also indicated by analogy to the structure of criminal conspiracies known to history. For example, Weishaupt's Illuminati* were organized in a set of concentric circles; all members, even those in the outer circle, were given the impression that they were "on the inside," but the members of each inner circle regarded the members of outer circles as neophytes to be prepared for more advanced work or as suckers who were useful because they could be made to believe anything. The Assassins, founded by Hasan-i-Sabbah, were similarly organized: The members of the lowest grade (Lasiqs) were fanatical believers in the Koran and Islam, while guru members of the grade next to the top (Da'i i-Kabir) found it difficult to straight face while talking to boo[illegible]hey considered so stupid as to believe in Allah or any god.

Since it was clear that there was a conspiracy inside the outer (Marxist) shell, it was only natural that attempts should be made to identify it. Various sincere and thoughtful writers have positively identified the inner conspiracy as composed of one of the following: "Force X," Illuminati, Satanists, "Bilderbergers," Zionists, Pharisees, Khazars, Fabian Socialists, International Bankers, Rockefellers, Rothschilds, or a gang of otherwise unidentified "messianic materialists." Good and authentic evidence drawn from the present or the recent past can be assembled to support each of these identifications, and it is easy to argue convincingly that each is right, provided that we can assume an extraordinary degree of stupidity or shortsighted venality in some or all of the others. And although some of the groups I have listed overlap others, or may do so, it is clear that all of them cannot be the one central conspiracy. Furthermore, we cannot assume that there are a number of major conspiracies independent of one another but all blithely working together today with no thought of the morrow.

Let me take as my example the "Force X," recently brought into prominence by Kenneth de Courcy in his excellent and generally reliable Intelligence Digest. And let me hasten to add that, although I feel confident that I recognize the entity to which Mr. de Courcy refers, I do not pretend to have at my disposal the mass of information and documentation that has presumably been assembled by Mr. de Courcy's private intelligence organization, which largely consists of former members of British Military Intelligence now stationed throughout the world as representatives of British industries or in similar capacities.

Mr. de Courcy has not said that "Force X" was the inner core of the Communist Conspiracy, but many of his readers have drawn that inference from the indications that he has provided. Mr. de Courcy has described "Force X" as "basically a criminal group," which "directs the entire drug traffic of the world," high-class prostitution and homosexual rings, and many other forms of profitable crime. But he says that it "has made use of Communism," that "its power far exceeds that of Communism," that "in Russia, Trotsky, Zhdanov, Beria, and Litvinov" were its agents (as were, in Germany, "both Ludendorff and Himmler"), and that its executive head, a homosexual and necrophilic degenerate, gave advice to Stalin and now advises both Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung. Mr. de Courcy concludes that "the alliance between this person and Communism is very close, although there are fundamental clashes of aim. Neither seems to mind this at present."

It is at that point that I have my doubts. As Communist agents and fuddled fops are forever telling us, there is only one world — and, what is worse, it is less than 25,000 miles in circumference at the equator. It is much, much too small for two conspiracies of "One Worlders," and if, perchance, there are two, the heads of both must have realized long ago that the more successful they were, the sooner one would have to liquidate the other to escape liquidation itself. I could believe that "Force X" is subordinate to the International Communist Conspiracy, and I could believe that "Force X" is the inner core of that Conspiracy and so controls Khrushchev and similar vermin, but I cannot believe that two wolves are peacefully munching one rabbit.

Less Blood-Pressure, Please

If not two, then not three or five or ten. What we have said about "Force X" will apply, mutatis mutandis, to any other conspiratorial group that we may consider in connection with the Communists. Let us, therefore, draw some conclusions.

On the basis of the information supplied by Mr. de Courcy, and on the basis of our own deductions concerning the probable structure of the Conspiracy, we recognize that "Force X" may be:

(1) An inner circle, comparable to, if not identical with, the Communist Security System.

(2) A formal arm of the Conspiracy, comparable to the official Communist Party in the United States or the Secret Police, and like them controlled from above.

(3) A large and highly organized gang of racketeers, who, like all ordinary criminals, "take the cash and let the credit go," intent only on loot today and loot tomorrow, but with no long-range plans or cosmocratic ambitions. Such a gang would naturally be encouraged and protected by the Communists, and would naturally perform services for cash fees or in exchange for protection and opportunities. (Note that China is now the principal source of the narcotics commonly used by drug-addicts, so that one of the most profitable branches of the gang's business depends on supplies from Communist territory.) This, however, would make the gang, for all practical purposes, a Communist subsidiary or instrumentality, and it could not be "more powerful" than its employers.

Those are, I think, the three most probable explanations, but others are possible, viz.:

(4) That our inferences about the Conspiracy are incorrect, and that "Force X" and the Communists really are independent in the sense that neither controls the other.

(5) That the data supplied by Mr. de Courcy are wrong in part or in whole, because they were mistaken or because they were supplied with false information (a common trick in all intelligence work) or because they or Mr. de Courcy have some interest in deceiving us. Thus "Force X," as described to us, may not exist at all.

Now we may differ widely in the percentage of probability that we assign to each of those five explanations, and it will certainly do no harm to argue about them for the purpose of clarifying our own thinking and of eliciting from one another such incidental information as each of us may have that is relevant to the subject. But obviously, no one of the five hypotheses is certainly right or certainly wrong. And I trust that no one will place an extraordinary strain on his neuro-vascular system to shout at the rest of us.

Serious argument is futile when what we obviously need is more evidence. That evidence is available. A great deal must now be in the possession of various police forces throughout the United States and either has not been assembled or has been suppressed by political pressures. A vast amount of evidence was concealed when the gang around Mr. Macmillan succeeded in covering up most of the Profumo scandals, but the greater part of it is still there. In the opinion of the best informed observers, a thorough investigation of the activities of Bobbie Baker, and his high-ranking accomplices in the Administration, would uncover a vast cesspool of corruption necessarily connected with the one in England, because some specialists in vice and crime shuttle back and forth from one country to the other. Probably any one of the hundreds of known nests of drug-addicts, perverts, and degenerates in Washington (or others found in any other large city) would expose a trail that could be followed back to the lair of [illegible] ascertained only by [illegible]matic and relentless inquiry conduct[illegible]with governmental powers; and wh[illegible]might take a long time for such an investigation to attain certainty, every bit of additional evidence would enable us to calculate probabilities more accurately. In the meantime, you can't prove anything by waving your arms.

Horrid Hypotheses

So far as I can see, all hypotheses regarding conspiracies that may be associated with the Communist Conspiracy are in the same status as views about "Force X." The evidence comes, of course, from other sources, is of varying degrees of probability, can be reconciled with more or less difficulty with what we know or think we can deduce with some assurance concerning the Communists, and is susceptible to different ranges of alternative interpretations. In some cases religious belief will strongly affect our estimates: A formidable and powerful conspiracy of Satanists will seem likely only to those who believe in a Devil having the power to intervene, directly or indirectly, in the affairs of this world. In others, a recognition of adverse interests or inveterate antipathies is very likely to color our opinions. But we are certainly dealing with hypotheses based on inadequate data. The most probable cannot be reasonably stated as a certainty; the least probable cannot reasonably be pronounced an impossibility. To prove or disprove anything, we shall need many more facts than we now have at our disposal.

I confess that I cannot understand the extraordinary amount of passion that can be generated by violent asseverations and hysterical denunciations of theses that can be established or refuted only by ascertaining facts. Quarrels on this subject remind me of two men whom I once saw engage in a violent brawl to determine which of the following day. I could not but wonder whether they imagined that their exertions would, through some sympathetic or methectic magic, affect the result.

Less Heat, More Light

No display of temper will change historical facts. The hair-pulling matches in which some Americans engage to vindicate their favorite hypotheses would be comic, if they were not tragic in their consequences: personal antagonisms, disruption of conservative organizations, and, quite possibly, defeat and death for all of us. I should suppose that even the most perfervid champions of antithetical hypotheses would realize, if they paused to think about it for a moment, that the only way to settle their argument — to say nothing of accomplishing something for their country — is to unite in demanding of their state and federal governments the kind of searching and unremitting inquiry into the Communist Conspiracy that we have urgently needed for fifty years and have never had.

Few Americans realize that all of our uncertainties and the futile quarrels that they occasion are directly caused by the International Communist Conspiracy's success in stifling, frustrating, or preventing official investigation. A raid, carried out jointly by the State of Michigan and Federal officers in 1922 on the headquarters of a nest of homicidal vermin disclosed evidence that should have scared every sober American as much as though a bullet had whizzed past his ear. But the net result was that a gang of subversives, headed by the malodorous Felix Frankfurter, stopped in 1925 all Federal investigation of the enemies in our midst. Nothing more was done by our Federal government, despite its obligation under the Constitution to protect us from foreign enemies, until a great American, Martin

Dies of Texas, established [illegible] the House Committee on Un-American Activities (see [illegible] new book, MARTIN DIES' STORY; [illegible] Bookmailer, New York; $5.00). Mr. Dies' committee accomplished a great deal, despite open opposition and clandestine harassment from the great War Criminal in the White House and the scabrous louts with which that being surrounded himself.

In the Senate, a valiant beginning was made by Senator McCarthy, but we all know what happened to him; and we know that all inquiry into treason in Washington was effectively stopped when Eisenhower issued his un-Constitutional order to protect the vicious vermin lodged in our government from interrogation.

Both the House and the Senate Committees have done the best that they could, I believe, in the face of enormous pressures from the criminals who had captured the Treasury of the United States and could use our money to prevent us from learning about our blood-thirsty enemies. But such inquiries were necessarily limited to the peripheral and superficial.

Some years ago, Judge Robert Morris, [illegible] the most experienced and [illegible] example, in December of 1963, Texas Rangers, on the authority of the Attorney General of Texas, raided a criminal hang-out and discovered documents that astonished even seasoned observers. The membership of the Communist Party in Texas had been officially estimated at about five hundred. That was obviously too low, but few were prepared for the discovery of a list containing the names of ten thousand international criminals, members or conscious accomplices of the Conspiracy, residing in Texas. As I write, it is rumored that Earl Warren, if not soon impeached and brought to trial, will make heroic efforts to suppress that list, acting either in his capacity as Boss of the Warren Crew in the Supreme Court Building or in his capacity as chairman of Johnson's special Committee to Conceal. Whether those efforts succeed will depend on you, my fellow Americans.

Armageddon

I venture to suggest—even to urge—that we Americans suspend our vexatious disputaillerie about conjectures and concentrate our united efforts on obtaining the basic information that [illegible]

[illegible] higher echelons of the Conspiracy, was stopped by "irresistible pressures."

Obviously, what we Americans must do, if we wish to go on living, is to generate pressures which make those that once seemed "irresistible" seem as [illegible] as the waving of a cockroach's antennae.

The information is there and available in vast quantities. It is constantly [illegible] coming to [illegible]

[illegible] therefore know that every prudent man knows that—if it happens that he is unjustly accused of a crime of which he is innocent—he cannot destroy public documents and sandbag witnesses on their way to the Grand Jury without arousing in the grave suspicion that he may be less innocent than a new-born lamb on the hills of Arcadia.

We must [illegible] as reasonable and practical men, to pay that the primary responsibility for the demoralization of American life falls on you and me who were too timid, too busy, or too lazy to do anything about it during the past fifty years. That means, specifically, that we must be prepared to condone and forget venial sins in public life — anything, that is, which is short of treason. We could all argue for a year, vehemently and inconclusively, about what should be a general standard of sexual morality. I hope that we would agree, however, that that standard, however much we prize it, is less important than our lives and those of our children. That question is vital, if, as informed sources in Washington assert, fifty-five Senators — a majority, mind you — are now kept in line by blackmail made possible by highly-trained and expert "call girls" operating, at the expense of American taxpayers, in collaboration with secret agents who installed concealed microphones and hidden cameras, including infra-red equipment. That, it is said, explains votes for "disarmament" and also explains the massive resistance that would be opposed to any proposal for an open and searching investigation. In the present crisis, I think it not too much to ask of even Mrs. Grundy that she look the other way for a while.

In the meantime, we certainly know enough about our enemies to attack effectively the Conspiracy on fronts that can absorb all our energies. Enough of in acts of open treason to make inquiry into their motives and antecedents a waste of time. And time is what we cannot afford to waste: We have so little of it left.

It is entirely possible that we may never be able to identify the head of the octopus, but that will matter little, if we can lop off enough of its tentacles.

I know that apocalyptic visions of cosmic disaster are usually born of disordered imaginations. I know that men tend always to exaggerate the importance of their own countries and hence of the crises of the moment. But look as I will, I cannot see a future for Western civilization anywhere in the world, if the United States is lost. What another race may do in five hundred or a thousand or ten thousand years is beyond our prevision; but the fate of human civilization as we know it depends, I fear, on what we do this year.

This is not Valley Forge: Had our forefathers lost, they would have reverted to the status of British colonies and still have enjoyed a good fortune greater than that of most of the rest of civilized mankind. This is Châlons or Tours, and the issue, quite simply, is whether the world's most hated minority, the Christian West, shall be forever obliterated by the infinite barbarism of irrational hordes. Or, to put it in less general terms, the issue is whether your children will regret having been born. ■ ■

SAINTED RELICS

■ A vase for flowers, purchased for $27, brought the highest price among 250 items sold at an auction conducted at Valkill, for many years the home of the late Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A "nice crowd" gathered at the cottage off Route 9G in Hyde Park where many items, once used by Mrs. Roosevelt and her husband, the late President Roosevelt, had been stored, said auctioneer Wilson Proper. Two old trunks, carved with the initials "F.D.R." brought $2.50 each and a third was sold for $3.

Mr. Proper said a rosewood chair used by the President "didn't bring $10," and went unsold. He also said he kept a tray that Mrs. Roosevelt had used in bed. "I couldn't get an offer of $2 for it," he observed.

The sale brought less than $300. "I just don't understand what happened," Proper said. "I had as many as 300 people standing out there on the lawn of the cottage at one time or another but they practically laughed in my face when I started asking reasonable prices."—From the Poughkeepsie Journal

The following information supplements that contained in memorandum dated August 2, 1966, at Dallas, Texas.

On August 11, 1966, Mr. Albert H. Newman, 310 East 75th Street, New York, New York, who identified himself as a correspondent for the "Reporter Magazine" and McGraw-Hill Book Company, both of New York, telephonically contacted a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Newman stated that with respect to the information he had furnished on July 27, 1966, he had made inquiries and had determined that Mrs. Thelma Lucio "is absolutely clean", and had no connection whatsoever with Lee Harvey Oswald or the assassination.

Mr. Newman also advised that he had checked into the death of Professor William Thomas Wolf, previously mentioned by Mr. Newman, and that he had determined that this death was definitely accidental, and therefore neither Lee Harvey Oswald nor George De Mohrenschildt, had any connection with such death.

Mr. Newman commented that he merely wanted to furnish the foregoing information to the Federal Bureau of Investigation which might preclude any necessity for the Federal Bureau of Investigation conducting additional investigation.

Re Dallas airtel to Bureau, 6/1/65 captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka., IS - R - CUBA", enclosing an LHM concerning information furnished by PENN JONES, JR., on 5/28/66.

Enclosed are 10 copies of an LHM concerning PENN JONES, JR., Editor "Midlothian Mirror", Midlothian, Texas, who appeared on KRLD Radio program in Dallas, Texas, called "Comment" on 8/4/66.

For the information of the Bureau, referenced airtel pointed out that PENN JONES, JR., was the subject of Dallas file 100-9057 (Bufile 100-395874). JONES apparently was the subject of ill-founded and malicious rumors accusing him of being a communist sympathizer. JONES was primarily involved as the victim in Dallas file 157-187 entitled "UNSUB; Incendiary Device Thrown Into 'Midlothian Mirror', Midlothian, Texas, 4/20/62."

The information from JAMES HUGHES contained in the enclosed LHM was received by SA GERALD LEWIS GEARY. The review of the tapes of the program "Comment" was by SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING. The tapes were made available for review by EDDIE BARKER, News Director, KRLD Radio and TV, Dallas, Texas. It appears obvious that PENN JONES, JR., was grasping an opportunity to publicize the fact that Volume 1 of his book was now available for sale. Numerous persons who called him while on the program and asked questions were given the answer "I don't know."

The above is furnished the Bureau for its information and no investigation, or other inquiry, is being made by this office, UACB.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

On August 4, 1966, Penn Jones, Jr., Editor "Midlothian Mirror", Midlothian, Texas, appeared on KRLD Radio, Dallas, Texas, on the program called "Comment" at which time he discussed Volume 1 of his book "Forgive My Grief", which he called "a critical review of the Warren Commission on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy."

On August 5, 1966, Mr. James Hughes, Westchester House, 554 South Summit, Apartment 325, Fort Worth, Texas, telephone EDison 2-4275, who identified himself as an author and former newspaper writer, advised a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) that he had heard the program "Comment" on KRLD Radio, Dallas, Texas, on August 4, 1966. He stated that during this program certain comments were made by the guest speaker (Penn Jones, Jr.) and by an individual who had talked by telephone to the guest speaker during the program, which were slanderous to President Johnson and to a specific Special Agent of the FBI, and the Department of Justice.

Hughes refused to mention any names of individuals involved but stated he thought the FBI would be interested in the comments made on this program.

On August 8, 1966, the tapes of the program "Comment" on KRLD Radio, Dallas, Texas, of August 4, 1966, were reviewed by a Special Agent of the FBI.

Penn Jones, Jr., identified himself as editor of the "Midlothian Mirror", Midlothian, Texas, and was interviewed by commentators Jim Underwood and Wes Wise of KRLD Radio. Jones indicated he had completed Volume 1 of his book "Forgive My Grief", and that he was contemplating writing additional volumes. During this program, listeners were permitted to telephonically contact KRLD Radio to ask questions of Mr. Jones. During the program, a caller, unidentified, mentioned Special Agent James P. Hosty of the FBI and discussed the controversial remarks attributed to Special Agent Hosty and Lieutenant Jack Revill of the Dallas Police Department.

Another caller questioned Jones as to whether he had checked into the allegation that the now President Lyndon B. Johnson had in his pocket, immediately after the assassination, the oath of office which he made available to U. S. District Court Judge Sarah Hughes for purposes of her swearing him in as President. Jones commented that he would endeavor to look into this particular point during his future endeavors with respect to additional volumes which he planned to write.

Jones mentioned that there were several other books which had been written concerning the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, and specifically mentioned the book "Unanswered Questions" by Sylvan Fox, and the book "Whitewash" by Harold Weisberg. He spoke most favorably of the book "Whitewash". He stated that a book by Mark Lane had been written and was soon to be released. US

Penn Jones also mentioned that a Sylvia Marr has compiled an index on the testimony and exhibits contained in the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy Report and Hearings before that commission which index has been printed by the Scarecrow Press of New York City, and remarked that this is an excellent index for reference purposes.

At the completion of the program, Mr. Jones was requested to again appear on this program in the event he ascertained information which he felt was of importance concerning the assassination of President Kennedy.

PURPOSE:

To advise Penn Jones, Jr., editor, "Midlothian Mirror," Midlothian, Texas, appeared on KRLD Radio, Dallas, 8/4/66. He discussed his book, "Forgive My Grief," which was termed a critical review of the Warren Commission. Comments made by Jones were considered slanderous to the President. Attached letterhead memorandum is being disseminated to U. S. Secret Service and the Department. No further action required.

BACKGROUND:

Jones is the editor of the, "Midlothian Mirror," a weekly newspaper published in Midlothian, Texas, a community located approximately 24 miles from Dallas, Texas.

On 8/4/66, Jones appeared on Dallas Radio Station KRLD on the program entitled, "Comment," and discussed Volume I of his book, "Forgive My Grief," which was termed a critical review of the Warren Commission on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy. A complaint was received at our Dallas Office from a listener of this program who considered remarks made by Jones as slanderous towards the President and to a Special Agent of the FBI.

SA James P. Hosty and Lieutenant Jack Revill of the Dallas Police Department. It concerns the alleged comment made by SA Hosty that Oswald was, "capable of committing this assassination." This was unequivocally denied by SA Hosty by affidavit and in his testimony before the President's Commission. This information appears on page 441 of the Warren Commission Report and is a matter of public record.

PENN JONES, JR.:

Our files show an investigation was conducted of Jones in 1953 based on an allegation that a representative of the Communist Party from New York City had contacted Jones during the Summer of 1945. Our inquiries determined the allegation had no basis in fact. Our files revealed on 4/30/62 an unknown individual threw an incendiary device into the offices of Jones' newspaper, however, no arrest was made although it was suspected a member of an anticommunist group may have been behind this act.

During May, 1965, Mr. John Russell Freeman, owner and editor of the, "Farmer and Miner," a weekly newspaper in Frederick, Colorado, alleged Jones had been conducting an investigation of the assassination. He had a theory Lee Harvey Oswald was paid a large sum of money by two brothers from Texas closely associated with President Johnson to assassinate President Kennedy. Freeman alleged Jones had discussed this matter with Theodore Sorenson, former Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Attorney General Katzenbach.

On May 28, 1965, Jones was thoroughly interviewed and denied he ever had such a theory and did not discuss any theory regarding the assassination with the previously-mentioned Government officials. He did visit Washington, D. C., in the Spring of 1964 and met Mr. Sorenson, Mr. Robert Kennedy and Mr. Katzenbach and had them autograph books, and at that time expressed his sorrow for the assassination. This information was disseminated to U. S. Secret Service and the Department.

Since it appears that Jones' appearance on radio station KRLD was for the purpose of publicizing his book, no further action is required.

ACTION:

The attached letterhead memorandum concerning comments made by Jones is being disseminated to U. S. Secret Service and the Department.

NEWMAN, consisting of 49 pages. Also enclosed is one Xerox copy of 18 pages concerning "The Militant's" letters referred to by NEWMAN.

NEWMAN was interviewed by SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING. At the outset of the interview, he was advised that no comments whatsoever would be made concerning the President's Commission Report or concerning his observations, but that any information he desired to furnish would be made a matter of record. He requested to be advised whether investigation would be conducted and he was advised that in the event investigation was warranted same would be conducted and the results made known to the appropriate government officials but that such results could not and would not be made available to him. He stated that he did not want to make any inquiries that might interfere with any investigation contemplated by this bureau and he was advised that any investigation he desired to conduct was strictly up to him and that he was free to interview anyone he desired.

The information concerning THELMA LUCIO was taken from Dallas file 100-11042.

It is felt that NEWMAN's visit had a two-fold purpose. 1. He was endeavoring to obtain additional information for his forthcoming book; and 2. when this failed he was endeavoring to furnish information which he felt required additional investigation which, if conducted, would permit him to take credit for having such investigation conducted.

It is recommended that no investigation be conducted into NEWMAN's allegations as it is felt any investigation conducted could possibly result in future embarrassment to the Bureau.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

On July 27, 1966, Mr. Albert H. Newman, 310 East 75th, New York, New York, who identified himself as a correspondent for the "Reporter Magazine" and McGraw-Hill Book Company, both of New York, appeared at the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). He presented identification reflecting his affiliation as indicated above, and stated he had been sent to Dallas by the McGraw-Hill Book Company as they were considering publishing a book written by Newman entitled "The Kennedy Case." He stated he would be staying in Dallas for three or four days and could be contacted at Room 20, Dallas Park Motel, Dallas, Texas, telephone DA 1-6478.

Mr. Newman stated that the theme of his book was that Lee Harvey Oswald was a Trotskyite and a follower of Fidel Castro, and that Oswald committed the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy as an act of fanaticism and that he committed this act without any accomplice.

Mr. Newman stated the reason for his desiring an interview with a representative of the FBI was to bring to the FBI's attention certain information which he believed warranted additional investigation. He was advised that any information he desired to furnish would be accepted but that no comment with respect to the President's Commission's report on the assassination would be made.

Mr. Newman made available for review a rough draft copy of Chapter 6 of his forthcoming book. This chapter is captioned "Loose Ends and Unturned Stones." A review of this material reflects that Mr. Newman raises the following points, among others, which he states were not considered by the President's Commission during their investigation:

ENCLOSURE

Re: The President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy

1. What happened to the parcel referred to in the Notice Card of attempt to deliver mail dated November 20, 1963, addressed to Mr. Lee Oswald, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, reflecting a parcel to be picked up?

   According to Newman, this Notice Card is listed in Exhibit No. 2003 as part of Oswald's effects and documents seized by the Dallas Police Department at the residence of Mrs. Ruth Paine.

2. What happened to the Dallas Public Library's copy of the book entitled "The Shark and the Sardines" by Juan Jose Arevalo, which according to a delinquent notice was charged out on November 6, 1963, by Oswald and never returned?

   The delinquent notice is mentioned in Exhibit No. 2642.

3. Newman suggests that there is far more likelihood that Oswald had a confederate of some sort in his attempt on the controversial General Edwin Walker than in the assassination of a popular President and states the attempt on Walker's life deserved more attention by the President's Commission. Newman then sets forth his beliefs compared to what was set forth by the President's Commission.

4. Newman points out that the March 11, 1963 issue of "The Militant" depicted in the photograph of Oswald (exhibit No. 133-A), on page 7, contains in the "Letters from our Readers" column a letter from "L. H.", and that this letter has some connection with Oswald because "L. H." are the first two initials of Oswald. He suggests that the contents of this letter are well beyond the limits of Oswald's ability to write and that Oswald asked a friend to write this letter. He relates that in the five years, beginning January 1, 1959, and ending December 31, 1963, "The Militant" printed at least 15 letters from Dallas, 14 of which were from one person, referred by Newman as "X", and that the 15th letter was the "L. H." letter. Newman identified "X" on July 27, 1966, to a Special Agent of the FBI as Thelma Lucio, and suggested that Oswald had her write the "L..H." letter. He also suggests that the missing book from the Dallas Public Library, "The Shark and the Sardines" may have found its way to Thelma Lucio's book shelf.

"The Militant" is a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

5. Newman pointed out what he calls a conflict in the testimony of George and Jeanne De Mohrenschildt with that of Marina Oswald concerning occurrences on April 13, 1963, at the Oswald apartment on Neely Street, with respect to the rifle.

6. Newman pointed out what he considers a conflict of testimony concerning the circumstances under which Marina Oswald left Lee Harvey Oswald on November 5, 1962, citing statements by George De Mohrenschildt and the testimony of Marina Oswald and Anne Meller.

7. Newman suggests that Lee Harvey Oswald and George De Mohrenschildt agreed in certain areas with respect to their political outlooks and that De Mohrenschildt could very well have been Oswald's accomplice in the attempt on General Walker's life, and that De Mohrenschildt's car could have been used. In this connection, Newman suggests that De Mohrenschildt could have been responsible for the fire death of William Thomas Wolf, 32-year old history professor who lived near De Mohrenschildt in Dallas on Dickens Street, and states that this would have been occasioned by the fact that Wolf may have seen something in connection with De Mohrenschildt's car being used on the night of the attempt on Walker's life.

8. Newman suggests that during the period October 9, 1962 to November 3, 1962, Lee Harvey Oswald could have spent time not accounted for at the residence of Thelma Lucio in Dallas.

The files of the Dallas Office of the FBI reflect that on May 13, 1964, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Thelma Lucio, 2719 Clymer, Dallas, Texas, was a subscriber to "The Militant", a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States, pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On July 23, 1964, a second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, also advised that Thelma Lucio was a subscriber to "The Militant."

On September 10, 1964, a third source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Thelma L. Lucio, and her husband Eusebio Lucio, moved from 2419 Tally Ho Lane, Dallas, to 2719 Clymer, Dallas, about one year ago. This source advised that Eusebio Lucio was a Latin-American male, about 60 years of age, whose only source of income appeared to be a monthly pension check from the Veterans Administration (VA).

On October 27, 1964, records of the VA, Waco, Texas, revealed that Eusebio Lucio served in the U. S. Army from December 14, 1942 to August 3, 1945. He was born March 4, 1908 at Matiguala, Mexico. He is 5'9" tall, weighs 140 pounds, has black hair, brown eyes, and an olive complexion.

On May 25, 1945, while attached to the Headquarters of the Quartermaster General Supply Company, APO 782, Eusebio Lucio was afforded a physical examination at which time the diagnosis was [redacted] The medical report related that Lucio was a Mexican male who had been reared in Dallas as a member of a very poor family.

The VA file contained a letter from Terrell State Hospital, Terrell, Texas, dated July 23, 1945, which related that Eusebio Lucio had been admitted to that hospital on July 12, 1935, and was released to his stepfather June 13, 1936, on furlough, being discharged from that hospital on July 5, 1937, at which time the final diagnosis was [redacted]

Re: The President's Commission
on the Assassination of
President Kennedy

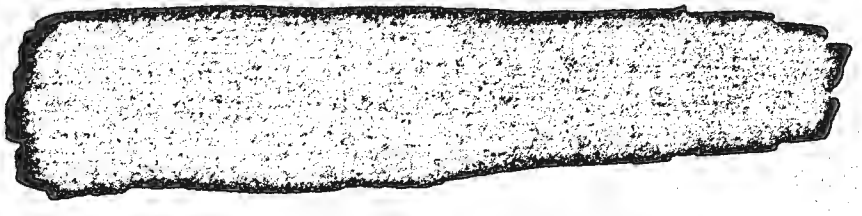
At the time of his discharge from the military service, Eusebio Lucio was awarded 100 per cent disability because of a nervous condition. He served two years in Italy in a non-combatant assignment.

On July 7, 1950, Eusebio Lucio was admitted to the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Fort Worth, Texas, and was thought to have [redacted] He eloped after the termination of a 90-day commitment to that institution. The VA file contained a copy of a judgment in case entitled "Thelma Lucio versus Eusebio Lucio Cause No. 19298-A in the 14th Judicial District of Dallas County," which was entered on March 22, 1948, in which a divorce was granted to Thelma Lucio and her name was restored as Thelma Smith.

A declaration of marital status of Eusebio Lucio, 2419 Tally Ho Lane, Dallas, Texas, dated October 11, 1956, listed his spouse as Thelma Harris Smith, whom he claimed he married on June 1, 1953. In this declaration, Eusebio Lucio related he was previously married to the same woman. This document is evidenced by a copy of a marriage license between Eusebio Lucio and Mrs. Thelma Marcita Smith, issued in Dallas County on June 1, 1953, and filed for record after the ceremony was performed.

Eusebio Lucio and his wife Thelma have been divorced from each other and remarried.

The last diagnosis for Eusebio Lucio was on March 28, 1962, by the VA Hospital in Dallas, Texas, and was as follows:



The current May, 1966, Greater Dallas Telephone Directory lists Eusebio Lucio at 2719 Clymer, Dallas, Texas, telephone number FE 7-1729.

Mr. Newman, at the completion of furnishing the above information, requested to be advised as soon as possible whether investigation would be conducted concerning the points raised by him. He was advised that in the event additional investigation was warranted and was conducted, the results would be made available to the appropriate government officials but that the fact such investigation was or was not conducted, and the results of any investigation conducted, could not and would not be made available to him as a private citizen or as a writer. He stated that it was his desire not to interfere with any investigation which might be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He was advised that any inquiries and interviews he desired to make were strictly his decision to make and that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had no objection whatsoever to any interviews and inquiries he wished to make.

Mr. Newman stated he planned to interview Captain Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, to endeavor to determine what Captain Fritz considered motivated Oswald to commit the assassination and that he possibly would interview other persons, the identities of whom he did not reveal.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Reurairtel August 2, 1966, which had as an enclosure a LHM dated August 2, 1966.

Dallas immediately furnish a LHM suitable for dissemination setting forth the information contained in your LHM dated August 2, 1966, plus the following additional data:

Set forth a brief succinct answer to each of the 8 questions raised by Newman which were set forth in your memorandum on pages 2 to 4. In preparing the letterhead memorandum each answer to the eight questions is to be set forth immediately below the question to which the answer pertains. In other words, following question #1 will be the answer to question #1, following question #2 will be the answer to question #2, etc. For reference material, first refer to the Report of the President's Commission, but if the information needed to prepare the answer to a question is not set forth in that Report, then refer to your files. In each instance wherein you use information obtained from your files, a statement is to be set forth in the letterhead memorandum that this particular data had been furnished to the President's Commission.

NOTE: Albert H. Newman is currently preparing a book for publication to be entitled "The Kennedy Case." In conducting research he contacted the Dallas Office and raised a number of questions regarding the assassination which he felt were not considered by the President's Commission. Newman was advised that in the event additional investigation was warranted the results would be made available to the appropriate Government officials but whether such investigation was or was not conducted, the results would not be made available to him. Dallas furnished a LHM summarizing the interview of Newman and a rough draft copy of Chapter 6 of the book mentioned above. Some of the questions raised by Newman and set forth in the memorandum are left unanswered. Prior to dissemination to other Government agencies it is felt the answers to the questions should be incorporated into the memorandum.

It is anticipated that in the near future all of the physical evidence in the possession of the FBI, most of which is being retained in the Laboratory, will be delivered to the National Archives. Photographs or other copies of this material have been made; however, as in the case of books, pamphlets and other items consisting of several printed pages not bearing any handwriting or other information of value, the photograph is of the outside of the article. The question of the adequacy of these photographs with particular reference as to whether each page of every book, pamphlet, et cetera, should be photographed was discussed with the Investigative Division and Domestic Intelligence Division and we were informed that the photographs we currently had would be sufficient and that it would not be necessary to exhaustively photograph these items.

The Warren Report

THE WARREN Commission report on the assassination of John F. Kennedy may prove to be a best seller, but it is not the model of judicial consistency that so many people have taken it to be.

Most people, we believe, will agree that Jack Ruby acted alone, and that Lee Harvey Oswald likewise was a "loner" in the execution of the crime.

But while the report criticizes the U. S. Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Dallas police, it makes scant mention of the fact that Oswald had such easy sailing through the passport division, although he was an avowed Marxist, had sought to renounce his American citizenship, and was a self-elected pleader for the Castro regime in Cuba.

We still believe it was regrettable that Chief Justice Warren headed the commission, inasmuch as he "shot from the hip" immediately after the assassination in his assumption that the deed was the product of "hate groups"—meaning staunch conservatives—rather than a crackpot of the left.

Further, we believe the commission's free-swinging indictment of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was prejudicial and unfair.

Nobody knows any better that the Chief Justice how far his court has gone in denying society adequate protection from the crimes of individuals. Just last June the court overturned New York law, the good faith action of a judge and the verdict of a jury in setting aside the conviction of a murder suspect who made a confession to police officers and to an assistant district attorney. The Warren court held that, because the suspect had been wounded and had been administered drugs, the confession violated the due-process clause of the Fifth Amendment. This point had been left to the jury to determine, and the jury had held the confession to have been voluntary. Numerous other cases involving felonies and Communist activities have been dealt with in a manner giving the most extreme regard to the rights of the defendants.

The question naturally arises, therefore, what Mr. Warren and his associates would have had the FBI do in the case of Oswald. Until he squeezed the trigger with the President's head in his telescopic sights, Oswald had not committed any crime for which he could be jailed or detained. Nothing in the files of the FBI suggested Oswald was a potential killer. Had Oswald been successful in his prior attempt to kill Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, and had the FBI acted precipitously in that case, his very best hope of escaping punishment would have lain in the U. S. Supreme Court, so particular has it been about rules of evidence, search warrants, admissibility of confessions and the like.

A long list of murderers, rapists and criminals of various types have gone free because of its concern for the rights of an individual to the disregard of the rights of society. Mr. Warren, therefore, makes a poor judge of what law enforcement agencies might or should have done in the Oswald case.

Mark Lane is an attorney who has maintained legal offices in New York City and has received considerable publicity for his criticism of the Warren Commission and its Report. Lane has a long history of affiliation with Communist Party Front groups and records of the office of the District Attorney, Queens County, New York, disclose Lane is a sexual degenerate.

Lane has authored a book entitled "Rush to Judgment," which has just been released by the publishers. Lane claims his book is a critique of the Warren Commission's inquiry into the murders of President John F. Kennedy, Officer J.D. Tippit, and Lee Harvey Oswald.

By airtel 8/19/66 New York Office reported Lane has appeared on two radio programs as a guest. His first appearance was over radio station WNBC of New York, wherein he discussed the Warren Commission Report and stated the FBI was inaccurate in presenting what witnesses told the FBI.

To make his point, Lane cited the case of Nelson Delgado, a former Marine Corps associate of Oswald. Delgado, according to Lane, stated the FBI did not like his statements and tried to get him to alter his statements.

Delgado is a young Puerto Rican who served with Oswald in the United States Marine Corps for a few months early in 1959 at Santa Ana, California. Delgado initially claimed that he was closely acquainted with Oswald, taught Oswald Spanish, discussed with Oswald the latter's plans to go to Cuba, and noted that Oswald was a poor shot with the rifle. Our interviews with Delgado regarding these points disclosed that Delgado was a fabricator and a liar and was greatly exaggerating his slight acquaintanceship with Oswald in order to achieve a position of prominence. We pinned Delgado down and he admitted he hardly knew Oswald and that he had no reason to say Oswald was a bad shot with the rifle since Oswald had qualified. One of our interviewing Agents was highly proficient in the Spanish language and noted that Delgado could hardly speak understandable Spanish himself, let alone teach it to anyone else. In addition, independent inquiries by us through other sources revealed Oswald had no command of the Spanish language.

Lane also appeared on a program on 8/16/66 with two guest panelists, Roy Cohn and Kiernan O'Dougherty, two well-known New York City attorneys. On this program, Lane was critical that he had not had access to the hard physical evidence in the Oswald case and complained that the FBI and other agencies were holding such evidence. He also complained that the FBI had threatened Marina Oswald that she would be deported if she did not cooperate with the FBI following the assassination of President Kennedy.

The hard evidence collected in our investigation of the assassination is in custody of the FBI Laboratory until appropriate disposition of it is made by the Attorney General. This matter is currently under discussion with the Department and it is anticipated in the near future all of the physical evidence will be delivered to the National Archives.

Lane's scurrilous allegation that the FBI had threatened Marina Oswald with deportation should she not cooperate has absolutely no basis in fact. While it is true Marina made such allegation during her testimony before the Warren Commission, such allegations by her were false. The interviewing Agents of Marina immediately following the assassination were SA Wallace W. R. Heitman of the Dallas Office and SA Anatole A. Boguslav, Russian-speaking Agent of the New York Office. Both SA Heitman and SA Boguslav categorically denied the allegation by Marina Oswald.

Immediately following the assassination during our first interviews with Marina Oswald, she was generally uncooperative and told a number of lies to both the FBI and Secret Service. Our Agents recognized her inaccuracies and correctly pressed her for full and accurate information in view of the vital importance of the investigation involving the murder of President Kennedy. As our interviews with Marina progressed and she recognized we would tolerate no foolishness or accept lies from her, she gradually became more cooperative and truthful.

In addition, it is to be noted that immediately following the assassination, Marina Oswald was told by Mr. Fred Harvey, an Immigration and Naturalization Service official, that her immigrant status in this country was legal and that there were no plans to deport her to Russia. Mr. Harvey further advised her that the Immigration Service could assure her residence in the United States and eventual citizenship if she so desired and qualified under law. Mr. Harvey also told Marina that she would be questioned by Federal officials concerning the assassination and it would be expected that she would give truthful answers to questions pertinent to this investigation.

Memorandum Branigan to Sullivan
RE: MARK LANE
100-409763

During this 8/16/66 radio program, Mr. Kiernan O'Dougherty accused Mark Lane of character assassination upon members of the Warren Commission, the Dallas Police Department, the FBI and on all law enforcement officials of the United States.

On the same program, Mr. Roy Cohn accused Lane of misunderstanding the FBI role completely. Cohn stated that he had undergone trial on three occasions and had been acquitted. He stated the FBI had been the investigative agency, had been fair and truthful all the way through and that he had developed more respect for the FBI than he ever had before in his life. He also stated that the FBI investigation of Oswald, which had been gone into by the Warren Commission, clearly demonstrated the link of motive, admission, design, plot, gun, forgery, delivery of the rifle, bullets and the like, resulting in as airtight a case as we have ever had of a murder in the history of this country.

Following this recital, Lane weakly stated that he had not said anything in the book about the FBI but was repeating the quotes of witnesses. He said the FBI is an agency for which he does not have a great deal of respect based upon the way they handled this matter and some other matters.

A detailed analysis is being made at Seat of Government concerning Lane's book "Rush to Judgment" and such data is being set forth by separate memorandum.

On 8/15/66, from 8:06 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. the radio program "Long John Nebel vs-Criticism of the Warren Commission Report", was aired over radio station WNBC in NY and appearing on the show as a guest was MARK LANE. During the course of the evening, in discussing the aforementioned topic, MARK LANE stated that the majority of witnesses before the Warren Commission, when asked about FBI reports given to the Commission, stated that the FBI was inaccurate in presenting what they, the witnesses, had said to the FBI.

In regard to this, LANE cited the example of NELSON DELGADO (PH), whom LANE characterized as a Commission witness, who was with LEE HARVEY OSWALD in the Marine Corps. LANE quoted DELGADO as telling the FBI that OSWALD was a very poor shot and that DELGADO said the "FBI Agents did not like my testimony about this." They did not like "my" statement that OSWALD was a poor shot. LANE said DELGADO went on to swear to the Commission that Agents of the FBI tried to get him to alter his statement and as LANE said, "to suborn perjury, if you will, to take the position that OSWALD was in fact, a better shot than he actually was." LANE stated that this is typical of the witnesses who appeared before the Warren Commission when asked about FBI statements.

When questioned by WBAI, as to whether LANE was accusing the FBI Agents of being dishonest in their method of reporting, LANE replied that he did not believe that Agents of the FBI should be sent to jail for subornation of perjury based on the statements of the witnesses alone, but that the Commission had the responsibility of calling the agents and confronting them with these statements and this the Commission did not do. LANE stated that in view of DELGADO's testimony before the Commission, it shook his confidence in the FBI.

On 8/16/66, MARK LANE appeared on the same program together with guest panelists ROY COHN and KIERNAN O'DOUGHERTY, two well known attorneys in the NYC area. This show took the form of a panel discussion and the topics included LANE's discussion on the unavailability of the hard physical evidence in the OSWALD case; that the FBI and other government agencies are holding this hard physical evidence and will let no one examine it; testimony of firearms identification experts before the Warren Commission; The FBI's inability to find the print on OSWALD's rifle. In regard to this, LANE stated that the print on OSWALD's rifle came from the Dallas Police Identification Bureau; the testimony of MARINA OSWALD regarding the mutilation of the photograph (Commission Exhibit Number 5) after it came into the possession of the FBI and the Warren Commission; testimony of MARINA OSWALD regarding her questioning by the FBI, in that she was threatened by the FBI in essence, with depo. ation, if she did not cooperate with them; a reiteration of the topic subornation of perjury by the agents, previously discussed on 8/15/66, and a reiteration of what DELGADO testified before the Warren Commission.

During the course of the evening, telegrams from listeners were read by WBAI, accusing ROY COHN and O'DOUGHERTY of MC CARTHYISM.

In regard to the above, O'DOUGHERTY said if there is any character assassination on this program it is the character assassination Mr. LANE is making upon the members of the Warren Commission, the Dallas Police Department, the FBI and on all the law enforcement officials of the US.

During the course of the evening, ROY COHN had this to say, "I wonder if the people who really did not have the grievance might be the members of the Warren Commission.....the FBI, the role of which Mr. Lane misunderstands completely. He mentioned my trial three times. I was prosecuted and acquitted. The FBI was the investigative agency. They did not help prosecute me. They assembled evidence and when they were called to the stand, they were right down the middle. They were fair and they were truthful all the way through and in the role of a defendant I developed more respect for the FBI than I have ever had before in my life...We had the assassination of the President. Mr. Oswald, as the evidence painstakingly developed by the FBI, gone into by the seven man Warren Commission, clearly demonstrated the link of motive, admission, design, plot, gun, forgery, delivery of the rifle, bullets, as airtight a case as we have ever had of the murder of President Kennedy, Officer Tibett in the history of the country".

Regarding the FBI, LANE stated that he has not said anything in the book about the FBI; that he has repeated in the book the quotes of the witnesses. He said the FBI is an agency for which he does not have a great deal of respect based upon the way they handled this matter and some other matters.

Verbatim copies of the radio shows of 8/15 and 8/16/66, regarding MARK LANE appears in his file in the NYO in memorandum form.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY (THE COMMISSION)

On July 27, 1966, Mr. Albert H. Newman, 310 East 75th, New York, New York, who identified himself as a correspondent for the "Reporter Magazine" and McGraw-Hill Book Company, both of New York, appeared at the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). He presented identification reflecting his affiliation as indicated above, and stated he had been sent to Dallas by the McGraw-Hill Book Company as they were considering publishing a book written by Newman entitled "The Kennedy Case." He stated he would be staying in Dallas for three or four days and could be contacted at Room 20, Dallas Park Motel, Dallas, Texas, telephone DA 1-6478.

Mr. Newman stated that the theme of his book was that Lee Harvey Oswald was a Trotskyite and a follower of Fidel Castro, and that Oswald committed the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy as an act of fanaticism and that he committed this act without any accomplice.

Mr. Newman stated the reason for his desiring an interview with a representative of the FBI was to bring to the FBI's attention certain information which he believed warranted additional investigation. He was advised that any information he desired to furnish would be accepted but that no comment with respect to the President's Commission report on the assassination would be made.

Mr. Newman made available for review a rough draft copy of Chapter 6 of his forthcoming book. This chapter is captioned "Loose Ends and Unturned Stones." A review of this material reflects that Mr. Newman raises the following points, among others, which he states were not considered by the President's Commission during their investigation:

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI.. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency. It and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON
THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
KENNEDY (THE COMMISSION)

1. What happened to the parcel referred to in the Notice Card of attempt to deliver mail dated November 20, 1963, addressed to Mr. Lee Oswald, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, reflecting a parcel to be picked up?

   According to Newman, this Notice Card is listed in Exhibit Number 2003 as part of Oswald's effects and documents seized by the Dallas Police Department at the residence of Mrs. Ruth Paine.

The Notice of Attempt to Deliver Mail Card dated November 20, 1963, to Lee Oswald, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas,--a parcel to be picked up, referred to by Mr. Newman above, is reflected as the 14th item of page 295, of the Dallas/Department Exhibit (Commission's Exhibit Number 2003), same appearing on page 348, Volume XXIV, of the report of The Commission's hearings.

On February 20, 1964, Mr. Roy F. Armstrong advised he is a postal inspector at the U. S. Post Office in Dallas, Texas; and he determined through contact with individuals at Irving, Texas, and Fort Worth, Texas, that a package for which an "attempt to deliver mail" notice dated November 20, 1963, addressed to Lee Oswald, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, and instructing Oswald to call at the Irving Post Office for a parcel on which 12 cents' postage was due, had been delivered to Mrs. Marina Oswald on November 21 or 22, 1963. He added this package had been determined to be a newspaper or magazine, other identity unknown.

On interview July 31, 1964, Mrs. Ruth Paine, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, stated that about a week following the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, she became aware that Lee Harvey Oswald had read "The Militant" since one issue of "The Militant" had been addressed to him at 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas. She said she does not know the date of this issue of "The Militant" since she did not take it out of its wrapper. She stated that Oswald had one issue of "The Worker" addressed to him at 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, and one copy of a Russian newspaper. She said she does not know the date appearing on any of these newspapers since she did not open the jackets. She said that the one issue of "The Worker" and the copy of a Russian newspaper arrived, addressed to Oswald at 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, sometime during the approximate period November 12, 1963, to November 29, 1963; but she did not know the exact date each arrived. She said she destroyed all three of the above described items sometime within a week or so after the assassination, and she further advised that Marina Oswald did not see any of these items.

"The Militant" is a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

"The Worker" is an East Coast communist newspaper.

On interview February 25, 1964, Marina Oswald was questioned concerning a notice of the Irving, Texas, Post Office of "attempt to deliver mail" which was dated November 20, 1963, and concerned a parcel addressed to Lee Oswald, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, on which was due 12 cents' postage. Marina advised she recalls that a parcel had been delivered by the postman at the Paine residence on or about November 20, 1963, on which 12 cents' postage was due. She paid the postage and accepted the parcel. The parcel contained, she believes, a magazine. She thinks this magazine was one to which they subscribed. This magazine is "Ogenk", a weekly Russian news-type magazine.

Information furnished by Inspector Roy Armstrong, Mrs. Ruth Paine, and Marina Oswald was furnished to The Commission.

2. What happened to the Dallas Public Libray's copy of the book entitled "The Shark and the Sardines" by Juan Jose Arevalo, which according to a delinquent notice was charged out on November 6 , 1963, by Oswald and never returned?

The delinquent notice is mentioned in Exhibit Number 2642.

It is pointed out The Commission's Exhibit Number 2642 as contained on page 901, Volume XXV, of the hearings is the report of interview with Mrs. Lillian Bradshaw, Director, Dallas Public Library, 1954 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas. During the interview, Mrs. Bradshaw made available two copies of a Dallas Public Library delinquency notice which reflects Lee Harvey Oswald, 602 Esbeth, Dallas, was delinquent on a book entitled "The Shark and the Sardines", by Juan Jose Arevalo. The book was due November 13, 1963; and according to Mrs. Bradshaw, it would have been charged out on November 6, 1963. The delinquency notice was never mailed. According to library records, the book had not been returned.

Mrs. Bradshaw indicated her records contained no other delinquency for Oswald.

A review of the lists of property taken from 1026 North Beckley, residence of Lee Harvey Oswald as of November, 1963, and property taken from Ruth Paine's house, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, residence of Marina (Mrs. Lee Harvey) Oswald as of November, 1963, by officers of the Dallas Police Department failed to reflect instant book was recovered. (See The Commission's Exhibit Number 2003, pages 349 and 350, Volume XXIV, of the report of The Commission's hearings.)

On interview, November 25, 1963, Mrs. Earlene Roberts, 1026 North Beckley Street, Dallas, Texas, advised she was employed as a housekeeper at this address; and due to this employment and to the fact she resides on the premises, she has had occasion to be acquainted with Lee Harvey Oswald, a roomer who had been there since October 14, 1963. During the interview, Mrs. Roberts stated she never saw a gun of any type in Oswald's room nor does she recall seeing any books.

The results of the interview with Mrs. Earlene Roberts was furnished to The Commission.

3. Newman suggests that there is far more likelihood that Oswald had a confederate of some sort in his attempt on the controversial General Edwin Walker than in the assassination of a popular President and states the attempt on Walker's life deserved more attention by the President's Commission. Newman then sets forth his beliefs compared to what was set forth by the President's Commission.

A review of The Commission's report and hearings reflects numerous witnesses were heard regarding the attempt on the life of Major General Edwin A. Walker (resigned U. S. Army) and pertinent exhibits considered in this regard. The Commission's conclusion in this regard is contained on page 187 of the report and reads as follows:

"Based on (1) the contents of the note which Oswald left for his wife on April 10, 1963, (2) the photographs found among Oswald's possessions, (3) the testimony of firearms identification experts, and (4) the testimony of Marina Oswald, the Commission has concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald attempted to take the life of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker (Resigned, U.S. Army) on April 10, 1963. The finding that Lee Harvey Oswald attempted to murder a public figure in April 1963 was considered of probative value in this investigation, although the Commission's conclusion concerning the identity of the assassin was based on evidence independent of the finding that Oswald attempted to kill General Walker."

4. Newman points out that the March 11, 1963, issue of "The Militant" depicted in the photograph of Oswald (Exhibit Number 133-A), on page 7, contains in the "Letters from out Readers" column a letter from "L. H.", and that this letter has some connection with Oswald because "L. H." are the first two initials of Oswald. He suggests that the contents of this letter are well beyond the limits of Oswald's ability to write and that Oswald asked a friend to write this letter. He relates that in the five years, beginning January 1, 1959, and ending December 31, 1963, "The Militant" printed at least 15 letters from Dallas, 14 of which were from one person, referred to by Newman as "X", and that the 15th letter was the "L. H." letter. Newman identified "X" on July 27, 1966, to a Special Agent of the FBI as Thelma Lucio, and suggested that Oswald had her write the "L. H." letter. He also suggests that the missing book from the Dallas Public Library, "The Shark and the Sardines" may have found its way to Thelma Lucio's book shelf.

In this regard, Mr. Newman telephonically contacted a Special Agent of the Dallas Office of the FBI, on August 11, 1966, and stated that with respect to the information he had furnished on July 27, 1966, he had made inquiries and had determined that Mrs. Thelma Lucio "is absolutely clean", and had no connection whatsoever with Lee Harvey Oswald or the assassination.

5. Newman pointed out what he calls a conflict in the testimony of George and Jeanne De Mohrenschildt with that of Marina Oswald concerning occurrences on April 13, 1963, at the Oswald apartment on Neely Street, with respect to the rifle.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON
THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
KENNEDY (THE COMMISSION)

The Commission's report, pages 248 and 249, Volume IX, reflect that George De Mohrenschildt testified that he and his wife visited the Oswalds at their residence on Neely Street in Dallas, Texas, on or about Easter Sunday, 1963. While there, his wife, who was with Marina Oswald in another room, called to him, saying, "Look George, they have a gun here", "and Marina opened the closet and showed it to Jeanne (De Mohrenschildt), a gun that belonged obviously to Oswald." De Mohrenschildt stated that he did not personally see the gun.

On page 315 of Volume IX, it is reflected that Mrs. Jeanne De Mohrenschildt substantiated the first part of her husband's testimony and further advised that while Mrs. Marina Oswald was showing her their apartment, she opened a closet, and Mrs. De Mohrenschildt observed a rifle standing on its butt and against the wall in the closet. The rifle appeared very much like the rifle which was The Commission's Exhibit Number 139. Mrs. De Mohrenschildt further stated that she told her husband about the rifle when she returned to the room where he and Lee Harvey Oswald were talking.

On page 13 and 14 of Volume I, Mrs. Marina Oswald testified that while they were living on Neely Street in Dallas, the above mentioned rifle was always in her husband's room located out in the open. It was not in a closet and it was either in a corner or standing up in a corner on a shelf. She advised that she did not remember showing DeMohrenschildt the rifle, although she knew he had said that the rifle had been shown to him.

On page 32 of Volume I, Mrs. Marina Oswald, in reply to questioning regarding the rifle, admitted that she may have said something to De Mohrenschildt about the rifle, something similar to "Look what my crazy one has done? Bought a rifle."

6. Newman pointed out what he considers a conflict of testimony concerning the circumstances under which Marina Oswald left Lee Harvey Oswald on November 5, 1962, citing statements by George De Mohrenschildt and the testimony of Marina Oswald and Anna Meller.

The Commission's report on page 232 of Volume IX reflects that George De Mohrenschildt testified that he could not recall what actually made him take Marina Oswald from her husband. He stated he could not remember whether she called them and asked them to take her away or whether George Bouhe (an acquaintance of the Oswalds and the De Mohrenschildts) suggested it.

De Mohrenschildt advised The Commission that on a Sunday they drove to the Oswalds' residence early in the morning and told Oswald that they were going to take Marina Oswald and her baby away from him and take them to Mr. and Mrs. Meller's (acquaintances of the Oswalds and the De Mohrenschildts). De Mohrenschildt stated he belived George Bouhe had made previous arrangements with the Mellers regarding Marina Oswald staying with them. De Mohrenschildt stated that Lee Harvey Oswald became quite upset regarding this; however, he was calmed by his wife and assisted them in taking Marina Oswald's clothing and personal items to their car. He stated they then drove Marina and her baby to the Meller's residence on the other part of town in Lakeside.

On page 310 of Volume IX is shown that Mrs. Jeanne De Mohrenschildt substantiated the testimony of her husband and the manner in which they took Mrs. Marina Oswald and her child from the Oswald residence to the home of Anna Meller.

On pages 11 and 34 of Volume I, Mrs. Marina Oswald testified that while she and her husband were residing on Elsbeth Street, Dallas, she had an argument with Lee Harvey Oswald, and she took her daughter, June, to Anna Meller's residence where she stayed for approximately one week.

Mrs. Oswald stated that she called Mrs. Meller, and she told her to take a cab and she could stay with her.

On page 416 of Volume V, when one of the members of The Commission inquired of Mrs. Marina Oswald if Mr. George De Mohrenschildt took her to the Mellers, she replied in the negative, stating, "No; we had a quarrel, and I took the child and took a taxi and went by myself there."

On page 386 of Volume VIII, Anna Meller testified that in November on a Monday, about 10:00 in the evening, Mrs. Marina Oswald called her and told her that her husband had beaten her and she was calling from a filling station. She asked Mrs. Meller if she could come over to her house. After discussing the request with her husband, she told her to come to her house and to take a cab, and the Mellers would pay the way. She advised that about 10:40 or 11:00 PM, Mrs. Oswald arrived at their house with only a few personal items and no money.

On page 365 of Volume VIII, George A. Bouhe testified that Mrs. Marina Oswald ran away from her husband in the middle of November. After leaving the house, she called Mrs. Anna Meller from a gas station at 11:00 that night, stating, "He is beating me up and here I am with the baby and no diaper and no nothing, and so on, what can I do?" Bohue stated that Mrs. Marina Oswald went to the Meller's residence and stayed there for about a week.

7. Newman suggests that Lee Harvey Oswald and George De Mohrenschildt agreed in certain areas with respect to their political outlooks and that De Mohrenschildt could very well have been Oswald's accomplice in the attempt on General Walker's life, and that De Mohrenschildt's car could have been used. In this connection, Newman suggests that De Mohrenschildt could have been responsible for the fire death of William Thomas Wolf, 32-year old history professor who lived near De Mohrenschildt in Dallas on Dickens Street, and states that this would have been occasioned by the fact that Wolf may have seen something in connection with De Mohrenschildt's car being used on the night of the attempt on Walker's life.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
KENNEDY (THE COMMISSION)

On August 11, 1966, Mr. Albert H. Newman, 310 East 75th Street, New York, New York, who identified himself as a correspondent for the "Reporter Magazine" and McGraw-Hill Book Company, both of New York, telephonically contacted a Special Agent of the FBI at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Newman advised that he had checked into the death of Professor William Thomas Wolf, previously mentioned by Mr. Newman, and that he had determined that this death was definitely accidental, and therefore neither Lee Harvey Oswald nor George De Mohrenschildt, had any connection with such death.

8. Newman suggests that during the period October 9, 1962, to November 3, 1962, Lee Harvey Oswald could have spent time not accounted for at the residence of Thelma Lucio in Dallas.

In this regard, it is noted that on August 11, 1966, Mr. Newman called the Dallas Office to report he had made inquiries and had determined that Mrs. Thelma Lucio is "absolutely clean" and had no connection whatsoever with Lee Harvey Oswald or the assassination.

The files of the Dallas Office of the FBI reflect that on May 13, 1964, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Thelma Lucio, 2719 Clymer, Dallas, Texas, was a subscriber to "The Militant", a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States, pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On July 23, 1964, a second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, also advised that Thelma Lucio was a subscriber to "The Militant."

On September 10, 1964, a third source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Thelma L. Lucio, and her husband, Eusebio Lucio, moved from 2419 Tally Ho Lane, Dallas, to 2719 Clymer, Dallas, about one year ago. This source advised that Eusebio Lucio was a Latin-American male, about 60 years of age, whose only source of income appeared to be a monthly pension check from the Veterans Administration (VA).

On October 27, 1964, records of the VA, Waco, Texas, revealed that Eusebio Lucio served in the U. S. Army from December 14, 1942, to August 3, 1945. He was born March 4, 1908, at Matiguala, Mexico. He is 5'9" tall, weighs 140 pounds, has black hair, brown eyes, and an olive complexion.

On May 25, 1945, while attached to the Headquarters of the Quartermaster General Supply Company, APO 782, Eusebio Lucio was afforded a physical examination at which time the diagnosis was [redacted] The medical report related that Lucio was a Mexican male who had been reared in Dallas as a member of a very poor family.

The VA file contained a letter from Terrell State Hospital, Terrell, Texas, dated July 23, 1945, which related that Eusebio Lucio had been admitted to that hospital on July 12, 1935, and was released to his stepfather June 13, 1936, on furlough, being discharged from that hospital on July 5, 1937, at which time the final diagnosis was [redacted]

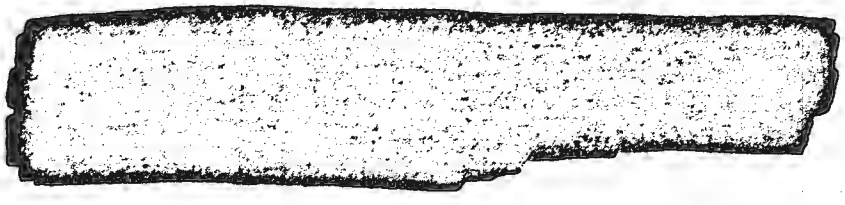
At the time of his discharge from the military service, Eusebio Lucio was awarded 100 per cent disability because of a nervous condition. He served two years in Italy in a non-combatant assignment.

On July 7, 1950, Eusebio Lucio was admitted to the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Fort Worth, Texas, and was thought to have [redacted] He eloped after the termination of a 90-day commitment to that institution. The VA file contained a copy of a judgment in case entitled "Thelma Lucio versus Eusebio Lucio Cause No. 19298-A in the 14th Judicial District of Dallas County," which was entered on March 22, 1948, in which a divorce was granted to Thelma Lucio and her name was restored as Thelma Smith.

A declaration of marital status of Eusebio Lucio, 2419 Tally Ho Lane, Dallas, Texas, dated October 11, 1956, listed his spouse as Thelma Harris Smith, whom he claimed he married on June 1, 1953. In this declaration, Eusebio Lucio related he was previously married to the same woman. This document is evidenced by a copy of a marriage license between Eusebio Lucio and Mrs. Thelma Marcita Smith, issued in Dallas County on June 1, 1953, and filed for record after the ceremony was performed.

Eusebio Lucio and his wife Thelma have been divorced from each other and remarried.

The last diagnosis for Eusebio Lucio was on March 28, 1962, by the VA Hospital in Dallas, Texas, and was as follows:



The current May, 1966, Greater Dallas Telephone Directory lists Eusebio Lucio at 2719 Clymer, Dallas, Texas, telephone number FE 7-1729.

Mr. Newman, at the completion of furnishing the above information, requested to be advised as soon as possible whether investigation would be conducted concerning the points raised by him. He was advised that in the event additional investigation was warranted and was conducted, the results would be made available to the appropriate government officials but that the fact such investigation was or was not conducted, and the results of any investigation conducted, could not and would not be made available to him as a private citizen or as a writer. He stated that it was his desire not to interfere with any investigation which might be conducted by the FBI. He was advised that any inquiries and interviews he desired to make were strictly his decision to make and that the FBI had no objection whatsoever to any interviews and inquiries he wished to make.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY (THE COMMISSION)

Mr. Newman stated he planned to interview Captain Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, to endeavor to determine what Captain Fritz considered motivated Oswald to commit the assassination and that he possibly would interview other persons, the identities of whom he did not reveal.

For the information of New York, the Dallas Office recently requested the Bureau to furnish a copy of the "Marr index" compiled by Sylvia Marr, published by the Scarecrow Press, New York, relating to exhibits contained in The President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy Report.

The Bureau does not have this index available. New York is instructed to determine the exact nature of this index and purchase price. Thereafter, the Bureau is to be advised so that a determination can be made as to whether this index will be purchased.

Based on the information furnished, there is no identifiable data in Bureau files concerning Sylvia Marr.

NOTE: In connection with referenced communications the Dallas Division enclosed an LHM concerning Penn Jones, Jr., Editor, "Midlothian Mirror," Midlothian, Texas, who appeared on a radio program over radio station KRLD, Dallas, Texas, on 8-4-66. In essence Jones commented on various aspects of the assassination and was promoting a book he was writing. He referred to an index relating to the testimony and exhibits on the assassination which was prepared by Sylvia Marr and published by the Scarecrow Press, New York. In connection with an LHM prepared by Dallas which entailed considerable research, the Dallas Office requested the Bureau to furnish a copy of the "Marr index" for future use in conducting research regarding this matter. The Bureau does not have a copy of the index and is unaware of its contents or cost. New York is instructed to determine what the Marr index is, and the cost, so a determination can be made whether it should be purchased and utilized.

This is in response to your inquiries concerning the disposition of certain Warren Commission evidence and exhibits which are in the custody of the Bureau.

Except for the rifle and pistol which are now the subject of litigation in the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit (John J. King v. United States of America, decided July 29, 1966), you are hereby authorized to transfer to the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration all evidence and exhibits involved in the investigation conducted by the Warren Commission.

This transfer does not constitute an action under Public Law 89-318 to vest title to these items in the United States, but is merely an administrative action designed to place all Warren Commission material under the jurisdiction of the General Services Administration. Action to vest title to appropriate items in the United States pursuant to Public Law 89-318 will be taken before the expiration date fixed by that Act.

When the litigation concerning the rifle and pistol has terminated or when title to those items is vested pursuant to Public Law 89-318, you are authorized to transfer those items to the General Services Administration.

SUBJECT: WARREN COMMISSION MATTERS
TRANSFER OF WARREN COMMISSION EVIDENCE AND EXHIBITS TO THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE

PURPOSE:

To advise that by letter dated August 19, 1966, Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach authorized the Bureau to transfer to the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration all evidence and exhibits in our possession relating to the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy. Since the evidence and exhibits are maintained by the Laboratory, the Laboratory Division should arrange to make the appropriate transfer as soon as possible.

BACKGROUND:

The Bureau has previously gone on record with the Department advising we wish to relinquish evidence and exhibits in our possession relating to the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy as soon as possible. As a result, Assistant Attorney General Frank M. Wozencraft, Office of Legal Counsel, held a special meeting on August 17, 1966, which was attended by Mr. Malley of the General Investigative Division and Mr. Frazier of the Laboratory Division.

During the course of this meeting, it was concluded that the various exhibits temporarily held by the FBI were to be turned over to the National Archives. Further, it was decided a letter from the Attorney General authorizing such transfer would be furnished to the Bureau. This communication has now been received.

A letter dated August 19, 1966, signed by the Attorney General, authorized the Bureau to transfer to the "National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration all evidence and exhibits involved in the investigation conducted by the Warren Commission" except the rifle and pistol which are now the subject of litigation in the United States Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit. In connection with the rifle and pistol, they are currently in possession of our Dallas Office as previously requested by the Department. The Attorney General has indicated that when this litigation is completed, we are authorized to transfer the rifle and pistol to the National Archives.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

It is recommended that the following action be taken by the Laboratory:

(1) The Laboratory should arrange for the delivery to the National Archives evidence relating to the assassination of President Kennedy currently in Bureau's possession. Upon delivery, each item of evidence and/or exhibit should be properly receipted by a duly authorized representative of the National Archives.

(2) After delivery, a letter should be furnished to the Attorney General indicating that in accordance with his letter of August 19, 1966, the transfer of exhibits and evidence has been completed with the exception of the assassination rifle and the pistol.

ACTION:

If approved, the above action should be initiated immediately.

FROM : Mr. Griffith

SUBJECT: President's Commission on Assassination of the President Exhibits being retained by Bureau

Subsequent to the publication of the Warren Commission's Report in September 1964 the Bureau continued to receive from time to time occasional material purporting to relate to the assassination matter. For the most part these items consist of letters setting out theories or views on the assassination. Representative examples of such items, received by the Bureau and still in the possession of the Bureau, are listed as follows:

1. Four letters to Mrs. Oswald
2. Letter to Dallas Times Herald
3. Western Union blank form containing printed name "Lee H. Oswall"
4. Letter to FBI, Dallas
5. Two photographs and one letter bearing Russian writing

The Bureau has received authorization from the [illegible] to turn over to Archives all material involved in the C[illegible] investigation, and the Laboratory has been instructed to [illegible] necessary arrangements for the transfer. Since the above [illegible] material was received subsequent to the Commission's re[illegible] is presumed that it should not be included in the materi[illegible] be turned over to Archives.

ADDENDUM DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION 8/30/66 REL:kas

Domestic Intelligence Division concurs with the recommendation that material received by the Bureau regarding the assassination following the publication of the Warren Commission's Report on 9/24/64 not be turned over to National Archives. Such material was not considered by the Warren Commission in its publication of its Report and consequently was not included in its back-up data for the report. We have found none of the material received after the publication of the report to be of evidential value in our over-all investigation of the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy. It is noted that all of the data being received by the Bureau since the publication of the Warren Commission Report will continue to be maintained in Bureau files and will be available at some future date should the need arise.

In response to a written request of Assistant Attorney General Frank M. Wozencraft, Office of Legal Counsel, Messrs. Malley of the General Investigative Division and Frazier of the Laboratory attended a conference in his office today at 2 p. m. Present at this conference were Mr. Wozencraft, Harold F. Reis, Executive Assistant, Office of the Attorney General, representatives from the Criminal Division and Civil Division, as well as a number of representatives from Archives.

The discussion centered on disclosing as much information as possible at the earliest date consistent with good judgment. The Justice Department obviously was attempting to transfer full responsibility for disclosure of anything to Archives and Archives in turn was passing the responsibility immediately back to Justice. Tentative arrangements were made that any specific problems that arose relative to disclosure would be settled by Archives and the Justice Department.

Comment was made concerning the classified material and a specific comment was made by Attorney Dave Slawson, now in the Office of Legal Counsel and one of the attorneys who worked with the Warren Commission, to the effect that the Bureau had considerable classified material which had not been made available for disclosure. It was immediately pointed out to those present that 80% of the Bureau's reports and other material had been made available for disclosure and that of the classified material, the Bureau had, in many instances, received the material from other Government agencies and these agencies had refused to have this material declassified. Dr. Robert Bahmer, Archivist, was outspoken in his comments concerning the fact that the FBI had made a real effort to make available for disclosure as much information in our possession as was possible. He also commented that all classified material and any other material that had not been made available for public disclosure would necessarily have to be reviewed in 1970. It is noted that the Attorney General in July, 1965, requested a complete review of all material relating to the Kennedy assassination and set forth guidelines to be followed in making the review. The stated purpose for this review was the public disclosure to the fullest extent possible of all material consistent with the national security, sound public administration, and the rights of individual privacy. The Attorney General commented that the White House was determined that disclosure be made consistent with the above guidelines.

Concerning the exhibits now being held temporarily by the FBI, there was no objection on the part of those present for the exhibits to be turned over to Archives. Following the general meeting, arrangements were worked out with Charles F. Simms, Office of Legal Counsel, whereby a letter would be directed from the Attorney General's Office authorizing the FBI to transfer all the exhibits in possession of the FBI to Archives.

Mr. Simms indicated he would try to get this letter to the Bureau in the near future, following which any arrangements the Bureau desired to make with Archives for the physical transfer would be satisfactory with the Department.

ACTION:

1. Upon receipt of the letter from the Attorney General authorizing the transfer of the exhibits, immediate action will be taken to effect the physical transfer of such exhibits.

2. If the aforementioned letter is not received by September 1, 1966, this matter will be followed with the Office of Legal Counsel.

ANOTHER CHALLENGE FOR WARREN'S COMMISSION

The publication this week of The Second Oswald (Avon Library; 95 cents), by Richard H. Popkin, marks the appearance of the fifth book within six months to attack the Warren Commission's report on the assassination of President Kennedy. The impact of its four predecessors--by Harold Weisberg, Edward Epstein, Mark Lane and Leo Sauvage--has been remarkable: reviewers from the New Republic on the left to the National Review on the right have called for some form of "commission to investigate the Warren Commission." Columnist Murray Kempton, in a foreword to Popkin's book, gives this explanation: "Once persuaded that the commission's standards for the witnesses it accepted were fatally defective, we have no alternative in conscience except to begin to hear out those witnesses it rejected." Popkin's book reviews much of the material of other critics, but it also presents a fully developed alternative theory--that there was a second assassin who looked like Oswald, was a crack shot and was with Oswald in the book depository building--and it contains the Sibert-O'Neill FBI autopsy report, dated Nov. 26, 1963, that appears to contradict the Warren Commission's explanation of what happened to the first bullet to hit the President.

RE : THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Enclosed are 10 copies of an LHM concerning the appearance of MARK LANE on KRLD Radio program "Comment" on 9/6/66 in connection with his book "Rush To Judgment" concerning the assassination of President Kennedy. Two copies of the LHM are furnished the New York Office for its file on MARK LANE. Two copies of the enclosed LHM have been designated for the Bureau's file on MARK LANE.

It should be noted that MARK LANE's appearance was obviously an effort to advertise the sale of his book "Rush To Judgment." It is further noted that although his appearance lasted approximately two hours on the radio program and he broadcasted the fact that he would be available at the Statler-Hilton Hotel for two days subsequent to the program in the event anyone desired to contact him with respect to the assassination, not a single complaint call was received by the Dallas Office concerning his appearance or the statements made by him on the program.

A summary of the major point made by LANE is reflected in the enclosed LHM for the Bureau's information and possible dissemination, and no further inquiry being made, UACB.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

On September 6, 1966, Mark Lane, author of the book "Rush To Judgment", concerning the assassination of President Kennedy, appeared on KLIF Radio, Dallas, Texas, on the program called "Comment."

On September 9, 1966, the tapes of the program "Comment" on KLIF Radio, Dallas, Texas, of September 6, 1966, were reviewed by a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).

Mark Lane's appearance on this program consisted of his being interviewed by commentators Wes Wise and Dick Wheeler, followed by a question and answer period whereby listeners were permitted to telephonically contact Mark Lane while on the air.

During the entire approximately two-hour program, Mark Lane dwelled on his criticisms of the President's Commission's investigation into the assassination. His major point throughout was to the effect that there was "overwhelming evidence" that at least one shot was fired from behind a wooden fence on the west side of the Texas School Book Depository. He endeavored to substantiate this theory by referring to the wound in the President's throat, claiming this was an entrance wound and therefore had to come from the area behind the wooden fence. He also claimed that there were numerous witnesses, identifying some of them as Union Terminal Company employees, who viewed a puff of smoke behind the wooden fence at the time of the shooting.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency. It and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

Re: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Many callers questioned Lane's statements and as a result Lane and the callers engaged in heated argument. Lane stated at the conclusion of the program that he would be at the Statler-Hilton Hotel for two days in the event any additional witnesses to the assassination desired to come forward and be interviewed by him. He claimed that numerous witnesses were not interviewed during the course of the investigation. Lane also stated that he hoped his book "Rush To Judgment" was available at all book stores in Dallas, Texas.

SUBJECT: WARREN COMMISSION MATTERS

With reference to captioned matter, Mr. Charles Simms, Office of Legal Counsel, Department of Justice, called and inquired whether information was available to the Bureau as to what items of evidence utilized by the Warren Commission might be in the possession of the Dallas Police Department. Mr. Simms commented that as an example, he was aware of the fact that the clothing worn by Lee Harvey Oswald at the time he was shot and killed by Jack Ruby had been brought to Washington and utilized in connection with testimony taken by the Warren Commission. He stated he understood this clothing had been returned to the Dallas Police Department. Mr. Simms expressed concern as to how many other items might be in the possession of the Dallas Police Department and inquired as to whether or not the Bureau could make a check relative to such items.

In conversation Simms was somewhat vague as to exactly what his request was; however, he did state he was anxious to make certain that the Justice Department, in turning over information relating to the assassination of President Kennedy, was not placed in a position where any pertinent material was being withheld from National Archives.

In this connection it is noted a memorandum was received from the Attorney General dated August 19, 1966, authorizing all evidence and exhibits in the Bureau's possession be turned over to National Archives. The Bureau is in the process of complying with this request at the present time.

REC 16 - 502

With reference to the vague request of Simms, it is noted that various members of the Dallas Police Department, representatives of CIA, the State Department, and the Secret Service, and possibly other agencies, testified before the Warren Commission relative to various matters and this Bureau would not necessarily be in possession of the material concerning which they testified, nor have knowledge of any exhibits which these agencies might have contributed to the Commission or retained in their possession.

In view of the existing situation, Mr. Simms in the Office of Legal Counsel was requested to direct a memorandum to the Bureau outlining the exact nature of his request in order that there would be no possible misunderstanding of what he desires.

ACTION:

Upon receipt of the written request from the Department, it will be carefully examined and appropriate recommendations will be made at that time.

SUBJECT: "RUSH TO JUDGMENT"
THE CRITIQUE OF THE
WARREN COMMISSION
WRITTEN BY MARK LANE

SYNOPSIS

AUTHOR - MARK LANE:

Mark Lane is an attorney who has received considerable publicity for his criticism of the Warren Commission and its report. He has a long history of affiliation with Communist Party Front groups and records of the Office of the District Attorney, Queens County, New York, disclose Lane is a [redacted] Lane formerly represented Marguerite Oswald, mother of Lee Harvey Oswald. Lane's book, "Rush to Judgment," has been released and Lane claims his book is a critique of the Warren Commission's inquiry into the murders of President John F. Kennedy, Officer J. D. Tippit, and Lee Harvey Oswald.

REVIEW OF BOOK:

Lane's book has been reviewed and the first reaction received is, in fact, it is a defense brief. It has been found to be a disturbing and cleverly contrived piece of literature designed to discredit the President's Commission. It comprises 478 pages, including appendices and is divided into four parts.

The introduction is written by Hugh Trevor-Roper who contended the Commission's power was limited, which was understandable, however, it was particularly serious because by the time the Commission effectively took over from the FBI, the FBI had already reached its conclusions that Oswald shot the President and that Oswald was not connected with any conspiracy.

He indicated criticism should take place before judgment and that if the Warren Commission had allowed Mark Lane to contest their evidence before judgment, there would have been no need of his book. He stated that he believed, along with Mark Lane, that their examination was defective and their arguments unsound: defective because they overlooked inconvenient evidence; unsound because they applied different standards to the evidence which they accepted. Trevor-Roper said the report of the Warren Commission is an "advocate's summing-up," however, before judgment can be given, the advocate of the other side must also be heard. According to Trevor-Roper, this advocate is Mark Lane and refers to Mark Lane's book as a brief.

Lane's approach has been an attempt to discredit witnesses, results of the examination of evidence, that the Commission bypassed relevant testimony, and was insensitive to destruction of hard evidence. He has attempted cleverly to lead the reader to believe the shots which killed the President came from a location other than the Texas school book depository and that there were more than three shots involved. His sly approach in trying to reach his objective can easily lead the reader to believe there is very little credible evidence to show Lee Harvey Oswald killed President Kennedy. He has attempted to show the possibility existed there was an association between Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack L. Ruby, which we have clearly established there was not.

Throughout the book, Lane is attempting to establish the idea others were involved in the planning of the assassination. For example, Lane said, "A substantial body of evidence, some of it well corroborated, suggests that Lee Harvey Oswald was involved with others in planning the assassination-or others deliberately planned to draw attention to Oswald as the prospective assassin prior to November 22."

In some instances, Lane has alleged the FBI was confused in its investigation and by implication, although not directly, questions the accuracy of our reports which he refers to continually throughout the book as hearsay. In each instance, Lane's allegations are completely false.

ACKNOWLEDGED ASSOCIATES:

It is significant to note Lane has acknowledged in his book several individuals who encouraged and assisted him; namely, Bertrand Russell of England, who in the past has been a severe critic of the Bureau and has been an advocate of pacificism, world socialism, free love and believes that the consummation of human desires during life is the only happiness worth seeking. Also, Professor Arnold Toynbee of England, who was associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations, (IPR). According to a report on the IPR issued by the Senate Sub-committee on Internal Security in July, 1952, it stated among other things the IPR was considered by the American Communist Party and by Soviet officials as an instrument of communist policy, propaganda and military intelligence which disseminated information originating from Soviet and communist sources. Also, Professor Hugh Trevor-Roper who wrote the introduction to Mark Lane's book was another individual recognized. Although Trevor-Roper has never been investigated, public source material published in England revealed he was a severe critic of the findings of the President's Commission. He was taken to task by close associates for his reasoning which was "marred by bias and blotted with inaccuracies."

Lane also acknowledged "amateur investigators" among whom was Mrs. Shirley Martin of Hominy, Oklahoma. During the course of investigation, we had numerous communications from her which were furnished to the Warren Commission regarding her alleged findings. She was the subject of an SAC Letter to all field offices indicating she was endeavoring to embarrass the FBI.

CONCLUSION:

Lane, with his deception, has created a masterpiece of doubt and criticism of the Warren Commission which will cause controversy concerning the assassination of President Kennedy for years to come. To those who will take time to closely analyze Lane's book, it will, after a period of time, become clear that he has been biased, and in many instances, dishonest. However, with all his allegations, his greatest failure is that he has not proven that an individual other than Lee Harvey Oswald was responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy or that a conspiracy was involved.

DETAILS:

Mark Lane is an attorney who formerly represented Marguerite Oswald, mother of Lee Harvey Oswald. He is on the Reserve Index and during the time he was preparing his book, "Rush to Judgment," he did reside in England. Our files reveal that during 1962, [redacted]

During the period of time Mark Lane was preparing his book, "Rush to Judgment," he resided in England. It was during this time that he associated with numerous individuals among whom, specifically, were three individuals who he has acknowledged in his book as persons who encouraged and assisted him.

Bertrand Russell, a so-called philosopher, atheist, educator, author, pacifist and an advocate of free love who believes that the consummation of human desires during life is the only happiness worth seeking, is one of the individuals. In the past, he has been a severe critic of the Bureau and its work and also criticized the FBI for alleged "frame-up" practices. Another individual acknowledged is Professor Arnold Toynbee of England. Although we have not conducted any investigation concerning him, the files of the Subcommittee to Investigate the Administration of the Internal Security Act and other International Security Laws of the Committee of the Judiciary, U. S. Senate, 82nd Congress on the Institute of Pacific Relations, has references to him. It is noted that among other things, the Institute of Pacific Relations has been considered by the American Communist Party and by Soviet officials as an instrument of communist policy.* Toynbee's son, Philip, also has a history of membership in the Communist Party which he later rejected, and later, during World War II, was commissioned an intelligence officer in the English Military of Economic Warfare.

Professor Hugh Trevor-Roper, who wrote the introduction to Lane's book, has never been investigated by the Bureau. However, our files do reveal that he was a former member of [redacted] Public source material published in England revealed Trevor-Roper was a severe critic of the findings of the President's Commission. Trevor-Roper, who is described as a historian at Oxford University, was severely taken to task by a number of critics in the United States and England, among whom were his close associates who indicated his reasoning was "marred by bias and blotted with inaccuracies." Further, they believed his findings were formed without factual basis.

Due to the advice and encouragement Mark Lane received from the previously-mentioned individuals, which he publicly recognized, coupled with his own background, it can be understood why he was motivated to write his book.

Lane also recognized other individuals whom he TEXAS classified as "amateur investigators." Among these persons named was Mrs. Shirley Martin who resides in Hominy, Oklahoma. During the course of our investigation relating to the assassination, we received numerous communications from Mrs. Martin regarding her alleged findings which were submitted to the President's Commission. Mrs. Martin was interviewed on several occasions and in each instance, exhibited an insulting, argumentative and an antagonistic attitude towards the Bureau and Bureau personnel. As a result, on April 28, 1964, by SAC letter 64-23, all field offices were notified of Mrs. Martin's endeavors to embarrass the Bureau.

Hugh Trevor-Roper's introduction contended that the whole Warren Commission report was a series of conclusions based on carefully selected evidence and that the full body of evidence does not point necessarily to the Commission's conclusions. In addition, he contended the Commission's power was limited which, in his opinion was understandable, but it was particularly serious because, he said, by the time the Commission effectively took over from the FBI, the FBI had reached its conclusions based on the massive evidence collected and this must have had an effect on the thinking of the Commission.

He asked what were the conclusions with which the FBI ended and the Commission, in a sense, started? He quoted the Director from his testimony before the Commission on May 14, 1964. He said "Mr. Hoover was nothing if not explicit." He quoted the Director as saying "The conclusions of the FBI were final."

FBI
THEAA

They were: "No. 1, That Oswald shot the President; No. 2, That he was not connected with any conspiracy of any kind, nature, or description." There was no "scintilla of evidence" of any conspiracy. Trevor-Roper then goes on to say the only unresolved question was whether Oswald had actually aimed at the President or at Governor Connally. But he continues even that was hardly in doubt as he again quotes the Director as saying "I personally believe it was the President, in view of the twisted mentality the man had."

Trevor-Roper did not quote the Director properly as during the time the Director testified Representative Hale Boggs said he had read the FBI report very carefully (which was the original report furnished to the President's Commission) and the whole implication of the report is "that number one, Oswald shot the President; number two, that he was not connected with any conspiracy of any kind, nature, or description." In reply the Director said "correct." Representative Boggs then said "Do you still subscribe to that?" The Director replied "I subscribe to it even more strongly today than I did at the time the report was written. You see, the original idea was that there would be an investigation by the FBI and a report would be prepared in such form that it could be released to the public." Later during the Director's testimony the Director said "The more I have read these reports, (referring to reports of subsequent investigation) the more I am convinced that Oswald was the man who fired the gun; and he fired three times, killed the President, and wounded Governor Connally."

He also quoted the Director when the Director, in his testimony before the Commission, commented that Mrs. Marguerite Oswald was emotionally unstable and believed she had made a substantial sum through public lectures she had given, and for these reasons, Marguerite Oswald must not be heeded.

In this instance the Director was quoted out of context as the Director said in his testimony, "His mother I would put in a category of being emotionally unstable. She has been around the country making speeches, and the first indication of her emotional instability was the retaining of a lawyer that anyone would not have retained if they really were serious in trying to get down to the facts." Also the Director said "that kind of an individual is the type we have seen over the years who will say almost anything to draw a crowd just to be able to say something sensational." This has been further substantiated by Mrs. Oswald's activities during the past year wherein she has conducted her own investigation in an effort to exonerate her son, the accused assassin.

Trevor-Roper stated Mark Lane did not confine himself to re-examining evidence which was taken by the Warren Commission but has gone beyond it and has followed up "newspaper clues," examined witnesses whom the Commission did not examine, and pursued trails beyond the point at which the Commission stopped. He admitted the lack of confidence in the evidence submitted to the Commission and the Commission's handling of it. He indicated criticism should take place before judgment and that if the Warren Commission had allowed Mark Lane to contest the Commission's evidence before judgment, there would have been no need for Mark Lane's book. Trevor-Roper stated he believed, along with Mark Lane, that the Commission's examination was defective and their arguments unsound: defective because they overlooked inconvenient evidence; unsound because they applied different standards to the evidence which they accepted. Also he said the report of the Warren Commission is an "advocate's summing-up," however, before judgment can be given, the advocate of the other side must also be heard. According to Trevor-Roper, this advocate is Mark Lane and he refers to Mark Lane's book as a brief.

Mark Lane's book is divided into four parts: 1. "Three Murders;" 2. "Jack Ruby;" 3. "The Oswalds;" and 4. "The Commission and The Law." It also contains an appendices in which is contained maps, references, excerpts of testimony from various witnesses. The first reaction from reading this book is that Lane's book is a defense brief. Lane's approach has been an attempt to discredit witnesses, results of the examination of evidence and that the Commission bypassed relevant testimony and was insensitive to destruction of hard evidence.

Lane has been clever in his presentation and to refute all of his numerous allegations would only lend some degree of credence to his theories. Therefore, certain portions of his book are discussed briefly which will point out what Lane contends could have happened as to known facts established through investigation. It is important to note that throughout his book it is replete with footnotes at the bottoms of pages wherein Lane has set forth theories of what happened or what could have happened.

Chapter 2 is entitled, "Where the Shots Came From." He quoted the Commission as saying there was no credible evidence suggested that shots came from any place other than the Texas school book depository building. Lane thereafter has gone into considerable detail to imply that shots were fired from a grassy knoll which was a location adjacent to the depository building. He contends the testimony furnished by individuals was inconsistent and dwelled for a considerable period of time on the fact that flame was supposedly seen from the assassination rifle when fired. However, our tests determined that such a flame could not be observed. He dwells extensively on the fact that alleged smoke was seen in the trees on the grassy knoll and criticized the Commission that the men who were interviewed in this area, instead of interrogating them on this, as Lane terms it, important point, relied upon interrogation by counsel and the hearsay reports of FBI Agents. Lane admits there is some evidence to "suggest" that one or more shots originated from the school book depository building, but also said it is considerably less compelling than the evidence suggesting that shots came from behind a fence near the grassy knoll. However, Lane has said, "To contend, however, that shots came from the knoll is not to say that no shots were fired from elsewhere, but it is impossible to contend at one and the same time that some shots came from the fence and that a lone assassin - Oswald - fired from the book depository window." He said the Commission remained insensitive to the latter conclusion and the Commission had to first prove no shots came from the knoll, and in attempting to do so, the report cited evidence out of context, ignored and reshaped evidence, and, "which is perhaps worse," oversimplified evidence.

Lane writes a chapter called, "The Gauze Curtain." He ties this in rather ingeniously with his previous chapter in that it refers to the fact that the rifle used was incapable of its performance and the fact that the evidence seemed to indicate more than one assassin, or a different weapon, was involved. He dwelled on the time factor involved in firing the shots and the testimony of Governor Connally which was in variance with the Commission's findings. As a result of his hypothesis and so-called observation of the entry and exit wounds, and the controversy which first existed after the President was killed, Lane contended physical evidence appeared to rebut the Commission's basic working hypotheses that Oswald was the lone assassin. In making this statement, Lane, in essence, is implying that individuals other than Lee Harvey Oswald were involved in the assassination.

Throughout his book, Lane has continually distorted facts, and in one chapter entitled, "Why Oswald Was Wanted," (in connection with police broadcasts of description of Oswald following shooting of President) commented that the Commission did not know how to answer this question, but indicated a willingness to hazard a guess. He indicated the Commission relied heavily on Howard L. Brennan, who was a witness to the assassination and was the only individual who identified Lee Harvey Oswald. Lane has gone into great detail in order to discredit Brennan and by direct contrast, cited the testimony of a young man named Arnold Rowland, who also claimed he observed the assassin. We conducted investigation regarding Arnold Rowland who testified before the Commission that he had exceptional eyesight and other perfected achievements. As a result, not only because of the testimony of his wife which discredited him, but also because of the facts that we ascertained concerning Rowland himself, he was thoroughly discredited. Yet, however, Lane has reversed this situation and contends Brennan should have been the one who was discredited and the testimony of Rowland accepted. In his last chapter, he mentioned the investigation was unable to yield one instance when Rowland made a false statement on an important or germane matter. However, when Rowland made comments concerning his own abilities, there were numerous occasions on which our investigation proved him nothing more than a liar.

Lane extended himself into the technical evidence area, and by doing so, twisted and distorted facts to suit his purpose. For example, relative to Lane's allegation that the Commission bypassed relevant testimony and was insensitive to destruction of hard evidence, he stated the Commission counsel was informed by an FBI expert that the shirt's value as evidence had been destroyed. Thereafter, he merely went on into another matter and did not complete his observation. Lane was referring to the shirt worn by Governor Connally which was submitted to the Laboratory for examination. It is important to note that articles of clothing worn by Governor Connally had been cleaned and pressed prior to submission to the Laboratory. In this respect, when our expert testified as to his findings, he rightfully testified only to the facts as shown by the examination of the submitted evidence without any display of emotion or bias.

Another example of Lane's attempt to muddy the issue was exemplified in his discourse concerning the rifle Oswald used to shoot the President. In chapter 8 he goes into great detail on the finding of the rifle on the 6th floor of the book depository building by the Dallas police. The police originally described the rifle as a 7.65 German Mauser and that this information was widely publicized in the press and other news media. We determined that the rifle utilized was a Mannlicher-Carcano 6.5 Italian carbine. Lane claimed the Commission should have explored this discrepency more thoroughly which casts doubt upon the weapon found on the 6th floor as actually being the gun involved in the assassination. This theory is ridiculous since our Laboratory findings clearly established that bullet fragments and the bullet submitted as evidence were identified as having been fired from the rifle recovered on the 6th floor of the book depository.

Lane has attempted to establish that there was some degree of association between Jack L. Ruby and Lee Harvey Oswald. In doing this, he has theorized that with Ruby's prior trips to Cuba and Oswald's interest in Cuba and trips to Mexico, a foreign element was involved in a conspiratorial capacity to assassinate the President. This phase of the investigation was thoroughly investigated and we did not establish any degree of association between Ruby and Oswald.

In a chapter entitled, "Marina Oswald," (pages 307-316), Lane criticizes the Warren Commission for building so much of its case on the testimony of Marina Oswald, wife of Lee Harvey Oswald. Lane goes on at length to point out the inconsistencies and contradictions in the testimony of Marina Oswald to the Warren Commission and to the FBI.

The fact that Marina Oswald furnished contradicting information to the Warren Commission and to the FBI is set out in great detail in the Warren Commission's report. The Commission recognized this as did this Bureau. It was only through thorough, intensive, painstaking investigation of Marina Oswald and penetrating interviews of her by our Agents that we were able to get the true facts from her. In all instances, wherever possible, we conducted extensive investigation of Marina's allegations to obtain corroborating data concerning information she furnished which would have basis in fact.

Lane frequently went far out of his way to levy false allegations against the FBI by quoting testimony of various witnesses before the Warren Commission. For example, on page 315 of his book, Lane reports that Marina Oswald told the Commission during her testimony before the Commission that FBI Agents told her that if she wanted to live in the United States, she would have to help in the matter of the investigation of the assassination.

Lane's scurrilous allegation that the FBI had threatened Marina Oswald with deportation should she not cooperate has absolutely no basis in fact. While it is true Marina made such allegation during her testimony before the Warren Commission, such allegations by her were false. The interviewing Agents of Marina immediately following the assassination were SA Wallace W. R. Heitman of the Dallas Office and SA Anatole A. Boguslav, Russian-speaking Agent of the New York Office. Both SA Heitman and SA Boguslav categorically denied the allegation by Marina Oswald.

Immediately following the assassination during our first interviews with Marina Oswald, she was generally uncooperative and told a number of lies to both the FBI and Secret Service. Our Agents recognized her inaccuracies and correctly pressed her for full and accurate information in view of the vital importance of the investigation involving the murder of President Kennedy. As our interviews with Marina progressed and she recognized we would tolerate no foolishness or accept lies from her, she gradually became more cooperative and truthful.

In addition, it is to be noted that immediately following the assassination, Marina Oswald was told by Mr. Fred Harvey, an Immigration and Naturalization Service official, that her immigrant status in this country was legal and that there were no plans to deport her to Russia. Mr. Harvey further advised her that the Immigration Service could assure her residence in the United States and eventual citizenship if she so desired and qualified under law. Mr. Harvey also told Marina that she would be questioned by Federal officials concerning the assassination and it would be expected that she would give truthful answers to questions pertinent to this investigation.

Lane claims on page 317 of his book that Agents of the FBI and the Secret Service detained Marguerite and Marina Oswald and the latter's two children on November 24, 1963, and held them incommunicado. This allegation is absolutely false. Following the assassination and following the visit of Marina and Marguerite Oswald to Lee Harvey Oswald at the Dallas jail on November 22, 1963, the Secret Service arranged for both Marguerite and Marina Oswald and the latter's two children to reside at the Inn of Six Flags in Dallas for several days. The primary purpose of this was for protection. After a short stay at the Inn of Six Flags, Marina Oswald voluntarily chose to take up residence with Mr. and Mrs. James Martin. Martin later became Marina Oswald's business manager and paramour. Marguerite Oswald took up residence elsewhere. Neither woman was held against her will and to support this statement, it is noted that a representative of the Civil Liberties Union in Dallas contacted Marina Oswald to see if she was being held against her will. Marina at this time told the Civil Liberties Union attorney that she was not being held against her will and that she was satisfied with arrangements that had been made for her. Marguerite Oswald, on the other hand, publicly complained that she was forced to shift for herself shortly after the assassination, and that she felt she was entitled to the same treatment and care that was afforded Marina Oswald.

Lane alleges (page 391) FBI was confused in its investigation of Albert Osborne, also known as John Howard Bowen, and that FBI Agents apparently were unable to determine that two pictures of an elderly man actually were two pictures of the same person. Lane claims this is reason for one to challenge the Warren Commission's decision to delegate its investigative responsibility to the FBI.

Lane's scurrilous allegations against the FBI are completely false. In our investigation of Lee Harvey Oswald following the assassination, we ascertained that an individual by the name of John Bowen sat next to Oswald on a bus which Oswald took to Mexico City on September 26, 1963. We conducted extensive investigation to locate Bowen for interview and in January, 1964, we learned Bowen, allegedly a Baptist minister, was residing at a mission he ran at Texmelucan, Mexico.

On January 7, 1964, our Agents visited Bowen's mission and spoke to an alleged ministerial associate, Reverend Albert Osborne. Osborne furnished background data regarding Bowen and suggested leads where Bowen could possibly be located in the United States. We subsequently located Bowen in the United States and interviewed him, but he denied knowing Oswald and made numerous statements which we later determined were false. We subsequently obtained photographs of Bowen and these photographs, plus other corroborating investigation, disclosed Bowen and Osborne were one and the same person. On March 3, 1964, the Memphis Office interviewed Osborne, also known as Bowen, at Nashville, Tennessee, and pinned him down on past false statements. He admitted furnishing the FBI numerous false statements concerning himself and it was obvious to the interviewing Agents that he was a confidence man and was engaged in soliciting contributions for his so-called mission in Mexico. Results of our investigation of Osborne, also known as Bowen, were furnished to the Warren Commission and also to the Postal Inspector and the Immigration and Naturalization Service in view of the interest of these agencies in this person's activities.

In connection with its report, the Warren Commission stated on page 305 that "Osborne's responses to Federal investigators on matters unrelated to Oswald have proved inconsistent and unreliable and, therefore, based on the contrary evidence and Osborne's lack of reliability, the Commission has attached no credence to his denial that Oswald was beside him on the bus."

Lane devotes several pages (pages 336-342) of his book to allegations by a young Cuban female refugee by the name of Sylvia Odio. Odio made allegations several weeks after the assassination that she had been visited by three men in late September, 1963, who urged her to engage in anti-Fidel Castro activities. Odio alleged one of these men had the name Leon Oswald and that he had made statements to the effect that "President Kennedy should have been assassinated after the Bay of Pigs" and that "It is so easy to do."

In making use of Mrs. Odio's information, Lane states, "If Mrs. Odio is a reliable witness, as she seems and as the FBI investigation appears to have confirmed, and if the Commission was correct in stating that Oswald was not among her visitors that day, few alternatives present themselves save that someone impersonated him - perhaps in an effort to frame him nearly two months before the assassination."

Lane's presumption that the FBI appears to have confirmed that Mrs. Odio is a reliable witness is absolutely false. We conducted extensive investigation of Odio's allegations and found nothing to support them. If Oswald had visited Odio as alleged, he would have had to have taken an airplane from New Orleans to Dallas on September 25, 1963, visited with Odio a few moments and then flown to Houston, Texas, and then have taken a bus to Mexico in order to arrive on September 26, 1966, when it is known he arrived there. In view of Oswald's financial condition, it appears extremely unlikely he would have spent money for an airplane as would have been necessary as described above. In addition, our checks regarding Sylvia Odio disclosed she was a mental case and had been receiving psychiatric treatments in Dallas for some time prior to the assassination. A number of close acquaintances of Odio were interviewed by our Agents and they described her as a mental case, a notorious liar and felt that no credence should be placed in her statements.

Lane in his book on page 387 accuses the FBI of not accurately reporting testimony developed by the FBI in connection with its interviews of various witnesses involved in the investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Lane accused the FBI of attempting to make certain witnesses change their testimony in order that it would conform with other data developed in the investigation. To make his point,

Lane cited the case of Nelson Delgado, a former Marine Corps associate of Oswald's. Delgado, according to Lane, stated that the FBI accused him of furnishing false information and that the FBI made him change his testimony in order that the resulting testimony would conform with other FBI investigation.

Delgado is a young Puerto Rican who served with Oswald in the United States Marine Corps for a few months early in 1959 at Santa Ana, California. Delgado initially claimed that he was closely acquainted with Oswald, taught Oswald Spanish, discussed with Oswald the latter's plans to go to Cuba, and noted that Oswald was a poor shot with the rifle. Our interviews with Delgado regarding these points disclosed that Delgado was a fabricator and a liar and was greatly exaggerating his slight acquaintanceship with Oswald in order to achieve a position of prominence. We pinned Delgado down and he admitted he hardly knew Oswald and that he had no reason to say Oswald was a bad shot with the rifle since Oswald had qualified. One of our interviewing Agents was highly proficient in the Spanish language and noted that Delgado could hardly speak understandable Spanish himself, let alone teach it to anyone else. In addition, independent inquiries by us through other sources revealed Oswald had no command of the Spanish language.

In Lane's last chapter entitled, "The Law," he makes a comment "Every trial lawyer knows the frustration of being unable to present in evidence some important object or testimony which would allow the jury to interpret the actions of his client more favorably." He said it was his belief that the report of the President's Commission is less a report than a brief for the prosecution and the Commission constituted not just a trial, but one in which the rights of the defendant, referring to Oswald, were annulled. He quoted the Chief Justice who he claimed referred to the proceedings as a trial and therefore Lane said, "Denial of Counsel to the deceased was an act both unprecendented and unfair." He indicated the Commission's approach to physical evidence was unsatisfactory as they suppressed evidence; namely, x-rays of the President's body taken from doctors at Bethesda Hospital. He contended these may have resolved the controversy about the trajectory of the bullets which struck the President which might have helped to fix the location of the assassin. Here again, Lane has implied that an individual other than Lee Harvey Oswald was involved.

Lane's book is filled with this type of reasoning. He has created a masterpiece of doubt and criticism of the Warren Commission which will cause controversy concerning the assassination of President Kennedy for years to come. Lane is biased and in many instances, downright dishonest. He is guilty of the very things he has accused the Commission of; namely, twisting and distorting true facts to serve his own purposes. To those individuals who read his book, it will certainly cause speculation, but after a period of time, it will become clear what Lane is attempting to achieve.

In concluding his book, Lane has stated, "If the Commission covered itself with shame, it also reflected the shame on the Federal Government. The readiness with which its findings were accepted, I believe, can be symptomatic of disease."

With all his allegations, Lane has achieved only one thing, failure. He has not proven that an individual other than Lee Harvey Oswald was responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy or that a conspiracy was involved.

As noted in the memorandum, MARK LANE attempted to discredit the work of the Warren Commission and its conclusions, obviously in an effort to promote the sale of his book, "Rush to Judgment" which attacks the Warren Commission report. ALBERT E. JENNER, JR. strongly defended the work of the Commission and was very critical of LANE's book.

DISCUSSION OF WARREN COMMISSION REPORT BY MARK LANE AND ALBERT E. JENNER, JR. ON JERRY WILLIAMS SHOW, 8 P.M. TO 11:30 P.M., 9/15/66, WBBM RADIO, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

The Jerry Williams Show is a local program regularly broadcast for about the past year on WBBM radio, Chicago, Illinois, in which the host, Jerry Williams, invites guests to appear and discuss various current and usually controversial issues. Part of the program is devoted to comments and questions from listeners who telephone the program. On September 15, 1966, Jerry Williams introduced on the Jerry Williams Show as his guest Mark Lane, author of a book, "Rush to Judgment" which Williams described as a critique of the Warren Commission inquiry into the murders of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Police Officer J. D. Tippett and Lee Harvey Oswald, and Chicago, Illinois Attorney Albert E. Jenner, Jr. who served as a senior counsel to the Warren Commission.

Through the course of the program Lane and Jenner disagreed concerning the validity of the Warren Commission report, Lane being critical of the report and Jenner supporting the report. Their remarks on the program included the following:

Lane said that contrary to the opinion of the Warren Commission, he felt the evidence was not conclusive that Oswald was the murderer of President Kennedy. Lane said that at one time, Oswald's mother wanted Lane to represent the deceased Oswald before the Warren Commission, but that the Warren Commission would not allow him to do so though he did appear before the Commission. His subsequent investigation into the circumstances of the assassination of President Kennedy led to his writing his book, "Rush to Judgment."

Jenner said that Mrs. Oswald, the mother of Lee Harvey Oswald, had refused to allow Lane to act as her attorney before the Warren Commission, and he noted also that she had no standing to name an attorney to represent Lee Harvey Oswald before the Commission. Jenner said further that Mark Lane had appeared before the Warren Commission and offered little or nothing of value and further, that Lane declined to identify certain people to whom he had referred in speeches and articles. Lane responded that he had furnished pertinent information to the Commission.

Lane referred to the work of the Warren Commission as slovenly. In this connection, he said that the Commission's opinion that the shots which killed President Kennedy had come from the Texas School Book Depository was unjustified, and that he himself felt that while possibly some shots may have come from the Depository, there was also strong evidence that shots came from behind a fence and that the Warren Commission had ignored this latter evidence.

Lane referred to photographs taken of President Kennedy as President Kennedy was being struck by the assassin's bullets. He said these photographs were taken by an amateur photographer, Abraham Zapruder. Lane said further that the Warren Commission, in publishing these photographs, mislabeled frames 314 and 315. In proof of this statement, Lane said he had a letter from J. Edgar Hoover, signed by Hoover, December 14, 1965, in which Hoover stated, in answer to someone who had written to Hoover in "our" (Lane's) behalf, that frames 314 and 315 of Commission exhibit 885 were transposed. Lane said that the Zapruder film was not in the shape it should be because four of the frames had been taken out by the FBI and the film had then been spliced. Lane said that members of the Commission and lawyers for the Commission did not know that the film had been spliced. During the program, Lane referred several times to this film and to his allegation that the FBI had removed some of the film and then spliced it. On one occasion, in referring to the Zapruder film, Lane said that the frames between "207 and 212" were removed by the FBI and the film spliced and again said that no member of the Commission knew about this. Lane said that an attorney, Wesley Liebeler, who had assisted Jenner on the Commission, had learned of what the FBI did to the film and as a result of Liebeler's concern, Liebeler had written to J. Lee Rankin, counsel for the Warren Commission, and asked that the Warren Commission reopen its investigation because the FBI had spliced an important document, the Zapruder film.

Lane also raised the issue of the photographs and X-rays which he said had been made of the body of President Kennedy and which Lane said might show whether a wound in the President's throat was an exit or entrance wound and hence, would shed light on the direction from which the bullet came. Lane noted that "Newsweek" magazine had recently stated that its investigation could find no one in government who would admit knowing where those X-rays and photographs were.

In the matter of the location from which the assassin's bullets were fired, Jenner cited what he said was positive testimony from a number of witnesses which showed that the shots came from the Texas School Book Depository and not from anywhere else.

Lane said that a number of witnesses who might have been called by the Warren Commission were not called and further, that he believed that these witnesses were not called because their testimony might contradict pre-conceived opinions of the Warren Commission about the assassination.

When asked by Williams to comment on Lane's book, Jenner said that the book uses testimony from witnesses which is taken out of context, that the book offers no solid or fair proof for Lane's speculations about the assassination, and that the book ignores the background of Lee Harvey Oswald. Lane said that the background of Oswald was not relevant since Oswald might well have been only a spectator at the assassination.

Lane said that he was not one of those who held that Oswald was a government agent. Lane then went on to note that such allegations had been made. He said that in the book of Congressman Gerald Ford about the assassination of President Kennedy, Ford said that Dallas, Texas, District Attorney, Henry Wade, and Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr told Ford that Oswald was an FBI agent, that they knew the number assigned to Oswald, and that Oswald was paid $200 a month. Lane said he does not know if those allegations were true, but he thought they merited investigation. Jenner said that the allegations that Oswald was an FBI agent or government agent had been investigated and had been proven false by the Warren Commission.

Lane mentioned a cablegram, Commission exhibit number 917, from the American Embassy in Moscow to the FBI, the CIA, the Department of State and the Commandant of the Marine Corps concerning Oswald. In this cablegram, which referred to Oswald's desire to renounce his citizenship and to his giving information about radar to the Russians, Oswald is described, according to Lane, as a former Marine and apparently further described but this latter description had been deleted from the cablegram. Lane said this deletion was of a space large enough for 43 letters, and he asked Jenner if he knew what this deletion was. Jenner said he had never seen the cablegram in any condition other than with the blank space whereupon Lane asked how then does Jenner know whether Oswald was a member of the FBI or the CIA if he did not know what had been deleted from the cablegram. Jenner said that he knew because he had seen the records of the FBI and the CIA and other government agencies.

In the course of the discussion, Lane's motivation in writing the book was discussed. Lane said he had given up his political career and his law practice while pursuing his investigation, and that he and his wife have had to borrow money from his parents. He said he had obtained some money from lectures, but that he had contributed this money to the Citizens Committee for Inquiry, which committee sent amateur investigators into Dallas and these amateur investigators, according to Lane, turned up a lot more information than the professional investigators relied on by the Warren Commission. Jerry Williams then suggested that the publication of the book would now bring considerable money to Lane, to which Lane said he hoped people would buy the book, "Rush to Judgment." Lane noted that Jenner had said his book was a pack of lies. Lane went on to say that he, Lane, would not call the Warren Commission report a pack of lies although it was, according to Lane.

Lane also mentioned a secret meeting of the Warren Commission which was referred to by Congressman Ford in Ford's book which was concerned with allegations that Oswald was connected with the FBI. Jenner said that there was no evidence that Oswald was an FBI agent or even that Oswald was an agent of the Soviet Union.

Lane noted his differences with the Warren Commission concerning whether Oswald was as good a shot with a rifle as the Warren Commission report would indicate, and further expressed dissatisfaction with the suppression of a number of items in the government archives concerning the Warren Commission investigation which he said would not be released until the year 2039.

Lane also again made reference to what he said was the splicing of the Zapruder film by the FBI, and Jenner responded that even if the film was spliced, this would not mean that anything of significance had been deleted.

Lane also said that the Dallas Police Department prepared a transcript of its police radio broadcast during the time of the assassination, which transcript the Warren Commission felt was inaccurate with the result that an FBI agent was sent to the Dallas Police Department and there spent four days preparing an FBI transcript of the Dallas police radio broadcast. This FBI transcript, according to Lane, was entirely different in material respects from the Dallas Police Department transcript. This police radio broadcast was significant, according to Lane, because Lane said a description of Oswald was broadcast over the police radio in Dallas before Oswald was known to be a suspect.

Lane also asked why the Warren Commission files concerning Jack Ruby were classified, and Jenner pointed out in answer that they were classified because Ruby's case was still pending in court.

Lane said there are a number of people who do not believe the conclusions in the report of the Warren Commission. Jenner said that responsible people who had reviewed the work of the Commission supported the Commission's report. Jenner said that the Commission conducted a full and fair investigation and reported that investigation fully and fairly.

Jenner departed from the program at about 11 p.m. in order to catch a plane and during the last half hour of the program, Lane replied to telephone callers who had questions concerning his earlier remarks. In answer to one of the callers, Lane said that it was not his position that the members of the Warren Commission were charlatans. Lane said that people in government, however, sometimes found it necessary to satisfy the needs of government and in this connection, Lane said that Adali Stevenson, at the United Nations, had said that the United States was not involved in the invasion of Cuba by Cuban exiles when, in fact, the United States was definitely involved. Lane further mentioned that President Eisenhower had publicly stated that the plane of Francis Gary Powers, downed in Russia, had been a weather plane and that later, President Eisenhower publicly admitted that his earlier statement was not true and that he knew it to be untrue when he made it.

Lane, in answer to a question concerning why the Commission would issue an inaccurate or distorted report, said that the Commission had been faced with a situation in which the FBI, the Secret Service and the Dallas Police were all saying that Oswald had been the assassin. The Commission felt it necessary to settle doubts in the minds of the public by issuing a report saying that Oswald had been the assassin. Lane said that the Commission probably felt that to issue a report saying there were assassins who the Commission did not know about would have been unsettling. Lane noted that attorney Louis Nizer had said that the Commission's report was a contribution to national tranquility, and Lane said he agreed with this but Lane also said that the Commission report was a total disservice to the truth.

SUBJECT: HAROLD WEISBERG
AUTHOR OF BOOK, "WHITEWASH" INTERVIEW ON WTOP RADIO
9-13-66

Harold Weisberg, author of the book, "Whitewash," which is a controversial study of the assassination of President Kennedy and the Warren Commission Report, was interviewed by Bob Rafford on WTOP Radio at 2:10 p.m. today.

Basically, Weisberg's comments followed the general theme of other individuals questioning the facts surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy. Weisberg commented that the Warren Commission Report on which his entire book is based leaves a lot of questions unanswered and that the Commission did not do the job which was expected of it. He contends that the entire matter must be investigated in public, preferably by Congress.

Weisberg commented that there is serious doubt concerning all conclusions in the Report and that the Report is replete with too many coincidences. He contends that the evidence clearly indicates that at least two individuals were involved in the assassination and that there is no proof that Oswald actually was in the sixth floor window of the Texas Depository Bookstore as stated in the Report.

Weisberg questioned the sight on the gun allegedly used by Oswald and said that the FBI could not even get the sight to function properly. He also commented that a different automobile was used in the re-enactment of the assassination and that the FBI reached conclusions without taking into consideration the different size of the car and the seats. Weisberg commented that one question which is still unanswered was volunteered by Mr. Hoover during his testimony before the Commission and that was: "Why didn't the assassin shoot prior to the car turning left off of Houston Street?" Weisberg commented that Mr. Hoover answered this by saying: "There was a tree in the way"; however, according to Weisberg, there are no trees on Houston Street.

Five members of the organization known as JFCOTT, (Justice For Crew Of The Thresher) planned and carried out the Dallas tragedy. Les and Joe were in the Texas building, Art and Orville were on the over pass of-the-causeway. Their leader was a man known as H.C.Hill. He was outside the Texas building and directed the operation and escape by means of shortwave radio. Lee Harvey Oswald was set up as " A Patsy " by Hill. Two and ONLY Two Shots were fired from the Texas building.

In August of I963, over 3 months prior to the tragedy Naval Officials, Postal Authorities and others knew that the organization was in Dallas, Texas making plans to assassinate the former Secretary of Navy, Gov. John Connally. They knew that this group of men had vowed to secure justice , in their own way for the I29 young Americans who were aboard the Sub Thresher. Members of JFCOTT were aware of the fact that Naval Officials, U.S.Senator Richard B Russell, Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and others had been warned that Navy was going to lose a "N" Sub because fraudulent pressure/depth tests had been used on equiptment built for Subs of the Thresher Class.

Naval Officials and others have made an all out effort to suppress this evidence. This court filed Evidence Excluded From The Warren Report is being made aviable to the American people. RESEARCHERS, SCHOLARS, PROFESSORS, TEACHERS, STUDENTS, GENERAL READERS...

... all now will be able to test the assertions and conclusions in the Warren Report against the facts contained in the huge, labyrinthine record of the investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

This Subject Index classifies the data in the 26 volumes of Hearings and Exhibits (containing the transcripts of the testimony of witnesses and the documents), as well as the information in the Warren Report itself, according to a rationalized system of subjects. The objective is to help the reader find all the information of direct or indirect relevance to any single aspect of the evidence, item by item.

A selected supplementary name index citing exhibit numbers for some key witnesses is also included in this book.

This new Index makes the Warren Commission's Report and records more coherent and usable, and should be available in all libraries.

PURPOSE:

To instruct the New York Office to purchase two copies of the "Subject Index to the Warren Report and Hearings & Exhibits" ($4.00 each) by Sylvia Meagher, published by Scarecrow Press, Inc. Airtel attached.

BACKGROUND:

The Dallas Office previously furnished a letterhead memorandum concerning Penn Jones, Jr., Editor of the "Midlothian Mirror," Midlothian, Texas, who had appeared on a radio program in Dallas at which time he commented on various aspects of the assassination and was promoting a book he was writing. Penn referred to an index relating to the testimony and exhibits on the assassination prepared by one "Sylvia Marr" and published by the "Scarecrow Press," New York.

Dallas requested the Bureau to furnish a copy of the "Marr Index." Based on the information furnished, "The Marr Index" and the name "Sylvia Marr" were not identified in Bureau files.

REC-42 62-109060-507
EX 106
OCT 3 1966

New York determined the correct name for this index is "Subject Index to the Warren Report and Hearings & Exhibits" by "Sylvia Meagher," which comprises 152 pages and retails at $4.00 a copy. This index classifies information in the twenty-six volumes of the hearings and exhibits as well as the report itself. The classification encompasses all elements of the assassination and subsequent crimes as well as background and history of principals. In addition, the references under each subject incorporated in the index extends beyond the citation in the appendix of the Warren report and negative references are also included.

Memorandum to Mr. DeLoach
RE: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Sylvia Orenstein Meagher

Bureau files revealed Sylvia Orenstein Meagher was investigated during the early 1950's under Loyalty of Employees of the United Nations and Other Public International Organizations - IR, (138-2214), while employed by the World Health Organization. By letter dated 8/27/54, the Civil Service Commission advised a favorable loyalty determination was forwarded to the World Health Organization concerning her. Bureau files also reveal Meagher was a participant of a European tour sponsored by the "National Guardian," to depart New York City on 7/22/64. The New York Office conducted an appropriate inquiry concerning this matter and subsequently closed its case. It is noted the "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications" published by the Committee on Un-American Activities cites the "National Guardian."

Bureau files contain a letter which appeared in the "Washington Post," 6/18/66 under "Letters to Editor" column signed by Sylvia Meagher. She stated in essence that the inconsistencies which appeared in the Warren Report are real. Also on 7/27/65 Sylvia Meagher telephonically contacted the Laboratory indicating she was preparing a book on the assassination of President Kennedy, and she raised questions concerning the procedures followed in the examination of the "Zapruder" film (amateur film taken depicting the assassination event). No comment was made to Miss Meagher concerning this matter, and she was tactfully referred to the Warren Commission Report.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

This index will be available to numerous individuals interested in the Warren Commission Report. Since this index was prepared under a series of subject classifications and subdivisions which apparently extend beyond those published in the Warren Commission Report, it is believed it would be beneficial for future reference. A copy should be in possession of the Bureau and Dallas.

ACTION:

For approval attached is an airtel to New York instructing the New York Division to purchase two copies of the index furnishing one to Dallas and one to the Bureau.

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record — Presidential Commission

Pages 23203-23207. Congressman Ryderman, (D) New York, introduced H. Con. Res. 1023, to establish a joint committee to determine the necessity of a congressional investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy. He spoke concerning the conclusions of the Warren Commission and the criticism of such. He commented on the various articles, books, etc., that have been written criticizing the Warren Commission. He stated "Finally, the critics suggest as typical of the superficial nature of the Commission's work, that the Commission never independently investigated rumors, whether Oswald was a paid informant of the FBI but merely took the word of FBI officials, principally J. Edgar Hoover, that he was not. They say the question that the public is left with now is whether the Commission's commitment from the onset of its assignment was less to the discovery of revelation and truth than to dispelling rumors that would damage the national interest. - - - - In light of the current and mounting criticism of the Warren report we must now objectively evaluate the findings of all those who would have us believe the Warren Commission in one way or another did all it could have. In this way the volume of work of the Warren Commission will be called upon to stand a true test. But so will the consistency and rationality of those who would attack the Warren Commission be put to an equally objective test." Mr. Ryderman placed the text of the resolution and an up-to-date list prepared by the Library of Congress of various articles and books dealing with the Warren report in the Record.

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

By airtel dated 9/13/66 the Chicago Office furnished a blind memorandum captioned "Discussion of Warren Commission Report by Mark Lane and Albert E. Jenner, Jr., on Jerry Williams Show, 8 P.M. to 11:30 P.M., 9/15/66, WBBM Radio, Chicago, Illinois." During the television program Mark Lane attempted to discredit the work of the Warren Commission and its conclusions in an obvious effort to promote the sale of his book "Rush to Judgment." Mr. Jenner strongly defended the work of the Commission and was critical of Lane's book. During the program, among other allegations Lane reportedly made erroneous references to some aspects of our examination of the amateur movie film of the assassination made by Abraham Zapruder. He reportedly stated that four of the frames had been taken out of the film by the FBI and the film had been spliced and that members of the Commission and lawyers for the Commission did not know that the film had been spliced.

This is completely in error; at no time did the FBI modify the original film in any manner. The facts are we never had custody of the original film which Zapruder sold to Life magazine. We made our original examination from copies of the film and later from slides made from each frame and furnished to us by Life magazine. At the request of the Commission, a representative of Life magazine did bring the original film to the Commission and in the presence of one of our Laboratory experts ran the film for the lawyers for the Commission. At that time and in the presence of the representative from Life magazine, an expert from the FBI was allowed to examine the original film briefly. The film was never out of the custody of the representative from Life magazine during this period. We at that time noted no splice; however, subsequently when Life made slides of each frame available to us, it was determined by reference to the FBI copy of the film that certain frames were not represented in the slides and that the film from which the slides were made, now had been spliced. It is interesting to note that in the footnote on page 66 of Lane's book "Rush to Judgment" he makes reference to the fact that the film was in the custody of Life magazine and that Life was reluctant to release it to the Commission.

The initial assignment of numbers to the frames was done in the Laboratory and was based on the frames in the copy of the original that had been furnished to the FBI and this copy of the Zapruder film contained all of the frames and was made before the splicing occurred. As indicated above, we first became aware of the splices when individual slides of the pertinent frames were made by Life magazine and furnished to the FBI. These slides clearly show the splice on frame 207 and frame 212 and no slides were furnished for frames 208 through 211. It can be assumed that the splicing was done by Life magazine. The four missing frames were examined from the FBI copy previously obtained and although there is slightly less detail in the copy than in the original film, there was insufficient loss of information to be pertinent to the study of the film.

During the printing of the Warren Commission report, testimony and exhibits, two photographs representing frames from the Zapruder film were transposed resulting in mislabeling. Lane in the television program also referred to this mislabeling. This matter had been previously discovered and it had been previously established that the photographs of the frames and their numbers as furnished by the FBI Laboratory were correct, and the mislabeling in the Commission Report is apparently the result of a printing error.

RECOMMENDATION: None. For your information.

NY

A United Press International release indicates that a special three-hour panel discussion program will be aired November 12, 1966, by WNEW-TV dealing with criticisms of the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy. The program entitled "A Re-examination of the Warren Commission Findings: A Minority Report" will feature five authors of books and articles on the report who will argue various aspects of the Commission's findings.

The program will be hosted by Jim Bishop and will include Mark Lane, Leo Sauvage, Harold Weisberg, Penn Jones and Jacob Cohen.

The New York Office, through an established source, should discreetly determine whether this program will be pre-recorded or will be presented live. In the event it is pre-recorded, efforts should be made to obtain a copy of the tape or to view a preview showing.

Advise the Bureau, Attention: Crime Records Division, of the results of your contact by 10-21-66.

Dear Mrs. Olcott:

Your letter of October 9th, with enclosure, has been received.

This Bureau conducted an investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy upon the order of President Johnson, and the report containing all the facts developed by the FBI regarding this tragedy was submitted to the Presidential Commission. Inasmuch as dissemination of this material rested with the Commission, I am unable to make further comment.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

NOTE: Correspondent is not identifiable in Bufiles. Mark Lane is on the Reserve Index of the New York Office and is the subject of a Security Matter - Communist investigation. He served as counsel for Marguerite Oswald. Leo Sauvage is a writer for "Le Figaro" a conservative morning daily newspaper in New York City. In his book, "The Oswald Affair," he accuses the Warren Commission of setting out to prove Oswald guilty rather than attempting to establish the truth. He feels that a trial would have exonerated Oswald of guilt in the assassination of President Kennedy. Edward J. Epstein wrote his book, "Inquest," as a thesis for his masters degree at Cornell University. He alleges discrepancies in FBI reports regarding the assassination. In 1958 an individual with a similar name traveled as a tourist in the Soviet Union.

Mr. dear Mr. Hoover-

I have just read the enclosed articles concerning Oswald - and am completely shocked at the reports of these three men- The discrepancies- from the "commission" so called- to Chief Justice Warren, certainly make a person stop and ponder - just what is going on in Washington.

I am a widow- and have seven smart, alert grandchildren - and perhaps I'm more concerned about them and the future of so called "Justice" than for myself - It seems a frightening future for the younger generation with all the undercover "dilly-dalling" that's apparently going on in Justice Dept of our government.

I have always admired you and the principals you work for, and I know personally a few of the boys who work for you- they have the same opinion of you. I do-

This is the first letter of this kind I have ever written in my life - perhaps reaching that magic age of 65 (medicare & tax deduction!!) have something to do with it - I do hope that you personally can read this -

Did Oswald Act Alone?

Three investigators say Washington better take a new look at the assassination of President Kennedy

In the last several weeks, three books have been published, severely criticizing different aspects of the Warren Commission's Report on the assassination of President Kennedy. Their assertions have caused one of the late President's advisers, Richard Goodwin, to call for the convening of a new fact-finding body to examine the Commission's evidence. Here, in their own words, are the claims of the three leading critics.

LEO SAUVAGE, author of "The Oswald Affair" (World) and U.S. correspondent for "Le Figaro" newspaper.

"I am not anti-American. I have no political axe to grind. But speaking as a foreigner, and therefore with some extra claim to objectivity, I can only say that from the very first day, the Commission showed they were not looking for the truth but simply trying to prove what they had already decided — that Lee Harvey Oswald was guilty.

"They spent the entire first month of the hearings interrogating members of the Oswald family, who could shed no light whatsoever on the actual assassination as it happened, while the Dallas police officer, who was the first person into the warehouse from which the fatal bullets were supposedly fired, was not called as a witness for seven weeks.

"But the great and unforgivable flaw in the report is the refusal to permit cross-examination, essential to determining the truth in any judicial hearing. I, my secretary, any intelligent person could take the testimony of the incredible series of witnesses brought before the Commission and riddle it — and them — with the most glaring contradictions.

"Equally shocking are the gaps between what the Commission said and the report stated. For instance, the Commission went to great lengths to portray Oswald as a superb marksman. They summoned three masters of the National Rifle Association to hit a moving target at the same distance, with the same inferior rifle — and gave the impression they had thus proved a point. But read the report — you discover these three master marksmen could not duplicate Oswald's supposed feat! The Commission relied on the regrettable fact that the public was not going to read the report. They indulged in what can only be called brainwashing." ■

MARK LANE, author of "Rush to Judgement" (Holt, Rinehart & Winston).

"If one compares the one-volume Warren Commission report with the 26 volumes of evidence on which it is purportedly based, not one major conclusion reached by the Commission bears any relation to the facts. The evidence does not compel the conclusion that Oswald was involved in the killing of President Kennedy or of Officer Tippit, and the evidence is overwhelming that at least two persons were involved in the assassination.

"Absolute proof regarding the origin of the shots might well repose in the photographs and X-rays of the President's body made when the autopsy was performed at Bethesda Naval Hospital. The Commission never examined them, and their whereabouts remains a mystery. More than a third of the reports relied on by the Commission remain classified and inaccessible, including every document regarding Jack Ruby and his associates, and this material may not be seen until September, 2039. The bullets, pistol, rifle, the crucial radio tapes of the Dallas Police Radio on November 22, 1963, have been divided in secrecy among the various police agencies.

"If the Commission is right, if Oswald was the assassin, it is hard to imagine the reason for [redacted] suppressing of evidence and [redacted] the continuing mystery [redacted] which the government surrounds the case." ■

EDWARD JAY EPSTEIN
author of "Inquest: the Warren Commission and the Establishment of Truth" (Viking Press, Bantam).

"I do not agree with Mr. Lane or Mr. Sauvage. The evidence of Lee Oswald's guilt is obvious and overwhelming. But did Oswald act alone? I found in my research a major contradiction between the FBI reports and the autopsy findings in regard to where the murder bullet entered the President's body. And the primary evidence, the only documents that could resolve the contradiction — the autopsy photos — are missing.

"In almost all its actions, the Commission was far too heavily oriented toward public relations. For instance, Chief Justice Warren journeyed to Dallas, with great fanfare, to interview Jack Ruby. But he failed to bring two lawyers who had spent weeks probing Ruby's case, so he had no significant questions to ask.

"A good part of the Commission's ten-month investigation was conducted by one lawyer. The junior lawyers who did the bulk of the staff work operated under terrific pressure to resolve matters as soon as possible. The staff's efforts were often crippled by their lack of trained private investigators working directly for them. They had to depend on the FBI and the CIA and the liaison was very poor.

"I found no indication that anyone distorted evidence or did anything dishonest. I think the Commission did its best within the very inadequate framework in which it was forced to work. Overall, they did a sloppy job, but this does not mean that their conclusion was wrong." ■

The book to which correspondent refers has been reviewed at the Bureau and it attempts to establish a second assassin was involved and bases this theory on the time sequence of shots fired and the official autopsy report. Epstein's research was obviously superficial since it is reported he spent only two days reviewing material at the National Archives and he has obviously distorted facts to fit his theory.

Re Buairtel to Dallas, 9/20/66, and Dallas airtel to Bureau, 9/13/66, enclosing LHM.

The LHM enclosed with referenced Dallas airtel is the first allegation received by the Dallas Office to the effect that 20 people had met violent deaths since their testimony before the President's Commission.

There have been some instances where comments have been recorded in newspapers and on the program "Comment" over Radio Station KRLD, Dallas, to the effect that several people had met violent deaths but it appears the number 20 is highly exaggerated.

It is known that among witnesses who did testify before the President's Commission who have died are the following:

Mrs. EARLENE ROBERTS, who was the landlady at the rooming house where OSWALD was residing at the time he committed the assassination.

WILLIAM WAYNE WHALEY, the cab driver, with whom OSWALD proceeded to the Oak Cliff area immediately after the assassination.

LEE E. BOWERS, JR., the employee of the Union Terminal Company mentioned in the LHM enclosed with referenced Dallas airtel.

ReDLairtel 9/13/63.

In connection with the LHM attached to the referenced airtel, dissemination of this communication is temporarily being held in abeyance.

Noting that Mr. Charles Owens of the Claims Department, Safeco Insurance Company of America, has inferred that approximately twenty people have died as a result of the testimony before the President's Commission, it is apparent that his firm is trying to assume some basis on which they can refuse payment of claims in connection with the insured Lee Bowers, Jr.

Since no prior information has been received concerning allegations that twenty people had met violent deaths since the testimony before the President's Commission, the Dallas Division is to advise whether any allegations of this nature have been received.

Dallas expedite reply so that Department can be notified.

THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION
ON THE ASSASSINATION OF
PRESIDENT KENNEDY

On September 12, 1966, Mr. Charles Owens, Claims Department, Safeco Insurance Company of America, Mayflower Building, Dallas, Texas, telephone RIverside 2-8711, telephonically contacted a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Owens stated that approximately two to three months ago Lee E. Bowers, Jr., obtained a $100,000 insurance policy with that firm and several weeks ago was killed in an automobile accident when he hit a bridge while traveling alone. Mr. Owens stated a claim has been made with respect to the above-mentioned insurance policy and that he is investigating the claim.

Mr. Owens continued that he was aware that Mr. Bowers had testified before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. He stated he was aware that approximately twenty people who had testified before the President's Commission had met violent deaths since their testimony. He stated that he had heard rumors that Mr. Bowers had been threatened as a result of his testimony before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy and that there was information obtained during the investigation of the assassination which might assist Mr. Owens' insurance company in refusing to pay the claim resulting from Bowers having obtained an insurance policy with that firm.

Mr. Owens was advised that information contained in the files of the FBI were confidential and could not be made known to him by the FBI. He was questioned as to any specific information he had with respect to any threats and he would only comment that he had merely heard rumors that Mr. Bowers had been threatened. Mr. Owens continued that he had heard considerable talk among people on the streets concerning the investigation into the assassination by the President's Commission and that he felt the citizens of this country were entitled to know all the facts. Mr. Owens was advised that the results of the investigation by the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy had been published and that such results were available to the public. He stated he was well aware of this and had thoroughly reviewed the testimony of Lee E. Bowers, Jr., before the President's Commission.

Mr. Owens indicated that it was highly possible that his company's lawyers would endeavor through the Department of Justice to obtain any and all information concerning Lee E. Bowers, Jr., inferring that all of the information had not been published by the President's Commission with respect to Mr. Bowers, and that he felt if information was available which would justify his insurance company in not paying the claim such information should be made available to him.

It should be noted that the testimony of Lee E. Bowers, Jr., appears in Volume 6, pages 284 to 289 of the Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

It is further pointed out that on March 28, 1966, Lee E. Bowers, Jr., telephonically advised the Dallas Office of the FBI that he had been approached on March 26, 1966, by one Robert Blake concerning the making of a film on the assassination of President Kennedy. At thatttime Bowers advised that he told Blake he did not have time to discuss the matter with him and that Blake was supposed to recontact him later. It was pointed out that Lee E. Bowers, Jr., was an employee of the Union Terminal Company on duty at the railroad overpass on November 22, 1963.

On March 31, 1966, Lee E. Bowers, Jr., personally appeared at the Dallas FBI Office and advised that he had consented to a filmed interview with representatives of Judgment Films Corporation which interview and filming was conducted in room 21 at the Arlin Motel, Arlington, Texas, on March 30, 1966, by an individual identifying himself as Robert Blake and his associates. Mr. Bowers stated that prior to consenting to the filmed interview he contacted his attorney, Richard W. Smith of the law firm Lyne, Blanchette, Smith and Shelton, First National Bank Building, Dallas, Texas, telephone RIverside 1-4871, and had his attorney draw up an agreement to insure that the results of his interview were properly recorded.

Mr. Bowers advised that he had determined on the morning of March 31, 1966, that the individual representing himself as Robert Blake was actually Mark Lane and Mr. Bowers was interested in determining whether Mark Lane's representation as Robert Blake was a violation of Federal law.

Pages 24961-24964. Congressman Rogers, (D) New York, spoke concerning a resolution (H. Con. Res. 1029) he introduced to establish a joint committee on the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy. He stated "The Warren Commission was appointed to investigate the facts in order to provide domestic tranquility with respect to the assassination. It seems, however, to have created more conflicts than it resolved. Public confidence has been shaken as reported in the New York Post of October 3, 1966 and the Washington Post of the same date in the results of a Harris poll." He included this poll with his remarks. Mr. Rogers also included an article from the October 7 issue of Life magazine entitled "The Warren Report is Not Enough" written by Louis Nichols. He advised that the article is an excellent analysis of the reason for the public doubt and the need for his resolution.

SYNOPSIS

This book which is advertised as "an examination of the contradictions and omissions of the Warren Report," is an expansion of an article by the same French author in the March, 1964, publication of the American Jewish Committee. The book was originally published in France in July, 1965. Bureau files reveal Leo Sauvage previously appeared on a list of individuals employed by the French Communist Party. He has been employed by the New York Bureau of a French Socialist Newspaper and was a member of a small group close to Louis Dolivet, who was refused re-entry to the United States due to his suspected Communist and Comintern background.

In his book, Sauvage arrives at the conclusion that he finds "nothing to show that Oswald was the assassin of President Kennedy." In arriving at this conclusion, the following are typical examples of his distorted reasoning: (1) Chicken bones found near the window from which the death shot was fired could have been left by an accomplice. (The Commission report identifies the individual who left the chicken bones there as a building employee); (2) He questions the possibility that the rifle allegedly used by Oswald was capable of being fired with accuracy at a moving target in five or six seconds. (Actual tests in FBI Laboratory proved this to be possible); (3) He claims a number of essential witnesses were never interviewed in connection with the murder of Officer Tippit. (The Commission heard more than 13 witnesses concerning the Tippit murder, including two eyewitnesses who heard the shot and saw the shooting and seven eyewitnesses who saw the flight of the gunman with revolver in hand and positively identified Oswald as the man they saw fire the shot or flee from the scene. It was established that the revolver in Oswald's possession had been purchased by him using the name of A. J. Hidell. Four expended cartridge cases found near the site of the Tippit killing were identified as having been fired in Oswald's revolver); (4) The fact that Oswald did not order any ammunition at the time he ordered the rifle proved that the idea had not come to him that he might really use it one day.

The author claims it was not established that Oswald owned a "lethal weapon" since "an unloaded weapon is not a lethal weapon." (Examination in FBI Laboratory firmly established Oswald's rifle as the murder weapon.)

The author referred to the "curious absence of fingerprints on the rifle" while apparently placing little credence in the palm print of Oswald found on the rifle and which is equally conclusive with fingerprints as a positive means of identification.

Sauvage is critical of the Dallas Police and the "incoherent, uncorroborating, or self-contradictory affirmations of District Attorney Wade in his press conference of November 24, 1963." He alleges that details of the FBI report were "leaked" to the newspapers before the report was sent to the Commission and states "as anyone in a city room knew, the leak had come directly from the FBI."

The author finally concludes that the assassination was the result of a plot by racial extremists, that Oswald was used as a scapegoat and that Jack Ruby was used as the executioner to get rid of the accused assassin.

OBSERVATIONS:

The Commission was created for the purpose of developing full facts concerning the assassination of President Kennedy. Approximately 25,000 interviews and re-interviews were conducted by the FBI alone and the results were furnished to the Commission. In addition, numerous interviews were conducted by other agencies and the Commission Staff. The case against Lee Harvey Oswald, however, will, in all probability, continue to be the subject of distorted speculation by journalistic charlatans such as communist inspired Leo Sauvage who seek to profiteer on the assassination of President Kennedy and to embarrass the United States Government. While the proof against Oswald is certainly clear and convincing, to any reasonably prudent opened-minded individual, the fact that no one saw Oswald pull the trigger and he died without making a confession are sufficient basis for a book of distortion such as "The Oswald Affair" by an unprincipled author such as Leo Sauvage. The book should be immediately recognized by any honest and discerning reader for what it is.

ACTION:

This is submitted for information.

DETAILS:

The Book

"The Oswald Affair" is an expansion of a speculative article by Leo Sauvage, printed under the same caption in the March, 1964, issue of "Commentary," a publication of the American Jewish Committee. In a memorandum concerning this article prepared from A. Rosen to Mr. Belmont on 4/27/64, (attached) it was pointed out that this was similar to other articles being written by foreign authors having background of communist sympathies. Since it was not felt that we had the responsibility of furnishing The President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy (hereafter referred to as The Commission) with every piece of inaccurate, speculative, commentary on the assassination, a copy of the article was not furnished to The Commission.

The book ("The Oswald Affair") was originally published in France and came to our attention in July, 1965, when a copy of the book was furnished to the Bureau by the Legat, Paris. In the International Edition of the "New York Times" on 6/23/65, it was pointed out that Sauvage, the author, had advanced an unsubstantiated hypothesis that the murders of President Kennedy and his suspected assassin, may have been the result of two separate plots. The Times article stated the book presented no new evidence. It was recommended and approved that this 442-page book not be translated since there was no reason to believe it contained any new material (See memo, A. Rosen to Mr. Belmont dated 7/14/65, attached). The current book in English was published in 1966 by the World Publishing Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

The Author

Leo Sauvage, according to information in Bureau files, was born in Nancy, France 2/23/13, and has been employed as a correspondent and chief of the New York Bureau of "Le Populaire," a French Socialist newspaper. In 1951, information was developed that Sauvage was a member of a small group close to Louis Dolivet, who was refused re-entry to the United States due to Dolivet's suspected communist and Comintern background (100-23792-143). On 9/27/56, a confidential source abroad advised the name of Leo Sauvage appeared on a list of individuals employed by the French Communist Party (64-200-231-1559). The March, 1964, issue of the "Commentary" described Sauvage as an author and New York correspondent for "Le Figaro" for nearly fifteen years.

Rosen to DeLoach Memorandum
RE: THE OSWALD AFFAIR

The Review

Even though the author reaches page 285 before openly stating his conclusion that "no matter how I turned the case around to see it from every angle, I find nothing to show that Oswald was the assassin of President Kennedy," one does not have to read this far to know that this is the theme of his book. On page 236, Sauvage states "Personally, I don't see why it should be necessary for a reporter to limit himself to reproducing dispassionately, everything said or done as if nothing affected him leaving all comment to the editorial writers." Throughout the book, the author furnished his personal "comment" in a very generous way.

In the first chapter, the author engages in much speculation as to whether Oswald had sufficient time to reach the lunchroom on the second floor of the Depository Building following the assassination and before he was seen by Officer Baker of the Dallas Police Department and Mr. Roy Truly, the building manager. The author concludes, it is a fundamental principal of the American law that any uncertainty should be interpreted to the advantage of the accused and the only conclusion of the Warren Commission is that "Oswald could have fired the shots and still have been present in the second floor lunchroom when seen by Baker and Truly."

Chapter two entitled "The Chicken Bones Mystery" is devoted to lengthy speculation concerning some partly eaten chicken and some chicken bones found on the sixth floor of the Depository Building which created an inference that an accomplice of the assassin of President Kennedy had left them there. (Page 644 of The Commission Report comments concerning this speculation and sets forth the findings of The Commission that the chicken lunch had been eaten on November 22, 1963, by Johnnie Ray Williams, an employee of the Texas School Book Depository, who after eating his lunch, went to the fifth floor where he was when the shots were fired.)

In Chapter three, the author engages in more speculation as to whether the rifle allegedly used by Oswald was capable of being fired with accuracy at a moving target in five or six seconds. (The Commission's Report in pages 194, 195 sets forth results of actual tests made by experts which proved a skilled person could fire three accurately aimed shots with this weapon in five seconds.)

In Chapter four, the author questions the findings of the FBI Laboratory that one bullet and two fragments were identifiable by markings as having been fired from Oswald's rifle. To support this questioning, Sauvage, on page 66, writes that he has "no intention of questioning the technical competence of Frazier" (referring to SA Robert A. Frazier of the FBI Laboratory) but he concludes "I do have the right to remind them, however, that none of the police manuals I have checked seems inclined to admit the possibility of positive identification in conditions comparable to those indicated above." Beginning on page 91 in discussing the murder of Officer Tippit, Sauvage referred to an inquiry conducted in Dallas by George and Patricia Nash, described as "two young research assistants" at Columbia University, Bureau of Applied Social Research and contended that they named a number of essential witnesses who were never questioned or contacted by The Commission. Sauvage stated that the "most amazing negligence" as revealed by the Nashes was the absence of any effort on the part of the FBI or The Commission to question Clayton Butler, the ambulance driver, and Eddie Kinsley, his assistant, who arrived on the scene of the Tippit murder minutes after it had happened. Since they took him away before the police arrived, they could have provided such indispensable details as the exact position of the body, according to Sauvage. It is further alleged the FBI and The Commission similarly neglected to question Frank Wright, who lived in a ground-floor apartment on Tenth Street.

While the FBI had no jurisdiction in the murder of Officer Tippit, (this was investigated by the Dallas Police Department) we have previously considered the findings of the Nashes and there was no reason to believe that the remote possible witnesses suggested by them could furnish any information of value which had not been established through other sources. More than 13 witnesses testified before The Commission concerning the Tippit murder. On page 174 of The Commission's report it is reported that witnesses who testified included two eyewitnesses who heard the shots and saw the shooting and seven eyewitnesses who saw the flight of the gunman with revolver in hand and positively identified Oswald as the man they saw fire the shots or flee from the scene. It was further established that the revolver in Oswald's possession had been purchased by him using the alias of A. J. Hidell.

The book is most critical of The Commission for its failure to allow Mark Lane to represent Oswald before The Commission claiming that this deprived him of the right to cross-examine Oswald's accusers.

The author's reasoning, perhaps reaches its lowest point of obfuscation when writing about the rifle used by Oswald in the assassination of President Kennedy. Sauvage admits it was proved that Oswald owned a rifle but claims that since he did not order any ammunition at the time he ordered the rifle, the idea had not come to him that he might really use it one day. The author goes on to say that the investigators did not even prove that Oswald owned the "lethal weapon" since "an unloaded rifle is not a lethal weapon." (It is noted that the examination in the FBI Laboratory determined that the three empty cartridge cases found near the window from which the shots were fired had been fired in the rifle owned by Oswald. It was also determined that a bullet found on the stretcher and two fragments found in the automobile in which President Kennedy was riding had been fired from the rifle owned by Oswald. This information is reported on page 18 of the FBI report.)

The author referred to the "curious absence of fingerprints on the rifle." He apparently placed little credence in the fact that the Commission's Report contains testimony by an FBI expert who identified the latent print lifted from a portion of the rifle as the right palm print of Oswald (page 123 of the Commission's Report). It is, of course, well established that a palm print is just as conclusive as a fingerprint as a means of positive identification.

Sauvage is critical of the Dallas Police and the "incoherent, uncorroborated, or self-contradictory affirmations of District Attorney Wade in his press conference of November 24, 1963." The author further alleges that details of the FBI Report were "leaked" to the newspapers before the report was sent to The Commission and states "as anyone in a city room knew, the leak had come directly from the FBI."

After concluding that Oswald was not the assassin of President Kennedy, Sauvage makes a prefunctory analysis of various theories and finally settles on the conclusion "of all the possible objectives in the assassination, I find only one that the organizer of the plot could reasonably have expected to achieve: the defense of white supremacy in the South." The author contends that these "racial extremists," tried to divert suspicion using Oswald as a scapegoat and this was followed by another plot to get rid of the accused assassin using Jack Ruby as the executioner.

In a final chapter to Sauvage's American edition of his book under the title "American Postscript" he makes reference to a "special introduction" by Harrison E. Salisbury to a paperback edition of The Commission's Report in which Salisbury referred to Sauvage and others as "mythmakers" who did not consider The Warren Report a "hard rock basis of fact." Sauvage added that if Salisbury has a chance to correct his "special introduction" to The Warren Report someday, he hopes Salisbury will not forget to include among his list of "mythmakers" the man "who, according to the Warren Commission must be the greatest mythmaker of all: J. Edgar Hoover." Earlier in the chapter Sauvage had made reference to his allegation that the FBI leaked its report to the newspapers before it was given to The Warren Commission and he presumed the Warren Commission for this reason had been displeased with the FBI.

SYNOPSIS

The Director has instructed memo be prepared briefly citing criticism of FBI by Warren Commission and indicating whether the Director has publicly answered these criticisms.

Report of Warren Commission contains a conclusion that "there was insufficient liaison and coordination of information between the Secret Service and other Federal agencies" including the FBI--and that "the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination" of President Kennedy. Warren Commission Report also reflects a conclusion of the Commission that "even in the absence of Secret Service criteria which specifically required the referral of such a case as (Lee Harvey) Oswald's to the Secret Service, a more alert and carefully considered treatment of the Oswald case by the Bureau might have brought about a referral" of data regarding Oswald to the Secret Service in connection with the Kennedy visit to Dallas.

During his November 18, 1964, background briefing for a group of newswomen, the Director was asked if he would comment on the Warren Report. He told the newswomen that the report was not fair to the FBI; that the Commission had distorted the FBI's investigation of Oswald; that Oswald had not given any indication of being a violent type or a threat to the President. The Director pointed out that every crack pot cannot be arrested without creating a police state, and he said there was no truth to rumors of "bureaucratic jealousy" between the FBI and Secret Service.

REC-126 62-109060-518

In March, 1965, Appropriations Testimony, the Director cited a report of the State Department which indicated that Oswald was a "thoroughly safe risk."

DETAILS

The Director has instructed that a memorandum be prepared briefly citing criticism of the FBI by the Warren Commission and indicating whether the Director has publicly answered these criticisms.

CRITICISM OF FBI

The report of the Warren Commission, received by the Bureau in September, 1964, contains the following direct criticisms:

Page 24 - "The Commission has concluded that there was insufficient liaison and coordination of information between the Secret Service and other Federal agencies necessarily concerned with Presidential protection. Although the FBI, in the normal exercise of its responsibility, had secured considerable information about Lee Harvey Oswald, it had no official responsibility, under the Secret Service criteria existing at the time of the President's trip to Dallas, to refer to the Secret Service the information it had about Oswald. The Commission has concluded, however, that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination. A more carefully coordinated treatment of the Oswald case by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's activities to the attention of the Secret Service."

Page 440 - "The Commission has considered carefully the question whether the FBI, in view of all the information concerning Oswald in its files, should have alerted the Secret Service to Oswald's presence in Dallas prior to President Kennedy's visit. The Secret Service and the FBI differ as to whether Oswald fell within the category of 'threats against the President' which should be referred to the Service.

"Robert I. Bouck, special agent in charge of the Protective Research Section (PRS), testified that the information available to the Federal Government about Oswald before the assassination would, if known to PRS, have made Oswald a subject of concern to the Secret Service. Bouck pointed to a number of characteristics besides Oswald's defection the cumulative effect of which would have been to alert the Secret Service to potential danger... Mr. Bouck pointed out, however, that he had no reason to believe that any one Federal agency had access to all this information, including the significant fact that Oswald was employed in a building which overlooked the motorcade route."

Page 443-444 - "The Commission believes...that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its responsibilities in preventive intelligence work, prior to the assassination...There were no Secret Service criteria which specifically required the referral of Oswald's case to the Secret Service; nor was there any requirement to report the names of defectors. However, there was much material in the hands of the FBI about Oswald: the knowledge of his defection, his arrogance and hostility to the United States, his pro-Castro tendencies, his lies when interrogated by the FBI, his trip to Mexico where he was in contact with Soviet authorities, his presence in the School Book Depository job and its location along the route of the motorcade. All this does seem to amount to enough to have induced an alert agency, such as the FBI, possessed of this information to list Oswald as a potential threat to the safety of the President. This conclusion may be tinged with hindsight, but it stated primarily to direct the thought of those responsible for the future safety of our Presidents to the need for a more imaginative and less narrow interpretation of their responsibilities.

"It is the conclusion of the Commission that, even in the absence of Secret Service criteria which specifically required the referral of such a case as Oswald's to the Secret Service, a more alert and carefully considered treatment of the Oswald case by the Bureau might have brought about such a referral. Had such a review been undertaken by the FBI, there might conceivably have been additional investigation of the Oswald case between November 5 and November 22. Agent Hosty testified that several matters brought to his attention in late October and early November, including the visit to the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City, required further attention. Under proper procedures knowledge of the pending Presidential visit might have prompted Hosty to have made more vigorous efforts to locate Oswald's roominghouse address in Dallas and to interview him regarding these unresolved matters.

"The formal FBI instructions to its agents outlining the information to be referred to the Secret Service were too narrow at the time of the assassination. While the Secret Service bears the principal responsibility for this failure, the FBI instructions did not reflect fully the Secret Service's need for information regarding potential threats."

Page 444 - "Most important, notwithstanding that both agencies have professed to the Commission that the liaison between them was close and fully sufficient, the Commission does not believe that the liaison between the FBI and the Secret Service prior to the assassination was as effective as it should have been."

Page 458 - "The Secret Service had no knowledge whatever of Oswald, his background, or his employment at the Book Depository, and Robert I. Bouck, who was in charge of the Protective Research Section of the Secret Service, believed that the accumulation of the facts known to the FBI should have constituted a sufficient basis to warn the Secret Service of the Oswald risk.

"The Commission believes that both the FBI and the Secret Service have too narrowly construed their respective responsibilities."

Page 459 - "...this Commission is convinced of the necessity of better coordination and direction of the activities of all existing agencies of Government which are in a position to, and do, furnish information and services related to the security of the President. The Commission feels the Secret Service and the FBI, as well as the State Department and the CIA when the President travels abroad, could improve their existing capacities and procedures so as to lessen the chances of assassination."

DIRECTOR'S PUBLIC STATEMENT REGARDING CRITICISMS

On November 18, 1964, the Director held a background briefing session for Sarah McClendon and a group of other newswomen. During this session, the Director was asked if he would comment on the Warren Report. The Director said the Report was not fair as far as the FBI is concerned; that the Commission did not release the full testimony of witnesses; that we could not arrest every crack pot without creating a police state. The Director stated the Warren Commission had completely distorted the FBI's investigation of Oswald; that Oswald had not given any indication of being a violent type of individual--nor did his actions show he was a threat to the President.

When asked a question by the women reporters as to whether "bureaucratic jealousy" exists between the FBI and the Secret Service and between the FBI and CIA, the Director replied that there is not one scintilla of truth in such rumors.

The Director's remarks during his November 18, 1964, briefing session for the newswomen were widely reported. An article in the November 19, 1964, issue of "The Evening Star" in Washington, D. C., reported that the Director "blasted the Warren Commission as 'unfair and unjust' " and that he "angrily charged the Warren Commission with 'a classic example of Monday morning quarterbacking.' " The article in "The Evening Star" continued, "In New York City alone, Hoover complained, 7,000 persons would have to be taken out of circulation every time a President makes a public appearance if it were deemed necessary to remove 'every individual who might threaten the safety of the President.' " The article further quoted the Director as stating there is "not a scintilla" of jealousy between the FBI and the Secret Service.

While the Director made reference to the Warren Commission, in his March, 1965, testimony before the House Subcommittee on Appropriations, his testimony did not deal with criticisms of the FBI. The Director did, however, cite a report of the State Department which indicated that Lee Harvey Oswald was a "thoroughly safe risk."

Jones Attack, Warren Report

Articles in two current magazines take up the theory that a conspiracy was behind the assassination of President Kennedy — one supporting such speculation and another undercutting it.

While exploring some territory gone over earlier by other critics of the Warren Commission, Ramparts magazine focuses on the "at least 10" persons "known to have been murdered, to have committed suicide or died in suspicious circumstances since the Kennedy assassination."

The accounts of the deaths are principally the work of Penn Jones Jr., editor of the Midlothian (Texas) Mirror.

At a news conference yesterday, Jones emphasized his belief that Lee Harvey Oswald was a "patsy" for an unidentified actual killer, or killers, and their co-conspirators. They, Jones reasoned, would have relied neither upon Oswald's "poor marksmanship" nor upon his rifle, which was of inferior design and defective to boot.

Also at the news conference was David Welsh, a Ramparts news editor, who wrote an accompanying piece in the magazine, detailing investigations carried on by members of the Ramparts' staff and others, in connection with the deaths.

It is the very defectiveness of the rifle that helped to persuade Dr. John K. Lattimer, a student of the medical aspects of presidential assassinations, that it was Oswald, and Oswald alone, who killed the President. Writing in the Oct. 24 Journal of the American Medical Association, the Columbia University urologist said:

"President Kennedy apparently sustained his second and fatal bullet wound in the back of the right side of his head, only because of a pair of unusual coincidences.

"The first was . . . that the telescopic sight of Oswald's rifle was aimed defectively, so that the bullets struck approximately 4 inches to the right of the aiming point and a little high.

"Coincidentally, however, the presidential automobile was following a course which curved to the right just enough to compensate for this error in the telescope.

"The second coincidence lay in the fact that President Kennedy was wearing not only a rigid metal and canvas back brace, but he had further reinforced its rigid support for the lower portion of his body by binding the brace to himself with an elastic knit bandage.

"The first bullet inflicted a nonfatal wound in the soft tissues of the neck. As a result of the unusual rigidity of his body, his torso did not crumple or topple over out of sight.

"Instead, his stiffened body merely tilted slightly sideways, leaving the back of his head exposed to Oswald's rifle with its telescopic sight."

Here are summaries from the Ramparts accounts of the deaths of some of the persons who had "crucial scraps of knowledge" and who "died mysteriously":

Jim Koethe, a young Dallas reporter, was apparently killed in his apartment by "a karate chop" to the neck. Robbery was the indicated motive, but his notes for an intended book on the assassination also were missing. Larry Earl Reno, 22, a former convict was arrested but "District Attorney Henry Wade secretly instructed the grand jurors not to indict" and they did not.

Bill Hunter was a Long Beach, Calif., reporter who covered the assassination and was killed April 23, 1964. He had been "seated at his desk in the press room of the Long Beach public safety building when Detective Creighton Wiggins Jr. burst into the room. A single bullet from Wiggins struck Hunter in the heart . . . Wiggins' story underwent several changes. His final version was that he and his partner had been playing cops and robbers with guns drawn when his gun started to slip from his hand and went off."

In eight other deaths, Ramparts questions official explanations including heart attacks, a suicide by hanging, a throat slitting in front of a broken plate glass window, and auto accidents.

SUBJECT: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION (BIASED BOOKS)

PURPOSE:

Attached for approval is a memorandum concerning Mark Lane and his book, "Rush to Judgment," which reviews some of the discrepancies, false statements, and irresponsible claims made by the author, each of which is properly documented.

BACKGROUND:

Following approval set forth in memorandum Mr. DeLoach to Mr. Tolson, dated 9/26/66, a review has been made of Lane's book for the purpose of furnishing some pertinent highlights which may be used to set the record straight. The information set forth in the attached memorandum is not confidential and is either public source data or is set forth in the Commission's Report.

For example, one point dealt with in the attached memorandum specifically sets forth the true facts concerning the autopsy report of the President's death and establishes that the allegations made by Lane that either the original autopsy report was modified or dealt with in an irresponsible manner are completely false. This is documented by information set forth in the Commission's Report.

This is submitted for your information.

"RUSH TO JUDGMENT"

by Mark Lane

Mark Lane, an attorney, is the author of a book entitled, "Rush to Judgment." He claims it is "A Critique of the Warren Commission's Inquiry into the Murder of President John F. Kennedy, Officer J. D. Tippit, and Lee Harvey Oswald." It is considered to be a cleverly contrived piece of literature designed to discredit the President's Commission and its findings.

The American public should not be led into a state of belief by what Lane has written, as with all his criticisms and suppositions he has not established that any individual other than Lee Harvey Oswald was responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy or that a conspiracy was involved to kill our late President. The President's Commission in its report, supported by the 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits, clearly defines the investigation conducted which led to its final conclusion.

Lane, in his book, has set forth numerous irresponsible and speculative claims. In essence, his book is the result of the approach he has been assuming since the early days of the Warren Commission's inquiries and prior to the published findings of the Commission, when he appeared publicly on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad. (100-409763-Vols. 2 and 3)

Lane states in his book, "If the Commission covered itself with shame, it also reflected shame on the Federal Government. The readiness with which its findings were accepted I believe to have been symptomatic of disease." Considering the extensiveness of the Commission's inquiry, Lane's rationale for the use of "readiness" is in itself cancerous. (page 398) press dispatch dated April 5, 1964, at Budapest, reported that Mark Lane, an attorney from New York, appeared before the Congress of the International Association of Democratic Lawyers in Budapest, at which time he asked for the creation of an international commission to be entrusted with the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy. At this meeting he made various statements that the official theory of the assassination of the President was false. It is noted the International Association of Democratic Lawyers has been cited as an international communist-front organization in the "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," revised and published December 1, 1961, by the Committee on Un-American Activities, U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. (100-409763-43)

The May 27, 1953, issue of the "Daily Worker" stated that the National Lawyers' Guild held an election of officers on May 26, 1953, and that Mark Lane was elected an ex officio member of the Board of Directors of the National Lawyers' Guild. The "Daily Worker" was an East Coast communist newspaper which is no longer published. The House Committee on Un-American Activities report number 3123, dated September 21, 1950, cited the National Lawyers' Guild as a communist-front, which "is the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist Party, its front organizations, . . ." (100-409763-19)

The December 18, 1961, edition of "The Militant" reported that on December 6, 1961, Lane spoke at a rally sponsored by the New York Council to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities and said his first official action during the coming session of the New York State Legislature would be to persuade Congress to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities. It is noted Lane was elected to the New York State Assembly in 1960, and in May, 1962, was defeated in an attempt to secure the nomination as candidate for the United States Congress from the 19th Congressional District of New York. (100-409763-19)

"The Militant" is a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party, which party was cited as a "subversive and communist organization which seeks to alter the form of government of the United States" ("Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," revised December 1, 1961).

"Rush to Judgment"

The introduction to Lane's book was written by Hugh Trevor-Roper, a historian at Oxford University in England. He contended the whole Warren Commission Report was a series of conclusions based on carefully selected evidence and that the full body of evidence does not point necessarily to the Commission's conclusions. He stated criticism should take place before judgment and that, "If the Warren Commission had allowed Mark Lane to contest their evidence before judgment, there would have been no need of his book." Newspaper articles published in England revealed Hugh Trevor-Roper was a severe critic of the findings of the President's Commission and he was taken to task by close associates for his reasoning which was "marred by bias and blotted with inaccuracies." (62-109060-3948; 62-109090 A-1/4/65)

Lane sets forth in his book many statements and hypotheses which, under close scrutiny, are found to be inaccurate or willful distortions. For example, Lane states on Page 307, "The case against Lee Harvey Oswald was comprised essentially of evidence from two sources: Dallas police officers and Marina Oswald." The basis for such a statement is incomprehensible when reviewing the Commission's Report, the 26 volumes of hearings and exhibits, the preponderance of physical evidence, as well as interviews with hundreds of individuals, all of which contributed to the Commission's final conclusion.

In addition, one should closely examine the following statement made by Lane on Page 141 of his book: "The rules of evidence ordinarily require an intact chain of events before a physical exhibit -- such as a murder weapon -- may be associated with the defendant. The Commission failed to present evidence of such a chain linking Oswald to the Mannlicher-Carcano. The evidence presented actually raised doubts that he could have possibly come by the weapon in the fashion described by the Commission."

This is a completely irresponsible statement since the Commission's Report, beginning on Page 118, traces the rifle from Klein's Sporting Goods Company, Chicago, Illinois, to Oswald, that the printing on the face of the money order coupon ordering the gun was that of Oswald, that the post office box to which the rifle was shipped was rented by Oswald, and finally that Oswald's palm print was located on the rifle barrel. This was established through the testimony of expert witnesses.

"Rush to Judgment"

Lane again clouds the issue by contending on Page 65, that if the FBI report of December 9, 1963, was accurate, the Commission's explanation of the throat wound in President Kennedy was inaccurate, as is the Commission's finding that a bullet entered the back of the President's neck. This report revealed "Medical examination of the President's body revealed that one of the bullets had entered just below his shoulder to the right of the spinal column at an angle of 45 to 60 degrees downward, that there was no point of exit, and that the bullet was not in the body."

This statement was accurately reported. The report reflects that the information was orally furnished to Special Agents of the FBI who attended the autopsy performed on the President at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland. Following the autopsy of the President the FBI received the President's clothing and an examination by the FBI Laboratory determined that a slit having the characteristics of an exit hole for a projectile was located in the front of the shirt worn by the President. This information was contained in a supplemental report prepared by the FBI, dated January 13, 1964.

Commander James J. Humes, one of the physicians who performed the autopsy on President Kennedy, subsequent to the conclusion of the autopsy examination, concluded a bullet had passed through the President. He believed that a tracheotomy had been performed on the President at Dallas, Texas, which might have obliterated the exit wound. On the following morning, November 23, 1963, he telephonically contacted Dr. Malcolm O. Perry at Dallas, who verified there was a missile wound in the front of the President's neck and this wound had been used as the point to make the incision for the tracheotomy. (Page 89 of the Commission Report)

During the early stages of the autopsy the surgeons were unable to find a path into any large muscle in the back of the neck. When the surgeons learned that a whole bullet had been found on a stretcher at the Parkland Hospital, this led to the speculation that the bullet might have penetrated a short distance into the neck and dropped out onto the stretcher as the result of external heart massage. Further exploration during the autopsy disproved that theory. The surgeons determined that the bullet had passed between two large strap muscles and bruised them without leaving any channel since the bullet merely passed between them. (Page 88 of the Commission Report)

"Rush to Judgment"

Howard L. Brennan was an eyewitness to the assassination who subsequently identified Lee Harvey Oswald. Lane has gone into great detail in order to discredit Brennan. The President's Commission set forth the testimony of Brennan, which appears on Pages 64 and 65 of the President's Commission Report. In addition, his verbatim testimony appears in Volume III, "Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy," Pages 161, and 184 through 186.

In this connection, Lane in attempting to support his theory of a conspiracy refers to the testimony of 18-year-old Arnold Rowland. Lane, on Page 397 of his book, states, "Rowland's testimony should have been accepted and Brennan's rejected." Rowland claimed he observed a man with a rifle on the southwest corner, sixth floor, of the Texas School Depository Building and had also seen an elderly man "hanging out that window" on the southeast corner of the sixth floor. In commenting on Rowland's credibility, the Commission Report, on Page 251, states "The investigation showed that numerous statements by Rowland concerning matters about which he would not normally be expected to be mistaken -- such as subjects he studied in school, grades he received, whether or not he had graduated from high school, and whether or not he had been admitted to college -- were false."

Lane devotes an entire chapter (Page 114) to the initial identification of the murder weapon as being a German Mauser rather than an Italian carbine. He alludes to statements made to the press by Dallas authorities initially identifying the gun incorrectly and by inference he attempts to substantiate his theory of a conspiracy and that the Commission should have explored this discrepancy more thoroughly.

"Rush to Judgment"

Actually, the Commission conducted extensive inquiries into this phase of the investigation. Deputy Constable Seymour Weitzman, one of the first officers to observe the weapon, testified on April 1, 1964, in Dallas, Texas. His testimony is revealed in Volume VII, Pages 105 through 109 of the "Hearings Before the President's Commission." Deputy Weitzman was questioned by Mr. Joseph A. Ball, Assistant Counsel of the President's Commission. On Page 108, Mr. Ball asked Deputy Weitzman, "In the statement that you made to the Dallas Police Department that afternoon, you referred to the rifle as a 7.65 Mauser bolt action?" Deputy Weitzman replied, "In a glance, that's what it looked like." Mr. Ball then asked, "That's what it looked like - did you say that or someone else say that?" To which Mr. Weitzman replied, "No; I said that. I thought it was one." (a Mauser)

The Italian carbine was conclusively established as the murder weapon by experts who examined the bullet found on the stretcher at Parkland Hospital and that the three cartridge cases found on the sixth floor of the Texas School Depository Building were fired from the rifle. (Pages 18, 19, 84 and 85 of the Commission Report)

Lane on Page 44 states there is some evidence to "suggest" that one or more shots may have been fired from the Book Depository as the Warren Commission maintained, but "it is considerably less compelling than the evidence suggesting that shots came from behind the fence." He was referring to the fence located on a grassy knoll near the triple overpass. Lane continued by saying, "To contend, however, that shots came from the knoll is not to say that no shots were fired from elsewhere. But it is impossible to contend at one and the same time that some shots came from the fence and that a lone assassin -- Oswald -- fired from the Book Depository window. As the Commission was to remain faithful to the latter conclusion, it had first to prove that no shots came from the knoll. In attempting to do so, the Report cited evidence out of context, ignored and reshaped evidence and -- which is perhaps worse -- oversimplified evidence."

With reference to the above contention of Lane the Commission Report specifically states that "In contrast to the testimony of the witnesses who heard and observed shots fired from the Depository, the Commission's investigation has disclosed no credible evidence that any shots were fired from anywhere else."

During a conversation with Mr. Thomas H. Kelley, Assistant Director, U.S. Secret Service, on other matters, Mr. Kelley in general conversation brought up the number of books that were coming out as well as the articles and publications in newspapers concerning the assassination. He commented on the fact that for the most part the articles and books were directed primarily to the Warren Commission relative to the manner in which they conducted the inquiry.

During the conversation, Kelley mentioned the fact that some of the criticism centered around the medical examination at the time the autopsy was performed as compared to the eventual medical reports as set forth in Warren Commission findings. In this connection, Kelley advised that Secret Service had received specific instructions from Robert Kennedy that the autopsy report and photographs were not to be released. Kelley advised no information from the autopsy was released by Secret Service until it was turned over to the Warren Commission on December 23, 1963, at the specific request of General Counsel J. Lee Rankin, Warren Commission, which request had been made through the Bureau to Secret Service.

ReBureau letter dated 10/19/66 to Mr. WESLEY J. LIEBELER, enclosing copy of letter to Bureau from Mr. LIEBELER dated 10/14/66, wherein he requested assistance in obtaining information for a book he is writing, describing generally how the President's Commission on the assassination of President KENNEDY conducted its investigation.

Enclosed for the Bureau is one Xerox copy of a letter from Mr. WESLEY G. LIEBELER to Mr. CHARLES KLIHR, 2046 Rosebud, Irving, Texas, dated 10/12/66 which letter is self explanatory. Mr. LIEBELER's letter was furnished the Dallas Office by a letter from Mr. KLIHR, reflecting his address as 1703 Salem, Irving, Texas. Mr. KLIHR advised that he had no intention of answering the letter because Mr. LIEBELER did not give a suitable reason for his inquiry. Mr, KLIHR stated in his letter that the enclosure of the photograph mentioned in Mr. LIEBELER's letter was not received by him.

For the Bureau's information, investigation concerning the 1957 Chevrolet mentioned by Mr. LIEBELER is reflected on page 263 of the report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING dated 5/28/64 at Dallas, Texas, and in the report of SA GEMBERLING dated 7/2/64, on page 104, both captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka., etc." Dallas file does not reflect KLIHR was interviewed during this investigation.

The Dallas Office is in complete agreement that no information whatsoever should be given to Mr. LIEBELER and questions the possession by Mr. LIEBELER of copies of exhibits indicated in his letter to Mr. KLIHR. No investigation being conducted, UACB.

Dear Mr. Klihr:

I am a former assistant counsel to the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. My interest in some aspects of the events of November 22, 1963 has been rearoused by some of the books that have been recently published about the Commission and its Report.

One of the pictures that Oswald took of the area around General Walker's house showed a car parked behind the General's house. The picture was mutilated by someone in such a manner that the license plate is no longer visible. When we noticed this during the investigation we asked the FBI to determine whose car it was. They asked Mr. Surrey about it and he told them he thought it was your car. I find no indication that FBI agents talked to you about the matter, however.

When I asked General Walker about it, he was not able to identify the car, which appears to be a 1957 Chevrolet.

I would appreciate it very much if you would let me know whether or not the FBI did interview you about this and if you were able to identify the car as your own. I enclose a copy of the exhibit in question so that you can determine now whether it is your car or not, if the FBI did not interview you about it.

As this matter is of some importance to me, I hope very much that you will be able to extend your cooperation.

Sincerely,

SUBJECT: THE HERALD OF FREEDOM
FRANK A. CAPELL,
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER

David H. McCabe, in the Office of Henri G. Grignon, Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security, Department of State, by-form letter dated 10-12-66, furnished a copy of the October 7, 1966, issue of "The Herald of Freedom." This issue relates to the Warren Commission and states, in substance, that the report filed by this Commission was a cover up. It indicates that a number of witnesses interviewed by the FBI, the Secret Service and other agencies were not called to testify before the Commission and alleges the report was an obvious effort to prove that only one man (Oswald) was involved in the assassination.

The FBI is mentioned several times in this publication in connection with investigation conducted by the Bureau relating to the President's assassination. None of these references are critical in nature.

INFORMATION IN BUFILES:

Frank A. Capell publishes "The Herald of Freedom" from his residence in Zarephath, New Jersey. This newsletter relates primarily to alleged security risks in agencies of the U. S. Government. It is an expose-type of publication reflecting the extremist views of Capell, who considers himself an expert on communism. Capell has no qualms about charging people with disloyalty based on information received from public sources or sources whose reliability is unknown.

Capell has volunteered information to the Bureau in the past, which information has been considered largely unreliable as much of it has been false or not subject to corroboration. He has consistently refused to divulge his sources of information.

RE: THE HERALD OF FREEDOM

Bufiles reflect that Capell was arrested by the Bureau in 1943, while employed by the War Production Board in New York City, for accepting a bribe. He pleaded guilty, was given a suspended sentence, placed on probation and fined $2,000. In February, 1965, he was indicted by a grand jury in Los Angeles County, California, for criminal libel for printing that Senator Thomas H. Kuchel (R-California) had been arrested in 1950 for homosexual activities. He was convicted, fined $500 and placed on probation after pleading "no contest" to the charge.

OBSERVATIONS:

The Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security at the State Department has for some months furnished us copies of various "The Herald of Freedom" issues by the same type of form letter as the above-mentioned letter of 10-12-66. These copies of "The Herald of Freedom" have been furnished only for information and were not accompanied by requests by the State Department for any action on our part. In view of this, these form letters have not been acknowledged in the past and it is not believed necessary to acknowledge the 10-12-66 letter. (94-59092)

A BOOK FOR TODAY

Foreign View of Kennedy Probe

A-10

By JEREMIAH O'LEARY

THE OSWALD AFFAIR: An Examination of the Contradictions and Ommissions of the Warren Report. By Leo Sauvage. The World Publishing Co. 418 pages. $6.95.

The correspondent for Le Figaro in the United States has two sentiments about the way things are in America that may partly explain his disbelief in the findings of the Warren Commission.

About the U.S. press, he writes: "Personally, I don't see why it should be necessary for a reporter to limit himself to reproducing dispassionately everything said or done as if nothing affected him, leaving all comment to the editorial writers."

About the U.S. concept of courtroom justice: "Americans do have a rather extreme concept of the required impartiality of jurors; foreign correspondents who sat through the selection of the jury in the Ruby trial marveled at the procedure. It seemed to them that the perfect juror would be the village idiot who never read a newspaper, never listened to the radio or watched TV (except soap operas)...."

Perhaps this American correspondent might be permitted to observe that Lee Oswald was handled with considerably more circumspection by the Dallas police in connection with the murder of Kennedy than he would have been in Paris. He was not, in fact, charged with Kennedy's murder but with that of Policeman J. D. Tippit. The French people live with the Code Napoleon under which a suspect is presumed guilty until proven innocent.

It is also a fact of life that French newspapers are fairly free in labeling suspects as guilty parties in criminal cases while American newspapers in general adhere closely to the language of warrants, indictments and quoted statements by responsible officials. If Sauvage's theory that U.S. newspapers should speculate on the guilt or innocence of parties in criminal cases is valid, would that not be even more reason to seek out juries that have not formed any opinion or read that of others about the facts involved?

Sauvage's book, like all the others, demonstrates an incredible facility at hair-splitting.

Item: Sauvage is fascinated by the chicken bones found near the window from which the death shot was fired at Kennedy and believes they could have been left there by an accomplice. But the commission identified the building employe who ate the chicken and left the bones.

Item: Sauvage questions that the rifle allegedly used by Oswald was capable of being fired with accuracy at a moving target in 5 or 6 seconds. But tests at the FBI laboratory proved that such a thing was possible. And it is important to point out again that although three shots were fired, the first bullet clearly could have been loaded and locked long before the target came into view. Therefore, the stop-watch starts with the pulling of a trigger and only two movements of the bolt had to follow the first shot.

Item: Sauvage claims a number of essential witnesses to the murder of Policeman Tippit were never interviewed. But the commission heard 13 witnesses to that slaying, including two eyewitnesses. All identified Oswald.

Item: Sauvage makes much of the idea that since Oswald did not order ammunition when he bought the assassination rifle, it therefore was not a lethal weapon "since an unloaded weapon is not a lethal weapon." The FBI laboratory established that the rifle Oswald bought fired the shots that killed Kennedy and that his palm-print was on the weapon.

It is Sauvage's conclusion that the assassination was the result of a plot by racial extremists, that Oswald was their instrument and that Jack Ruby was assigned to be Oswald's executioner, possibly by a separate group of plotters.

Any reasonable person is entitled to wonder about genuine mysteries, notably that Oswald died without confessing and that no one saw him fire the shots that killed Kennedy. But it is strange for a Frenchman to find nothing in the evidence to show that Oswald was the assassin and to contend that any uncertainty should be interpreted to the advantage of the accused.

Napoleon would not have liked that idea at all.

I object when the critics depart from challenging evidence and come up with theories of plots that are totally the products of their imaginations. Sauvage is entitled to applause for the skill with which he demolishes the first in the series of critics, Communist-line American expatriate Thomas Buchanan.

It is such a masterful dissection of an irresponsible pipedream that it is difficult to comprehend that the same author (Sauvage) can postulate his own weird theory.

If Sauvage is right, why wouldn't it have been necessary to get rid of Ruby? I know Ruby could have killed Oswald several times on the night of the President's death because I brushed elbows with him several times as Oswald was led in and out of the Homicide Squad. It would have been easier in the turmoil created by the press mob in the hall than it was on the Sunday morning when Ruby did fire the fatal shot.

If Oswald had to be silenced, why would Sauvage's plotters have waited nearly 48 hours? I believe with the Warren Commission that Oswald was the lone assassin because I have read all of the evidence and prefer to accept it, even with its missing factors, to the dreamed-up theories of Sauvage, Mark Lane, et al.

Reference is made to the Director's letter to captioned individual dated 10/19/66, a copy of which was furnished to this division with the instructions that the Bureau be advised of any requests made of this office by LIEBELER.

On 10/19/66 LIEBELER telephonically contacted the Los Angeles Division and advised that a letter had been directed to Bureau Headquarters, Washington, D. C., requesting certain specific information developed during the investigation of the assassination. He explained that he was one of the assistant counsel to the Warren Commission and participated in the investigation of this matter.

He made no request of the Los Angeles Division other than to advise that he would be happy to come to the Los Angeles Division and discuss the questions he posed to the Bureau for clarification or to further insure that the Bureau's interest is protected. It was pointed out that personnel in the Los Angeles Division would be in no position to evaluate his questions or to assist in this matter. He concluded by indicating that he was willing to cooperate in any way and that he was deeply concerned by the publicity that is being circulated by MARK LANE and others in various publications.

The Bureau will be kept advised of any further contacts by Mr. LIEBELER.

This is to advise a copy of a transcript captioned "A Re-examination of the Warren Commission Findings: a Minority Report," has been obtained. This is a transcript of a show to be telecast on 11/12/66, over WNEW-TV, New York City, and will be seen on WTTG, Channel 5, Washington, D. C., at 9 P.M., 11/12/66. A detailed memorandum will be submitted following a review of this transcript.

BACKGROUND:

A United Press International release indicated a three-hour panel discussion program is to be aired on 11/12/66, by WNEW-TV, dealing with the criticisms of the Warren Commission Report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The program entitled "A Re-examination of the Warren Commission Findings: a Minority Report," is to feature five authors of books and articles on the Commission Report.

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Mr. Charles Simms, Office of Legal Counsel, Department of Justice, called today and advised that the legal action pending with respect to the rifle used by Oswald, as well as the revolver used by Oswald in shooting police Officer Tippit, has been disposed of. He advised that in view of this it would now be permissible to transfer the two weapons from the Bureau to National Archives in accordance with previous correspondence with the Department.

Mr. Simms was requested to furnish the Bureau a letter setting forth the action taken relative to this matter and to put a statement in the letter that the Bureau now has the necessary authorization to transfer these weapons to Archives.

ACTION:

(1) In view of the foregoing, when the letter is received from the Department, giving the Bureau the necessary authorization, the Dallas Office should be requested to ship the two guns referred to above, as well as the holster for the Tippit murder weapon, to the Bureau so they can be transferred to Archives.

(2) Upon receipt of the weapons from Dallas the Laboratory, which has handled the transfer of all exhibits to Archives, will make the necessary arrangements for transfer of the weapons to Archives.

NOTE: The assassination rifle, revolver and holster previously shipped to Dallas on the authority of the Department in connection with the forfeiture proceeding regarding these weapons. By communication dated 11/3/66 the Department advised the litigation concerning these weapons has been terminated and authorized the transfer of these weapons to the National Archives pursuant to Public Law 89-318. By memorandum dated 8/19/66 the AG authorized the transfer to the National Archives all evidence and exhibits that was in possession of the Bureau. All exhibits and evidence have been transferred to the National Archives with the exception of the rifle and revolver and holster. When these items are transferred to the National Archives we will no longer have any of the material obtained during the investigation relating to the assassiaation of President Kennedy in our possession. See memorandum Rosen to DeLoach dated 11/7/66.

This matter telephonically coordinated with Mr. Roy Jevons of the Laboratory Division on 11/5/66, who advised the Laboratory will make arrangements for receiving these exhibits and subsequent transfer to the National Archives.

In my memorandum of 11/3/66, I reported a telephone call from Mr. Marion Johnson of the National Archives and Records Service. He advised of an inquiry from Harold Weisberg, author of "Whitewash: The Report on the Warren Report" concerning information pertaining to spectrographic examinations in our FBI reports. In view of Weisberg's suspected Communist background, it was recommended that Johnson be advised that the FBI could not be of assistance to Weisberg in this matter. The Director noted "O. K. I assume we have given all exhibits & evidence to the Archives as previously directed by A. G."

Pursuant to Bureau approval, Johnson was advised that the FBI could not be of assistance to Weisberg in this matter.

With regard to the Director's comment concerning transfer of evidence and exhibits to Archives, further reference is made to Mr. Rosen's memorandum of 11-7-66 advising of the prior transfer of available material to Archives and the fact that the assassination rifle together with Oswald's pistol and associated holster had been held in Dallas at the Department's instructions pending adjudication of title and pending receipt of the instant authorization for release. The Director instructed that all such items should be transferred to Archives at once.

This is to advise that immediately following initial receipt of Mr. Rosen's memorandum and the Departmental authorization attached thereto for transfer of the remaining items, Laboratory representatives telephonically contacted Mr. Johnson of Archives to arrange for the transfer at the earliest possible date. Johnson subsequently called back to advise that he could receive this material on 11-8-66. Accordingly, the assassination rifle, Oswald's pistol, and its associated holster were personally delivered to Mr. Johnson on 11-8-66, and an appropriate signed receipt was obtained therefor.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS

SYNOPSIS - WARREN COMMISSION

A three-hour television program entitled, "A Re-Examination of the Warren Commission Findings: A Minority Report," will be telecast over WNEW-TV, New York, New York, on 11/12/66, at 9 p.m. This program will be aired over WTTG-TV, Channel 5, Washington, D. C., 8 p.m., 11/12/66. This television program will be a panel-type show and participants are Jacob Cohen, Penn Jones, Mark Lane, Leo Sauvage, and Harold Weisberg. The moderator for this show is Jim Bishop. The New York Office, through established sources, obtained a transcript of this show which was recorded August 30, 1965, and it has been reviewed.

Mark Lane, Leo Sauvage, Harold Weisberg, and Penn Jones have all written books critical of the findings of the President's Commission and these individuals have been the subject of previous memoranda showing that their theories, observations, and writings in many instances were prepared out of context and did not reveal the true picture. This television show furthers their efforts to cloud the issues. They have developed no new information or new evidence which indicates that any individual or group of individuals was responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy other than Lee Harvey Oswald.

Mr. Jacob Cohen said he is a defender of the Commission, however, in some instances, he is critical and contends that some portions of the President's Commission Report are carelessly argued. Based on the information furnished, Mr. Cohen was not identified in Bureau files. The moderator of the show, Jim Bishop, is on the Special Correspondent's List and commented he is the only one on the show who "agrees with the Warren Commission Report as it stands."

Throughout the panel discussion, several points are taken up. These include events leading to the assassination; the "climate" in Dallas at the time and whether it was dangerous for the President; the question of ownership of the assassination rifle; the question of the identification of the assassination rifle by the Dallas Police Department when it was first found on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository Building; the accuracy and the capacity for firing of the assassination rifle; and the validity of various photographs and movies that were obtained and taken during the assassination.

The FBI was mentioned in several instances. For example, Orville Nix was one of the bystanders who photographed the motorcade in Dallas and the film he took, plus his camera, was utilized to establish the sequence of events of the assassination at the re-enactment. Lane alleged the "Nix" film was ruined by the FBI and that the camera was also destroyed by the FBI. These allegations are absolutely false. The autopsy of the President is discussed and mention is made of the report submitted by Bureau Agents who witnessed the autopsy examination performed on the President at Bethesda Naval Hospital. It is stated that the report prepared by our Agents was "a very imprecise document" and "it's a very incomplete document." Our Agents accurately and completely reported the opinions expressed by the attending autopsy physicians.

Penn Jones, a Texas newspaper editor, expounds the theory there is something sinister in the fact that at least 14 people are now dead who he alleges had some extra knowledge or connection with Lee Harvey Oswald. He suggests that Dorothy Kilgallen's death could be part of an over-all plot to kill persons connected with the assassination. Kilgallen was a former newspaper columnist who was granted an exclusive interview with Jack L. Ruby by Chief Justice Warren. She allegedly died from a toxic combination of barbiturates and alcohol.

No new evidence was introduced during this television show and each panel member endeavors to support his own theories and observations. This television show will be recorded by the Laboratory Division and thereafter will be reviewed by the Domestic Intelligence Division, the General Investigative Division, and the Laboratory Division to determine if there is any deviation from the taped script the Bureau received.

re: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

DETAILS:

A three-hour television program entitled, "A Re-Examination of the Warren Commission Findings: A Minority Report," will be telecast over WRCA-TV, New York, New York, on 11/12/66, at 9 p.m. This program will be aired over WTTG-TV, Channel 5, Washington, D. C., 9 p.m., 11/12/65. This television program will be a panel-type show and participants are Jacob Cohen, described as "historian, author of the article, 'The Missing Documents;'" Penn Jones, "Editor, the Midlothian Mirror, and author of 'Forgive My Grief;'" Mark Lane, "ttorney, and author of 'Rush to Judgment;'" Leo Sauvage, "correspondent for Le Figaro, and author of 'The Oswald Affair;'" and Harold Weisberg, "author of 'Whitewash: The Report on the Warren Report.'" The moderator for this show is Jim Bishop, syndicated columnist.

The New York Office, through established sources, obtained a transcript of this show which was recorded August 30, 1966, and it has been reviewed.

Four of the five authors participating in this show, namely, Mark Lane, Leo Sauvage, Harold Weisberg, and Penn Jones, have been critical of the findings of the President's Commission and have all published books setting forth their opinions and observations based on the Commission's findings. In this show, they continue to pursue their allegations that a conspiracy was involved in the assassination of President Kennedy; that the President's Commission ignored witnesses and evidence, manufactured evidence and destroyed evidence to reach their conclusions; there is nothing to show that Oswald was the assassin of President Kennedy; and, several individuals who were interviewed in Dallas, Texas, relating to the assassination have died under mysterious circumstances. Memoranda concerning comments made by these individuals relating to the assassination have previously been prepared and it was determined allegations made were without foundation or substance and in each instance, it was found they developed no new evidence which indicated that any other individual or group of individuals was responsible for the assassination of President Kennedy other than Lee Harvey Oswald.

Mr. Jacob Cohen said that by and large, he is a defender of the Commission and "what I defend, rather what I am convinced by, is that there is one and only one assassin." He said he did not defend the Commission against the charge that "in some of its joints, it is rusty, and that some of the report is carelessly argued." He indicated there are documents which the Commission never saw which are pivotal in its argument and, if they were made public now, could effectively verify or silence some of the theories of his colleagues on the show, referring to Lane, Sauvage, Weisberg, and Jones. Based on information furnished concerning Cohen, he was not identified in Bureau files.

The moderator of the show, Jim Bishop, is on the Special Correspondent's List and has said that he is the only one on the show who "agrees with the Warren Commission Report as it stands."

Throughout the panel discussion, several points are taken up such as the events leading to the assassination, the climate in Dallas at the time of the assassination and whether it was dangerous for the President, ownership of the assassination rifle, the various photographs and movies that were taken and obtained during the investigation, the question of the erroneous reporting of the assassination rifle when it was first found on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository Building, and the accuracy and capacity of firing of the assassination rifle. The autopsy of the President is discussed and in this respect, the FBI has been criticized, especially in connection with the observations of Special Agents Sibert and O'Neill who promptly submitted their FD-302 as to what information was furnished to them by the autopsy physicians. The panel indicated this document was "a very imprecise document" and also that "it's a very incomplete document." This comment is without justification, as when the autopsy was conducted, the autopsy physician, Commander Humes, was not aware a bullet had passed completely through the President until he confirmed his theory on the following morning, 11/23/63, that an exit wound appearing in the front of the President's throat had been obliterated by a tracheotomy performed on the President at Parkland Hospital, Dallas, Texas.

The television script that we received is 131 pages in length. Some specific comments have been withdrawn to point out the inaccuracies and inconsistencies that exist among these panelists. On page 10, Mark Lane referred to a photograph of Lee Harvey Oswald which shows him holding a rifle and he mentioned that Special Agent Shaneyfelt testified this picture had been altered and doctored. This statement is out of context as Special Agent Shaneyfelt testified before the Commission that this photograph had been "retouched" prior to publication in various magazines and newspapers and further the Commission determined the newspapers and publications retouched the photograph themselves and it was not the Bureau.

On page 21, Weisberg commented to the effect the assassination rifle reached the Laboratory without any sight on it, that the sight was in an inoperative condition, and that the sight could never be made to operate. The rifle was received in the Laboratory and the telescopic sight was attached loosely to the rifle, but it is not known what condition the rifle and telescope combination were in at the time of recovery by the Dallas Police Department.

On pages 25, 26, and 27, comments are made by both Leo Sauvage and Mark Lane regarding the ammunition for the assassination rifle. They were exploring the availability and reliability of the ammunition used. Lane commented the Winchester-Western Company sent a letter in which they said because the ammunition was old, it is now of questionable reliability. The moderator, Jim Bishop, commented, "Didn't the FBI test fire this thing the following day, Saturday?" to which Lane replied, the Government did test the weapon "with this old Italian carbine ammunition ..."

The ammunition of the type mentioned was available in Dallas, Texas. Ammunition was used and test fired on numerous occasions by the FBI Laboratory and was found to be in excellent physical condition in every respect. Chronograph tests showed it to perform according to the specifications of the manufacturer. In addition, Special Agent Robert A. Frazier of the Laboratory Division, testified effectively regarding this matter, including the firing and accuracy of the assassination rifle, before the President's Commission on 3/31/64, which clearly established the weapon was a useful weapon. This information is contained in Volume III of the Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, commencing on page 390.

A point is also made by the panelists concerning whether or not Lee Harvey Oswald was present in the window of the Texas School Book Depository Building from which the shots were fired. The President's Commission relied on Mr. Howard L. Brennan, yet the critical panelists attempted to discredit him saying that he lied and also attempted to point out that due to the position of the sun, the height and opening of the window, it was questionable whether Brennan actually did see Oswald. They also go into considerable detail whether or not Oswald was standing or in any other position, however, with all the observations the panelists made, Brennan did identify Lee Harvey Oswald even though he later admitted he withheld information due to fear that reprisals may have been taken against him and his family. The Commission went into this phase thoroughly and is explained when Howard L. Brennan testified before the Commission on 3/24/64, which information appears in Volume III of the Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, beginning on page 140.

The panelists have tried to make a big issue out of the fact that numerous witnesses did not testify before the President's Commission. It must remain in mind that although numerous witnesses did not appear before the President's Commission itself, which comprised only seven members, these witnesses were interviewed by either the Assistant Counsels or Staff members, and their testimony was officially recorded.

The panelists, and especially Mark Lane, discussed at great length the findings relating to the autopsy as to whether the wound appearing in the front of the President's throat was an entrance or exit wound. Lane has, and continues, to attempt to defend his theory that shots also came from another location other than the Texas School Book Depository Building which in reality would bolster his theory that two or more assassins were involved in the assassination of President Kennedy. In this respect, Mr. Jacob Cohen, who has assumed the position of defending the President's Commission, made a clear rebuttal to these allegations.

On pages 59 and 60 reference is made to the Zapruder film which is the film taken by Mr. Abraham Zapruder and reveals the President being struck by the lethal bullet. Mr. Weisberg has contended this film was spliced and that some of the frames were removed, that this was corruption and destruction of essential evidence. Lane, during the discussion, said they were not charging Mr. Zapruder with suppressing the frames in this film, but, "We're charging the Commission."

On pages 61a and 62, Lane refers again to the "Orville Nix film" and alleges the film was ruined by the FBI according to information Nix furnished to Lane. Lane said that "several frames were missing" from the film and alleges "it was the ruined film, the altered film, which was shown to the Commission." This allegation is completely false and again displays the irresponsible approach Lane and the other panelists have taken in furthering their own theories.

The Nix camera was not destroyed by the FBI Laboratory as Lane alleged, as it was used during the re-enactment at Dallas and was working properly at that time and was in good operating condition when it left the Laboratory and was returned to Mr. Nix.

In connection with other photographs, Lane had made reference to a photograph made by Phillip Willis at the assassination scene approximately five minutes after the shots were fired and states that one of the pictures taken by Willis revealed an individual in the background possibly identical to Jack Ruby. Lane alleges the Commission "cropped" the portion of the picture showing this individual at the time the Commission's exhibit was published. The Bureau has no knowledge of any altering or cropping of referred to picture. The Commission determined that Jack Ruby was at a location other than the Texas School Book Depository Building when the President was shot.

On pages 64 to 66, Lane and Weisberg both claim that someone mutilated a photograph found in Oswald's effects portraying an automobile parked in the driveway of General Walker's residence. Lane claimed someone deliberately made a hole in the photograph to remove the portion showing the license plate of the car. This photograph was Commission exhibit 5, which was seized by the Dallas Police Department in its search of Oswald's effects and was turned over to the FBI with other evidence in the case. This photograph was in a mutilated condition when received by us and it appears Oswald himself mutilated the photograph to eliminate the possibility of anyone identifying Walker's residence through identification of the car parked in the driveway.

The panelists discuss the arrest of Oswald and his subsequent appearance in a lineup at the Dallas Police Department. Leo Sauvage said "the whole implication by lineup have absolutely no validity." Following this statement, Mr. Bishop, the moderator, said you, referring to Sauvage, "are then in a position of throwing out the things which do not agree with your thesis and accepting only those which embrace you." Further discussion along this line was resolved by Mr. Bishop who said to Sauvage "then you would throw out the five witnesses" and Sauvage said "completely."

On page 80, Weisberg alleges Special Agent James P. Hosty, Jr., did not stay for the interview of Oswald on 11/22/63 at the Dallas Police Department. Special Agents James P. Hosty, Jr., and James W. Bookhout were present during an interview of Oswald which interview was conducted by Captain Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department on 11/22/63. Both Agents identified themselves and advised Oswald of his rights. On 11/23/63, these Agents prepared an FD-302 which contained the results of the interview which was in accordance with Bureau policy in reporting interviews of subjects in Bureau investigations. This FD-302 was included as pages 90 and 91 of the report of Special Agent Robert P. Gemberling dated 11/30/63 at Dallas and copies of this report were disseminated to the President's Commission.

On page 83, Lane alleged the FBI said they heard Oswald comment he was having lunch with two Negroes on November 22, 1963. Lane, in trying to make a point that investigators disagreed on highly pertinent interrogation reports of Oswald, said that the Secret Service said Oswald stated he was alone having lunch on 11/22/63, whereas the FBI said they heard Oswald say he was having lunch with two Negroes.

Lane's statements on this particular point are without question absolutely false. Special Agent James W. Bookhout participated in a subsequent interview of Oswald on 11/22/63, at which time Oswald stated he had lunch in the lunchroom at the Texas School Book Depository Building alone, but recalled possibly two Negro employees walking through the room during this period. The results of this interview were recorded in an FD-302 dated 11/25/63 which was included as pages 99 to 102 of the report of Special Agent Robert P. Gemberling dated 11/30/63.

Lane also alleged that FBI Agents followed him all over the country and recorded every word he said as revealed on pages 83 and 84. At no time did we conduct surveillance of Lane.

Lane traveled extensively throughout the United States and Europe denouncing the work of the Warren Commission and attempted to show others were involved in the assassination of President Kennedy and Police Officer Tippit. These wild allegations caused members of the Warren Commission deep concern and on 2/25/64, Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel of the President's Commission, requested the Bureau to make arrangements to have talks and meetings of Mark Lane recorded where possible. This was done through cooperation of various sources and the tape recordings were furnished the Warren Commission as obtained.

On page 89, Mark Lane misrepresents what one witness reported regarding the General Walker incident. Lane claimed that Walter Kirk Coleman, neighbor to General Walker, heard a shot the night someone shot at General Walker. Lane stated Coleman reported he saw a man, carrying what appeared to be a rifle, jump into a car, put the rifle on the floor, then drive away. Lane claimed the Commission completely ignored Coleman's information and didn't even list Coleman's name in its index to the report. Coleman was interviewed at the Dallas Police Department following the incident and said he heard what appeared to be a shot from a shotgun and did see an unknown male enter an automobile and speed away. Coleman made no reference to any rifle. This record was reviewed at the Dallas Police Department by one of our Agents and was recorded and is revealed in the report of Special Agent Robert P. Gemberling dated 12/10/63 on pages 441 and 442. Copies of this report were disseminated to the Commission.

Contrary to what Lane infers, Coleman's name is indexed in Volume XV of the Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy.

The panel discussed at length the single bullet theory, referring to the bullet that struck the President in the back, exited out the front, struck Governor Connally and was subsequently recovered at the Parkland Memorial Hospital. This is Commission exhibit 399 which Lane continually refers to as a pristine bullet. Lane has said "that bullet, insofar as I'm concerned, looking at the evidence, is totally unrelated to the assassination. I see nothing which relates it, and the Commission's ludicrous tale." He then goes on as to what the Commission said regarding this bullet in an attempt to prove this same bullet could not have struck both the President and Governor Connally. This eventually leads into the autopsy report and comments are made regarding Commander Humes, who admitted he destroyed his original notes of the autopsy and by doing so, the panelists are attempting to establish some kind of sinister conspiracy. They discuss the accuracy of the drawings showing the entrance wounds on the back of the President and Lane questions their validity as they were only artist's conceptions because the Government was never to look at the original photographs and x-rays taken at the time of the autopsy.

Mr. Cohen, who has been defending the President's Commission, describes these drawings very pointedly. Lane at that time asked whether FBI Agents were present when the autopsy was conducted. This conversation leads to the report of Special Agents Francis X. O'Neill, Jr., and James W. Sibert, which accurately reported what Commander Humes told them prior to the time he determined the bullet which struck the President in the back had passed completely through his body. Mark Lane read this report practically verbatim and Mr. Jacob Cohen commented that it was obvious there was a discrepancy between the autopsy report which was written by Commander Humes on 11/24/63 and our report. He said the FBI report, or document Lane had been quoting from, is a document written by two FBI men who were present during the autopsy. Cohen said, "it is a very imprecise document. It's a very incomplete document." He also said the report has no reference to a hole, entry wound, in the throat, and it is clearly based upon "what O'Neill and Sibert of the FBI overheard in the autopsy room that night." Further, Cohen mentioned our Agents are not medically trained and that they made countless errors in their interview.

Although Cohen has been defending the Warren Commission throughout this panel discussion, his comment in respect to our Agents and our reporting is strictly opinionated and not factual, as our Agents accurately reported the information that was furnished to them. Although Cohen stated that the doctors revealed in the autopsy, a bruise on the top of the President's lung, and after conferring with the doctors on Saturday in Dallas, "concluded on the basis of all of the evidence, and out of our shot and in view shot of the FBI concluded that this bullet had exited from the throat. All I'm saying is...I don't want to shock you now, the FBI made a whopper of a mistake when it thus summarized that autopsy finding."

This is a completely irresponsible and untruthful statement as the doctors did not establish for certain that bullet had passed through the President until Dr. Humes' theory was confirmed by his telephone call with Dr. Perry in Dallas, Texas, on 11/23/63, following the completion of the autopsy. When the autopsy was completed on the night of 11/22/63, our Agents left and were not apprised of the doctors' theories and the Bureau was not aware of the final autopsy results until received on 12/23/63. Therefore, the comments made by Cohen are without qualification.

It is noted the panelists make reference to the fact the Government suppressed the x-rays and photographs taken during the autopsy. Since the time this show was recorded, these photographs and x-rays were made available to the National Archives and have since been reviewed by Commander Humes who has publicly stated they support his original conclusions reported to the President's Commission.

During the latter portion of the program, Mr. Penn Jones, Editor of the "Midlothian Mirror," commented and expounded the theory there is something sinister in the fact that at least 14 people are now dead who he alleges had some extra knowledge or connection with Lee Harvey Oswald or Jack L. Ruby. He even mentioned Dorothy Kilgallen, who spoke to Jack L. Ruby during his trial. This is pure speculation as there has been no evidence or information developed either during the investigation of the assassination or subsequent thereto, that any person mentioned by Penn was a part of sinister conspiracy or that Jack L. Ruby was part of any conspiracy.

Throughout the script, it is apparent that an argumentative atmosphere exists among members of this panel, especially between Weisberg and Cohen. Nothing was proven and panel members who have been critical of the President's Commission in the past were each trying to prove their own points. At the end of the show, Jim Bishop, the moderator, commented that he finds himself in disagreement with the other panel members. He indicated that when he writes his book, which may be in two years, that unless evidence to the contrary presents itself between then and now, he will support the Warren Commission Report and that Lee Harvey Oswald "did it, and did it alone." This television show will be recorded by the Laboratory Division and thereafter will be reviewed by the Domestic Intelligence Division, the General Investigative Division, and the Laboratory Division to determine if there is any deviation from the taped script the Bureau received.

FROM : R. H. Jevons

SUBJECT: WARREN COMMISSION MATTER;
REQUEST FROM THE DEPARTMENT

Pursuant to a request received from the Department by Inspector James Malley, this date, Supervisors Cunningham of the Laboratory and Raupach of the General Investigative Division, attended a conference this afternoon in the office of Assistant Attorney General Frank M. Wozencraft, Office of Legal Counsel. Present at this meeting were Assistant Attorney General Frank M. Wozencraft, Assistant Deputy Attorney General Harold Barefoot Sanders, Jr., Office of the Deputy Attorney General, Charles F. Simms, Legal Counsel, David Slawson, Legal Counsel, and Martin F. Richmond, Office of Legal Counsel. It is noted that the Department has the responsibility for making the decision as to the items of evidence in the assassination matter which are to be permanently retained by the Government. In this regard, the Bureau by letter dated 9/15/66, furnished the Department a copy of the list of evidence and exhibits turned over by the Bureau to Archives on 9/14/66, (in accordance with prior Departmental authorization) and the Departmental officials were reviewing this list.

Certain of the items in this list had been assigned Commission exhibit numbers by the Warren Commission and such items were accordingly listed by the assigned Commission exhibit numbers. The remaining items were listed by arbitrarily assigned FBI identification numbers. Since many of the items which had originally been assigned FBI identification numbers were subsequently assigned Commission exhibit numbers, or were retained by the Warren Commission, or were returned to their owners, et cetera, such items properly do not appear under the FBI exhibit number heading of the list. The Departmental representatives inquired whether as a matter of assistance the FBI would undertake to provide them with cross reference information which would relate the FBI identification number to the Commission exhibit number, where applicable, or would otherwise set forth the disposition of those items not shown under the FBI identification number heading; (i. e. whether the item had been returned to its owner, et cetera.)

Memorandum to Mr. Conrad
Re: WARREN COMMISSION MATTER;
REQUEST FROM THE DEPARTMENT
62-109060

The Departmental representatives were advised that this matter would be explored. They indicated that they would confirm their request in writing.

We are making a survey to see whether it is readily feasible to furnish the requested information. Basically what this request amounts to (in addition to providing cross reference relationship between Commission exhibit numbers and FBI identification numbers) is to provide the Department with a supplement to the list of items turned over to Archives. This supplement would constitute an inventory of certain items and exhibits which were formerly in FBI possession but which could not be turned over to Archives because they had already been turned over to someone else, such as the Warren Commission, the owners, or other authorized recipient.

ACTION:

Appropriate recommendations will be made upon completion of the above-indicated survey and upon receipt of the Department's written request.

SUBJECT: Warren Commission Exhibits

Public Law

The Acting Attorney General is preparing to publish his determination under P.L. 89-318 that the national interest requires that title be vested in the United States to the entire body of the Warren Commission exhibits now in the possession of the Government. This determination will be published in the Federal Register on Tuesday, November 1 (the statutory deadline), and will be announced Monday afternoon, October 31.

The form of the determination is a notice incorporating by reference all of the exhibits which were given Commission numbers and are enumerated in the printed volumes of the Commission's hearings. The additional exhibits collected by the FBI for the Commission, which were given FBI exhibit numbers but did not receive Commission numbers, will have to be enumerated in the Federal Register, since there is no published source to which reference can be made for any description of these items. The list of these items will consist of brief descriptions based on the descriptions given the items by the Bureau, and will include the Bureau exhibit numbers in order to provide a more certain identification of the individual items.

The published list will show gaps in the sequence of the FBI exhibit numbers. As explained to us by Mr. Cortland Cunningham and Mr. Kenneth M. Raupach of the Bureau, these gaps are explainable as follows: Most of the gaps are caused by omission of the items which

11-15 OCT 25 1966

EX-109

62-109090-

RECORDED COPY FILED IN

were subsequently given Commission exhibit numbers. A few gaps result from duplication or non-use of some numbers and from a few instances in which items were returned to their owners at the direction of the Commission. I don't understand why we followed such a loose procedure. A+

It seems likely that when the list is published, notwithstanding the reasonableness of the explanation for the missing numbers outlined above, critics of the work of the Commission and of the Bureau may seize upon the omitted numbers as a basis for speculation as to "missing exhibits." Accordingly, it seems advisable that a list be prepared to document disposition of each of the FBI exhibit numbers (as distinguished from the exhibits themselves). As we suggested to Mr. Cunningham (who indicated that such a list could be prepared, although it would take a great deal of work), this list might take the form of a separate line for each FBI exhibit number that was used, from the first to the last inclusive, with columns in which the disposition of each number might be described in accordance with one of the following categories:

Work no add- vised? N

Pert two matter told would be explained. By memo 10/26/64 CC

1. Items on FBI list. A check mark would indicate that this is one of the items enumerated from pages 39 through 90 of the list prepared by the Bureau under date of September 15, 1966. That list is the basis for the enumeration of FBI-numbered exhibits to be published in the Federal Register.

2. Items that became Commission exhibits. Here the FBI numbers of items which were subsequently given Commission numbers would be accounted for. It is suggested that the Commission exhibit number be shown in this column in the applicable cases.

3. Items returned. This category would refer to those items which were returned to their owners at the direction of the Commission. It would be helpful in each of these cases to note the date of the return and the name of the person to whom an item was returned.

4. Numbers never used. A check mark in this column would indicate that the number had never been used for an exhibit. In the Commission's lists of its numbered exhibits, numbers not used similarly are included in sequence and marked to show non-use.

5. Duplicate numbers. Here those few cases where an FBI number was given to an exhibit which already had an FBI number could be shown, by listing the other FBI number.

We would appreciate receiving copies of these suggested lists as soon as feasible.

Originally the Investigative Div. had handled the matter properly this mess would never have arisen.

WARREN COMMISSION EXHIBITS

Reference is made to your memorandum dated October 28, 1966, requesting a list of each FBI number used and the disposition of the represented exhibit.

It is noted that pages 39 through 90 of the list of those items turned over to the National Archives and Records Service on September 14, 1966, set forth the disposition of the numbered items shown thereon. A copy of this list was furnished to the Departmentiunder the date of September 15, 1966. Accordingly, it appears that the purpose outlined by you can most readily be accomplished by providing a supplementary list which shows the disposition of the remaining numbered items. Such a list has been prepared and is transmitted herewith.

SUBJECT: WARREN COMMISSION MATTER;
REQUEST FROM THE DEPARTMENT

Reference is made to my memorandum of 10/26/66, reporting on a conference of representatives of the Laboratory and the General Investigative Division with the Department at the Department's request in connection with the disposition of exhibits and evidence in the assassination matter. Reference is also made to the letter from the Department dated 10/28/66, confirming the Department's oral request for information as to the disposition of those exhibits not turned over to Archives for retention on 9/14/66, it being noted that many such items previously had been turned over to the Warren Commission, or to the owners, or to other authorized recipients for retention.

In this regard, it is our judgment that the Department's last minute request for this type of information is due entirely to the fact that, inspite of repeated written promptings from the Bureau over a period of many months to resolve the issue of disposition of Warren Commission evidence, the Department still has not fully decided which items of evidence are to be retained in the permanent custody of the U. S. Government. Indeed, during the conference on 10/26/66, there was great deal of internal bickering and dissension among the Departmental attorneys present, and it is believed the decision to publish in the Federal Register the entire 90-page list of evidence turned over to Archives by the FBI is prompted by the Department's failure to decide which of the items listed thereon should be retained by the Government, and hence, the need to reserve all of the items.

REC-53 62-109090-533

As indicated in my memorandum of 10/26/66, the Department was orally advised by Bureau representatives that the Bureau would explore the possibility of preparing the information requested. The Bureau has maintained in its records a tight and meticulously accurate record of the disposition of all items and exhibits in this matter. Preparation of the requested information, therefore, is merely a matter of extracting such information from the tremendously voluminous file. We have now completed the necessary coordination with the investigative divisions involved and have been able through such coordination and by reference to Bureau records to prepare a tabulation as to the disposition made of the items of interest to the Department.

Memorandum to Mr. Conrad
Re: WARREN COMMISSION MATTER;
REQUEST FROM THE DEPARTMENT

Inasmuch as the Department, under date of 9/15/66, was furnished a copy of the 90-page listing of the items turned over to Archives on 9/14/66, it is our considered opinion that rather than re-copy this lengthy 90-page list into a new composite listing in the manner suggested by the Department, the Department's purpose could be equally well and much more readily met merely by preparing a supplemental list which would include only those FBI numbered items not shown on the list of evidence turned over to Archives. In this connection, it is pointed out that the term "gaps" used by the Department in describing the list of material turned over to Archives is a misnomer in that it frequently carries an unfavorable connotation. On the contrary, the list of items turned over to Archives was a meticulously accurate listing of the actual evidence delivered at that time. It did not purport to be a list of items previously in the Bureau's possession. The listing was individually checked against each item of evidence as that item was turned over to Archives, and a receipted copy of this list signed by the Archives representative is maintained in the Bureau file. The presently proposed supplementary list will provide the Department with a complete accounting for all other FBI identifying numbers and numbered exhibits.

ACTION:

Such a supplementary list is attached hereto, together with a proposed reply to the Department, in the event the Bureau wishes to comply with the Department's request.

SUBJECT: WARREN COMMISSION EXHIBITS

On 11/3/66, Mr. Marion Johnson, the Archivist at the National Archives and Records Service who is handling the exhibits and evidence of the Warren Commission, telephonically contacted SA Cortlandt Cunningham of the Laboratory Division.

Mr. Johnson stated that Harold Weisberg, author of "Whitewash: The Report on the Warren Report," had requested information regarding the portions of the FBI investigative reports in which the spectrographic examinations were set forth. Mr. Johnson asked if any spectrographic examinations, other than those set forth in the report of SA Robert P. Gemberling dated 11/30/63, at Dallas, were made and reported elsewhere.

Mr. Johnson was told that this matter would be looked into.

Bufiles reveal that Weisberg was summarily fired from the State Department but was later allowed to resign without prejudice and not be restored to his job because of suspected Communist or Communistic sympathies. Bufiles also reveal he has had previous contact with Soviet Nationals at the Russian Embassy. Weisberg has also previously written the Bureau concerning the Warren Report and because of his background, no acknowledgement was made.

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

Warren Commission

PURPOSE:

The Department, by letter dated 11/3/66, authorized transfer of assassination rifle and revolver used by Oswald to kill Police Officer J. D. Tippit to National Archives. These items were in possession of our Dallas Office pending disposition of court action as to ownership of these items.

BACKGROUND:

By memorandum dated 8/19/66, the Attorney General authorized the Bureau to transfer to National Archives all exhibits and evidence in the Bureau's possession relating to the assassination of President Kennedy with the exception of the rifle and revolver. This has been done.

By letter dated 11/3/66, the Department authorized the Bureau to transfer to National Archives the assassination rifle and revolver (no mention made of the holster) used by Oswald to kill Dallas Police Officer J. D. Tippit. These items were previously shipped to the Dallas Office upon instructions of the Department in connection with a suit instituted by John J. King, a Colorado oilman. King paid Oswald's widow, Mrs. Marina Oswald Porter, $10,000 for these items and agreed to pay an additional $35,000 when he obtained possession.

ENCLOSURE

Hearing held U. S. Federal Court, Dallas, Texas, and Judge Estes decided the guns were rightfully the property of U. S. Government. King appealed this decision to the 5th Circuit Court and, according to the Department's letter 11/3/66, the adverse decision of the 5th Circuit was not going to be appealed and since time for such an appeal has expired, the Department states this, in effect, terminated the litigation. The Department indicates that the title to these items was vested in the United States pursuant to Public Law 89-318. The Federal Register for 11/1/66, specifically lists the rifle and pistol as coming within Public Law 89-318. No reference is made to the holster; however, the Acting Attorney General's order specifies that all other items of evidence which were assigned exhibit numbers by the Commission would be included. The holster was given Commission Exhibit Number C-144.

Upon Bureau instructions, the Dallas Office shipped the rifle, pistol and holster to the Bureau and these items were received on 11/5/66, and are presently in the possession of our Laboratory. It is noted that in the Department's letter of 11/3/66, it neglected to mention the holster; however, this item is being transferred to the National Archives along with the assassination rifle and revolver.

ACTION:

A memorandum transferring these items to Archives is being prepared by the Laboratory, and, thereafter, the Department will be advised of the action taken.

Transfer of rifle and pistol involved in the assassination of President Kennedy to the National Archives

By a memorandum of August 19, 1966, the Attorney General authorized you to transfer to the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration all evidence and exhibits involved in the investigation conducted by the Warren Commission, except for the rifle and pistol which were subject to litigation in the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit (John J. King v. United States, decided July 29, 1966).

That memorandum also authorized you to transfer the rifle and pistol to the National Archives when the forfeiture litigation terminated or when title to those items was vested in the United States pursuant to Public Law 89-318.

Title to those items has been vested in the United States pursuant to Public Law 89-318 (See Part II of the Federal Register of November 1, 1966, page 13963, et seq.). Furthermore, the Solicitor General, in conformity with recommendations from the Criminal Division and this Office, decided not to appeal the adverse decision of the Fifth Circuit and time for any such appeal has expired. This, in effect, terminated the litigation.

Accordingly, in conformity with the Attorney General's memorandum of August 19, 1966, it is requested that you arrange for prompt transfer of the rifle and pistol to the National Archives

Dear Mrs. Brockway:

Mr. Hoover received your letter on November 16th.

He asked me to thank you for your observations and to advise you that all the material developed by the FBI in connection with our investigation of the assassination of former President Kennedy was turned over to the Warren Commission for its consideration. The results of our inquiry into this matter were subsequently made available to the National Archives by the Warren Commission. Answers to any questions you may have concerning the work performed by the Warren Commission or the FBI would be available through review at the National Archives.

November 14, 1966

To: Mr. J. Edgar Hoover,

Dear Sir,

It seems that a great injustice has been done to you and the F. B. I agents in regards to the investigation made in the assassination of the late President Kennedy.

After reading and evaluating thoroughly the circumstances of his death, with material, such as, "Inquest" by Edward Jay Epstein & etc. I firmly believe that the F. B. I. was not allowed to complete their investigation because of the time element and authority taken away from your office and given to the Warren Commission.

The Warren Commission should have been given the authority only (as per ethics of judges and lawyers) to evaluate the investigation made by your office. The F. B. I. is a trained organization in the investigating field and the Warren Commission is not. When one part of the team is trained (The F. B. I.) and the other part is not trained (the Warren Commission) in the field of investigation, then there can never be a true and accurate account presented. There is too much overlapping of jurisdiction to contend with, also.

The issues at the present time should not be who is right or wrong (The F. B. I or the Warren Commission) nor on the methods taken either, or any legal red tape but to solve a problem of most importance.

First, the authority to investigate further evidence should be returned to your office.

Second, based upon your further investigation, the Warren Commission should be reopened to evaluate your office's investigation.

I believe strongly that Jack Ruby was the accomplice that fired approx. three shots at the same time Oswald was firing from the 6th floor of the Depository Bldg.

I believe Jack Ruby to be located within range to the President's car, close to Zupruder's film frome number 313, and fired approx - three shots with the same gun he shot Oswald with later, Only he had a silencer on the gun at the time he shot at the President's car.

Oswald was a decoy for Jack Ruby.

Where was Jack Ruby at the time President Kennedy, et all, were shot at?

Was a test ever made of Ruby's gun in which he shot Oswald with: (a) in connection with the fragments found in the President's car? (b) for markings of a silencer? (c) has he ever been questioned in connection with President Kennedy's assassination and was he ever questioned about owning a silencer?

Ruby shot Oswald, probably with the thought it is better to be tried for killing an assassin than for being an accomplice of an assassin.

The first shot from the 6th floor of the Depository Bldg. hit President Kennedy in the back. The next two shots went wild, one hitting the car (a fragment may have hit Connally's wrist) the other hit the curb (which ricoheted at James Tague, the innocent by stander).

The other shots from Jack Ruby's gun, with silencer, one hit President Kennedy in the throat & went clear through the back of the head, the other shots hit Connally.

Oswald, on the 6th floor was a diversionary method for Ruby who got away without being noticed.

I am hoping that the aforementioned information, which I am submitting to you to use as you see fit, will be accepted only on the sole purpose of it coming from a sincere citizen doing her duty in the best interest of her country.

Most sincerely,

/s/ Mrs. Virginia T. Brockway

Concerning the handling of Oswald by the State Department, it is noted this matter has been thoroughly looked into and was the subject of a memorandum from Sullivan to Belmont dated October 4, 1964, copy attached.

In addition to the information set forth in the October 4, 1964 memorandum, the Warren Commission report, on pages 26 and 27, makes the following comment: "The Commission has examined the Department of State's handling of the Oswald matters and finds that it followed the law throughout."

There is also attached for information an article from the Washington Post dated October 4, 1964.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the foregoing it is not believed any reference should be made in the proposed statement to the handling of Oswald by the State Department.

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS

Articles appearing in the "New York Post" and "Chicago Daily News," both dated 11-16-66, set forth statements of Arlen Specter, former assistant counsel on the Warren Commission. Specter, while defending the Warren Commission, stated ". . . that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover appeared before the commission and supported its conclusions. In fact, Hoover said the commission had been so thorough that it was unreasonably thorough." A review of the Director's testimony before the Warren Commission shows no such statements were made.

The Director's testimony which appears in Volume V, "Hearings Before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy," beginning on Page 97, reveals the Director testified before the Commission on May 14, 1964. This testimony, as well as the original transcript of the Director's testimony as received from the Commission, has been reviewed and no statements as attributed by Specter to the Director are located therein.

As noted by the Director on the "Chicago Daily News" article (attached), the Warren Commission had reached no conclusions when he appeared before the Commission and testified.

STATEMENT BY THE DIRECTOR

Attached is a copy of the statement by the Director which was sent by him under date of 11/23/66 to Mr. Sid Epstein of "The Washington Evening Star." It will be noted that a cover statement has been added setting forth the circumstances of the inquiry received by Mr. Hoover from Mr. Epstein for a statement and the Director's response thereto. It was prepared in this fashion so that it could be given to other news sources after it appeared in "The Washington Evening Star" and they could use it without attributing it to "The Washington Evening Star."

Immediately after the appearance of Mr. Hoover's statement in "The Washington Evening Star," copies of the attached were furnished to Associated Press, United Press International, "The Washington Daily News," "New York Daily News" and the U. S. Information Agency, all Washington, D. C.

REC 97 62-109060-539

It is noted that the above distribution of this item was previously discussed by Mr. Wick with Mr. Cliff Sessions, Information Officer of the Department, and it was approved by Mr. Sessions.

18 NOV 29 1966

Immediately following publication of the Director's statement in "The Washington Evening Star," and on the wire services, my office was swamped with calls. Representatives of the National Broadcasting Company, American Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System, and the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company, as well as radio stations WBAL, Baltimore, and WEAM, Washington, called asking whether Mr. Hoover or a representative of the Bureau would record the statement on tape for broadcast by their facilities. They were advised that it was preferred not to make such a recording since the statement of Mr. Hoover did not lend itself to this type of handling.

ENCLOSURE BEHIND FILE IN CRIMINAL DIVISION

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

In Reply, Please Refer to File No.

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20535

November 25, 1966

On November 21, 1966, Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, received a letter from a newsman expressing concern over the rash of books, articles and statements which are "creating confusion and doubts about the validity of the findings of the Warren Commission regarding the assassination of President Kennedy." The newsman said that one of the "conflicts" concerned the alleged variance of the results of the medical examination of the President's body, recorded in FBI reports dated December 9, 1963, and January 13, 1964, and the official autopsy report.

The newsman said he would appreciate any comment Mr. Hoover would make concerning these matters.

The newsman requested that Mr. Hoover prepare a statement regarding the alleged conflict between information reported by the FBI and the autopsy report.

By letter dated November 23, 1966, to the newsman, Mr. Hoover said he shared the concern of the newsman regarding the criticisms of the Warren Commission's findings. He pointed out that while the critics had every right to state their views, they "should show more regard for the facts on record. They have ignored certain facts, misinterpreted others, and expressed pure speculation as truth."

ENCLOSURE

Mr. Hoover sent the newsman the attached statement and stated, "I am speaking only for the FBI, not for any other agency or group involved in any phase of the inquiry into the assassination of President Kennedy."

Enclosure

November 23, 1966

The Warren Commission and its findings concerning the assassination of President Kennedy currently are being severely criticized. The conclusions of the Commission, especially its conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the assassination, have been openly challenged.

In support of their speculations, some of the critics allege, among other things, that there is a "conflict" between portions of two FBI reports and the official autopsy report regarding the wounds found in the President's body.

While there is a difference in the information reported by the FBI and the information contained in the autopsy report concerning the wounds, there is no conflict. The FBI reports record oral statements made by autopsy physicians while the examination was being conducted and before all facts were known. The autopsy report records the final findings of the examination.

Briefly, this is what happened. The autopsy was conducted at Bethesda Naval Hospital on the evening of November 22, 1963. Two

62-109090-5 31

ENCLOSURE

FBI Agents were present. They reported that Dr. James J. Humes, chief autopsy surgeon, located what appeared to be a bullet hole in the back below the shoulder and probed it to the end of the opening with a finger. The examining physicians were unable to explain why they could find no bullet or point of exit.

Unknown to the Agents, the physicians eventually were able to trace the path of the bullet through the body. On the morning of November 23, 1963, Dr. Humes contacted doctors who treated the President at Parkland Hospital in Dallas, Texas, the previous day and confirmed his assumption that a tracheotomy had been performed using a bullet hole in the front of the neck as the point of incision.

The information reported by the Agents present during the autopsy was summarized on page 18 of the FBI report dated December 9, 1963. Meanwhile, the clothing worn by the President when he was shot was examined in the FBI Laboratory. This examination revealed a small hole in the back of his coat and shirt and a slit characteristic of an exit hole for a projectile in the front of the shirt one inch below the collar button. A nick on the left side of the tie knot, possibly caused by the same projectile which passed through the shirt, also was noted.

These findings clearly indicated the examining physician's early observation that the bullet penetrated only a short distance into the President's back probably was in error. Since this observation had been included in the FBI report of December 9, 1963, another reference was made to it in the report of January 13, 1964, in conjunction with the Laboratory findings to point up this probability.

The FBI and the Warren Commission each received a copy of the official autopsy report on December 23, 1963, from Secret Service following a specific request for this document. Since the FBI knew the Commission had a copy of the official autopsy, its contents were not repeated in an FBI report.

Recently the charge has been made that the FBI altered the film of the assassination taken by Abraham Zapruder. This is totally false. The FBI never had the original Zapruder film in its possession--it was purchased by a national magazine. The FBI obtained a copy of the original uncut film and reproduced this for the Commission which since has turned it over to National Archives.

At the direction of President Johnson, the FBI conducted a prompt, intensive, objective and thorough investigation of the assassination. The results of this investigation were accurately reported to the Warren Commission. Not one shred of evidence has been developed to link any other person in a conspiracy with Oswald to assassinate President Kennedy. All available evidence and facts point to one conclusion--that Oswald acted alone in his crime.

Dear Sir:

On Sunday, Nov. 20, 1966 at noon on channel 4 on a proram called "Open Mind" I heard the FBI referred to in, to me, unflattering tefms. This was during a discussion on the Warren Commision .

I got the impression members of the FBI are father stupid, don't know how to right a report and don't get paid for so doing. Would seem they aren't competent to get medical facts from doctors correctly.

This hurt me deeply. I have always had the greatest respect for the FBI because of all it had accomplished through the years. Are you going to ignore this smear?

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY
November 22, 1963, Dallas, Texas

My memorandum of November 22, 1966, to Mr. DeLoach advised that the Director's testimony when checked contained no statements similar to those made by Arlen Specter which he attributed to the Director (memo attached). Because of the importance of this matter, the search through other material in Bureau files was continued through other sources than the Warren Commission material.

Based on this search the following have been located which appear to relate to the statements Specter attributed to the Director:

A UPI* release dated May 14, 1964 (copy attached), contains the statement, "The FBI Director said he felt the Commission was very thorough in its questioning. He said the Commission had gone into many areas which a reasonable man might not even expect them to." "All reasonable people will be impressed by the thoroughness with which the Commission is conducting its investigation.... Hoover said." While the UPI release makes no comment as to whether the remarks of the Director were given before the Warren Commission or elsewhere, it is noted the Director, after completing his testimony before the Warren Commission, was surrounded by representatives of the news services outside the building when he was leaving and a number of questions were asked.

Also attached is a copy of a newspaper article which appeared in the Washington Evening Star on November 19, 1964. This article by Associated Press was the result of an interview with the Director by a group of women reporters on November 18, 1964. In this article the following appears: "Hoover appeared before the Commission last May 14 and told newsmen after testifying the panel was doing a very thorough job. He said it had even gone beyond what a reasonable man would have expected in accumulating evidence."

Discredit to Kennedy Memory

Warren-Report Challenges Draw Blast from Jenner

Recent books and magazine articles challenging the conclusions of the Warren Commission are a "deception of the American people," Chicago attorney Albert E. Jenner said Wednesday.

Jenner was senior counsel for the Warren Commission's investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"I regard these books as mischievous and irresponsible and a discredit to the memory of Mr. Kennedy," Jenner said.

"I've read all these books and checked them against the 26 volumes of the commission report," he said. "I find answers for all the questions that have been raised."

JENNER SAID the critical works published since the report was issued have produced no new evidence that a second assassin was involved.

He was joined in his assertion by two other key figures in the investigation.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich.), a member of the commission, told Peter Lisagor, Daily News Washington bureau chief, that the findings of the commission are as valid today as they were when they

And Arlen Specter, an assistant counsel of the commission, said he had "no doubt whatsoever" of the accuracy of the finding that Lee Harvey Oswald was the sole assassin.

"Since books are still being written about the assassination of Lincoln," Specter said, "we can expect them to be written about Kennedy for years to come."

"But there has been no new evidence that there was a second assassin. If there was other evidence, it certainly would have been brought forward in an open society, such as ours."

THE CRITICS of the Warren Commission report "pick a piece here and pick a piece there, and omit the preponderance of evidence," Specter said.

"The people of the United States and the world ought to bear in mind that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover appeared before the commission, and supported its conclusions," he said. "In fact, Hoover said the commission had been so thorough that it was unreasonably thorough."

Ford, the House minority leader, opposed a move in the last session of Congress to reopen the investigation into said he would oppose such a move if anyone presented any new evidence contradicting it.

In an interview in the U.S. News and World Report Oct. 10, Specter said he didn't believe a new inquiry would disclose any additional evidence, but added that "it's a free country" and that he would not suggest a limit on any author's work in analyzing or disputing the commission's work.

"I AGREE with everything Ford and Specter say," Jenner said.

"Booksellers have retreated to such an extreme that they are attacking the character of anyone who had anything to do with the investigation. These men are just not honorable.

"I plead with the people to consider these flimsy and mischievous books against the solid Warren Commission report," he said.

Warren Aides Hit Challenges To JFK Report

By PETER LISAGOR and DONALD ZOCHERT

Recent books and magazine articles challenging the conclusions of the Warren Commission are "a deception of the American people," attorney Albert E. Jenner says. He was senior counsel of the Warren Commission's investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

"I regard these books as mischievous and irresponsible and a discredit to the memory of Mr. Kennedy."

"I've read all these books and checked them against the 26 volumes of the commission report," he said in an interview. "I find answers for all the questions that are raised."

Jenner said the critical works published since the report was issued have produced no new evidence that a second assassin was involved. He was joined in his assertion by two other key figures in the investigation.

Rep. Ford Upholds Report

Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich.), a member of the commission, said the findings of the commission are as valid today as they were when they were announced.

And Arlen Specter, an assistant counsel of the commission, said he had "no doubt whatsoever" of the accuracy of the findings that Lee Harvey Oswald was the sole assassin.

"Since books are still being written about the assassination of Lincoln," Specter said, "we can expect them to be written about Kennedy for years to come.

"But there has been no new evidence that there was a second assassin. If there was other evidence, it certainly would have been brought forward in an open society, such as ours.

The critics of the Warren Commission report "pick a piece here and pick a piece there, and omit the preponderance of evidence," Specter said.

"The people of the United States and the world ought to bear in mind that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover appeared before the commission and supported its conclusions," he said. In fact, Hoover said the commission had been so thorough, and it was unreasonably thorough."

Ford, the House Republican leader, opposed a move in the last session of Congress to reopen the investigation. He said he would support such a move if anybody produced any new evidence warranting it.

Jenner took exception to several books including "Rush to Judgement," by New York Attorney Mark Lane.—CDN.

Good Morning Sir,

Recently you stated your theory or support on the findings of the Warren report. To many, including myself, there appears to be to much evidence of a 'rigged' investigation. To better understand this situation, and have positive faith in our Government's report I would like to ask you two questions.

I hope you may find time during your busy day to reply. First, did anyone, or any Agency of Government suggest you make a statement? And second, you mention that a certain altered, or spliced film was not done or in the hands of the F.B.I. How than can you be sure that this alteration in the film it not important and indicate there is more to this matter than our Government wants us to know?

Thank you for your consideration on this matter. I would like to add also my thanks for the many years of service you have given to your country and its people. I have read your books and appreciate your true devotion to your country.

Honorable Sir:

I was most re-assured to hear your statement, via news broadcast, that the assasin acted alone.

I read every word of the Warren Report and believe it. I believe and respect you. Of course, we know that publicity seekers, and authors will harangue and harass.

On Sat., Nov. 12, on Channel 5 New York, for three hours, from 9 PM to 12, the pro and con of facts pertinent to the assasination, were publicly on view.

One thing disturbed me, as it did thousands in the New York area. Mark Lane interviewed two men in Dallas, who have statements loud and clear, on Video tape. They stated that they positively believed that shots came from behind the fence, on top of the knoll, in the R. R. area.

If this video tape is falsely re-enacted, for exhibitionism, why is it allowed to disturb thousands of people?

It should not be permitted, in respect to our late beloved President.

Sincerely yours,

Kenneth I. Dawson.

Miss Gandy

Mr J. E. Hoover
Honorable Sir:

I was most re-assured to hear your statement, via news broadcast, that the assasin acted alone. Yr. I read every word of the Warren Report and believe it. I believe and respect you. Of course, we know that Publicity seekers, and authors will harangue and harass.

On Sat., Nov. 12, on Channel 5 New York, for three hours, from 9 PM to 12, the pro and con of facts pertinent to the assasination, were publicly on view.

One thing disturbed me, as it did thousands in the New York area. Mark Lane interviewed two men in Dallas, who gave statements loud and clear, on Video tape. They stated that they positively believed that shots came from behind the fence, on top of the knoll, in the R.R. area.

If this video tape is falsely re-enacted, for exhibitionism, why is it allowed to disturb thousands of people?

It should not be permitted, in respect to our late beloved President.

REC 13 9 543

Sincerely yours,
Kenneth J. Dawson

SUBJECT: REACTION OF SOVIET AND COMMUNIST PARTY OFFICIALS TO THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

Warren Commission

Re memorandum Mr. DeLoach to Mr. Tolson dated 11-29-66, reporting a conversation Mr. DeLoach had with Marvin Watson of the White House on 11-29-66. Mr. Watson indicated the President desired to have anything in FBI files reflecting immediate reaction of the Soviet Union following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and any reactions noted since then concerning the assassination. The President was also interested in receiving any "trends" indicating that a specific group, including the Communist Party, was back of the attacks on the Warren Commission.

During this same conversation, Mr. Watson indicated that the President had recently seen somewhere a newspaper article reporting that a member of the French Government had recently denounced the assassination investigation. Mr. Watson requested that if we could find this news clipping, we should furnish the President with what we had in our files concerning the matter. A cablegram was sent to the Legal Attache, Paris, in connection with this specific request on 11-30-66, and as soon as results of our inquiries are received, such data will be immediately furnished to Mr. Watson.

During Mr. Watson's conversation with Mr. DeLoach on 11-29-66, Mr. Watson also indicated that the President was seriously considering Mr. L. F. McCollom for a Cabinet position. Mr. Watson requested that the Bureau conduct inquiries concerning Mr. McCollom, including certain interviews. A check of our files disclosed Mr. McCollom was previously investigated at a request from the White House in 1963. We are bringing our investigation up to date and results will be promptly furnished to the White House.

Our files disclosed Soviet officials were shocked and concerned upon receipt of information that President Kennedy had been assassinated. We have received information from several sensitive sources that the Soviets were very much concerned over the assassination and, particularly, because they knew so little about President Lyndon B. Johnson and his foreign policy plans as they related to the Soviet Union. The Soviets have frequently expressed the opinion they thought the assassination was a conspiracy planned by the "ultraright." The Soviets were fearful such group planned to effect a "coup" in the United States and utilize this act to stop negotiations with the Soviet Union, attack Cuba and spread the war.

Our files indicate Communist Party officials in the United States followed the Soviet party line and also expressed the opinion the assassination was committed by individuals of the "ultraright" and that more than one individual was involved in the assassination.

From time to time articles have appeared in the Soviet press and in communist publications in this country disagreeing with the conclusions of the report of the Warren Commission. Frequently, authors of these articles quote or use data published by many of the authors who are highly critical of the Warren Commission report, including Mark Lane, Joachim Joesten, Edward Epstein, Richard Popkin, Harold Weisberg and Leo Sauvage.

Hoover Hits Critics Of Warren Report

P. RAY McHUGH
Chief, Washington Bureau
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Friday threw his prestige behind the Warren Commission, rebuked its critics and said all available evidence indicates that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone when he killed President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

"No shred of evidence has been developed to link any other persons in a conspiracy with Oswald," Hoover said in a statement.

The FBI agents, who were among the first on the scene of the Dallas, Tex., assassination, have investigated continuously for three years. It was learned that they still track down rumors and insinuations.

The respected Hoover, regarded as the nation's top law enforcement officer for more than 40 years, stepped into the middle of the growing controversy about the assassination.

The third anniversary of the tragedy brought a welter of charges that the Warren Commission erred in its investigation or that it acted too hurriedly in ruling that Oswald alone was responsible for the death of the President.

Several writers and publications, including Life Magazine, have called on the commission to reopen its inquiry.

Hoover said critics of the investigation "should show more regard for the facts on record."

"They have ignored certain facts, misinterpreted others and expressed pure speculation as truth," he said.

He emphasized that his criticism centered only on statements regarding FBI aspects of the inquiry.

Many of the FBI findings that were turned over to the commission are still secret, but Hoover said said his bureau's probe was "prompt, intensive, objective and thorough." FBI findings, he said, were accurately reported by the commission.

Hoover denied that there was "conflict" between the FBI description of the wounds that killed President Kennedy and the official autopsy report. Hoover said his agents wrote their report on the basis of oral statements by the autopsy physicians made the night of Nov. 22 while the examination was being conducted and before all facts were known.

"The autopsy report records the final findings of the examination," he said.

"While there is a difference of information," he said, ". . . There is no conflict."

Hoover also denied that the FBI ever altered movie films of the assassination made by Agraham Zapruder, a bystander who was watching and filming the President's motorcade through Dallas.

Some critics say the films indicate there was more than one rifleman.

Some critics have accused the FBI of deleting or altering some of the motion picture frames.

"This is totally false," the director said.

"The FBI never had the original Zapruder film in its possession."

He said the FBI got a copy of the original, uncut film from Life Magazine that had purchased it from Zapruder. He said a copy was made for the commission and that copy, along with other evidence, is now held by the National Archives.

The dispute over contradictions in the FBI autopsy report and the official medical findings has centered on a wound in President Kennedy's back.

Hoover explained that Dr. James Humes, chief autopsy physician told two FBI agents at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital on Nov. 22 that he had found what appeared to be a bullet hole in Kennedy's back, but could not find a bullet or a point of exit.

This was reported by the agents in a document signed Dec. 9, 1963.

Later, however, Hoover is determined that the bullet had exited through the front of the President's neck. The exit wound had been distorted when it was used by Dallas doctors as a point of incision in a tracheotomy operation performed in a desperate attempt to save Kennedy's life. This was covered in the official autopsy report signed Dec. 23.

Examination of the bullet holes in the President's clothing, Hoover said, supported this theory.

Since the official autopsy report went to the Warren Commission, the FBI did not repeat this information in its final report dated Jan. 13, 1964, Hoover explained. Some researchers who examined the preliminary report by the agents at Bethesda Hospital and then studied the official autopsy findings saw the contradiction and built up a theory of a missing bullet or another sniper.

Finds No Evidence Linking Others To Assassination Plot

By RAY McHUGH

WASHINGTON — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, yesterday scored critics of the Warren Commission and said all available evidence indicates Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone when he killed President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

"No shred of evidence has been developed to link any other persons in a conspiracy with Oswald," Hoover said in a statement.

FBI agents, who were among the first on the scene of the Dallas assassination, have investigated continuously for three years. It was learned that they still track down rumors. Hoover commented for the first time on a growing controversy about the assassination.

MANY CLAIMS

The third anniversary of the tragedy brought a welter of claims that the Warren Commission erred in its investigation or that it acted too hurriedly in ruling that Oswald alone was responsible for the death of the president.

Several writers and publications, including Life magazine, have called on the commission to reopen its inquiry.

Hoover said critics of the investigation "should show more regard for the facts on record."

"They have ignored certain facts, misinterpreted others and expressed pure speculation as truth," he said.

FBI ASPECTS

He emphasized that his criticism centered only on statements regarding FBI aspects of the inquiry. Hoover said the bureau's probe was "prompt, intensive, objective and thorough." FBI findings, he said, were accurately reported by the commission.

He denied that there was "conflict" between the FBI description of the wounds that killed Kennedy and the official autopsy report.
